

No Chance 135

Chapter 135 Digging a Trap

Elisa answered with nonchalance, "We had no chemistry."

The reporter was excited by Elisa's response, and quickly shot another question, "Is this all because of your cousin?"

Linda clenched her phone to calm her anger. She glowered at the person on the screen.

Mrs. Meek frowned and added, "Will Elisa take the opportunity to tell your story?"

Linda made an irate expression. "I'm not afraid if she does. On the contrary, I'm hoping she does make a statement on it."

"Why is that?" Mrs. Meek added.

Linda clutched her phone tighter and replied irately, "If Elisa speaks ill of me, my next move is to destroy her reputation. I'll have people spread rumors and turn her into a pariah, and then my own public image will be reinstated as an innocent victim of this whole ordeal."

Mrs. Meek simply nodded and expressed, "Yes, but this whole thing will backfire if she praises you in public. Wouldn't this make your plans difficult to use Elisa as a tool to elevate your reputation?"

woman is cunning!" Linda said with gritted teeth. "Well just let the events unfold. I can only hope she Markee was still standing behind Elisa. Her eyes flashed as an epiphany struck her. Was she deliberately leading the reporters to be questioned? If Elisa hadn't said anything, they would have exited Elisa's ploy. Slowly, she's utmost integrity. Linda Benett is a righteous woman. Even when she is tied with Mr. Benett, she did not attempt to separate me from Garrett. This woman even persuaded us to reconcile our relationship with each other.

Linda yelled, "Damn it!"

Elisa was too smart to dig herself a growled,

this nugget of information. Some of them decided to chase Elisa you being divorced, does this mean Mr. Benett will marry what goes on in Garrett's mind, but..." Elisa drawled. Since Linda likes to dig her own grave, let me give getting a little long. It must be a piece of big news if Elisa

"This b*tch!" Linda cried.

to maintain her composure at that moment. She was cursing out of sheer her composure this can't let Elisa keep side to stop her