

No Chance 1481

Chapter 1481 Why Didn't He Come?

Winslow clapped his hands, and a few subordinates rushed in from the outside.

With one glance from Winslow, they surrounded Gareth.

"Gareth, I gave you an opportunity, but you didn't want to leave. Now you have no chance to leave! Deal with him..."

Before Winslow could finish speaking, Gareth had quickly attacked and easily knocked down those people.

If Gareth didn't express fear, it meant he wasn't scared.

His actions proved it!

Winslow watched as his subordinates dropped like flies to the floor. He had a vulgar expression.

He thought of Elisa and Gareth's complicated past.

"Don't think I dare not lay a finger on you, Gareth Wickam."

At the end of the day, Elisa still had feelings for Gareth. Besides, women cherished their past relationships more than men.

She would be the first to leave if he did anything to Gareth!

Therefore, Winslow restrained his rage.

Without weapons, Gareth wasn't a match for Winslow with the latter's skills!

"You better send Mr. North back before I return from the dinner party!"

Winslow restrained Gareth against the chair and spoke coldly to him.

Gareth could fight back, and the two would get into an altercation.

Gareth was sure of one thing. He and Winslow were capable of hurting one another!

But he didn't do anything because he considered that Winslow was Elisa's uncle.

If Gareth harmed Winslow, Elisa wouldn't let him go freely!

He only held back because of Elisa.

The same applied to Winslow.

He was enraged when he looked at Gareth. "You're the president of a company. How can you do such despicable things?"

Gareth didn't appreciate Elisa while they were still married. They divorced, and he lost her but was still entangled with her.

Especially Gareth's gaze at Elisa not long ago. The man's genuine desire could be seen as he looked at the woman!

Gareth didn't like what Winslow said. Gareth immediately raised his brows coldly.

"I don't need you to evaluate what I do and what I'm like. You're the boss here and her uncle, but you shouldn't interfere in certain things."

This was a reminder and warning from Gareth to Winslow.

Winslow was annoyed when he heard it.

He pressed Gareth's shoulders with his hands, and a cold and malicious smile was in the corners of his mouth.

Winslow didn't do anything, but Gareth's shoulder felt limp and weak when Winslow pressed his hands on him as if pinned by a boulder.

Winslow sneered. "Tell me, what should I interfere in, and what should I ignore?"

Actually, Winslow understood what Gareth meant, but he wanted to ask. He didn't like Gareth's attitude.

Although Gareth was powerful in Zovain, they were in Moranta.

Can Gareth be so bold in a foreign land?

Gareth felt restless.

He didn't want to disagree with Winslow, but Winslow was challenging his limits by interrogating him.

Therefore, he didn't look at Winslow. Otherwise...

Gareth was afraid he couldn't control himself.

Winslow stopped talking to Gareth. Winslow gave orders and left the room.

After he got into the car, Elisa, who had been waiting for a long time, asked, "Uncle Winslow, weren't you with Mr. North? Why didn't he come?"

Elisa asked subconsciously.

Chapter 1482 Did You Come Up With This Together?

But to Winslow, this was Elisa's subconscious feelings and concern for Gareth.

He didn't understand. "Do you like Gareth so much?"

Elisa's heart suddenly tightened.

At first, she didn't understand why her uncle would ask her such a question.

Until she saw his dark and stormy expression.

Elisa suddenly realized something and pursed her lips. "Have you noticed, Uncle Winslow?"

Although her voice was uncertain, she was sure.

This made Winslow suddenly look at Elisa.

His gaze seemed slightly disappointed.

"Did you two come up with the idea for Gareth to do this?"

"No. It was Gareth's idea." Elisa quickly denied it.

She couldn't deny everything Winslow had done for her after he discovered she was his niece.

What would it seem like if she was really working with Gareth?

She was afraid Winslow wouldn't believe her, so she explained. "I only realized when he appeared today. I advised him to leave, but he didn't listen."

Elisa pursed her lips and kept quiet after that.

"Brie, drive."

Winslow instructed Brie. He chose to believe Elisa.

He understood Elisa's personality after interacting a few times.

Perhaps she didn't believe the blood relation between them.

Maybe she thought he was deliberately faking it, so she took advantage of the situation for her benefit.

Winslow accepted it when he thought of it.

He told Elisa, "If you don't believe me and think I'm lying, we can go to the hospital now."

So she could personally witness everything and believe it.

However, Elisa shook her head.

She said, "If we weren't related, you wouldn't need to treat me so well. Uncle Winslow, I've seen everything you did and know you treat me well. I'm not a hypocrite. As for Gareth... I will think of a way to get rid of him."

Elisa's expression was exceptionally determined at the end. This was a promise from her.

Winslow smiled. His expression had relaxed.

He said, "If Gareth was willing to leave, would he still put on an act?"

At the end of the day, Gareth was unwilling to leave, so he thought of doing such a thing.

However, Winslow disliked Gareth.

Winslow pursed his lips. "I don't know how your parents met, but I'm sure of this. They wouldn't have gotten married if she didn't decide independently and did what the family wanted her to."

"You and Gareth have a failed marriage. I don't want you to fall for him again. Moreover, there's no way you'll be single for the rest of your life. I can help you look for appropriate candidates," Winslow said.

As the boss of KKCD Casino, he had power and status. How could exceptional men not be interested in his niece?

However, she had no expectations of love.

If she did, Will would be her best choice.

When she thought of Will, she recalled his concern when he contacted her.

She would return to her country after investigating what her uncle had said.

Elisa shook her head. "Uncle Winslow, thank you for your kind intentions, but a relationship between two people shouldn't be forced. I have no intentions of doing such things at the moment."

She had to discover the truth and manage her career.

A failed marriage had made her realize that men were only an obstacle on the path to success.

Chapter 1483 Do You Have Medical Skills?

If she wanted a man, she would destroy her future!

"I'm not going to say anything else if you have no opinion, but I discourage you from being with Gareth. He never appreciated you in the past. How will he appreciate you now?"

In short, Winslow didn't have a good impression of Gareth. He was angry even when Gareth was mentioned.

With Winslow's temper, Gareth would have long disappeared from his sight if not for Elisa's sake. Winslow wouldn't even give Gareth a chance to speak!

Elisa nodded. "I understand, Uncle Winslow."

Winslow didn't say anything else after seeing her nodding.

They quickly arrived at their destination.

This dinner party was held by Winslow's long-time good friend. His good friend had gone over to invite Winslow, but he didn't think Winslow would push him aside because of Elisa.

But once it was settled, Winslow immediately came over.

Although his good friend misunderstood him, Winslow explained it to him.

He had brought Elisa along to the dinner party so that she would feel better.

He looked at Elisa, but his good friend quickly called him away.

Brie followed him. Since Mr. North wasn't there, she was the primary person to protect her boss.

But she never thought that something would happen with Elisa as soon as they stepped away for a few minutes...

'Crash!'

Elisa looked toward the noise and saw a middle-aged man fall to the floor. She didn't think about it and walked over at once.

Although she wasn't a meddlesome person, she had medical expertise. Even if she didn't, she couldn't look on helplessly as an average person if something happened to someone in front of her.

Elisa felt his pulse and did some chest compressions. The man coughed and slowly opened his eyes.

However, his eyes were bloodshot and red.

"Girl, did you save me?"

The man wrinkled his brows slightly, and his voice was hoarse.

The man knew that he had taken a few steps before his vision turned black, and he fell to the floor.

He didn't know what had happened after that, and he didn't know how long had passed, but the natural reactions of his body made him feel unbelievably unwell.

He felt light-headed, dizzy, and had a stabbing pain in his chest.

But he had just clearly felt someone grabbing his wrist.

And doing compressions on his chest.

He asked Elisa because he was surprised that she had saved him.

"You happened to collapse before me, and your hand was extended, so I felt your pulse." Elisa pulled her hand away from him while she answered the man.

The man was in his fifties but took good care of himself. He was in a black suit and looked like someone important.

Elisa could tell, but she wasn't affected by it.

She had just done it. If she didn't ask or take a look, she wouldn't be able to live with herself.

She had taken the man's pulse and done chest compressions.

When the man heard it, he was immediately astonished. "Girl, do you have medical skills?"

"A little," Elisa said indifferently. Seeing that the man had yet to get up, she grabbed the man's hand, and her fingers fell on the man's pulse.

Although the man was surprised, she didn't think her medical skills were outstanding or something to be proud of.

Because when something happened to her father, she hadn't helped him as his daughter.

Although Norman and his wife had caused her father's death, which had nothing to do with her, she still felt regretful and guilty.

Chapter 1484 I Really Don't Have the Time

As her father's daughter, she hadn't fulfilled her duty properly as his child.

Elisa was distracted. She controlled her thoughts and came to her senses in time.

However, the man's pulse made her expression freeze.

"Girl, did you find something wrong with me?" The man asked Elisa. His eyes were filled with confusion.

Elisa didn't deny it. She nodded. "Mm. You fainted because you've been poisoned for three years."

"In these three years, have you often noticed that you're exhausted and have palpitations, chills, and occasional dizziness?"

The man immediately narrowed his eyes. He was suspicious about it but had never been able to find evidence. On top of his body's current symptoms, he didn't doubt what Elisa said.

Elisa noticed she was right about the man's symptoms, so she kindly reminded him. "It must have been someone around you if they poisoned and hid it from you. You have to watch out. Stop taking your current medicine and look for a good doctor."

This was the only advice she could give the man.

After that, Elisa rose.

Winslow had left with Brie. Elisa wasn't very interested in the unfamiliar dinner party.

Besides, the man's incident had interrupted her mood. She wanted to go elsewhere, but the man rushed to stop her before she could turn and walk away.

The man was afraid he would go around her, so he opened his arms wide.

"Girl, you told me to look for a good doctor. What about you? You seem pretty good."

Elisa's brows furrowed slightly. She looked at him slightly doubtfully.

They didn't know each other. Why did the man dare to let her treat him?

Everyone here was exceptional, and they could easily treat their diseases. Furthermore, the poison in the man's body wasn't terminal. Other doctors could treat him.

She had no reason to make things difficult for herself.

Therefore, Elisa turned him down bluntly. "I'm sorry, sir. I don't have the time. I'm not the only doctor around."

Elisa initially thought she had expressed herself clearly, and the man kept quiet.

But she never thought the man would chase after her persistently. "Girl, don't worry. I will reward you with what you deserve. If not, name your price. I can pay no matter how much it is."

Elisa stirred after he said it.

"It has nothing to do with money. I don't want to treat you, alright?" Elisa only said such a thing to him because she felt emotional.

She had just done it out of the kindness of her heart, but she never thought she would end up making things difficult for herself.

The man didn't give up.

Because Elisa immediately reacted, saved him, and accurately pointed out his symptoms, he felt that Elisa was reliable and had excellent medical skills.

Which was why he wanted to hold Elisa back.

He couldn't let his body break down!

"Girl, you must be turning me down because it's inconvenient for you, but I can accommodate your time. You've already helped me. Can't you help me to the end?"

Elisa was frustrated when she saw how the man was acting.

In the past, she would have agreed.

But it was different today. Elisa was left behind because she was waiting for Winslow. Once Winslow finished his matters, they had to investigate her mother's affairs together. How would she have the time to deal with others?

Elisa was exasperated. "It's not that I don't want to help you. I really don't have the time."

"Then, can you prescribe medicine for me? And give me your contact number. I'll wait for you, alright?"

Chapter 1485 Uncle Winslow's Acquaintance

The man didn't want to let go of Elisa, his savior.

He even pulled Elisa's hand and refused to let go.

Elisa was utterly annoyed.

He was in his fifties. Why didn't he know how to accept rejection from others?

He was being so... shameless.

He was trusting a stranger for no good reason. It was hard for her to believe what he was saying.

She struggled and wanted to remove her hand but never thought the man would fall on the floor!

At this time, other people noticed.

"What are you doing?!"

A loud and angry voice roared.

It was a man's voice. After that, a few people noticed and rushed to her, surrounding her!

"Do you know where we are? Do you know who you just harmed?"

The voice was familiar. It belonged to the man who had first berated her.

Elisa noticed that the man had a nasty expression and a cold yet ominous gaze in his eyes.

Elisa looked at the man who had just fallen to the floor. He slowly got up and didn't say a word. Evidently, he was silently approving of the other man rebuking her.

So.

Was he using such a way to force her to compromise and treat him?

If that was the case, Elisa felt slightly amused.

She saved the person but ended up being troubled!

"What did I do? He was pestering me to treat him! If you don't believe me, can't you just check the surveillance footage?" Elisa sneered and spoke indifferently.

She didn't want to explain or say anything else. At the same time, she wasn't afraid at all.

At this time, the man she saved reached out and asked everyone else to keep quiet.

Initially, she noticed the man's unique identity but still turned him down. She wouldn't compromise at that moment just because many people were around.

"Girl, I'm really being sincere..."

"Stop saying such things. Even if you fell accidentally, what about now? So many of your subordinates ran over. Look at what you're doing right now. Are you sure you aren't using brute force to solve your problems?"

Elisa spoke up and interrupted him before he finished speaking.

Elisa was an indifferent person. The man's actions and words destroyed her decent impression of him.

Just as the man was about to say something, Brie quickly pushed the crowd away and instantly protected Elisa.

The man across from them recognized Brie and was in disbelief. "Brie, is this girl someone from your casino?"

The man was curious about Elisa's identity.

He had a good relationship with Winslow. He had never seen someone like Elisa enter the casino all these years, nor had he heard Winslow mention someone like her.

But from Brie's protective gaze and how she was about to make a move, the man quickly realized that the girl in front of him was Elisa Bennett, the person rumored to have an affair with Winslow!

Which was the niece Winslow had mentioned!

After realizing it, the man regretted his actions and for not stopping his subordinates from going forward.

And what he had said.

"Where's Mr. Knowles?"

The man asked about Winslow.

Elisa didn't say anything. She didn't think the man before her was her uncle's acquaintance.

Chapter 1486 Shameless

With Winslow's identity, he generally wouldn't tell others his real name. In her previous inquiries, the KKCD boss had a mysterious identity, and she hadn't discovered any of his information.

Therefore, those who knew Winslow's name naturally had a good relationship with him.

But this had nothing to do with her!

The man was Winslow's friend, not hers.

Brie had a cold expression. "Do you have the guts to ask about my boss now, Mr. Damian?"

Brie had returned to check on Elisa as per Winslow's instructions. The dinner party was held by Damian Fowler, and he had invited Winslow to the seat of honor before personally going there.

But Winslow was worried about Elisa.

Since Brie had discovered that Elisa was Winslow's niece, she stopped arguing with Elisa. She only protected and took care of Elisa.

At that moment, Brie didn't ask about the specifics. She only cared about what she saw!

Mr. Damian immediately smiled when he heard what Brie said. "Brie, this is just a misunderstanding, and I didn't do anything to this girl. I only wanted to ask her for help and accidentally fell on the floor. My subordinates rushed over. This is just a misunderstanding."

It was precisely what had happened.

But Elisa was annoyed. She didn't want to hear anything else the man said.

She pulled Brie. "Take me to see Uncle Winslow."

She deliberately lowered her voice when she said it.

Although she didn't want to go over, she would prefer to go to her uncle instead of continuing to be harassed by the man.

However, Elisa didn't know that this dinner party was held by Mr. Damian. When Elisa turned, Mr. Damian followed.

When Winslow saw them come in, he noticed Elisa's terrible expression and was instantly suspicious.

But before he could ask anything, Mr. Damian said with a wide smile, "What a coincidence. My subordinates almost retaliated against Ms. Benett. You're another one, Mr. Knowles. Why didn't you inform me you brought your niece with you?"

Mr. Damian tried to explain what had happened in a few words and tried to imply that Winslow was insincere.

But Elisa couldn't take it.

She retorted. "I'm not an important figure."

Not only could she not bear to hear such flattery, but her annoyance at what had just happened had yet to dissipate!

"Are you still angry at me regarding what happened, Ms. Benett?" Mr. Damian took the initiative to bring it up nicely.

But Winslow had an awfully dark expression.

"Liz, what on earth happened just now?"

Winslow pursed his lips as he asked Elisa while looking at her.

He didn't need to find out anything from Mr. Damian. He wanted to hear Elisa talk about the specifics.

There was nothing to hide, but she didn't want her uncle to ruin his friendship because of her.

She thought about it and restrained herself slightly. "Mr. Damian accidentally fainted before me, and I saved him. I realized he was poisoned and kindly informed him to look for a doctor, but Mr. Damian trusted me too much and insisted that I treat him. However, I don't have the time. After that, Mr. Damian accidentally fell, and his subordinates misjudged me. Brie appeared at the right time."

She didn't point out Mr. Damian's shamelessness, but Winslow figured it out.

Chapter 1487 Shooting Himself in The Foot

He had known Mr. Damian for so many years. How could he not know what kind of a person Mr. Damian was?

Mr. Damian cherished his life and was scared to die.

So when he found out that he had been poisoned and there was someone with medical expertise before him, he would find a way to ask Elisa to stay and treat him.

Although Winslow and Mr. Damian were good friends for many years, Mr. Damian was far less significant to Winslow when compared to Elisa.

Winslow pulled Elisa to him. "It's alright if you're not free. We're not here to serve others!"

Mr. Damian was enraged when he heard what Winslow said.

He didn't expect Winslow to say that. With Winslow's position, he thought Winslow would stand on his side and help him after he explained it nicely.

But he didn't think that Winslow would be so firm and blunt.

Just as he was about to say something else, Winslow's hand fell on Elisa's shoulder, and his gaze was concerned. "Are you tired? If so, we can go back and rest."

Winslow's intentions were clear. Even he didn't want to attend the dinner party any more.

Elisa wasn't an oblivious person. She shook her head. "I'm alright, Uncle Winslow. Go ahead."

"Brie, my stomach is feeling slightly unwell. Can you come with me to the washroom?" Elisa felt she shouldn't stay to prevent the two from arguing.

Of course, Brie immediately obeyed Elisa's orders.

Only Winslow and Mr. Damian were left in the private room.

As Mr. Damian was about to say something, his cell phone vibrated.

It was a call from the Fowler family.

His face darkened when he heard it.

The call didn't go on for long. Mr. Damian hung up first.

After that, he apologized to Winslow politely. "I really didn't know she was your niece. I didn't do anything to her at the time. I just wanted her to stay and treat me. After that, she became emotional. I might have fallen on the floor because I'm weak from being poisoned, and my subordinates saw it, so they surrounded her because they thought she did something to me."

"I admit that in that instant when my subordinates came, I wanted to take advantage of the situation to make her compromise, but Brie appeared, so I did nothing. We've been good friends for years. Since your niece can tell I've been poisoned, you won't watch me die, right?"

Mr. Damian had a terrible expression. He sighed after he spoke.

Winslow pursed his lips. He sneered coldly after listening to what Mr. Damian had to say. "Do you think it's alright to ignore others' intentions and force them to stay just because you cherish your life? What if it wasn't my niece? Would you have detained her?"

He questioned Mr. Damian bluntly.

Mr. Damian didn't justify his actions. He admitted his wrongdoing again and was polite before Winslow.

He said, "I know I'm at fault. I can apologize to Elisa, but we've been good friends for years. She knows what to do. Don't tell me you'll look on unfeelingly and watch me die?"

The wistfulness in Mr. Damian's words was apparent.

He wouldn't have done such a thing if he had known she was Elisa Bennett and was related to Winslow.

He had shot himself in the foot.

Chapter 1488 Lowlife Tricks?

Winslow was still indifferent. "Whether or not you survive, it's your life. If you hadn't met her, you would still be poisoned anyway. She just pointed it out. The people around you have hidden it from you. Damian, do you know you're emotionally blackmailing her?"

After that, Winslow put his hands behind his back and wanted to turn and walk out.

But Damian quickly stopped him. "Something happened to my nephew, Aaron, at KKCD Casino. With your current position, those people can't do anything to you. But you would get into trouble if they wanted to mess with you. With Elisa by your side now, are you sure she won't become your weak spot?"

Damian pursed his lips and had a solemn expression.

He had just received a call from Aaron's father, who was his older brother. He loved underground business transactions.

On top of how Moranta wasn't as strict as Zovain, his brother had a lot of connections.

He knew Winslow wasn't afraid of this. Even if his connections were enough to go up against Winslow, the problem was that it would require a lot of effort if they had a conflict.

"So?"

Winslow smiled coldly and asked Damian.

Damian answered, "I'm not trying to barter with you. Even if Elisa didn't show up today, I would have told you this anyway. We've been good friends for so many years. I'll choose to stand by your side. But... Winslow, I'm just asking your niece to treat me. You don't have to be so petty, do you?"

Winslow's thin lips were pursed, and his expression was indifferent.

This wasn't about being petty. Damian had crossed a line.

And now, Elisa was Winslow's bottom line.

He wouldn't allow anyone to hurt Elisa.

"But are you sure you can always protect Elisa?"

After Damian said it, Winslow immediately realized something.

Meanwhile, Elisa and Brie were surrounded by people.

Elisa's gaze darkened when she saw so many people before her.

This dinner party was held by Damian. Damian and Winslow were good friends, and Brie was Winslow's trusted aide.

What did this mean?

The people surrounding her could be none other than Damian's subordinates.

Did Damian do such a thing just so she would treat him?

"Ms. Benett."

A man walked forward from the middle and nodded at Elisa. He was very respectful towards her.

But Brie was in front of Elisa.

She had a dark expression, and her eyes were cold, stormy, and ominous. Her stance was clear.

Elisa felt slightly amused. "I thought Mr. Damian was usually a forthright person. Where did his integrity go? Does he only know how to use these lowlife tricks behind the scenes?"

She knew she wouldn't get hurt with her uncle's protection and Brie's defense.

But she thought such actions were very shameless.

"Ms. Benett, the Mr. Damian you mentioned is our boss' brother," the man immediately replied after hearing what Elisa said.

But this puzzled Elisa.

Who is Mr. Damian's brother?

Or perhaps... other people found out that she discovered Mr. Damian had been poisoned for three years.

So had Mr. Damian's brother poisoned him? Had he arranged for so many people to come and warn her not to meddle?

When she thought about it, she frowned, and her heart sank.

"Ms. Benett, you should mind your own business. You've detained our boss' son for so long. If you let him go, we can talk nicely."

Chapter 1489 I'll Defend Them Even If They're Wrong!

The man's thin lips slowly parted, and he expressed their true purpose.

But this baffled Elisa.

Since she came to Moranta, many things happened to her and Gareth. They had detained people, but she was clueless about the boss' son the man was talking about.

Mr. Carrerra was an independent party from the Middle East. Eden and Irene weren't commoners either.

Therefore, she was curious about the identity of the boss' son the man was talking about.

Elisa furrowed her brows slightly. "You found the wrong person. I've never detained anyone."

After that, she wanted to pull Brie away with her.

But these people didn't plan on letting her go at all. The moment she stepped out, those people quickly surrounded her.

Before Elisa could say anything, Brie's expression changed. She made the first move and kicked someone away.

"You greet her respectfully, but you still have the nerve to come and stop her. I think everyone here must be bored with their lives!"

Brie yelled angrily. She treated those people with disdain.

Although Elisa didn't say anything, she was prepared to make a move at any time.

Others surrounded them, but they didn't want to do anything. After Brie made the first move, the man gestured.

This made the rest take a step back one by one.

The man said, "Ms. Benett, didn't you and Gareth detain our boss' son on the day of the casino's party?"

Elisa instantly understood when he said it.

Their boss' son was the man who was by Nicole's side.

After realizing who they were referring to, Elisa said coldly, "You should be looking for Gareth Wickam, not me."

After that, Elisa turned and signaled Brie.

But how could the man let Elisa go?

He said, "Ms. Benett, aren't you working with Gareth Wickam?"

At the next moment, other people surrounded Elisa and Brie again.

When Brie was about to make a move against the man, Winslow's cold voice rang from afar. "Do you think KKCD Casino is a playground?"

He appeared, and Brie became bolder.

She hooked the man's wrist and threw him viciously on the floor over her shoulder.

Brie understood what to do with a glance from Winslow.

But Damian stopped her just as she was about to deal with the other people. "Ms. Benett faced such a situation because I didn't control them well enough. Don't worry, Mr. Knowles. I will solve this and explain it to you."

Damian declared his position confidently, but Winslow didn't care at all.

"No need. I will deal with these people. If your brother asks about it, tell him to look for me."

After that, Brie quickly pummeled the men. They were quickly defeated and lay on the floor.

Damian didn't say anything.

Winslow had many talented subordinates hidden strategically in KKCD Casino. From the looks of it, Winslow wasn't afraid of causing trouble.

If he didn't know Elisa's identity, he would think Elisa was a femme fatale, just like everyone else. But now, he only cared about Elisa!

"Go back and tell your boss not to mess with my people in the casino. I don't care how close he is to those people. He shouldn't think he's all-powerful. If he hurts any of my people, I'll defend them even if they're wrong!"

Chapter 1490 It Serves Him Right!

The man Brie had just knocked to the floor climbed up, and Winslow kicked him viciously again.

After that, Winslow turned and glanced at Elisa and Brie.

They quickly understood and followed.

Damian knew that anything he said was useless at such a critical juncture.

But he wouldn't give up his intentions of asking Elisa to treat him!

"Go and tell my brother that if he wants Aaron to survive, he shouldn't make any more trouble at this crucial moment!" Damian said coldly to the man, who left with his subordinates.

Winslow consoled Elisa on the way back. "There's nothing wrong if you insist on not treating him. Don't give in because of me. Although we've known each other for years, certain things won't be as simple once profit is involved."

Winslow seemed very aloof at the end.

He meant that he could be both good friends and enemies with Damian.

However, it was better to have Winslow as a friend instead of an enemy.

Even though Winslow didn't care about this, Elisa didn't want their friendship ruined because of her.

"Uncle Winslow, I know you're protecting me. I've said all I've wanted to. Don't worry. I have my principles. I don't want you to make an enemy because of me."

She could tell that Winslow treated her well during this time, and she took note of it.

It didn't mean she was cold and heartless, even if she didn't say anything.

"Alright."

Winslow nodded. He was pleased with Elisa's boldness, determination, and perseverance.

They returned to the casino.

Elisa wanted to look for Gareth, and Winslow didn't stop her.

At the same time, he wanted Gareth to immediately let Mr. North go.

Elisa was quite indifferent when she saw Gareth being detained. She even rolled her eyes at him when their gazes met.

She had warned him earlier, but he didn't listen.

It served him right now that he was faced with such a situation!

But before Elisa could say anything, Winslow spoke up first. "Are you going to let Mr. North go?"

Although Winslow didn't say much, the rage in his eyes was unmistakable.

Elisa also glanced at Gareth.

But Gareth said indifferently, "It's not that I'm unwilling to return him. I have no time to attend to other things simultaneously."

Since Winslow had seen through his identity, he couldn't keep detaining Mr. North.

Furthermore, he didn't have any ill feelings toward Winslow. Now that Gareth was detained here, he would be in dire straits if he insisted on detaining Mr. North.

He understood his current circumstance.

Elisa figured out his intentions as well.

But she didn't say anything. She only glared at Gareth fiercely.

He was discovered and detained. Isn't this what the stupid man deserves?

She had arranged everything for him, but he was unwilling to leave. He had wanted to stay. After that, he even concocted a plan regarding Mr. North.

He had gone beyond his capabilities.

However, Winslow interrupted Elisa's thoughts. He said coldly to Gareth, "Where did you lock him up?"

Winslow didn't plan on letting Gareth go to set Mr. North free. Winslow wanted to personally arrange for his people to free Mr. North.

Gareth didn't hide it. He said honestly, "In an underground room in the villa."