

No Chance 1491

Chapter 1491 Stop It!

After that, Gareth gave him the address.

Winslow turned to look at Brie, and she quickly understood.

At this time, Gareth said, "I will decide when to come and go."

Winslow answered coldly, "Leave KKCD Casino now."

Winslow did this for Elisa's sake and left Gareth a little dignity. Winslow would have long instructed his subordinates to throw him out if it were someone else.

After that, Gareth was no longer detained by Winslow's subordinates.

However, Gareth immediately walked to Elisa.

Elisa looked at the silent Gareth and couldn't help but furrow her brows. But before she could say anything, Winslow stepped in front of Gareth.

Winslow's expression was cold. "You've divorced. There's no need for you to stay around her."

Gareth ignored what Winslow said and stared at Elisa. He wanted to see what she thought.

Elisa didn't want him to stay, either. "Although you discovered certain things with Mr. North's identity, you don't know how to operate the specifics. Gareth, you can't help me at all if you stay."

Moreover, Elisa had a chilly attitude. She didn't want to be involved with Gareth any longer.

But Gareth was persistent. "If you don't let me stay and do this, how do you know I can't help you if I stay?"

Elisa was dumbstruck.

From the looks of it, Gareth was exceptionally confident with his abilities!

Elisa was frustrated and weary. "I don't need you to help me with anything. Quickly go home and visit Grandma. I can deal with things here alone. Can you not be so stubborn, Gareth?"

She didn't know what the stupid man was thinking. He used to turn a deaf ear to her in the past, but he was insistent on helping her now.

If not for his denial, she would really suspect that he...

But Gareth disagreed. "I'm not being stubborn. It's just tit for tat."

Elisa was flabbergasted.

She wanted to retort. What do you mean by tit for tat? Seriously? Can you speak nicely?!

Winslow pulled Elisa to one side. "You don't have to waste your time with him. Just knock him out and send him back. If he dares to badger you anymore, ignore him. I'll deal with him!"

With his identity, Winslow called the shots.

Furthermore, it involved Elisa.

However, Gareth felt the relationship between Elisa and Winslow was strange.

He ignored Winslow. His dark and deep gaze still fell on Elisa.

Although Gareth didn't say anything, Elisa understood what he meant. He wanted to talk things over with her.

But Elisa didn't want to, because she had said everything she needed to. Gareth was just being stubborn.

Therefore, Elisa chose to ignore him at that moment.

Winslow made a move, and Gareth resisted.

Elisa was slightly exasperated when she heard a noise.

She roared, "Stop it, Gareth Wickam!"

However, it was no use. Gareth didn't stop because she spoke up.

Gareth told Winslow coldly, "I can leave KKCD Casino, but you have no way to interfere in my coming and going."

This was Gareth's stance.

It made Winslow pull back.

Chapter 1492 Hidden Motives

Although other people could also do it, they were in a foreign land, and Thomas had made up her prescription for Gareth several times.

Gareth frowned and looked solemn. "Elisa, you have your opinion, and I have my thoughts. I can't abandon my principles."

"Huh?"

Elisa was amused when she heard what he said. "I don't understand. What kind of a principle are you sticking to by staying?"

"If you're saying I helped you, didn't you also help me a few times? And I've clarified that I'm helping with Ganoderma Caligo for Grandma."

Elisa had a solemn attitude when she spoke.

But speaking of the devil, she received a call from Julia.

Like in the past, Julia called Elisa's cell phone and asked politely, "Liz, you lost touch with me again. How are you? Are you okay?"

"How is the brat, Gareth? Why haven't you two sent me any news? Your Grandpa and I are getting worried at home!"

As Julia spoke, she sighed heavily. Her despair and worry were particularly obvious.

Elisa was slightly exasperated.

But she had turned on the loudspeaker immediately after she answered the call.

She gestured for Gareth to speak.

He understood and quickly said, "We're doing good. I've instructed Thomas to return first. Liz and I will stay back. We still have things to do."

Julia had deliberately called Elisa to bring her and Gareth closer together, and Julia was now hearing Gareth's voice.

Her eyes lit up immediately, and she said happily, "I see. It's alright if you're busy. Don't forget to call in the meantime. I have to attend the wedding of your distant cousin in a week. Can you make it back in time?"

Julia was asking about their schedule.

Elisa answered bluntly yet tactfully. "Grandma, we can't make it back. Moreover, it's the wedding of Gareth's distant cousin. With me and Gareth's current relationship, who am I to attend the wedding?"

Gareth wouldn't attend his distant cousin's wedding, so why should Elisa attend?

Julia had hidden motives.

She turned stern. "If an old woman like me doesn't comment about your relationship with Gareth, what can they say? If they dare to gossip, I won't go!"

Chapter 1493 Gareth!

Julia snorted coldly and expressed her thoughts.

But in reality, whether Julia attended had nothing to do with Elisa. Elisa and Gareth were divorced, and the two were no longer involved with each other.

Elisa was only helping because of her affection for Julia.

However, Elisa spoke nicely to Julia. "Grandma, I'm swamped and can't return. I'll visit you when I'm back, alright? I'll call you when I'm free. Sometimes when you call, it's not that Gareth and I deliberately ignore you. It's that we are occupied with other things."

She seemed to be explaining things to Julia, but actually, Julia didn't call them much. Furthermore, when she did, she could almost always reach them.

She couldn't quite keep her composure when she heard what Elisa said.

But if she could play matchmaker by trying her luck, she would do it!

"Mm. Go ahead. I'll wait for you to come back." Julia didn't say anything else. She quickly hung up after that.

Gareth didn't say much during the call.

Julia's intentions were clear. Gareth was also honest.

Elisa didn't want to discuss it with him any longer. "The man with Nicole is a Fowler. Whether you go back or not, you have to release him."

After all, they were in a foreign land. It was better not to make trouble.

Gareth didn't plan on releasing Aaron. He sneered coldly. "Do you think I'm scared, Elisa?"

He wasn't afraid.

But it wasn't good to be in too much trouble.

Elisa didn't want to say anything else when she saw Gareth's attitude. "Since you're so fearless, don't listen to me. Just stay away from me!"

Elisa pushed him away coldly.

Gareth wrinkled his brows, and his expression was faintly impatient. "Do you dislike me so much?"

"Should I not dislike you? Gareth Wickam, you have your plans, and I have my ways. I'm not underestimating you. I just don't want to become entangled with you."

"You're in no place to care about what I do. Even if you were, I could turn you down as coldly as you did to me, right?"

"So you're holding a grudge?"

The two argued and bickered with each other. Ultimately, Gareth frowned, and his expression grew impatient and icy.

Elisa smiled. "So what if I am? I lived like that for the three years we were married, and all you gave me were divorce papers. Do you think I have no complaints?"

"Watch out!"

Gareth pushed Elisa forcefully, and in that instant, he seemed to lose his balance and fall on Elisa.

Elisa felt Gareth's weight as he fell on her. She also immediately smelled the strong scent of blood.

After that, she noticed fresh blood streaming from Gareth's arm.

Her expression changed. "Gareth!"

She instantly grabbed him and asked passersby to help.

He... Why did he take a bullet for me at this time? Is he mad?!

The shooter had the nerve to use a silencer in KKCD Casino and shoot directly at Elisa. How much did the shooter want her to die?

Elisa's shouts quickly attracted many subordinates in KKCD. To her surprise, Gareth slumped on her further and pinned her to the floor.

'Bang!'

It was another shot!

The shooter completely disregarded KKCD's rules.

Chapter 1494 Hold On!

Gareth suddenly groaned dully.

Elisa was stunned.

D*mn it!

She didn't care about anything else and held Gareth tightly. Her expression was complicated. "Hold on!"

How can KKCD let that person go? The people that Elisa had called over immediately scattered and started searching. They didn't miss a single corner.

The mass movement lured Winslow out of the room.

When he opened the door, he saw Elisa pinned to the floor by Gareth with his arms around her neck.

Just as Winslow was about to do something, Elisa quickly got up.

Men and women had different strengths. It seemed very strenuous for her to pull Gareth up.

But she was afraid the hidden shooter would shoot again while they were unprepared, so she could only drag Gareth into a room. At this time, she noticed Winslow at the side.

At that moment, it was as though she saw her savior. "Uncle Winslow, quickly help me..."

Her voice was hoarse.

As for Gareth, his face was pale, and he had a deep frown.

Winslow saw the blood-soaked spots on Gareth's chest and arm. He also smelled the strong scent of blood permeating the air.

Gareth was severely hurt. He couldn't have been putting on an act.

Winslow had a solemn expression and immediately went forward to help. They quickly helped Gareth to the room and lay him on the couch.

Elisa didn't think much. She immediately half-knelt on the floor, so it was convenient for her to check Gareth's injuries. But her posture immediately made Winslow's expression turn nasty.

She had previously expressed clearly that she wouldn't be involved with Gareth, but her subconscious reaction still prioritized Gareth!

As for Gareth...

His gaze, everything that had happened today, his severe injuries, and how Elisa was unharmed made everything clear.

The two just needed a breakthrough!

Winslow wrinkled his brows slightly. After thinking, he said in a low voice, "Liz, there's a doctor in the casino. I can get..."

"Uncle Winslow, I can deal with this. And I've looked at him. In his current condition, I need to immediately take the bullets out of him to stop the bleeding!"

Before Winslow could finish speaking, Elisa interrupted him. Her voice was urgent, but she didn't notice it.

Winslow didn't say anything else.

Even though he hadn't spent much time with Elisa, he understood her temperament well. She wouldn't easily change her mind regarding things she had decided.

And as her uncle, he had to quickly help her.

He immediately instructed people to bring and prepare equipment, instruments, and medicine.

He even instructed the doctor in the casino to act as Elisa's assistant. Although the doctor was displeased, he didn't dare to say anything because it was Winslow's order.

After Winslow finished arranging everything, he made room for them and left.

...

Three minutes later, Winslow entered a room.

Someone stood respectfully next to him and reported to him. "Boss, the shooter behind the scenes shot himself. His identity is unknown. No identifying documents or cell phone were on him."

A cold smile was in the corners of Winslow's mouth. "If there weren't any identifying documents, investigate. Could he have appeared out of thin air? Investigate Eden, Irene, Mr. Carrerra, and the Fowler family!"

Since Elisa had come to Moranta, these people were always around her, especially Eden and Irene. Their intentions were clear.

Chapter 1495 At Least For Now

Thomas had taken Ganoderma Caligo with him. Gareth wasn't the target of the attack.

If he was, the bullet would have passed through Gareth's head. The shooter wouldn't have fired two consecutive shots.

This meant that the shooter was annoyed at Gareth, who was protecting Elisa, and the shooter wanted to kill them both with one shot. The shooter's target was Elisa, whom Gareth had saved!

But Winslow wasn't someone to be messed with. Someone had dared to make trouble in his territory and had the nerve to make a move against someone he was protecting. No matter who the person was, they had to suffer the price of enraging him!

Soon, Brie brought Mr. North back.

Mr. North knelt before Winslow and admitted his mistake remorsefully. "Boss, I'm sorry. I neglected my job, and it caused Gareth to disguise himself as me and infiltrate KKCD..."

"What happened to you?" Mr. North's voice made Winslow suspicious.

If Mr. North didn't do anything wrong, but Gareth made a move and hurt him badly, Winslow would defend Mr. North mainly because Mr. North worked for him.

Even if Gareth...

Mr. North hung his head and pursed his lips. He said hoarsely, "I was incompetent and inferior to Gareth as he locked me in an underground room. I was unwilling to be trapped by Gareth, so I bit my tongue to force Gareth to come and see me. Even if I were to die, I would never let Gareth use my identity to do anything!"

But he never thought that everything he did was futile. Gareth wasn't affected at all.

He had even heard that Gareth used his identity to do many things in KKCD. If Brie hadn't brought him back today, Gareth would have used Mr. North's identity to go to Estoccia tomorrow!

"Boss, please allow me to kill Gareth Wickam!"

Mr. North clenched his fists, and his gaze was determined.

He had fallen for Gareth's trap and naturally wanted to vent!

But Winslow sneered disdainfully. "Gareth Wickam is so powerful that even I must be apprehensive, but you? You want to kill Gareth? If you were a worthy match for Gareth, would you be in such a situation now?"

Winslow stood with his hands behind his back and had a nasty expression.

Mr. North didn't say anything. He looked at Winslow in disbelief.

Because to him, his boss, Winslow, always had a divine existence. Otherwise, how could Winslow have developed KKCD to such an extent today?

And now his boss was saying that Gareth was so powerful that he even had to be careful. How can this be?!

"Boss, you..."

Winslow scoffed coldly. "You still don't believe me?"

Mr. North didn't say a word. He really didn't believe Winslow.

Winslow said indifferently, "You don't know Gareth well. If not for Elisa, would he still be apprehensive? He doesn't even care about KKCD Casino, let alone a small fry like you! Don't forget how the situation was when Gareth and Elisa first entered the casino."

Mr. North didn't say a word, but the scene at the time subconsciously appeared in his mind.

He couldn't deny that Gareth and Elisa had excellent luck when they entered the casino and won. They knew the rules of KKCD Casino but still made themselves the public enemy.

Gareth showed no regard for the casino back then, let alone currently.

"Don't tell me we must treat Gareth as an honored guest?" Mr. North was incensed when Gareth was mentioned.

Winslow pursed his lips and said, "At least for now."

As much as he disliked Gareth, Gareth was now injured.

Chapter 1496 Almost Made Her Cry

But he had to try!

What if he could do it?

Winslow didn't say anything else to Mr. North. He only patted Mr. North's shoulder. "Rest well."

On Gareth's end.

Elisa gave him anesthetic and quickly removed the bullet from his shoulder.

But as for the bullet in his chest...

Elisa noticed that it was close to his heart. Although the designated KKCD doctor was around to help her, their surrounding conditions weren't equipped for major surgery.

It would cause a post-surgery infection and other complications if not dealt with properly.

Furthermore, the drug remnants in Gareth's system had yet to be eliminated. She furrowed her brows tightly, and her face was cold.

"Are you okay, Gareth?" She only gave him local anesthesia and removed the bullet from his arm. With the other bullet's position in his chest, she had to quickly remove the other shell from his body.

Gareth's voice wasn't as stable as usual but still discernible. "I'm alright. I trust you. You can operate here."

If they didn't move and stayed in KKCD Casino, people would still protect Elisa.

If they left, what if those people came back stronger?

He also feared that Elisa would be hurt or get into an accident.

After all, those people had made a move and wanted to kill her on KKCD's territory. Without his prior training and sensitivity to the sounds of silencers, Elisa would have died by now!

However, the doctor at the side didn't recommend it. "It's not fully equipped here. My office is on the fifth floor. Although the patient must suffer a little and endure for a while, it's better if we head there now!"

Gareth grabbed Elisa's hand tightly and said firmly, "We don't have to move. You can do it here. I trust you."

It would take at least a few minutes to move. Many things could happen. He wasn't healthy enough to protect her, so he had to eliminate any possibility of an accident!

Elisa sensed his resolve. They hadn't interacted in a long time, and Elisa was also aware of the iciness in his palm.

His hand used to be warm...

"Gareth, you could have left and ignored me. You..." Elisa's voice was hoarse, and the corners of her eyes filled with tears.

Her heart hurt. It was as though someone was torturing her repeatedly.

The usual solemn and indifferent Gareth slowly revealed a smile at this time.

He said, "We came together, so we must leave together. We're husband and wife. How can I ignore you? Start the surgery. There's no time."

This almost made Elisa cry.

Chapter 1497 Whatever It Takes?

However, his last sentence prompted her.

There's no time. I have to operate quickly!

Elisa held his hand tightly and seemed to be declaring her position explicitly. "Don't worry, Gareth. I won't let you die!"

With the doctor's help, Elisa gave Gareth general anesthesia.

Although the conditions were simple and crude, Elisa was methodical, and her actions were professional.

The surgery went on for more than an hour. Elisa completed the surgery impeccably by removing the bullet and sewing him up.

Even the doctor at the side unconsciously gasped in surprise. "Your... Your professional standards are as good as the most prestigious medical professor in Moranta. You... May I ask which hospital you work at?"

The doctor's gaze was filled with admiration for Elisa.

He thought his skills were above average. But after meeting Elisa today, he realized that he paled in comparison.

If it were him, he wouldn't dare to do such a major surgery under such circumstances!

"I'm not working in a hospital. I have to deal with some things. Stay here and observe Gareth's condition." Elisa removed her gloves and mask.

After removing the bullet, Gareth had to be given medicine to reduce inflammation and stabilize his condition.

"Alright."

The doctor nodded.

But before he could ask anything else, Elisa had left the room.

As he looked at the unconscious Gareth, the doctor saw his reflection and had a strange expression.

Oh, my god. He was a specially hired doctor by KKCD, but he was now an assistant and nurse?

But that woman was outstanding! He was willing to do it!

When Elisa was done with her matters, he had to learn from her!

...

When Elisa left the room, she saw Brie.

Before Elisa could ask, Brie walked to her and greeted her. "This way, Ms. Benett."

"Mm." Elisa nodded and followed Brie.

Soon, Brie brought her to another room. Elisa saw many people on guard on the way there.

When she opened the door and entered, she saw Winslow sitting on a genuine leather couch.

Winslow's brows wrinkled when he noticed her. "Brie, find Elisa a new outfit."

He noticed the bloodstains on Elisa.

Elisa looked down because of what he said.

But it wasn't a problem for her. She cared most about who wanted her to die so badly!

She asked directly, "Uncle Winslow, do you know anything about Eden and the person named Irene? Under such a situation, they'll keep targeting me if I do nothing."

They could be hidden somewhere and keep thinking of ways to kill her. Besides knowing they wanted to kill her, she was clueless about everything else.

And another important point. Why were they in such a hurry to kill her that they would do whatever it took?

Winslow understood everything Elisa was asking and what she was confused about.

Upon seeing her like that, Winslow wanted to say something but stopped. In the end, he chose to hide it from her.

"Your presence must have threatened them. Look at your outstanding medical skills. Even Damian wants you to be his private doctor. Perhaps you're involved with them somehow." Winslow pursed his lips and could only explain to Elisa in such a way.

Chapter 1498 What Kind of Therapy Is This?

Elisa kept quiet.

She couldn't deny such a situation. After all, Eden was the prince of Estoccia. As for Irene, Elisa had yet to investigate her.

But she should have a similar position to Eden.

Upon seeing her silent, Winslow quickly said, "You don't know their identities or the person behind them. You better not act blindly without thinking. I've instructed people to follow up on my side. I'll inform you immediately once there are results. Rest in the casino, look after Gareth, and treat him."

It wasn't like Elisa to be unconcerned or not care.

She shook her head. "Uncle Winslow, I know you don't want me to take risks, but this involves me. How can I not deal with it personally?"

She wasn't a coward!

Moreover, she had a premonition.

There was no need for Eden and Irene to kill her for her medical skills.

Because no one was asking her to treat them. She was also swamped recently and wasn't in the mood.

When she pondered further, she thought it might be because of her mother, who had been missing for many years and whose whereabouts were unknown.

Elisa raised her head when she thought of it.

She didn't say anything and only looked at Winslow quietly. After that, she slowly said clearly, "Uncle Winslow, I don't think it's so simple. Tell me honestly. What position does the Knowles family have in Estoccia?"

Why else would Winslow think that her father was common and look down on him?

Back in her country, Benett Corporation had a decent standing.

Winslow was surprised when he heard what Elisa said.

He never thought Elisa would ask him so directly. But then again, it was a critical moment, and Elisa was brilliant.

It was an advantage that she had such awareness.

But from the current situation and her personality, it would be better for her to know less. Otherwise...

"What position can we have? If we were in an important position, would I still set up a casino in Moranta?" Winslow laughed lightly and tried to avoid the topic to dispel Elisa's doubts.

After that, he added, "Perhaps it's for the reason I mentioned. Maybe it's not Eden and Irene. You better tell Gareth to let the Fawler son go."

It was Gareth's problem if he didn't want to let Aaron go. Winslow initially didn't have to care.

But such a thing happening before them made Winslow realize that if Gareth didn't let Aaron go, it might implicate Elisa.

Elisa nodded.

After her guess was refuted, Elisa returned to Gareth's side.

She pulled a chair, sat by his side, and kept watch. Even when Brie sent over clothes and food, Elisa had no desire to eat or change.

And Elisa noticed that Gareth had a weak pulse.

His breathing was feeble as well.

In his current situation, he could only be put on a ventilator. His condition had to be monitored at all times.

Elisa feared something would happen to him, so she gave him a cardiovascular pill she had developed.

After that, she massaged parts of his body and his fingertips.

When the doctor saw all this, he was astonished. "Ms. Benett, what kind of therapy is this?"

"He needs to rest right now. I'll look after him. You can go." Elisa said indifferently. She wasn't in the mood to answer his doubts.

The doctor sensed Elisa's mood and didn't say anything else.

Chapter 1499 She Wasn't the Least Bit Inferior to the Man!

He could only leave the room according to Elisa's wishes.

But he met people he knew at the door, Brie and Mr. North.

He secretly asked them, "Who is Ms. Benett?"

He always stayed in his office. If someone was hurt in the casino, they would be sent to him so he could help them. Otherwise, he would read medical books in his office. He didn't know much about what went on outside.

"The boss' niece."

Brie answered.

Niece?!

Oh my god!

But before the doctor could finish exclaiming, Mr. North pulled him to one side.

Mr. North asked with a frown, "How is the man's condition? Is he about to die?"

"How can that be? Ms. Benett's medical skills truly amazed me. With her around, he won't die!"

Mr. North was dumbstruck.

"Don't worry!"

Mr. North was flabbergasted.

Why would I worry?!

He felt incredibly defeated. He wouldn't get an opportunity if Elisa stayed by Gareth's side.

But the doctor saw Mr. North's expression. "What's up with you? Since she's the boss' niece, isn't he the boss' nephew-in-law? But from the looks of it, you seem unhappy that he's doing well."

Mr. North immediately rebuked him. "Stop talking nonsense."

Elisa wouldn't let Gareth die, so Mr. North naturally didn't want her to hear such things.

Otherwise, Elisa would look for him.

His boss cared for Elisa so much. He could no longer stay in the casino if she said anything to Winslow.

The doctor didn't say anything else.

On another end.

At the moment, Eden and Irene were on a farm in the suburbs.

Thankfully, a kind family had offered them shelter.

They had no cell phones, money, or staff with them. Ultimately, they were located by members of the royal country of both countries.

They were taken back, and both were treated with disdain.

Eden was severely rebuked.

"You need to know your place! You'd be worthless without the princess, let alone your current position!"

Standing before Eden was his adoptive mother's trusted aide.

This couldn't be compared to when Eden dealt with the subordinate.

Even if Eden was annoyed by it, he could only hold it in.

He stayed quiet.

But the man continued. "This is the last chance the princess is giving you. If you don't deal with Elisa within three days, she will personally make a move. The princess also told me to tell you that you'll lose everything if she personally sets out."

After the man spoke to Eden, he threw a cell phone and gun at Eden.

Eden didn't say anything, but the malice in his eyes was evident.

If he didn't take revenge for the humiliation he had suffered in KKCD Casino, he would be doing himself a disservice.

Especially...

Gareth and Elisa!

As for Irene.

She was also chided. "In any case, you're the princess of a country. Look at what you've become now. What benefits have hanging around Eden brought you? Do you want to be with him?"

A middle-aged woman stood before Irene.

But the woman took good care of herself and had a dignified air to her.

The woman had her hands behind her. Her stern expression wasn't the least bit inferior to the man who had rebuked Eden!

Irene immediately denied it. "Why would I want to be with him?"

Chapter 1500 Passionately and Deeply in Love

Eden was adopted. He wasn't the true heir of his country.

What Irene wanted wasn't love. It was power!

The middle-aged woman sized Irene up.

After a while, the middle-aged woman said coldly, "Since you don't want to be with him, don't embarrass the royal family outside! If you continue doing as you please, the king won't forgive you! If that happens, don't blame the eldest princess for not protecting you!"

Irene didn't say anything but was sure of one thing in her heart.

She would only have the power she wanted when she sat on the throne.

Her people would pledge allegiance to her, and she would be all-powerful. She wouldn't need anyone to protect her!

Therefore, Eden stayed back.

Irene returned to her country,

Irene glanced at Eden before leaving.

But Eden didn't pay any attention to her.

He had lost all desire to work together with Irene.

At that moment, he cared more about Elisa.

Therefore, he called her.

Elisa had a cold expression, and her heart sank when she saw it was a call from Eden.

"What's your purpose?"

Eden called right after something had happened to Gareth. She wouldn't believe it if this had nothing to do with Eden.

Eden laughed lightly, and a malicious smile appeared in the corner of his mouth. "Pfft! What purpose do I have? I missed you, so I called you. But you're in luck. You found such a good patron to protect and help you. You've already forgotten about me in just a few short hours. How can anyone be as ruthless as you, Liz?"

Eden suddenly felt aggrieved as he spoke.

He didn't mention his true purpose at all, nor did he bring up Gareth.

Elisa was baffled when she saw Gareth with his tightly shut eyes and pale face.

She recalled the past few times when Eden had faced her and Gareth angrily with a gun pointed at them, but he had never pulled the trigger.

She was curious about his true motive.

She didn't want to get entangled in too much nonsense with Eden.

Her face was icy. "Is Irene really trying to kill me? Eden, in any case, you're the prince of Estoccia. You've seen many tricks over the past few years, right? Stop pretending to be an onlooker! Why did you and Irene appear around me?"

"Which identity of mine will benefit you?"

Elisa wasn't in the mood and had lost her patience.

Eden knew how intelligent Elisa was. If it went on, it wouldn't be long until Elisa found out the truth!

But it wouldn't be fun to let her know now.

Eden pretended to be clueless and at a loss. Instead, he questioned her. "If you don't know, how would I know?"

"Eden, I don't have the strength to talk nonsense with you. Was it you or Irene who tried to kill me in KKCD?" Elisa wrinkled her brows. Her eyes were pitch black and shrewd.

She would never have asked him these questions if Eden hadn't called her.

But Eden had called her.

Furthermore, investigating him wasn't as fast as asking him personally!

But Eden denied it flatly. "You know what situation Irene and I are in. We're exiled. How can we be capable of arranging for people to kill you? Moreover, I like you so much. How can I bear to kill you?"

When Eden said it, he looked passionately and deeply in love.

But how could Elisa believe him?