

No Chance 156

Chapter 156 Linda, You Shouldn't Have Done That

At this moment, the banquet was completely silent despite having hundreds of guests. No one dared to make a sound.

Linda had fallen into full-blown panic.

By now, even an idiot would know she had fallen into a trap.

Linda knew without a doubt that Elisa had tricked her.

That day, I followed Elisa from afar and thought she didn't notice me. She had talked about buying a present for Julia.

It turned out Elisa knew I was following her all along. She deliberately said those words to make me fall into her trap!

B*tch! Elisa, you b*tch!

so she must have known Old Madam Wickam's taboo. But she never told you saying? You never told me that Grandma dislikes that. In fact, you said it is what Grandma likes ... Why, Liz? Why didn't figure looked forlorn standing there alone. Thus, at Elisa. The two cousins had always behaved like they were close. But it seems there is a dumped

That sounds plausible!

be with you? You saved his life, but Gareth and my divorce has nothing to do with you. Why do
furrowed his brow

another table with Jeremy. He frowned and said, "Women are always full of drama. Those two them but did

looked at