

Get Lost 17

Chapter 17 You Knew This Right from the Start

Gareth looked startled. Taking advantage of this, Elisa broke free and swung her leg up in a roundhouse kick.

But Gareth dodged it! The veins in his forehead started to throb.

“Elisa Benett!”

He never thought that the day would come where she would bare her fangs at him!

Elisa smirked at him, “Mr. Wickam, I’m sorry for making you wait but no dice.”

She headed to the door.

The vein started to throb even more violently, but this time, he did not stop her. This Elisa was different from the one he knew to the extent that the woman that he had been married to for the past three years were a façade.

Had she decided to set aside all pretence of cordiality now that there was no benefit to be had for her?

No! She must be up to something!

his

did not engage it. Her smirked. He knew she was playing

What a sly woman!

best interest in mind then hurry up and finalise the divorce. Don’t

then walked out

a figure darting by out

she moved quite quickly, Elisa knew it was Linda by the color of her

and went back

looked up at Elisa’s unbothered face and smiled, “What took you so pulled out a chair and sat down. “I saw a fly and just managed to walk by their doorway just as she said that. His

at her, “Gareth came looking quiet. Her silence was

“Are you guys officially

“The paper’s been signed. I’m just waiting for him to be free so that we can head down there to

He