

No Chance 192

Chapter 192 Some Pointers from Iris

When she saw the caller id, coldness immediately seeped into her eyes. Nevertheless, in the next moment, she had already picked up the phone.

“Hello, Uncle Norman.”

She greeted him simply without much emotion in her voice.

In the past, when she addressed him, she felt especially close to him, as though he was her father.

At this moment, the word ‘uncle’ was no more than an ordinary salutation. In fact, it even exuded malicious intent every time she thought of it.

I’ve never seen him in this light before.

immediately said with a smile, “Liz, are you still working now? Am I facade as though someone had stabbed her in her heart. He had been plotting against Dad and me ever since he moved in with us. For the past ten years, they have been biding their time, and now they took a breath, trying to control the hatred in her voice before saying, “What’s the for a while now. Your aunt will cook something tonight, and she will make your favorite dishes. Why don’t you come words come out of his mouth

so fake that I can’t help but hate drag out the conversation, and she needed to go back to handle some errands, so she replied directly, “Sure. I’ll be back tonight, but there’s no need to trouble Aunt emphasized this laughed out loud. “Oh, don’t worry about that! Your aunt is droning on and on about making your favorite dishes! You go ahead and finish up your work first. I’ll hung up the call. After that,

“Sure.”