

Get Lost 25

Chapter 25 Which Woman Messed You Up This Time?

The night was bright and lively, and the road remained congested even after rush hours.

After braving the traffic, Rachel finally found a parking spot. She glanced at the passenger next to her and smiled.

"Let's go, Elisa! The others have arrived already!"

Elisa hummed with a smile. "Sure."

Rachel wore a mysterious smile as she held Elisa's arm and entered the private room they had booked.

When they saw that the private room was dark and quiet, Rachel feigned a confused look. "Hey, did they bluff me? Shouldn't they be here already?"

She led Elisa into the room and continued, "Elisa, let's go in and wait for them."

Before Elisa could respond, a loud sound emerged from party poppers being burst. Besides, flashlights in the room were turned on while confetti ribbons showered from the top and fell on the two ladies' hair and shoulders.

of cheering came forth. "Woohoo! Congrats was flabbergasted while Rachel burst into laughter. She turned to laughed too. "I think she's more shocked! Elisa, you've been restricted by all kinds of rules from the Wickam family ever since you

"That's right! Our dear Elisa should live for herself from now on! Sheen, I love by her friends' care toward her hand. She had shoulder-length black hair and an adorable baby is nothing. There are more surprises perplexed too. "What is

divorce and cheer

figure appeared at the entrance with a bouquet of roses in his hand. The man uttered with a gentle smile, gasped in surprise as her eyes lit who the man was, the man had already were close

since their freshman year, and it had been five