Chapter 271 He Will Absolutely Love You and Care for You for the Rest of Your Life!

The air in the room went down abruptly. Thomas couldn't help but shiver. He felt that he was freezing all over.

Other people might not have been aware, but Gareth knew that Will was getting serious!

As someone who would never postpone meetings and always did what he said, he made an exception for Elisa over and over again!

Very good, Will, very good!

"Go investigate that card."

The light in Thomas' eyes flickered a little. Will must have deliberately highlighted it to let some people verify it. If it didn't belong to Elisa, wouldn't he be contradicting himself?

If verified, the account must belong to Elisa. It was clear that Mr. Wickam was being unnecessary... didn't say anything else.

"Has it been decided?" Elisa's expression was relaxed.

"Mm. He said that everything on his end is mostly done. Court can start the day after tomorrow. He asked if you're free. If not, it can be delayed."

"The day after tomorrow works."

It just so happened that after everything was solved, she would go to Benett Corporation.

Everything would fall into its place.

"Wow! You're my lucky goddess! I love you so much, Elisa!" Rachel said as she made kissing noises toward the cell phone.

"How corny." Elisa mocked. "Is there anything else?"

"No." Gareth's tone was firm. "There's no way that your body has recovered."

"It has. I just need to take medicine regularly at home. You don't have to worry so much about me, I'm fine. Thank you, Garry."

Gareth furrowed his brows a little. "Why are you thanking me?"

“Thank you for being so concerned about me. This makes my heart feel warm. I feel very thankful that I got to know you.”

Gareth was a little startled. She had been in a vegetative state because of him, and she was in the hospital again after almost relapsing because of him, but... she was thankful for him?

In that moment, Gareth’s feelings were messy. “Wait, I’ll come to the hospital now.”

The joy in Linda’s heart suddenly intensified. He was actually coming!

Every time he came here, he didn’t have much to say. It felt like this place made him uncomfortable.

Linda smiled as she looked at Gareth. “Garry, if you have work to do, you can leave. I just need to be observed tonight. If there’s no problems, I can be discharged tomorrow.”

“I’ll come pick you up tomorrow.” Gareth’s voice was extremely calm.

Linda suddenly felt slightly overwhelmed. Her eyes flashed, and she said, “Garry, are you still angry about what happened previously? I was too impulsive, I’m sorry...”

Gareth sighed. “Let’s stop talking about what happened in the past.”

Linda’s lashes trembled a little, but she still smiled and nodded as she said obediently, “Alright.”

Gareth sat on a chair by the bed. He felt uncomfortable. Linda could feel that he wanted to leave.

Chapter 275 I'll Send Linda Back

In a rare gesture, Gareth raised his eyes to look at her. Linda bit her lips and said a little shyly, "I'll be upset."

Gareth didn't say anything in the end. He turned and left.

Linda watched his figure and there was a strong infatuation deep in her eyes. She had liked this man for a long time.

She just had to wait for a while before she could get married to him!

She could get married to him!

The more Linda thought about it, the happier she was.

Chapter 276 An Ungrateful Person

It seemed as though Linda looked more disappointed, but she held it in.

Norman and Rose shut the door. They naturally couldn't be unwanted guests. Gareth got into the car and started the engine.

Linda pursed her lips and looked at Gareth. Her parents had repeated many times that he had a lot of work to do. Of course, she couldn't say the same thing again. She would be too long-winded.

But at this moment, she didn't know what topic she should talk about, nor did she know how to close the distance between the two of them.

Thinking about it, her eyes lit up. She thought of it!

Looking at the bad traffic outside, Linda's lips curved a little. "Garry, do you remember when we were little?"

Gareth answered indifferently as he was driving. "Why?"

Linda giggled. "I remember that we used to play together. It seems like our childhood was the happiest. There were many children in the past that would turn up at parties. It's not like it is now, where everyone is trying to outwit each other. Everyone had sincere and honest naivete. I really miss those times."

Gareth's eyes flashed a little as he unconsciously thought about his childhood.

Norman sounded a little resentful. He was driving particularly slowly.

As for Gareth, after he got out of the car, he wasn't in a rush to open the door in the passenger's seat. Linda's expression was complicated. She took a breath in and opened the door herself. One of her legs quickly stepped out.

Gareth went up to her and stopped her in an instant. "Wait."

Linda's eyes flashed. She looked at the man subconsciously with some disbelief in her eyes. She said in a trembling voice, "Are you shunning me because that night, those men almost..."

Her face was pale, and she looked at Gareth seeming as though she had tears in her eyes.

Gareth wrinkled his brows slightly. "Don't let your imagination run wild."

Linda's lashes trembled, and her tears suddenly fell. "I know that... I'm not worthy of you. But on that day, I wasn't..."

Chapter 278 Distinguish Personal and Work Affairs

After the woman got out of the car, she didn't walk in Gareth's direction. Instead, she walked to the back, and her delicate brows furrowed slightly. Gareth felt like something was wrong, so he got out of the car.

He realized that the car behind her was going too fast. After it crashed into her, she only crashed into him because of inertia.

The owner of the third car had gotten out of his car. With one look, he was a greasy, middle-aged man with a big belly. Seeing Elisa's pretty appearance, the rage he was mulling over suddenly disappeared. He smiled gently. "So, it was a pretty lady who was driving. It's only understandable that you would brake so suddenly."

Elisa wrinkled her brows. "So I'm at fault for your tailgating?"

"It's clear that you slid and crashed into my car after crashing into the car in front of you. You see, my car and the car in front of you are of considerable cost. Even if you sell your little BMW, it's not enough to compensate us. Why don't you come with me, and I'll pay for all your expenses this time?"

Gareth's expression became unbelievably sharp in an instant as he directed it straight at the man. The middle-aged man suddenly shivered, and his gaze fell unconsciously on Gareth. When the man realized who Gareth was, his expression changed. The next instant, he respectfully walked over while flattering

Carle was a good friend of hers, so she would naturally want to help. She answered, "Yes. Do you want to talk about it now?"

"Mm. I'm on the way. I wanted to send the document to your law firm and talk about the specifics with you."

At that point, Gareth and Jasper hadn't left. Gareth had already made a call for someone to pick him up.

Jasper had wanted to curry favor with Gareth, so he didn't dare leave. But Gareth was clearly impatient. He turned to look at Jasper. "You're very annoying."

Jasper's expression changed. In an instant, he had nothing but rage in his heart.

He had humbled himself, but Gareth said such a thing to him. Did Gareth think he was so great just because he was rich?

But Jasper only dared to think about it. He apologized at once. "I apologize. I'm sorry, Mr. Wickam. I'll keep quiet and won't say a word!"

Chapter 280 A Sure Win

Gareth was now a mad man. She didn't want to stay next to this stubborn man.

She knew that Gareth didn't want her and Will to interact frequently because Grandma and Grandpa valued her. If she really followed Will's path, he might easily tackle Wickam Group. Grandma and Grandpa might let go of her, and it might inflict heavy losses on Wickam Group. This was something Gareth couldn't allow to happen at all.

Even if Gareth didn't warn her about it, she herself understood it well. Even if it were for Grandma and Grandpa's sake, she definitely wouldn't do anything that was detrimental to Wickam Group.

Gareth's expression was chilly. They were on the main street, so he didn't want to argue too much with her. Furthermore, he had more important things to do at the moment.

But... when he looked at the car that had stopped, Gareth clearly realized who the person in the driver's seat was.

Gareth... was so angry he started laughing.

Elisa had so many tricks up her sleeve that made so many men revolve around
