

No Chance 28

Chapter 28 An Uproar on the Internet

Gareth was dumbfounded.

Elisa stared at him with a displeased look. "I've been waiting for you to come and look for me. Do you not even have time to go to the Department of Civil Affairs, President Wickam?! You could have just sacrificed the time of a meal with her and gotten our divorce procedures done so that you don't have to worry about the reputation of your company every day!"

"You..."

Gareth gritted his teeth and snarled, "Elisa Benett! Do you think I don't want to divorce you?! Grandma has been crying and begging me to not divorce you!"

Elisa was confused.

Before this, Julia had called her and claimed that she would find a better man for her. Did she do this on purpose?

"There's still a major project ongoing in the company, and we're competing against Darcey Group. I'll divorce you after this project ends, but you better behave yourself in the next month."

Any negative news would pose a threat to Gareth, so he wouldn't want the reputation of him and Elisa as the model couple to be ruined.

Elisa snorted coldly. "That's none of my business. It doesn't bother me whether the company succeeds in this project or not because I won't get a penny even if you earned a billion from this project."

The derision in Gareth's eyes intensified. "You're indeed a greedy, materialistic woman!"

staring

I don't have to see you ever again. I'm still disgusted by your impatient look when I begged you to

Gareth flare up

Mr. Wickam, do not impose on others what you do not desire. I hope you can stop you like a pest?! Very well, Elisa, you're getting arrogant now!" Gareth laughed out of anger, but his spooky eyes were as cold couldn't bother to talk to him, so she behave yourself if you don't want to put Semoa Group to for a moment, but she soon regained her senses and walked back to the room, leaving Gareth alone

The ferocity in his eyes was so threatening as if it could set the room, where Elisa was

Elisa sat down

looked at Elisa worriedly and asked, "Did because of her strong stance just now, Carle would have gone after

We're living in a society governed by the law after arrogant look all this while! He's a total Elisa's hand and agreed. "You made the right decision to divorce him, honey. You should get a husband like became a little shy as she

He sighed and said, "Elisa, I shouldn't have bought you roses. You might not have recovered from the last relationship since you've just gotten a divorce. But I'll wait for you.

be your pillar