Chapter 281 You're Not a Fish. How Would You Know the Joy of a Fish?

Carle's eyes flashed a little. Rachel...

As a friend, he was willing to let Rach represent him to help her develop her skills. But he would lose out on an opportunity to be alone with Liz.

His eyes were clearly convoluted. It seemed as though Elisa didn't know what he was thinking about. She chuckled as she said, "You're my friend. I won't deceive you. I wouldn't let you do something like that unless I was sure about it. Why don't you give Rach a chance to develop her skills?"

Carle sighed and nodded. "Alright."

Elisa put the document back into the file. She said casually, "Great. Give this document to Rach later or send her a soft copy. I'll explain it to her in detail when the time comes."

Chapter 282 Are You Confident?

Elisa closed her eyes and leaned back in her chair. In the end, she said with some difficulty, "Okay."

From today onward, she was afraid that she would have to avoid Carle. He was still a friend that meant a lot to her, but she didn't want to interact with him so often. This would only bring him too much hope and disappointment.

Carle's lips slowly curved on his good-looking face. There was a light that couldn't be captured deep in his eyes. He looked at her and said in a gentle voice, "Thank you, Liz."

Elisa's lashes trembled. She paused for a moment before saying softly, "Take me to the law firm, please."

"Alright."

Carle obeyed. Elisa's feelings were in a mess.

If she met Carle first, would she have been in less sadness and pain? Would she not have to experience Gareth's coldness?

Would she have been able to walk steadily with Carle for the rest of their lives?

"With you, what do I have to worry about? I've told him to arrange the time. After the matter with Mr. Lee is settled, I want to consult you."

"Okay."

After they finished their breakfast, Elisa cleaned the kitchen and changed before they left.

Rachel's driving was steady. Her eyes were curious when she said, "When Mr. Lee tricked me at first, I was livid. Now that I can get a few hundred million from him, I feel like it isn't enough!"

Elisa's lips curved slightly. "Mr. Lee is a typical vile character. I wanted to help you make a comeback, but I was worried that he would scheme against you at a later stage. Making him suffer a little loss so you can take the money instead is a form of your compensation."

Rachel suddenly smiled and nodded. "Haha, thinking about the money he will be losing, I bet he feels like crying. Even if I can't do anything to him, at least he'll feel upset."

When they saw her name, it was as if they had been struck by lightning.

Elisa Benett!

How could it be her?

Jasper and his lawyer were dumbstruck.

At this moment, Ben, who was sitting next to Elisa, couldn't control his laughter.

He felt great!

Jasper went crazy when he came to his senses.

He looked furiously at Ben. Even if he didn't say anything, his furious eyes expressed everything.

It was as if he was saying, Ben! Didn't you say that the relationship between you and Elisa wasn't working out back then? Didn't you say that Elisa didn't take your case? Why is Elisa here now?

Everyone's eyes widened.

The case had just been presented, so everybody knew that the amount of compensation was four hundred million.

With ten times the amount, that would mean four billion!

Ben's eyes were round as he looked disbelievingly at Elisa.

She actually wanted such a big amount of compensation?

Would it really work?

In the next moment, he felt like his heart was bleeding. If he had known earlier that Elisa and Rachel had such a good relationship, he wouldn't have made things difficult for Rachel. Otherwise, this four billion would have belonged to him.

Rachel was also shocked beyond words. In an instant, she was pleasantly surprised. What the heck! Liz was so amazing!

"That was impressive, Ms. Benett," Jasper said to Elisa as he suppressed his rage.

Elisa turned to look at Jasper. Seeing his expression that looked like he wanted to rip her into pieces, Elisa said calmly, "I'm flattered, Mr. Marshall."

Ben grinned as he looked at Jasper. "I'll wait for the money, Mr. Marshall."

Jasper snorted loudly before he left.

Ben beamed as he looked at Elisa. "Ms. Benett, this lawsuit happened because of me. I definitely won't let Jasper lay a finger on you. If you need anything in the future, feel free to let me know!"

Elisa smiled. "Thank you in advance, Mr. Lee."

"No problem at all!" Mr. Lee was feeling good. He didn't feel as upset as he did.

Elisa spoke to him for a while more before leaving with Rachel.

"Mr. Wickam, there was a lawsuit between Ben and Jasper today. Ben won."

Gareth wrinkled his brows slightly. He looked at Thomas. Although he didn't explicitly say it, his meaning was clear. Did Thomas really have to report such things to him?

Thomas rubbed the tip of his nose and continued, "The lawyer who represented Ben was Ms. Benett."

Gareth's brows instantly froze. He immediately thought of the last time Elisa was interviewed by the media. The man standing behind her was Ben.

Thomas understood what Gareth meant and continued reporting.

"Ben looked for Ms. Markee at first and wanted to trick her. He used the excuse of Ms. Markee losing to get compensation of fifty million to recover from his losses. Ms. Benett helped Ms. Markee get out of that and asked for this agreement. The news I heard from Ben's side was that the four billion that they received will be given to Ms. Benett."

Gareth's brows furrowed. She was taking revenge on Rachel's behalf so that Ben wouldn't have anything.

He had previously asked Elisa to name a figure, but she earned a few billion so easily.

On the way, Elisa's brows were furrowed as though she was thinking about something. Her mood gradually recovered as the car was parked, and she reached the entrance of the company. She didn't recover mindlessly, but she wanted to display calmness deliberately.

Just as she was about to call Linda, Linda's gentle voice came from behind her. "Liz."

Elisa turned and saw Linda sitting in a wheelchair and smiling at her.

There was a female secretary behind Linda who was pushing Linda in Elisa's direction.

Elisa nodded. "Uncle Norman said that you're working while you're still frail. Why don't you come back after you've fully recovered?"

Linda giggled as she nodded. "How am I frail? Furthermore, I still have a lot of matters to deal with that cannot be put off. Let's go, I'll take you to see your workplace."

Scorn flickered across Elisa's eyes. Linda's relapse was fake. She did that so that others would know that she didn't delay work just because she was injured. She wanted others to know that she had a tenacious nature and that she was a responsible person.

Pfft...

Elisa nodded and didn't say a word. The secretary pushed Linda forward.

When they saw Elisa, surprise flickered across their eyes. There were people who recognized her.

Isn't... isn't this the previous boss' daughter?

She's also the ex-wife of Mr. Wickam from Wickam Group, the woman Mr. Darcey is pursuing, and the famous, outstanding, great lawyer, Iris!

Her identities caused a stir. Most people recognized her.

Everyone stopped their work and looked in the direction of Elisa.

There were those who were greeting Linda and Julie.

Elisa nodded. Linda explained some things and left.

In the office, some looked down to continue working, while some grinned and greeted Elisa. Elisa was easygoing, but just as Linda said, she didn’t speak much.

Julie looked at Elisa and said softly, “Ms. Benett, I know that you have a valuable status, but when you’re in my department, I won’t give you special treatment because of your status. Even if Ms. Benett didn’t mention it, I won’t go through the back door. I hope you can understand, Ms. Benett.”

Julie was a person who clearly separated work and private matters. She was extremely strict at work, and as she said, she wouldn’t let anyone go through the back door, nor would she have any biases against anyone. She concerned herself with facts rather than the person.

Elisa nodded in agreement. “Of course.”

Seeing Elisa without any airs, arrogance, or rashness, Julie had a favorable impression of her. She looked at everyone else and said, “Continue working, everyone.”
