Chapter 341 A Brief Response

Yara answered urgently, "I did notice and told you about it. However, based on the situation at the time, I really did not expect Mr. Wickam and Mr. Shane to help Elisa. Furthermore, I did not think they would meet..."

Linda looked at Yara coldly. "Yara, if you dare to be this careless again, consider what would happen to your family!"

Linda said those words through gritted teeth.

But Yara secretly breathed a sigh of relief. She knew she narrowly escaped trouble this time.

In actuality, she had informed Linda previously that Gareth and Vincent were there.

However, Linda did not think there would be any problem. Thus, it was not Yara, but Linda who neglected the matter.

Furthermore, Linda even wanted Gareth to see Elisa and Philip together.

Therefore, Yara proceeded as Linda wanted. It was Linda who misjudged the situation.

Yara could only hope that Elisa would bring Linda down soon.

Gareth did not say anything, but Elisa frowned and said, "Wait a minute."

The man looked at Elisa with confusion.

Although he could not understand why Elisa stopped him, he said politely, "Madam, how may I help you?"

Elisa hesitated for a moment. In the end, she replied softly, "Never mind, you can leave."

The man glanced at her curiously. Since Gareth did not say anything, the man nodded quietly and left.

Then, Elisa and Gareth were the only ones in the suite.

Elisa said calmly, "I'm going out to reserve another room."

She had wanted to ask that man where her room was. However, she guessed he did not know the nature of her relationship with Gareth. Thus, she changed her mind and decided to get a room on her own.

Gareth frowned immediately and said with disdain, "You can stay here. It's late, and I'm not in the mood to argue with you. We have to leave early tomorrow morning."

Elisa was rendered speechless.
She glared at Gareth and could not hold back her anger. "Is this what Thomas has to experience,

Gareth's gaze turned fierce, but Elisa did not wish to speak to him anymore and started the car.
Elisa considered for a moment and thought of a place. She did not tell Gareth about it and drove there.
As usual, neither of them spoke. It was completely silent in the car, and they did not even turn on the

Chapter 344 We Have No Reason to Collaborate

Gareth stopped walking. Elisa paused and turned to the lobby manager in confusion. "Who told you about us?"

Gareth looked at the lobby manager intimidatingly. Although he did not say anything, the lobby manager was beginning to panic. She had never faced anyone like him.

She felt as if his gaze could kill her. If she was any weaker, she believed she would have died on the spot.

The lobby manager took a deep breath and began to recite the script she had prepared.

"The truth is our company has been searching for a business partner. We also know about the collaboration between Wickam Group and Benett Corporation. Moreover, I heard you will be conducting market research, so I guess it would be around this time. Your presence stood out from the rest, and I've seen you on the screen before. Thus, I was able to immediately recognize both of you. I work here every day. It's an honor to meet both of you here."

Laila, the bridal consultant, immediately turned pale upon hearing the lobby manager.

The lobby manager panicked and rushed to block Elisa and Gareth's way. She said anxiously, "Mr. Wickam, Ms. Benett, you haven't seen all the designs. Our current designers are brilliant too. It's not as terrible as you think. Otherwise, wouldn't our brand have gone under?"

Elisa did not get up from her seat but looked at her. "In that case, bring to me the designs you think are brilliant. I'm afraid we don't have time to check the designs one by one."

The lobby manager hurried over and chose a series of wedding dress designs to show them.

However, disappointment grew in Elisa's eyes as she looked through them.

The lobby manager was breaking out in cold sweat. She said urgently, "We will receive another batch of new designs today. Mr. Wickam, Ms. Benett, please have a look at them later."

Wickam Group and Benett Corporation were major companies. If she missed out on this opportunity, she feared she would be scolded severely by her employers.

Thus, she added, "Mr. Wickam, Ms. Benett, if you find anything unsatisfactory with the design, we can alter them as many times as you wish until they are to your satisfaction."

She did not expect Gareth to behave so obnoxiously.

If Gareth wished to, it would be easy for him to exclude her and force her to leave Benett Corporation.

She knew she could not let him keep threatening her with her weakness.

Gareth looked at her mockingly. “You acted against me many times, but I was kind enough not to expose you on the account of my grandmother. If you still don’t know your place, don’t blame me for retaliating!”

Elisa was rendered speechless.

She clenched her teeth and said, “Fine, I’ll go then! But don’t you still need to contact them first?”

Gareth did not say anything, but Elisa knew he acknowledged what she said. Since he did not object, Elisa drove the car back to the hotel.

The most important thing now was to find that team of designers.

If they could convince the designers to work with them, they would not need to go through other bridal boutiques.

However, it seemed Gareth was deliberately messing with her. As soon as she parked the car in the hotel’s ground floor, Gareth sent her the phone numbers of the designers.

“Call them yourself.”

After saying that, Gareth got out of the car and entered the hotel.

Elisa was fuming.

She was determined to make him pay one day.

However, she had not figured out how to subdue Gareth.

She could not harm his family because she cared about a few of his family members.

Other than that, she could not find any weakness in him.

It frustrated her tremendously.

Elisa took a deep breath. I have to interact with Gareth again. What is the meaning of this?

After considering for a moment, Elisa said, "Can you wait for a moment? I'll call him again."

The matter was giving Thomas a headache. Why did Mr. Wickam insist that I deal with this matter for him? They are husband and wife. No, ex-husband and wife. Why must I be the one to pass his message?

"Ms. Benett, please don't delay anymore. Mr. Wickam is stubborn and is currently busy. He probably won't accept any calls now."

However, before she could take a step, Gareth suddenly grabbed her arm. By the time she realized what was happening, he had already placed her hand on his arm.

Furthermore, no one noticed anything strange.

Everyone thought Gareth and Elisa were close as usual. They assumed Gareth was the one who offered his arm, and Elisa placed her hand on it of her own volition.

Elisa wanted to pull her hand away, but Gareth held on tightly, refusing her any chance to struggle.

She turned to Gareth. Although she was smiling, Gareth could almost hear her teeth grinding. "Gareth, what do you want?"

Gareth smirked slightly. It seemed he was mocking her.

At the same time, it also seemed like he was in a good mood.

He looked at Elisa and gave a rare calm response. "We are attending a banquet."

Elisa was rendered speechless.

In the past, he would call her Mrs. Wickam, but now, he could not. The two of them had divorced, so he did not dare to take that risk.

However, he also wished to get on Elisa's good side, so he called her 'Iris'.

Gareth furrowed his brow.

That name made him annoyed and angry. It also filled him with frustration.

Elisa gave a nod and smiled. "Good evening, Mr. Lowell."

Mr. Lowell's expression stiffened a little. It seems I have addressed her wrongly... I should have called her by her surname. But... I could only remember that Elisa was called Iris at the time. I couldn't remember her surname.

He felt a sense of panic upon seeing Gareth's expression. But he calmed himself and turned to Gareth with a laugh. "Mr. Wickam, what brings you to this banquet? It's rare for you to come to Southdale, so I must show you my hospitality. Will you be free tomorrow? Please let me bring you around."

"If it is to discuss a business venture, next time."

After saying that, Gareth did not want to continue chatting with him and left straight away.

But Gareth looked at her mockingly. "We haven't negotiated business. What right do you have to rest?"

"You chat with every single person who approaches you. What sh*t are you getting at?" Elisa gritted her teeth.

"Elisa! I never permitted you to speak foully!" Gareth's expression darkened further.

Elisa was rendered speechless.

She suddenly understood why it was better not to argue with a contentious person.

What she meant was they should begin the business negotiation soon so that they could leave sooner.

Yet, he scolded her for using foul words.

Elisa cursed him in her mind. He is truly insane!

Then, she breathed in and closed her eyes. She was determined to control her temper.
