

No Chance 371

Chapter 371 Innovation

Gareth was burning in rage— Elisa was wise enough to know that she shouldn't argue with him recklessly, so she remained silent. In fact, it was a rare occasion that she didn't retort to Gareth.

Having nowhere to vent his frustration, Gareth scoffed, "Elisa Benett, you better pray that I don't hear things like that again. Otherwise, you will suffer the consequences."

Elisa didn't bother to bicker with him, so she closed her eyes and refused to respond.

On the other hand, Thomas felt as if the car engine was failing today because no matter how hard he stepped on the accelerator, the journey seemed to be endless.

However, the display panel clearly showed that he was driving at a fast speed. If he continued accelerating, he would exceed the speed limit.

Elisa thought they were heading back to the hotel, but she realized Thomas was going a different way, so she asked, "Where are we going?"

"To meet the designers."

say that I was given half at their destination. The meeting this time was also held in a private room, but the venue was different were three men and two women, all of which seemed to be in their thirties.

Mr. Wickam, Ms.

and dismissed his sullen look. "Please take a

he went to sit on the main couch while Elisa sat on the couch room seemed to be a proper meeting room because there was only one long couch that could accommodate four people while the rest were single-seat couches. In the middle of the couches was a tea table, and there were no other entertainment nervous as they sized Gareth and Elisa up. How while tapping his bony fingers on the armrests from time to time. The aura that he emanated walked forward and agreed with the direction of our collaboration this time over

Chapter 372 You Know This Designer

Elisa observed the designers and perceived the judgment and repulsion in their eyes. "What I want this time is not your individual designs, but I want you guys to work with one another to produce the designs." She explained.

The designers were dumbfounded.

"In fact, I've studied your designs thoroughly. Each of you has your forte, so I hope you can combine your strengths and produce the most outstanding designs."

Rina, the eldest designer, replied with a surprised look. "All our strengths are different. If we were to combine all our strengths, the style might not be..."

"Every gown only needs one style. There are seventeen styles that I would like you guys to work on. For example, Ms. Rina, your strength is designing collars and chest areas; Mr. Howard is good at handling the waist and sleeves while Ms. Lowry is experienced in designing the skirt."

narrated the strengths of each designer. Only then were they shocked to realize that their strengths could actually be combined to form a wedding gown. It was a brand new awesome, but every part has to be done perfectly and strengthened. The setting of the wedding venue is conventional with a tinge of creativity. As for the wedding gowns, the direction is for them to be completely innovative and uncommon.

and said, "I thought what you meant was the style that each of us is each other, hence I raised such a request. If you think that's okay, we'll set

"No problem."

any objections, and all of them seemed excited about the project. The discussion this car and sat in the original seat beside Elisa. He turned to look at Elisa and asked, "Why did you only have to make all decisions and liaise with respective parties. After all, this was a collaboration between two companies. Elisa didn't discuss every detail with Gareth

Chapter 373 Why Can't I Go Back?

Gareth averted his gaze to the draft again. The gown had a creative design, and he had never seen such an outstanding quality of design. Every detail of the gown was dazzling not because it was embellished with many pearls, but because it was a very special gown itself, especially the design at its chest and waist. Truth be told, Gareth even had the urge to make Elisa wear the gown to see the actual appearance.

"Answer me."

Elisa nodded. "Yeah."

Before Gareth could say anything, Elisa quickly added. "She's busy and could only make one design." While saying that, she dismissed the sarcasm in her eyes. This wedding gown...

Her eyes were filled with complicated emotions as she had yet to reconcile herself to her grievance.

Gareth pressed his lips and did not utter a word. However, his eyes continued staring at the design. For some reason, he found the simple yet elegant style rather familiar...

with his sharp eyes while Elisa closed her eyes to rest, pretending to be enemies to each other, no one could stand in between them. In back to the hotel directly because it was lunchtime. After arriving at the restaurant, Gareth had no intention of moving after sitting down on his chair. Thomas passed the menu to Elisa and said with a smile, "Ms. Elisa, why don't you order menu. After thinking about it, she named a few dishes and passed the menu back to Thomas. "I'll leave the rest was, most of the dishes Elisa ordered were Gareth's favorite dishes. Nonetheless, his mood lightened up not because of the food that was soft cough and were served. The three people ate in silence, and the atmosphere was rather peaceful. After look at Gareth and asked, "Are there any schedules this afternoon? Did you nodded. "Then... Can we go back already? Our local suppliers are her and mumbled, "I have some other matters to attend

"Yeah."

back first." Elisa

Chapter 374 Her Ploy

Gareth had a video conference next. Elisa went back to her room with the plans.

Thomas sent a message to Elisa about the events of the morning.

She spent the entire afternoon pouring over the plan, wondering how to get things straight with the design team.

At night, Gareth ate dinner with her as usual.

Elisa noticed that he was restless but continued eating without any concern.

Unexpectedly, Gareth's phone rang again.

It was Linda.

She smiled as he furrowed his brows. "Isn't she your savior as well as your girlfriend? Isn't it bad to not pick up the call?"

He shot daggers at her mocking smile and snorted. "Who said I wasn't going to pick it up?"

The smile on her face turned even more cynical. "I was just saying."

sounded like she was

He sneered and picked up and caring voice came through before he could say a word. "Garry, have you

"I'm eating now."

surprised. "What look and was about to reply when Elisa spoke up with a smile. "Mr. Wickam, you shouldn't be using your phone during mealtimes, Linda was stunned.

Elisa! It's Elisa!

taunting laugh yesterday. It must have been Elisa's laugh! She must be having dinner immediately forgot the explanation with Gareth earlier and couldn't help work with Mr. Wickam every single were joined at the hip

Wench! This wench!

at a

Gareth narrowed his eyes. He wasn't angry at Elisa icily and scoffed. "You, who do words were directed at felt like she was redeemed. She was about to defend Elisa when Elisa laughed. "That wasn't what you said when you forcibly spread my legs yesterday, Chapter 375 Do You Think I'll Remarry You in This Way?

"Garry?"

The situation was driving Linda up the wall.

She couldn't understand.

Gareth doesn't like Elisa. He thinks that she's pretentious. But why are they still entangled with each other? They even... on a bed!

She seemed to be crying as Gareth heard soft sniffing noises on his end of the line.

He furrowed his brows and looked at Elisa grimly. "Elisa, enough!"

Is she finally revealing her true colors?

Elisa smiled. "Enough? How is it enough? Look how sad Linda is. Why don't you comfort her the way you were treating me yesterday?"

After all, she was almost touched when the supercilious Mr. Wickam affectionately harsh gaze fell on

He wouldn't have told Linda that all he did was treat her injury on the Linda, who didn't know the burned in

I won't stand in your way if you like Elisa. You don't need Amused, Elisa cut in. "You can just give me Mr. Wickam if you're willing to. But you'll have to keep your word. Don't just pay lip service to the idea and yet end up in the hospital. Mr. Wickam will have to be there to take words seemed to

Linda was seething.

Elisa to

could you say that to

"What else should I say then? Everything was fine until you woke up. We divorced because not true. Elisa misunderstood me. You won't do the same, right? I, I not what you think. I'll meet you when back her laugh. Gareth ended the call before she could say another

Chapter 376 Breaking the Ties of Father and Child

"B*tch! You're a b*tch!"

Lina Benett was going crazy!

Why would Gareth and Elisa meet up for a meal?! I can't believe that b*tch is so indifferent toward Gareth and dares to speak her mind to him! Doesn't she fear that he would hate her? Or does she not mind losing a little to get back at him?!

Because of what Elisa had done, she couldn't trick Gareth with using the same tricks of being admitted to the hospital. If she did, he would definitely start to harbor suspicions toward her. And, from what she saw just now when Elisa spoke, she felt that Gareth would not take any actions against her.

How could this be!

"Elisa Benett!!" Linda let out a furious roar.

This b*tch!

Linda huffed in anger. Her face was pale as she gripped her phone tightly.

can't let Elisa continue

...

done with her meal and was going back to her room to shower when her phone get any deep intel.” Charli’s serious voice rang out from the other end resolutely, “That’s Let’s see if we can bring them into the story. But this matter might...”

“Yeah, don’t worry. She’ll still move woman is taking me for a ride!”

you shouldn’t blame her this time. It

Did you aggravate her?!” Charli suddenly Elisa’s lips curved up in a slight smile. Charli knew her very well. At times, even without you’re walking a fine line. Things might go slowly if we go ahead with our previous plan, and it would surely benefit us. But, your plan now...” She “Charli, just trust me.” Elisa said with a lip and then finally let out a sigh, “Call me if you “Yeah, don’t worry. I could never forget about you. But, right now, just helping me to investigate the matter is more than enough. It’s important to keep evidence.”

Chapter 377 Sleeping Beauty Elisa

“And?”

Thomas paused for a second and then said quietly, “I’m not too sure about the details, and I can’t say for sure that this has something to do with Ms. Elisa.”

There was no change on Gareth’s cool face.

“I got it.” He said and then hung up.

There was once again silence in the house. Gareth held onto the phone. It seemed like there was a flickering light in his otherwise cold eyes.

...

During the following two days, Elisa went to work as usual. She was basically meeting Gareth every day and having every meal with him. They had no other interactions outside of work, and the seven days passed in this way.

It was their last night here, and they would go home tomorrow. Elisa was curious as to why they couldn’t leave tonight, but Gareth did not say anything, so she chose to stay quiet too.

next day, they and Gareth sat in first class while Thomas sat behind them. Elisa couldn’t be bothered talking to this man, at the sleeping beauty beside him time to time again while going through his night before and hadn't gotten much sleep. She also had motion sickness, and so had fallen into a deep Gareth suddenly felt a weight on his shoulder. He looked down to see the unconscious woman. There was a slight change in his usually cold eyes as he gently observed the sleeping woman. He bit his lip and then returned his eyes to the paperwork in feel any discomfort in her neck, so she fell into However, ...

There was a voice suddenly rang

"There's been an slumber, and there were no traces of passengers

Because!

hands and were already shooting at their plane! However, the captain telling Gareth everything, and Elisa was

Chapter 378 Deterrence

Boom!

It sounded like something had blasted!

Gareth immediately grabbed Elisa's hand and pulled her to the other side. Elisa's eyes shook with fright, and she let him pull her along. They arrived at the cockpit soon after. The captain was in a frenzy, but he was trying to pacify the situation when he heard the commotion outside. However, no one was listening to him.

After the pinging sounds, people had already started looking out the windows!

"There's someone! Someone's attacking us!! They're shooting at us!!"

"AHHHH!!" Screams and shouts started arising from the passengers.

Everyone was starting to freak out!

and were crying, "What do

"I'm so scared... Ahh!!!" One of the flight attendants' cries were broadcasted to the whole plane, and it threw the passengers into even more were surrounding their plane. Many of the people in the helicopters had guns and captain turned the microphone off and scolded the flight attendant, "Anyone can panic, but not flight attendants were to say anything, but one said in a panic, "What have guns! What if we closer and closer! We'll be sitting ducks if we don't do anything..." There was clear fright on the flight attendant's face. She didn't know what else they also had a frightening expression, to rain on the plane. The assault was getting stronger, and the people in the plane were getting more frightened. Nothing the captain said would placate these people will ask to jump out of the plane. But, it won't... Elisa to jump out! If this goes on, we will be

Chapter 379 The Lives of Several Hundred

Elisa felt like she was living in a dream. She unintentionally looked at Gareth. He was usually a cold and indifferent person, so didn't like to interact with people. Yet, today, he had stepped up and gotten the crowd under control. At this moment, she suddenly had a thought that maybe Gareth Wickam was a warm-hearted guy.

Gareth turned the microphone off.

The captain looked at him with a face of gratitude, "I can't thank you enough, kind sir!"

After getting his emotions somewhat under control, he worriedly voiced out his concerns, "The plane can still fly, but... the situation has gotten out of hand. I don't think my co-pilot can handle it anymore."

This was his fifteenth year flying planes, and even with that many years of experience, he had never experienced something like this.

"Let me do it, I just need a navigator." Gareth quickly offered.

The captain and the flight attendants looked at him with surprise. There was obvious disbelief in their eyes.

"Sir, you..."

He can fly?!

Thomas quickly told them, "My master has a flying license. I'm sure he can fly better

"This..."

Even Elisa looked at him with surprise. There was amazement in her believe Gareth has this license. It seems I don't know him well enough. But that you a navigator. There are navigators on the plane too.

was all over the place. One wrong command from the navigator and the whole plane might be directed to

"I'll do it." Elisa offered. Everyone turned to look at her with astonishment. They were more surprised by her offer than when Gareth offered the ball. He looked to Gareth and said, trusted Thomas. He turned to the captain and said, "Go

The color on the

This...

Mr. Wickam? And you, you're... you're

Chapter 380 Apparently He's a Pilot

If he screwed up, he would be charged with a great crime. It was he who would have thrown the lives of hundreds of passengers... It wouldn't be a pity for him to die, but he couldn't bring all these people to the grave with him...

The arrival of the captain surprised him.

"Woody, good job. We're going to let Mr. Wickam and Ms. Elisa take over. Change seats with Mr. Wickam. Get up when you have composed yourself." The captain said to the co-pilot hurriedly.

"Is... is that okay?" Woody asked with doubt in his eyes.

Even though there was someone to take over for him, he wasn't relieved.

The captain nodded his head solemnly, "It's okay. Quickly now."

he still felt uneasy. He knew who the two were. There was surprise and Gareth Wickam could fly a his hands, Elisa started to navigate him. The field, but how are they doing was communicating with the passengers to calm them. Even though they were still scared, as there were still sounds under Elisa's navigation and Gareth's steady flying they were able to double the speed of the plane yet remained equilibrium. They finally threw off

Are you seeing this?

goodness! God, please ecstatic; they felt like they had just escaped

the captain walked forward and turned on the microphone, "Dear passenger, if it wasn't for our three heroes, we wouldn't have been this not mention the names of the heroes, as he and Thomas had agreed that it would be for the better. But even if the names were a secret, it was a show of respect to them to