

No Chance 431

Chapter 431

Norman was rendered speechless.

What Elisa meant was she could not guarantee the success of the project, and the matter had nothing to do with her

After all, they had praised Marisa so highly, as if she was many times better than Elisa. Thus, if Marisa could not succeed, it would be normal for Elisa to fail too

Her words angered him, but he had no way to vent it. In the end, he swallowed his anger and nodded. "Just do your best."

Elisa smiled and nodded. "Good"

Thus, the meeting came to an end.

Then, Elisa followed a young and beautiful but mature-looking woman to Darcey Group.

At this moment, Marisa was driving while Elisa sat in the front passenger seat.

Marisa glanced at Elisa and gave a professional smile. "Ms. Benett, I might have to trouble you to act as a mediator in this matter."

Marisa was dumbfounded.

His tone alone made her feel like a third wheel.

Will only had eyes for Elisa and did not even spare Marisa a glance.

Marisa knew her place. Even if Will did not appear intimidating, she found it hard to breathe in his presence.

Before coming here, she felt alright, even though she was not fully confident. But now, looking at this esteemed man, she could not stop her legs from shaking.

Elisa gave a nod and took a seat opposite him.

Marisa was rendered speechless.

Elisa and Will's interactions seemed so natural.

Marisa had no choice but to follow Elisa awkwardly and sat beside her. Then, she greeted Will courteously, "Good afternoon, Mr. Darcey."

Will looked at her indifferently and gave a nod.

Chapter 433

Will would not listen no matter what Marisa said. All he wanted was to have a date with Elisa.

Elisa had tried to persuade him a few times, but Marisa could see that Will refused to agree. Furthermore, he seemed to be infatuated with love. It felt like all he cared about was the chance to work with Elisa. He did not care whether the deal would be profitable.

In the end, Marisa gave up. It was time for a lunch break.

Elisa took her bag and planned to leave, but Will immediately grabbed her wrist.

"Didn't I say I'll take you out for lunch? Where are you going?"

"I don't want..."

Before Elisa could finish speaking, Marisa, who was sick of being with them, interrupted her, "I have some other matter, so I'll leave first. Please proceed without me."

Will seemed pleased with this. His attitude and tone toward Marisa improved slightly. "Please go ahead."

Marisa was stunned.

Elisa appeared defeated. She hesitated for a moment and nodded. "Sure, I'll go with you."

They had already come to this point and would need to work together on many more matters in the future. It meant Elisa would have to get along with him for a few months. Thus, she agreed to go. It was only lunch anyway.

Will's smile became even more apparent. "Let's go. We can check out the place first. If you don't like it, we can go somewhere else."

Elisa did not say anything but followed him outside..

Will brought her to a restaurant and reserved the whole place as usual. He also behaved like a gentleman and took care of her throughout their meal.

For a second, even Elisa began to suspect that she was on a date with him.

Otherwise, why did they keep interacting this way?

She knew they could be trending on Twitter again. Things would always get complicated whenever she and Will met.

However, it felt like she was used to such a life.

He arched his thick and well-shaped eyebrows and parted his alluring lips. "What are you

"I won't be going back yet. I still need to deal with another matter."

She had another collaboration plan left.

Thus, she wanted to head to that place this afternoon.

Elisa could not help but feel impressed with Lily, the assistant manager of her department. She managed to find so many difficult people who were in charge of the projects.

At least Anita was easier to deal with. She liked the plan Elisa had prepared. Furthermore, Elisa helped her with the matter concerning her son, so Anita was more amicable.

However, the same could not be said for another collaboration project.

Sean Jordan was famous for being a stubborn old man.

He was fifty this year and was a high-ranking executive in his company. Furthermore, he was famous for being astute and had numerous good achievements. Many companies wished to recruit talent like him, but he would not be swayed and would only serve the Henly Group.

If he liked the plan, he would naturally accept it. But if he disliked it, he would not be bothered and would reject it immediately without explanation.

Chapter 436

Sean did not find it strange when he sensed someone near him. He did not check who it was.

After all, he was in a recreation center.

It was normal for people to watch others play.

Thus, Sean assumed Elisa was only watching him play.

Elisa stood before him and did not say anything. She found his interest quite fascinating.

However, he had pulled eight times continuously without winning anything.

Furthermore, he had only enough tokens to play one more time.

Elisa chuckled when she saw Sean's expression darken.

"Sir, can I play once for you? If I win, the winning is yours. But if I lose, I'll compensate ten times the tokens used. Do you believe me if I say I will win this time?"

Her confident and crisp voice prompted Sean to turn and look at her.

When he saw how young she was, he was amused.

"Miss, it is not good to be so arrogant at such a young age."

Elisa smiled and replied, "Will you let me try then?"

Sean took a step to the right and said coolly, "Come here. Let's see how you do."

Elisa smiled and nodded.

Sean was stunned. She's right. If she's truly that skilled, why would she need these tokens? He looked at her.

"What do you wish to bet then?"

Elisa considered for a moment before answering with a smile, "If I win, you have to buy me five meals"

Sean was astounded.

He looked at her with confusion.

"Are meals all you want?" Elisa smiled.

"Yes, I haven't settled my dinner plans yet. Will you be free tonight, sir?"

Sean had to look at her closely. He felt there was something strange about her and believed she approached him for a reason.

"Miss, what is your reason for approaching me?"

Elisa smirked and said, "Sir, I just want you to buy me a few meals. Are you scared?"

From what she had heard, Sean was not afraid of someone challenging him.

As she expected, Sean snorted with disdain.

Sean looked down at the card and was stunned to see the name on it. He looked at her immediately.

"Are you Elisa Benett?" Elisa smiled.

"Yes, sir"

"You're Elisa Benett, the famous lawyer?"

Sean seemed even more astounded as he looked at Elisa.

Furthermore, knowing her name confirmed that Elisa was not lying. He was aware of how much he resembled her father.

"In that case, you must have wanted to talk to me about the temporary cooperation project."

Elisa smiled, "Sir, why don't we have a meal first? We can discuss later on whether to work together."

Sean did not know what Elisa was up to. However, he pitied her for having lost her father, so he nodded.

"Sure, I have to head to work. I'll call you after work"

It triggered a wave of emotions in Gareth's heart. His frustration also grew in intensity. He took a deep breath and tried his best to suppress them.

However, it was not as easy as he thought.

For the whole afternoon, he remained unfocused even as he dealt with work.

Bam! Gareth slammed his fist on the table.

The meeting room fell into pin-drop silence.

The person presenting a report turned pale with fear.

His hands shook, and the document he was holding dropped onto the table with a loud splat.

The noise pulled Gareth back to his senses.

He realized he was in the midst of a meeting.

Rose saw the call on Linda's phone and smiled delightedly.

"See, isn't he calling you now."

Linda's face flushed instantly. She replied shyly, "Mom..."

Linda chuckled and said, "Alright, you should answer his call. I will go out and give you some privacy"

After saying that, Rose got up with a smile and left.

Once the door was closed, Linda breathed in and answered the call nervously. She and Gareth rarely spoke these days.

Gareth also treated her differently from before and was a lot less patient than he was.

Thus, she did not dare to act recklessly as she did.

"Gary, are you busy?"
