Chapter 451 You're My Boyfriend

Linda was disheartened. We didn't even have a proper meal just now, and he's asking me to go home already? Oh well, we would've parted ways if I didn't wait for him at the hall, and he wouldn't have offered to send me home. I shouldn't be too greedy.

At that thought, Linda nodded obediently. "Okay, but there's something I want to tell you. It's about the company."

Gareth turned to look at Linda. Seeing that she was still standing at the spot, he asked, "Do you want to talk about it here?"

Startled, Linda quickly muttered, "W-We can talk in the car."

Gareth did not answer but continued walking forward.

Elisa turned to gaze at Will with an inquiring look. Is this the 'show' you wanted me to see? They're walking toward the car already. There's nothing to see.

Chapter 452 Benett Corporation Will Be Yours Tomorrow

Although Linda didn't say it, Gareth already knew it because he could tell from the style and approach of the entire project that it was Elisa's creation.

The moment he realized the truth, he was stunned and thought it was unbelievable.

After telling Gareth all that she wanted to say, Linda was relieved. She gazed at Gareth carefully and mumbled softly, "I-I had no other choices. The management in the company thinks Elisa still lacks experience and can't handle this project, but Mr. Darcey... maybe he's really fond of Elisa and wanted to pursue her through this matter. Nonetheless, the company shouldn't put its reputation at risk, and we don't want others to gossip about this matter. So, given this situation... I-I just want to ask i-if y-you..."

The words stuck in Linda's throat as she became more awkward. Why did Dad ask me to talk to Gareth about this matter?! Why does he want me to take over this proposal?

Nevertheless, Elisa is my father's niece, and everyone has participated in running the business. My father is worried that things would go wrong if Elisa takes over the company at this moment, and the management might not be persuaded. He didn't want to damage the employee's morale, so he wanted Elisa to take it slow. After all, she's still young.

"So... no one actually cared, and allowed her to do whatever she wanted. B-But I didn't expect Elisa to be so capable and carry out the proposals so perfectly."

As much as she didn't want to admit it, it was useless to hold back anything given the current situation. Moreover, this matter was not a secret. She reckoned Gareth would have known it already.

Gareth still didn't say a word. Panicked, Linda continued, "The requirements in the contract are clearly to deter Elisa. Everyone thought it was impossible to ask for such a great investment from Darcey Group. L-Little did I know..."

Linda pretended as if she didn't know how to continue from there because she had already spoken all that she wanted to say.

She was waiting for Gareth's response to see if he would agree to replace Elisa with a more experienced person.

Narrowing his eyes, Gareth turned to look at Linda. "So, you hope that I'll take over this project, and replace Elisa with someone more experienced?"

that she was about to raise was stuck in her throat – because both she and Elisa company thought she was more experienced and important than Elisa, she had just joined the company not long ago too. So, she most likely couldn't win their trust either. The staff merely respected her due to her status. If it wasn't for Norman, she didn't know how others would in the car as Linda gazed at Gareth anxiously. Truth be told, this proposal was amazing. As much as she didn't want to admit it, she had to agree that Elisa's proposal was perfect, which made her green seemed to have stopped in Linda's car. On the other hand, in the van, Will looked at Elisa with a smile and asked, "Do you think Gareth will take over wasn't seated in the driver's seat. "It's up to you to decide, Elisa. Both of us are impressed with you. Who will you choose in the end?" A mysterious smile tugged at Will's lips. His eyes were filled with elation that Elisa had never seen before. Elisa squeezed a faint smile and said, "You're asking the obvious." Will smiled. "I just wish to hear more words of affirmation from you, just like..." He drew closer to Elisa and softened his tone. "Just like what you told the other person on the phone just now." Elisa's expression changed as she kept a distance from Will. Noticing that the light in Linda's car had switched off and they were leaving the car park, she quickly said, "They're leaving already. I should head back too." "I'll give you a ride."

After ensuring that Linda's car had left, Elisa opened the car door immediately and said, "It's okay. My car is here." With that, she got out of the car while Will did not stop her. Seeing that she was striding away, he blurted, "I'll pick you up at your office tomorrow at noon."

Elisa parted her lips but no word came out of them. Perceiving the intense atmosphere, Rachel walked up and pulled Sheena away from Elisa. "Calm down, Sheen. What exactly happened?"

Elisa closed her eyes with a remorseful look. "It's all my fault."

Rachel was confused. "Elisa?"

Everyone's heart was in their mouth. Finally, Elisa asked, "Doctor, how is his situation?"

“His brain was seriously damaged in the accident. His life is not at risk anymore, but when he can regain consciousness all depends on his willpower. If he manages to fight against fate, he could awaken and be normal again. However, if he doesn’t regain consciousness in one month’s time, then...”

The doctor shook his head in resignation. Elisa’s expression changed as she perceived the doctor’s meaning. Rachel was still perplexed, so she asked in a panic, “What will happen if he doesn’t regain consciousness in one month?”

The doctor mumbled in exasperation, “He might be in a vegetative state.” With that, he walked away. Soon, another doctor came forth and informed Elisa and the others about the next procedure.

Sheena cried her eyes out. Glaring at Elisa resentfully, she scowled, “Carle is such an outstanding and decent man. He loves you so much; he doesn’t even care if you’re a divorced woman. Why wouldn’t you consider him? Why did you break his heart?!”

Elisa’s lips quivered as she hesitated to speak. But at that moment, she couldn’t speak up.

Rachel suppressed her worries and said grimly, “It’s... Carle was hit by a car when he was drunk.”

Sheena stood to one side with her head lowered. Her eyes were swollen and red.

She couldn’t speak a word.

Edward was deathly pale. “What did the doctor say?”

They could only tell him the truth.

Chapter 458 Did Ms. Linda Act On Her Own?

James was pleased. He laughed softly and replied, "Both Mr. Darcey and Mr. Wickam are perceptive. Yet both of them requested for Ms. Elisa. Do you think that it's just luck? Even if one of them is not in their right mind, does that mean that the other is too? Then, which of them do you think is not in his right mind?"

They kept silent.

His words rang true. They were not satisfied with the state of affairs, but it was undeniable that Elisa was skilled. Many of them admitted that Elisa was capable of completing the task.

However, those who were on Norman's side did not want Elisa to take back the corporation. They weren't sure about leaving the corporation's future in the hands of a youngster. Besides, if she managed to fulfill the task... It would prove that she was more than capable. How could they take the orders of a youngster? They couldn't accept it.

Calvin's expression was stiff. He looked at Norman. "What do you think, Mr. Benett?"

Norman kept quiet.

Chapter 459 Incompetent Chairman

But even if he was the chairman, no one was really afraid of him.

He was just there to fill in the numbers. He wasn't very capable, and ever since he took the lead of the company, there had been a declining trend. If he wasn't replaced soon, Benett Corporation was going to go down the drain sooner or later.

Many people were eager for Elisa to be promoted.

After all, Elisa was the old chairman's daughter! She was as shrewd and capable as he was!

James was in a great mood. He immediately said, "Ms. Benett is currently suspended. I don't understand why she's still working for the company. Didn't she think of how she might have messed things up like she has now?"

Norman was speechless.

He took a deep breath in and restrained his feelings. With a dark face, he said, "When I go back, I'll talk to her about not interfering in the company's affairs while she's suspended."

Chapter 460 Wickam Group and Darcey Group

Because of such a topic, the room became silent again.

Everyone looked at Norman, waiting for him to say something, but he was caught between a rock and a hard place.

He didn't want Elisa to go ahead with the partnership, but he didn't want Elisa to work with Gareth even more.

With this to consider, should the company work with Darcey Group? But what about Wickam Group?!

Norman wanted to say something, but he was at a loss at that moment.

James smiled. "That's why I said to ask Liz for her opinion."

Calvin retorted immediately. "The company has to prioritize the bigger picture. As an employee of the company, she has to sacrifice for the company. How can we ask her for her opinion?"

James was unconcerned. "It's not like you're unaware of how important she is. If she's unwilling, are you sure that we can get a perfect partnership proposal?"

In the end, the meeting still ended on bad terms.

Norman couldn't just give out an order. He still had to privately discuss with his own people.

After the meeting ended, James called Elisa.
