Chapter 461 Will's Bitterness

Elisa was worried that it was about Carle, so she immediately picked up her cell phone, but when she saw that it was Gareth's number, she furrowed her brows at once. She rejected the call without a second thought.

Gareth was about to speak, but he never imagined that a robotic female voice would ring out in his ear instead.

"I'm sorry, the number that you have dialed is busy..."

Gareth's expression darkened.

He immediately made the call again.

But...

She hung up on him again.

He called again and realized that his number had been blacklisted.

Elisa!

Gareth grinded his back molars and silently screamed her name.

He immediately made a call to Thomas.

"Come over with your cell phone."

Thomas was befuddled.

Will said with a calm expression, "I'll look for you in the afternoon. Give me a set of your house keys and save my fingerprint."

Elisa was at a loss for words.

She didn't want to speak to this man at that moment. She hung up on him without any hesitation.

She really needed to rest!

It was just that...

Before noon, there was a knock at the door.

Elisa lost all trace of her sleepiness.

The knocking made her so furious that her face was dark!

Gareth's sharp gaze fell on her face in vain.

Elisa was unconcerned and just looked at him indifferently.

Gareth pursed his lips. He didn't want to clash with Elisa at this time.

He closed his eyes and said to Elisa in a low voice. "You have to consider the background of the partnership proposal. Bennett Corporation is where you started out. You have to give serious consideration to the final decision between Wickam Group or Darcey Group. You need to know which would help Bennett Corporation's development."

Seeing Elisa silent, Gareth spoke up again in a low voice, "From a businessman's perspective, money is king. Everything else comes second."

It was as if he was particularly patient this time.

In other words, he was telling Elisa not to be set in her ways and not to constantly think about the relationship between the two of them but to get rid of those thoughts and carefully think of the benefits instead. That was the standard of a businessman.

He stiffened immediately and took a deep breath.

Elisa did not notice anything wrong with him. She had already placed her fingers on the laptop's touchpad and opened an audio file.

"Linda? Why are you calling me at this hour? Does... Does this mean Gareth has not returned?"

Gareth frowned. He recognized Rose's voice.

"Mom..." Linda said with a choking tone.

Rose responded sternly, "What's going on? Did something happen?"

Linda sounded like she was crying. "Garry, Garry's back."

Rose chuckled. "Darling, this will eventually happen. Although you haven't married Gareth, judging from his character, he will take care of you. This is a good thing for you. Silly, why are you crying? What is he doing now? Have you gone to the bathroom to call me?"

...

At this point, Elisa could sense a wave of coldness from Gareth. She smiled and said, "Let's continue listening. Don't get angry yet."

Linda said, "Will... Will it work? If I do this, I'll lose the chance to interact with him. If he spends time with Elisa again..."

"We have to make it work. He has lost his sense of remorse toward you, so you must find a way to make him feel guilty about you again and pity you. After all, this was how you got rid of Elisa in the first place!"

Norman asked, "What is your plan? How is she going to have a relapse?"

Rose said, "I will send a few thugs over. There will also be a Good Samaritan. Linda, do you understand?"

Linda took a deep breath. "I understand. I will get ready now."

"Good. In twenty minutes, give Monica a call. By the twenty-fifth minute, you need to dress up properly and leave."

Linda replied, "Yes, I understand"

The voice recording ended here. Elisa was astounded. She did not expect Yara to obtain such evidence.

Chapter 466 The Truth

After the divorce, Elisa deleted all of Gareth's contact from her phone, but she kept Thomas's contact. She was an objective person.

Gareth's expression darkened as he saw one piece of evidence after another. His expression had turned so intimidating that people were afraid to look at him.

However, Elisa was not bothered by it and chuckled. "Mr. Wickam, I've shown you the truth. Is it to your satisfaction?"

Gareth did not reply but got up and left.

His ominous expression prompted Elisa to arch her eyebrows. She had never seen him with such a threatening gaze in their three years of marriage.

That excited her a little.

She would be happy if she could see Linda suffer from now on.

However, this was only the beginning.

In the future, Elisa planned to expose everything about Linda pretending to be comatose to Gareth. Then, he would see how blind he was to believe such a devious woman.

Then, Elisa turned off the laptop and opened her Whatsapp to message Yara.

"Yes," Sheena answered flatly and accepted the food. They then went to the room next door and began to eat.

But neither of them had any appetite and ate the food mechanically.

On the other hand, Sheena began to cry again as she ate.

Rachel looked up and saw Sheena's tears dripping onto the lunch box.

"Sheen..."

Sheena's eyes glimmered. She quickly turned her face away.

Elisa sighed and felt even more remorseful than before.

Elisa nodded without hesitation. "Yes, I won't consider it."

Will keeps bothering me these days, and Gareth has been behaving strangely. If I decide to be with Carle, wouldn't I be causing him trouble?

"I have always thought of him as my elder brother," Elisa said slowly. These were also the words that broke Carle's heart that day.

Rachel tried to speak a few times but stopped herself. Now, she felt she had lost the chance to speak.

Elisa and Sheena were Rachel's best friends and were like sisters to her. Now that a man had gotten between them, she did not know whom she should advise.

Sheena took a deep breath. "Alright. If he gets through this risky period and recovers, I will confess my feelings to him. Regardless of whether he would accept me, I will let him know how I feel."

Rachel pursed her lips and did not speak. Although they are my best friends, I feel... Perhaps it is better this way. But I still feel Carle and Elisa is the best match for each other.

Elisa nodded. "Sure."

The room quieted down again. Sheena wiped her tears and did not say anything else.

Elisa looked at him. "What..."

What are you here for?

She felt it was pointless to ask this question.

Anyone could see he had come to woo her.

He was doing everything to make her his. Thus, she would be wasting her breath if she asked that question.

Will smiled at her. "I'm concerned that it would be tiring for you to take care of him, so I came to accompany you."

"That's unnecessary!" Elisa refused immediately.

Carle could not bear any emotional triggers at this moment. She feared he would feel worse if he saw Will.

Then, Elisa looked at Will and said, "Mr. Darcey, I need to remain in the hospital, and I hope you will keep your distance from me during this period."

"He approached me with the intention to gain something from me"

Rachel was doubtful about that.

"I don't think so. He has a prominent status. Although everyone wishes to get on your good side, he can easily negotiate a deal with you as long as he is not your enemy. Thus, why would he need to win you over?"

Sheena nodded.

"I think so too. After all, he is at the top of the business world. If he doesn't like you, why would he make so much effort?"

Elisa pursed her lips and was a little astounded by their claims.

"I'm a divorcee. Moreover, he is a prominent man, and I'm his greatest rival's ex-wife. Why would he want me?"

"I'm the woman Gareth discarded.Wouldn't it look bad on Will if he wants me?"

Elisa did not believe Will had any feelings for her.She thought everything was for the sake of personal gain.

"You should check out what he prepared for you"
