

No Chance 501

Chapter 501

He uttered lowly, "Get at Will Darcey"

He didn't want to see him again! Thomas halted his footsteps and assented.

Jeremy didn't say anything but just smiled.

Both of them left one after another.

Soon, only Gareth and Elisa were left in the ward.

The Elisa from the past would have treated him scornfully or tried to steer clear of him.

Gareth thought she looked much more approachable in a coma than when she was conscious.

He was grateful that the accident didn't mar her delicate face.

Gareth caressed her cheek with the back of his fingers. Her impeccable soft skin dazzled him.

He can't help but linger his fingers on her skin.

the next second, Gareth realized his intention and instantly retracted his hand. He scowled and stared at his ex-wife! He bared his teeth

Boy, they did not expect Elisa to survive the ghastly cliff crash.

How did she survive a synchronized collision on both sides of her car? How did she get so lucky?! Rose tightened her grip on her phone, "Just let it be for now. We are in a tight spot now; we mustn't contact the two drivers, no matter what. Right now, you must be still and calm. Do not attempt anything that will draw suspicion from the police."

Linda bobbed her head gravely, "So annoying! We have to visit her since she's hospitalized."

Suddenly, her phone buzzed with a new message. She clicked on it and took a glance.

Veins popped out in her neck as she cursed, "Dam* it!!!"

Rose raised her brow, "What's wrong?"

She glanced at Linda's phone and saw the message from Yara that read, Ms. Benett, Mr. Wickam came to visit Ms. Elisa and is in her ward now.

Gareth heeded the breach at the door and was startled when he saw the intruder was his father.

Jerry was surprised to see him, too, "I didn't expect you would come."

Gareth looked away, deliberately ignoring him.

Jerry walked up to Elisa.

He let out a weary sigh when he saw the frail Elisa lying in vegetation, "Liz was fortunate to only break a rib after falling from such a height'

There was contempt in Gareth's tone and eyes.

Jerry looked at him, puzzled, "What's the matter?"

Gareth didn't speak.

Linda chewed her lower lip, and fear crawled over her body, pickling her skin! She never expected Gareth to say that.

The whole country knew that they were about to be engaged to each other.

Linda had received flattery and felicitation from lots of people.

She had been approached by people who tried to curry favor from her, but now, Gareth wanted to call off their engagement at the last minute.

Did it mean that she would become a laughingstock just like Elisa?! What the hell is Gareth Wickam doing?! At this moment, she felt the urge to barge into the room and yell at him, but she...she didn't have the courage to enter the ward.

She was distraught at the thought of Gareth saying, "I have decided to cancel our engagement. It's good that you came by so I can save myself the trouble of informing you."

Linda clenched her fists, gnashed her teeth, and painstakingly waited for Gareth's response. Is he...for real?! Her mind was a fluff, overthinking all the possibilities.

Then, she heard him say, "I am."

He concluded steadfastly.

When he was informed of her accident at the office...He hopped into the car with Thomas there and then.

Subsequently, Thomas explained the accident to him in the car.

"Ms.Benett was driving home when she was attacked by two heavy vehicles along a hazardous road and crashed down a cliff.But passersby called the police' Gareth's heart plunged as Thomas briefed him on Elisa's accident.

"Where is she now?!" Gareth was consumed by anxiety.He could feel his body drained of energy in that instant.

Thomas shook his head, "Unsure for the time being"

Boom! He could feel fear thudding in his skull, and his stomach flipped.He felt a rush of panic.

"Garry?"

Then, a voice jolted him back to the present.

Gareth ground his jaw.He didn't look or speak to Linda.

Linda froze.

She discerned his gaze and frantically said, "I...I...Excuse me"

The two men watched her leave the ward.

Only then did she realize they had no reason to make her leave the ward, nor was it her obligation to leave them by themselves. She was in Elisa's ward.

As her sister, she had all the right to stay in the ward and keep her guarded.

If they needed space for their discussion, they could just leave the ward and do it outside! Why did they have to discuss it in Elisa's ward? Why did she have to leave Elisa's ward? She stood at the door in a grimace.

Meanwhile, in another ward.

Carle sat on the bed head with a smile on his face.

It was a half-hearted smile.

Sheena felt terrible seeing him like this, but she also thought it was normal for him to behave like this.

Jerry looked pensive.

He declined Gareth and said, "This time, you should do it yourself."

"You go on behalf of me."

Gareth asserted.

He understood that Gareth had no qualms about the consequences if he refused to do his bid.

The latter hadn't shifted his attention away from Elisa and didn't mention the matter again.So, Jerry said, "Come with me.I have something to ask you"

Gareth's eyes glistened.

There were subtle sentiments in his eyes.

Linda thought she had successfully influenced him. She breathed a sigh of relief, carried on, and explained, "You must believe me, Garry. Since when have you ever doubted me like this? Did anyone speak ill of me to you?"

She pleaded with a breaking voice and sorrowful front.

Jerry looked somewhat at ease. He hadn't believed a word she said from the get-go.

Seeing the unspoken and aloof Gareth, Linda couldn't help but panic.

How...What should I do?! After a series of cold treatments from Gareth, Linda finally figured out one thing! Gareth must have heard that audio recording! If not, why was he so mean to her and suddenly became so protective of Elisa? Eventually, Gareth said, "Go back first. I have some things to do. Let's have lunch tomorrow at noon"

Linda was taken aback. She would've been thrilled if Gareth had invited her for lunch before all this turmoil unfolded.

But now...

She thought that his invitation for lunch was merely an occasion he set up to break up with her.

Hearing Jerry's words, Gareth can't help but pull a long face. He shot a cold glance at Jerry, "That's my business."

"Your business?"

Jerry appeared exasperated, "Are you not a failure to the Wickam family? Take a look at what has become of Wickam Group ever since you divorced Liz. Do you have any idea what other people say about you? I have no desire for fame and wealth but look at how you treat it. Do you think you deserve her?"

Jerry rebuked and shamed his son viciously.

Gareth wasn't angry with Jerry.

On the contrary, he thought it was cute that his father cared for Elisa and sided with Elisa instead of him.

Jerry pressed on, "I will help you this time. But you should think about what's next. You can't simply call off an engagement like that. Go and think things through. After finishing speaking, Jerry left the ward. Gareth sat still and didn't bother to look at Jerry at all. He just stared at the unconscious Elisa. His gaze gradually tainted with nuanced sentiments.

She didn't speak, but her eyes gave away her thought.

In an instant, the air in the ward came to a still! She was assaulted by his cold gaze as well as his death glare.

But Elisa had no qualms about his fierce aura.

She just looked at him, puzzled, "Mr. Wickam should leave if you have no business here"

Gareth burst out a sarcastic cackle. He had stayed by her side since the beginning. He dared not leave her side.

She didn't even bother to thank him but drove him away.

Hah! For the sake of dignity, he would never be entangled with this woman again! He stood on his feet and strode out of the ward.

Subsequently, Rachel and Sheena rushed into the ward after seeing Gareth leave.
