Chapter 54 Taking Revenge on the Wickam Family

He placed his hands at the sides of her body, with one of them holding her wrist.

At this moment, they were so close to each other that they could even feel their breaths.

Elisa's expression changed immediately as she tried to resist him. With the difference in strength between men and women in mind, the outcome did not surprise either party.

Gritting her teeth, Elisa demanded furiously, "What do you want, Gareth? What do you and your family want from me?"

"What do we want?" he replied in a silky and dangerous voice as he continued to stare at her fixedly with a strong intention to choke her to death in the next second.

"No matter what we do, we are nowhere as ruthless as you! How dare you ask for a divorce at the dinner party?"

Elisa snorted out a laugh before lifting her head to look at him. However, because of their close distance, she accidentally kissed the tip of his nose, sending a jolt to both of them.
