

No Chance 59

Chapter 59 Him Again?

She raised her head and looked at the man beside her.

At this moment, the car had come to a stop.

Will smiled at her. "These comments online are meaningless. If you don't feel good, I can bring you to a certain place."

She gave him a slight smile. "I'm not sad, I'm just monitoring the current situation to see if the public will hurl rotten eggs at me."

He stared at her intently without uttering another word, while she took her phone from his grasp. "Thanks for sending me back, Mr. Darcey. Let me know when the next trial commences. Bye."

With that, she got out of the car, but he merely stared at her as she closed the car door and walked into her apartment without moving.

Suddenly, his phone rang, and he picked it up.

"Mr. Darcey, they've divorced."

"Yeah."
