Chapter 621

The smile in the corner of Gareth's lips deepened.

"Yes! Julia felt dumbfounded. She didn't say anything, and she didn't know what the brat had up his sleeve. Gareth wasn't at a loss, nor did he pause. He looked at Julia and said softly, "I want to remarry Elisa."

Julia was rendered speechless. She didn't hear it clearly and was still looking at Gareth, but he didn't say anything.

He looked back at his grandmother.

After waiting for a while, Julia came to her senses, and she looked at Gareth in disbelief. She asked firmly, "Did I hear that correctly?"

What did he say? Gareth nodded.

"Mm. You heard it correctly. I want to remarry Elisa"

Julia was blown away. Her eyes widened and were filled with disbelief.

"Remarry Elisa?!" Gareth nodded.

Chapter 622

Gareth was left dumbfounded.

Julia was being harsher to him today.

There were a few times when Gareth couldn't hold his ground.

If it was anyone else, Gareth wouldn't have kept quiet.

In other words, no one would dare to act like Julia.

He took a breath in and calmed his feelings before he looked at Julia and said, "I'm now willing to turn over a new leaf, but Liz doesn't want to look at me, so I hope that you can help me out, Grandma. Don't tell me that you want to see her become someone else's granddaughter-in-law. You must have seen how Will is treating Elisa."

Julia's expression changed.

What Gareth said hit her sore spot. He was right.

She wasn't willing to see Liz marry another man and become someone else's granddaughter-in-law. She would be so envious! But... Her grandson was so disappointing! In an instant, Julia was at a loss for words. She opened her mouth, but she didn't know what to say.

Gareth was dumbstruck.

Right now, he felt that Grandma not only acknowledged Elisa as her granddaughter, but she also treated him like less of a grandson now.

He sighed in frustration.

Julia continued, "So you won't do either. If you can't give me a good enough reason, I won't help you. I will even stop you!"

Gareth felt stupefied.

If Elisa was still around, she would've been very touched.

Gareth sighed and said in slight exasperation.

Chapter 624

Now Elisa would want to leave as soon as she saw him. She didn't want to stay in the same room as him.

If it wasn't for Grandma's sake, she wouldn't have eaten with him.

And, of course, they wouldn't even meet.

Gareth wrinkled his brows and raised his eyes to look at Julia.

"Grandma, I need your help. Once we remarry, she will be my wife and the only woman in my life. I won't let her suffer any pain, and I will be a competent husband."

A competent husband.

That was all it was. He would give her everything that other women had, but he wouldn't invest other feelings.

But Gareth seemed to have forgotten that Elisa wasn't someone who lacked material goods.

What use would she have for a man without affection? She was well-connected and exceptional, and she had the money.

There was nothing she couldn't resolve, and she didn't have to do anything illegal.

Moreover, she didn't need romantic love at this time.

Julia's brows wrinkled tightly.

She didn't know how to go on and if she should tell Jerry about it.

"Hmm?"

It was the first time Jerry had seen his mother hesitate.

"What is it that you can't tell me?"

Julia's eyes flashed.

In the end, she told Jerry what had happened.

Astonishment flickered across his eyes.

"He wants to reconcile with Elisa?"

Julia nodded.

"But I still feel like he's tricking me somehow.

Does he really like Liz? If he doesn't, I don't want him to hurt Liz again."

Jerry didn't say anything, as if he was thinking about something.

Elisa answered with ease, "Mm.I'm about to go to bed."

The corner of Elisa's mouth twitched slightly.

"Pfft."

Will raised his brows.

"Can you be more mindful when you turn me down?"

Elisa didn't want to waste time with him, so she said calmly, "Is there any other reason you're looking for me?"

"Yes."

Those in the IT department couldn't help but start discussing.

"Do you think Mr. Wickam has some tricks up his sleeve? Otherwise, why didn't he intercept? It's almost as if he was scouting out the other party"

The person who was speaking was a young man in his early twenties. He had a good reputation for his hacking abilities domestically, and he looked very gentle.

He wore gold-framed glasses, which attracted many girls.

A burly man with a rough voice immediately retorted, "How could this be? Are we going to watch on helplessly as they stomp through our confidential information?"

The gentle young man furrowed his brows slightly.

He looked at the burly man and said in a low voice, "You should know about Mr. Wickam's skills. He didn't stop them. What I mean is that Mr. Wickam may have other plans. When they get carried away, Mr. Wickam might be able to find information on the person who is snooping around at our classified information"

When other people heard it, they couldn't help but nod.

"Mm. This is possible."

Just as they were discussing, Elisa had broken through the tenth level.

One hour later, Elisa was still breaching Wickam Group, and no one had stopped her.

Her doorbell suddenly rang.

Elisa was startled and slightly surprised.

She immediately tapped on her keyboard and secured what she had before she got up and walked to the door. She was a little astonished.

Who would come so late at night? She was struggling and wondering if it was Carle...

She had chatted with Carle for a while today, and she wasn't overly enthusiastic as she gave him one-word replies.

However...

When she walked to the door and saw that the visitor was Gareth, her expression immediately turned nasty. She couldn't attend to so much. She returned to her computer at once and handled everything quickly.

The desktop resumed its usual appearance, and she turned off the display screen.

The doorbell was still ringing.

Elisa walked to the door again and opened it.

"Why are you here so late at night?"

Elisa Benett.

This woman is incredible! Seeing Gareth's manner, Elisa's eyes flashed slightly.

After all, she was breaching his company's classified information.

He might not believe what she said.

Thinking about it, she could only say, "Norman has done so many evil deeds. He killed my father, while his daughter destroyed my marriage. The family is heartless, and I must take revenge. Norman is giving me one hundred million for each level I breach. It's non-refundable if I fail"

Gareth was dumbstruck. He looked at Elisa and didn't say anything.

When he heard her say 'destroyed marriage', he didn't know why but his heart tightened. She was earning two billion, like taking candy from a baby.

With her skills, she could have done it in a day.

She split it up into a few days to keep Norman hanging.

Elisa snorted coldly, and an intense chill streaked deep across her eyes.

After seeing the transfer notification, she continued cracking the code.

She seemed to have...ignored the man next to her.

Even Gareth was surprised that he could interact with Elisa so casually. He recalled every other time he interacted with her.

They could never sit down and speak to each other peacefully.

And now, even if they didn't say anything, they were quite calm.

As for Wickam Group's IT department...

Everyone was stupefied.

The jaw of the rough, burly man was about to drop.
