

No Chance 69

Chapter 69 Fall for Him? No Way.

He passed a folder to her. "This is the latest information about the case. I didn't give you complete information last time, but I've already asked someone to rearrange everything."

She took it from him and had a look at them. Sure enough, there were some differences, but it would not affect the general flow of things. In fact, there were two additional points that were in her favor.

"This is useful." She nodded.

He arched his eyebrows at her, but he smiled upon seeing her long eyelashes flutter slightly. "Thanks in advance, Liz."

Before this, he addressed her as 'Iris', but he completely changed it now.

Even though she did not like him calling her by her nickname, she did not comment on it.

"Have you made all the arrangements? When will the court case start?" She raised her gaze.

This time, he replied without any delay, "Five days later." Then, his eyes narrowed. "Gareth is really a strong opponent."

so, Mr. Darcey?" She looked at him

they spent together, he did exasperation. "Two days ago, we were competing for a project. The odds were in his favor, but your divorce helped me out slightly. Unexpectedly, even after that, he Group?" Elisa's pupils constricted

"Yeah."

frowned and snorted sarcastically. "How impressive

"Since that has already been decided, I'm not going to force anything, but I hope you can win the court case for me as a her eyebrows.

her confidence and nonchalance, he smiled. "I believe might have some doubts, but this time he was willing to or lost the court case that cost ten billion. If he lost, his good reputation might be tarnished, but if he could win over her heart by losing,

not stop discussing the matter among office, Charli arched her eyebrows at lips twitched slightly as she passed

