you depending on the fact that I won't terminate the project because I have my eye on this project's profit?" Elisa laughed sarcastically at once. "Wickam Group is a big company and corporation. Why would you need such a small amount of money?" "That's great. Amazing." Gareth gripped Elisa's arm tightly. He didn't give her a chance to think about anything and pushed her onto the couch! Elisa sat in a daze and looked at the man leaning closer to her in confusion. "Who is messing around? Is it you or me?" Gareth suddenly held her down, and Elisa wasn't as fast as he was. She raised her legs and attacked the man's crucial region! But the man seemed to have to guess what she was about to do. Just as he avoided her quickly, he held down her legs without causing her any pain. Elisa's expression turned terrible in an instant. "What are you trying to do?" Is Gareth mad? Why is he doing such baffling things? He suddenly sneered. "We've just been divorced for a while. Have you forgotten how much you used to love me?" Elisa's heart seemed to have been pierced in a flash. The pain expanded gradually. It had taken her so much effort to stop wasting her days away by missing the man. She wouldn't shed any more tears for him. She had let it go! And she didn't want to think about the past! At the next moment, Elisa looked at the man and sneered. "If you're ill, Mr. Wickam, you should see a doctor." Gareth looked at her coldly.

that moment, Elisa's emotions seemed to have stirred. In the past, when she looked at Gareth, her expression was always exceptionally calm, as if he was a stranger. This annoyed him greatly. When she shouted at him, it made his expression soften ever so slightly. "I've told you more than once. Let's remarry." Elisa's brows furrowed tightly at once. Is he ill? Does he not understand English? "It doesn't matter how many times you've told me. I don't want to remarry you. Haven't I told you multiple times?" The two of them were now still in the same position. It was such an affectionate posture, and they were so close. Gareth only had to bend down slightly before he could kiss Elisa's cherry-like lips, but they were saying such cold, heartless, and distant words. Elisa meant that nothing would ever happen between them for the rest of their lives. "Pfft." Gareth's laughter made Elisa's brows furrow. She had her guard up unconsciously as she looked at the man before her. Upon looking at the man slowly lowering his head and seeing his handsome face enlarge before her eyes, Elisa's expression changed instantly. "What are you doing?" Gareth's cold eyes stared at her, and the sharp lines on his attractive face were frightening. The next moment, she saw his thin lips part slightly and heard his cold voice in her ears. "With such a posture and distance between us, what do you think we can do? Must I do something before you know what to do?" Elisa's pupils expanded at once. Without thinking, she lifted her hands and pushed against his chest. As she felt the man's firm muscles, she was bashful and furious. But more than that, she was restless. The next moment, she cried fiercely at the man, "What you're doing is illegal!" Gareth sneered at once. "Illegal? You can sue me." After that, he didn't give her a chance to react ears. He knew that Elisa wasn't aroused, but rather her first reaction as she was panicked, fearful, and livid. At this time, Elisa raised her hands to push the man away. But Gareth grabbed her hands with his sharp eyes and nimble hands. Elisa didn't have the chance to struggle. She was skilled in self-defense but was weak after being held down by this man. Elisa's expression instantly paled. This made her feel incredibly humiliated. Gareth had done this deliberately. At that moment, she was about to go mad from her fury! But the man was holding down her arms on her sides. She couldn't struggle at all. Elisa immediately turned around but realized that she didn't shake him off. His lips followed hers. "Gareth Wickam! You...!" B*stard! "Mmph..." Before Elisa could finish chiding him, the man suddenly seized her lips. She had opened her mouth to speak, giving Gareth an opportunity. Elisa couldn't close her lips in time when the man breached her defenses. The man willfully unleashed a storm on her lips. She looked at him, incensed. Her hands and feet struggled with all their might, but Gareth didn't give her a way out. Elisa turned her head again, and Gareth lost his patience. He kissed her delicate neck instead. At that moment, Gareth hadn't realized it. He had only wanted to punish this woman, but now, it was a subconscious action. He wanted her urgently! "Lunatic! Wake up, touched her lower abdomen without restraint, Elisa's body shivered violently in an instant. Her face paled abruptly. At that moment, she suddenly stopped struggling, and her voice trembled. "Gareth, you really know how to humiliate me." The man was still kissing her, and her voice was muffled, but Gareth heard every word she said. In that instant, he stopped and looked at her subconsciously. When he saw Elisa's pale and desolate face, his body froze. At that moment, he sobered up entirely, and his expression changed. What is he doing?! He immediately let her go. How could he have been infuriated by this woman beyond reason? Just as he was staring blankly, he heard... 'Pitter' What is that sound? He immediately looked at Elisa and noticed that tears were flowing from the corners of her eyes. 'Patter' He heard it again. Elisa's tears fell on the couch, but he didn't know why he heard it so clearly. It was so piercing. She... Is crying. It had been a long time since he had seen her cry. She was tough and wouldn't cry until a certain point, but this time... He had only kissed her. Why did she have such an adverse reaction? In an instant, Gareth was uneasy. He suddenly got up and tore off his necktie. Elisa was freed, and she got up at once. She immediately raised her head and tried to stop her tears from rolling down. Her clothes were still neat. Gareth hadn't gone overboard. She emotions were shown on her face, and she was conflicted. The other secretaries were evidently curious about her expression. "What's wrong with you? Why aren't you saying anything?" There was still a stack of files in her hands. She raised her right hand and tucked her hair behind her ears before saying slightly awkwardly, "I think I just... saw something that I shouldn't have..." Her actions had already piqued everyone's curiosity, but what she said made them more inquisitive. Someone couldn't help but ask, "What happened?" The male secretary in the office laughed. "Something you shouldn't have seen is our topic of idle conversation." "Tell us, quick. What on earth happened? We all work together and have such great relationships with each other. Who would rat you out?" Another younger female secretary couldn't help but persuade her. After all, the person who had to keep the secret had it the hardest. While those who wanted to listen to gossip had no burdens. When all was said and done, they didn't spread it. Everyone else started convincing her. The female secretary really wanted to talk about it. As everyone persuaded her, she couldn't help but spill the beans. "I just... passed by Mr. Wickam's door and saw Ms. Benett with a pale face. Her clothes were slightly wrinkled as well. The door had been open, and I saw that Mr. Wickam's necktie had been torn off. His face was dark, and his gaze was terrifying..." Everyone couldn't help but visualize the scene as soon as she said it. The astonishment in their eyes grew. "D*mn... Don't tell me that Ms. Benett still has feelings for Mr. Wickam. It so he would go with her to see Grandma if she told him about it. This was what she wanted. Elisa was slightly on edge for the rest of the day. Even her work efficiency had somewhat decreased. But of course... This was what Elisa thought. To other people, even if she was on edge, she was much more efficient at work than them. Meanwhile, within the company... Rumors spread about Gareth and Elisa's encounter. One secretary had told her entire office of secretaries. It was only natural that someone would open their big mouth and spread it. This led to... almost the entire company knowing about it. In the afternoon, many weren't inclined to work much because they only wanted to gossip and speculate about the rights and wrongs between Elisa and Gareth. And so, it was time to leave work. It seemed like Gareth was worried that Elisa would leave earlier. So, he arrived at the door of Elisa's office. Elisa had just opened the door when taken aback. The smile in the corner of Elisa's lips deepened. She glanced at Gareth before looking at Julia and speaking softly. "I think his presence is a little unnecessary. Grandma, why don't you get rid of him?" Julia was a little astonished. Elisa had never said such a thing to her before. Did the brat infuriate her obedient granddaughter? Julia's expression turned nasty in an instant. "You brat. Did you do something to Liz again?" Gareth was dumbstruck. Elisa's lips curved slightly. She didn't look at Gareth but held Julia's hand and said softly, "Nothing happened, Grandma." "Nothing?" Julia's brows furrowed tightly. Liz had never spoken like that before. Something was clearly up! Gareth narrowed his eyes, and his gaze fell on Elisa. "Tell us. How could I bully you today?" "How could I bully you?" Not 'how did I bully you?' Julia's gaze changed slightly. A complicated expression was intertwined within. There was a different meaning. When Julia thought about it, she looked at Elisa, whose face had turned slightly red. Julia was baffled, while Elisa was dumbfounded. Elisa looked at Gareth coldly as if warning him. He wasn't in a hurry to talk about it either. But Julia grew curious and she looked at Elisa suspiciously. "Liz, what did he do to you?" Elisa was stumped. Gareth's lips twitched, and although there was ridicule in his eyes, Thomas would realize that his boss was in a great mood if he was around. Elisa took a breath in and held Julia's hand before saying in exasperation, "It's not that. I'm slightly annoyed that people in the company are talking about us

it. I want to hear what they're saying!" Elisa's eyes flashed, but she didn't say anything. She seemed to be slightly conflicted. Gareth sized Elisa up. There was something strange about her today. She had never cared about what other people thought of her. Otherwise... she wouldn't be so aloof after he had done so many things. But now, Julia was only concerned about defending Elisa. She didn't care about anything else and only looked at Elisa while holding her hand. "Girl, tell me! What happened?" Elisa hesitated for a while before saying softly, "Rumors say I have an ulterior motive for coming to Wickam Group. They think I want to remarry Gareth, but the Wickam family is out of my league. They even said that Gareth doesn't care about me and that he let me come to the company for your sake." Julia was immediately in a towering rage. She slammed the coffee table. 'Bang!' Elisa's expression changed, and she held Julia's hand at once. When she looked at Julia's palm, she realized it was slightly red. Before Elisa could say anything, Julia snarled, "What nonsense! How is he out of your league? It's my grandson who is out of your league! He's the one who doesn't appreciate you!" Gareth was flabbergasted. He clearly streaked across Elisa's eyes. At that moment, Gareth received a reply from Thomas.— Thomas: 'I don't know about this. I'll get someone to check right away.' Gareth put his cell phone down and didn't say anything. Elisa pursed her lips and continued, "They're saying I'm an incompetent and unreasonable empty vase. They're also saying that Wickam Group would be destroyed in my hands sooner or later and that I'm the evildoer in Wickam Group. Someone testified for me, but the rest sneered and said that if I were competent, I would do such and such. They also said that if Gareth wasn't doing it for your sake, Grandma, they would do so and so." "These people!" Elisa laughed bitterly. "Yes. I never thought that these people would be so bored. They even say that Gareth doesn't care about me at all. If he did, he would personally pick roses for me." Pick roses? Gareth's deep gaze suddenly fell on her. What on earth is Elisa doing? Julia was slightly astounded. "Pick roses?" Elisa sighed in exasperation. "Yes. I was impulsive, and I actually had a delusion that I could hold my head high if Gareth picked roses for me. Some people even said there are many roses in Wickam Manor's backyard. If Gareth had a heart for me, he would pick nine hundred and ninety-nine roses for my sake." Gareth's thin lips suddenly curved slightly into a sarcastic smile. He knew that such a thing had not happened. Elisa is doing it on purpose! She wasn't going to tell on him, and she wouldn't tell Grandma what had happened between them. Elisa had deliberately mentioned to him that she was coming to see Grandma. She knew he would be afraid of her talking nonsense, so he would tag along. He did exactly what she wanted. 呵。 Heh. Nine hundred and ninety-nine roses. Elisa is imaginative. "Nine hundred and ninety-nine roses?" Julia was confused, and her voice unconsciously rose a few octaves. From the looks of it, she seemed to be put in a slightly tricky position. Elisa shook her head in frustration. "This is why I didn't really want to say anything. I've unwittingly brought up negative feelings and projected my anger on him. Grandma, take this as a joke and forget it." "A joke?" Julia immediately smiled as if very expectant. "How can I take this as a joke? We have nine hundred and

a word Gareth said. Gareth was blown away. A trace of ridicule flickered across Elisa's eyes, but her heart felt warm because Grandma was always helping her. How could she not feel thankful? As for Gareth, he was in a foul mood. Before he could say anything, Elisa looked at Julia and spoke with a gentle smile. "I don't want to trouble him, Grandma. It's only natural that Gareth is unwilling to do these things, and I can't subject him to such injustice. Those at the company can discuss it as much as they want. At least I haven't lived in vain by being the topic of idle conversation. After all, some people don't even make it as the subject of worthless chatter." There was a sad smile on the corner of Elisa's lips. She looked exceptionally woeful with such an expression. Julia immediately held Elisa's hand and her attitude was more resolute than before. "This won't do! You have to go if I say so! You brat, are you going or not?" Julia looked at Gareth with slightly red eyes. He didn't know if it was because of her rage or her resolve. Gareth's expression changed slightly. When Grandma was like that, she wouldn't give up. If he didn't do it, Grandma would be ill from her rage. Gareth's sharp gaze was instantly directed at Elisa. Even if he didn't say a word, Elisa understood his expression. He must have been saying, 'are you happy that things have gotten this far?' Elisa replied with a smile, "There's no need. I won't force you to do anything you don't like." "Really?" Gareth suddenly smiled, but the iciness in his eyes was about to burst forth and flood the entire villa with
