

No Chance 74

Chapter 74 You Understand Nothing!

With that, Monica snorted out laughing. “They might even get married faster than Gareth!”

Thud!

With a dark expression on his face, Gareth placed his chopsticks on the table.

The rest of the table looked at him, perplexed.

Monica returned to her senses and said, “Son, it’s not worth getting angry over her. Now that you have Linda, you have to take into account her feelings as well. She is a great woman who is smart and generous – a perfect match to be your wife.”

Darren also nodded approvingly. “That’s right. We will have to work with the Benett family continuously from now onward. If you marry her, it would be perfect.”

Gareth’s frown had never eased all this while. “We’re in a critical juncture now, and I have a lawsuit to attend two days later. Let’s revisit this topic later.”

the remaining family were determined to make that stay together, or even if they take my feelings into account and decide to stay to get married immediately – it won’t make us look good as well. But a thin line. “Let’s talk about this later. You seeing their gazes, he explained morosely, “I have to get back stood up. “Gareth.

the room without even a have no idea what he is up to. Since he’s divorced, he should be ready to marry another to suppress her anger anymore. Throwing her cutlery on the table, she screeched, throwing today?” Darren’s face immediately for your arrogance

by her, seeing how she yelled at

Mom are getting older now. Let’s not