Chapter 822

Rachel was nervous, watching from the side. She went deathly pale when she saw Elisa's wound was still bleeding and had not healed. How could it be so severe?!

Her injury didn't improve the slightest after twenty-four hours!

Rachel felt so sorry for Elisa. Her energy and radiance disappeared in an instant!

Looking at the hideous wound, she couldn't help but grieve with Elisa! Her silky smooth skin had been mutilated!

It used to be perfect without blemishes and flaws, but now...?!

Initially, the doctor intended to distract her attention lest the pain gets unbearable. But seeing Elisa not bat an eye during the treatment, she was impressed by her endurance despite being so young. She then expedited and fixed Elisa's wound.

The doctor was precise and fast, and the fixture was a breeze for Elisa. Until she finished treating all her wounds, only the doctor stood up and reminded again, "It's best to stick to a light diet for the time being. Avoid water as the wound is deep. It will take a while to recover and avoid strenuous exercise."

"Okay," Elisa acknowledged with a nod.

She was already injured. Those lurking enemies were still after her. If she showed herself in public, chances were, they would attack her, which would tamper with the investigation. It would be better for him to do it alone.

Gareth said indifferently, "I dropped by the police station just now and gave them a sum of money."

Elisa's eyes flickered as she made sense of his words.

She nodded, "Right. It had to be done.

She knew Gareth's next course of action. The Phoenix Bridge was surrounded by scenic views and was indeed worthy of being developed. But once the development took place, everything would change as well.

The absence of jurisdiction had encumbered law and order in this place. Sooner or later, the federal government would find a way to subdue this place.

The most pivotal step to undertake was to make amendments and consolidate law and order in this place. Eventually, progressiveness would take place.

She watched Gareth's face turn upset. She spoke gently, "Many people wish to marry Mr. Wickam. Even Ms. Tabor would die to marry you. Moreover, old Mr. Wickam likes Ms. Tabor very much. Ms. Tabor would be willing to bear your child immediately if you agree to it. Why don't you find someone else?

Because even if we were to get back together, we would not have feelings for each other. We will live a boring life and be deceiving Grandma too. It would not be fair for her."

She had given up on their relationship. She couldn't deceive Grandma anymore. There had to be a bottom line for white lies.

Moreover, this didn't seem like a white lie to her. It was purely just deceit.

The air instantly turned colder!

But Elisa was too exhausted to notice it. She said, "I'm tired and I need to rest. Is there anything else?"

Gareth scoffed angrily. Was she chasing him away?

This woman was so enthusiastic in the past. Now, she was as passive as she could be. In the past, he was annoyed by her enthusiasm. Now, he hated her ignorance.

Gareth got up immediately and went out. But when he reached the door, he stopped. His face was icy cold as he said, "It wasn't a discussion. I have made a decision. Elisa Benett, you do not deserve to have a life."

Vincent's face darkened. He tried hard to suppress the rising anger in him. "I will tear this door down if you don't come out! Don't you even dream of sleeping well tonight!"

Rachel, "Goodness gracious!"

Is he crazy?

But Rachel did not dare to challenge him further.

Rachel did not feel safe staying under the same roof with him initially. Now, she was afraid that this man would really tear her door down. After all, he had the right and the money to do so!

Gareth glanced in the direction of Elisa's bed. However!

The blankets were folded up neatly. There was no one on the bed. He glanced at the bathroom to find it empty too!

His face darkened immediately. He took out his phone to call Elisa. However, the call could not be connected.

Gareth's face turned darker instantly. He immediately headed towards Vincent's room.

He knocked on the door furiously after pressing the doorbell. Vincent shouted impatiently from inside. "Hey! Who is at the door? Can't you wait?"

He had never expected Gareth to do something like that. Just as he was about to scold the person at the door after he opened it, he went dumbfounded.

It was Gareth at the door. His face was sullen.

Vincent was shocked. "Hey! What's wrong? Are you crazy? Do you have to knock on the door like this?"

Rachel sounded slightly upset. She did not like it when people looked at her phone. Moreover, this was a text from Elisa to her.

Luckily, Elisa did not mention Gareth. If she did, I might be blamed too.

Rachel reached out and snatched her phone back. Gareth walked out quietly with a sullen face.

Vincent chased up to him and asked, "Where are you going?"

Rachel frowned. She had a bad premonition about this. Gareth had left with a sullen face. He looked outraged. Would he look for Elisa and make her pay for this?

Rachel immediately felt worried for Elisa.

"Is he going after Elisa? Don't he need to stay back for work? I can look for her!"

Rachel was about to answer when she suddenly realized something. She glanced at the man suspiciously and said, "I don't think I should tell you where she is. You will tell Gareth then. Elisa does not want Gareth to know where she is."

Vincent snorted coldly.

Rachel frowned unhappily.

"What's with the snort?"

"Am I dumb, or are you stupid? Do you think Gareth wouldn't know where Elisa is if you didn't tell him? Don't you think that you're a joke?"

Rachel, "Drat!"

You rascal! I knew that nothing good would come out of your mouth!

The next moment, Rachel gritted her teeth and sneered, "Then he should find out himself. He will surely find out more than what I know."

Vincent snorted coldly, then kept quiet. He had nothing to do with Elisa anyway. He did not care if she was alive or not.

Elisa frowned. She closed the door and glared at him coldly. "What is wrong with you?"

If this had happened in the past, Gareth would have just left angrily!

But he did not leave this time.

The air in the house went cold and stale as soon as he entered. Even the indoor plants seemed to wilt in his presence.

Elisa frowned harder. "Gareth Wickam, this isn't like you at all. You wouldn't stay at someone's place and refuse to leave."

"Do you think I'd be doing this if it wasn't for Grandma?"

Elisa snorted coldly. This man was unbelievable. But she believed in what he said. After all, this man would have never cared a bit for her if it wasn't for Grandma.

The next second, Elisa smiled and answered, "I will tell Grandma I'm fine if you are worried about Grandma."

The next moment!

The air in the room became staler!

Even Vincent and Rachel, standing outside the door, could feel the chill.

Although it was a bright and fine day, this man had made it a little eerie.

The two exchanged glances without saying a word.
