

No Chance 85

Chapter 85 We'll See in Court

Early in the morning.

When Elisa walked out of her house, a blue Lamborghini was waiting for her. She watched as the driver's door opened and Will stepped out of the car.

His royal blue suit was striking against his fair skin. He looked like a warm person, unlike his cold personality.

"Good morning."

Will opened the passenger seat's door and looked at Elisa in surprise. She had always managed to surprise him.

She was dressed simply in a black suit. Her long hair was tied up in a bun. She looked neat.

When they met in the law firm, Elisa would always wear formal wear, like she did today. But she looked different than usual.

Will's eyes kept straying back to her.

"Good morning." Elisa answered as she entered the car without hesitation. They were headed to the same place after all.

Will handed her a paper bag. "Have you eaten?"

routine, so I've eaten

the food down

then. Let's head to

as Will drove. Unused

"Are you nervous?"

think?" She raised naturally she wouldn't be nervous. But I think you are Elisa person, yet they seemed to be different when he pointed it

man in her apathetic towards others. The law was the only

Iris, Iris is Elisa. They are both

that you say together. Emotions flitted through her face when she breath

on the way, making the ride less destination, Will engine and turned towards

“Let’s head in now.”