Chapter 851

As Sheena spoke, her tears flowed.

Rachel's expression changed. "All! Don't cry, babe, don't cry! Men aren't worth it! Carle is our friend, but he's only a friend. If he was your boyfriend, something frightening might happen!"

Elisa and Sheena were dumbstruck.

"It's alright. I'll make peace with it alone. It might be even more painful for me if you're like this." Sheena couldn't help but add.

Rachel was dumbfounded.

"Ah, I'm going to shower," Sheena said as she stood up.

The two of them were planning to stay at Rachel's house tonight.

After all, they had to take care of Elisa.

The doorbell suddenly rang and distracted the three.

Rachel was suddenly suspicious. "Don't tell me that Gareth is here!" Sheena was astonished. "Huh? Will he come? Didn't he previously say that he wouldn't disturb Liz as long as we're around?"

Rachel and Sheena had perplexed expressions, and they looked at Elisa subconsciously.

Elisa got up. "I'll take a look."

"Don't! You're an injured patient! Why can't you be more conscientious!" Rachel would have pushed her back onto the couch in her rage if not for Elisa's injury.

Elisa smiled and scratched the tip of her nose without saying anything.

Rachel walked to the door. "I'll take a look, and if it's Gareth, I'll make him leave."

She made her way to the door. When she saw that it was Will, she was astonished. She turned to look at Elisa. "It's Will."

Rachel's interest was piqued.

Mr. Darcey had high EQ.

It could be said that Rachel and Sheena didn't lack anything. They wouldn't be moved by moneyjewelry, or branded bags. Furthermore, they wouldn't feel like Will was making it up to them if he gave them those things. He would be patronizing them instead.

So, what else could Will do?

Sheena was excited when she thought about it.

Will smiled. "From what I remember, it's almost Liz's birthday."

Sheena was flabbergasted.

And Rachel immediately rolled her eyes. "You want to make it up to us by asking us to prepare Liz's birthday gifts?"

What kind of compensation is that?

Will smiled at once. "Of course not."

Elisa pursed her lips and didn't say anything.

Will smiled. "That's good."

Silence resumed, and everything looked normal.

But...

There was something strange about the air in the house because of Will's sudden appearance.

However, Will didn't notice anything weird. He started speaking, and Rachel and Sheena were very interested. They began replying and subconsciously chattered away with Will.

Elisa pursed her lips, occasionally listening to what they were saying.

It had to be said that Will brought up interesting conversation topics. He was a good conversationalist. It captivated his listeners even when he talked about something as dull as finance.

Elisa's injury continued healing for the next ten days, and she chose to stop working from home. She went to the office instead.

While she was working from home, Gareth hadn't revealed that she had been injured. Thomas just said that Mr. Wickam had sent her to do other things.

No one would be suspicious if Thomas said Mr. Wickam sent her to do things. If he said that it was what Elisa wanted to do, everyone would talk about Elisa and demonize her.

In the ten days, Gareth didn't go and see Elisa. When he knew that Elisa was coming back to the office, his brows immediately wrinkled tightly, and he walked to Elisa's office.

He didn't knock and opened the door.

He saw Elisa, who was working, and his frown deepened. "Who asked you to come to the office?"

Elisa was slightly surprised. She raised her eyes and saw that Gareth had shut the door. He walked into the office while looking darkly at her.

She was startled that Gareth would come over, but she said softly, "My wound is almost healed."

Before the woman could express her rage, she suddenly stopped.

Other employees behind the woman were flabbergasted.

What... on earth... are they seeing?

They saw Elisa sitting on her side at her desk. Gareth's hand was on her smooth back, and her zip was pulled down. It revealed a bright, spotless, and beautiful back that was fair and perfect.

When Elisa suddenly heard the noise, she immediately turned away from everyone. She faced them, but because her outfit was loose, she couldn't help but hold on to it from the front so it wouldn't fall.

Elisa's expression was nasty, while Gareth's face was extremely cloudy. So many people had seen Elisa's back. He was furious

He quickly removed Elisa's gauze and noticed that her wound was as she said it was. New flesh was growing, and it was scabbing. He put the gauze back and zipped her up.

Elisa didn't say anything and restrained her emotions. Those people that had appeared out of a sudden made her uncontrollably irritable.

She took a breath and said coldly, "Right now, I suspect you're not tough enough. The proposal that your subordinates came up with isn't even worthy of being trash. They're unhappy just because I criticized them, and they're always trying to argue with me. There's no use even if I mention you. Now that they saw the both of us like that, they won't be able to control themselves, and they'll say that I slept my way to the top."

Gareth's expression darkened. He didn't know why but his mood seemed to have improved a little when he heard what she said at the end.

He said icily, "I will deal with this."

Elisa glanced at him coldly. She didn't want to speak nonsense with him, so she sat in her seat and continued working. She treated Gareth like air.

The office quietened in an instant.

Elisa smiled. "I'm eating, Grandma."

Julia looked at her with a distressed expression and said slightly exasperatedly, "You have to eat properly. Don't skip meals to maintain your figure. You've lost weight recently! You have to eat more and gain weight!"

Elisa immediately smiled and nodded. "Alright. I'll eat more."

Actually...

Elisa wasn't skinny. She had a classic figure.

But from Grandma's point of view, Elisa was so skinny that it distressed her.

Furthermore, if she persuaded Grandma to let her go with Old Mr. Wickam to his study room, Grandma would still protect her. Grandma might even get into an argument with Grandpa. If Elisa went up against Grandpa, it wouldn't affect the relationship between Grandpa and Grandma when Grandpa took his anger out on Elisa.

Gareth's mood seemed to have lifted. Elisa's sharp tongue had always been directed at him in the past. He felt that there was finally someone to share his burden with now that Elisa had gone up against Grandpa.

Old Mr. Wickam gritted his teeth, but at the next moment, his gaze fell on Gareth. It was subtly displeased, as though he was saying to Gareth, 'Is this the woman you picked? The woman you have to protect?'

Gareth looked back at Old Mr. Wickam, and his gaze seemed to say, 'Isn't this the woman you took a fancy to?'

Old Mr. Wickam was speechless.

In an instant, he turned away and didn't want to utter a word.

Back then, Elisa was Nelson's daughter and the earnest, wealthy young daughter of Benett Corporation. Wickam Group had to work with Benett Corporation, so that marriage of convenience was unavoidable.

If he had known that Nelson would die so soon, he would never have let Elisa join the Wickam family.

Elisa and Gareth glanced at Julia at the same time. Elisa asked, "What happened?"

Elisa held Julia's wrist and inadvertently placed her fingers on Julia's pulse.

Julia patted the back of Elisa's hand, and her rage dissipated. She looked at Elisa lovingly. "I'm fine. You don't have to worry."

In the end, Elisa nodded, and her grip loosened, but she didn't let go of Julia's hand. She smiled and said, "Alright. That's good."

Gareth looked at Julia. "Why is your heart feeling uncomfortable? Are you not sleeping well?"

Julia glanced crossly at Darren at the side, who had already cooled down. She said in an annoyed manner, "It's because your Grandpa infuriates me!"

Darren felt wronged at once, but he stared blankly and didn't dare to retort.

At that moment, he was utterly different from his forceful self.

Elisa was slightly amused but didn't say anything. Otherwise, Old Mr. Wickam would lose his temper.

“Mr. Wickam, something happened!” Thomas’ voice was completely different from his usual calmness.

Elisa’s brows twitched slightly. She held her breath subconsciously and paid rapt attention.

“What happened?” Gareth’s magnetic voice was steady.

It was as though Thomas calmed down slightly, but he couldn’t restrain his panic. He immediately said, “Our company’s confidential information has been breached!”

Gareth’s expression instantly turned ice-cold. He said at once, “Investigate. Get people to switch to the second program right away.”

“They’re doing it now, but I think the hacker has completely breached the first program.”

Gareth’s expression was icy, and he didn’t say anything.
