

No Chance 901

Chapter 901 Because You're Not Fit to Be Human!

Gareth's malicious gaze was directed at her. He said coldly, "Elisa Benett, can you think before you speak?"

He was furious.

Elisa furrowed her brows and looked at him, perplexed. "Am I wrong? Let go!"

Gareth didn't let her go, but he didn't exert too much force. From how he saw it, the slight pain could make her sober so she would know what nonsense she spouted!

Vincent had been chattering non-stop, but he wanted to drive silently now.

Only the two of them were in the backseat.

Gareth wanted to open the woman's chest to see if she still had a heart!

Why is she always so ruthless!

Gareth laughed in his rage. He ground his teeth and said, "Don't you know what's wrong? You're way off base!"

"Who is way off base here?!"

He kept interfering in her life now. It didn't matter how many times she told him. He disturbed her life in different ways. Does he really hate me? I've already let him go. Why does he keep pestering me?

Gareth sneered coldly. "Elisa, if you've become more patient, you shouldn't say such stupid things!"

She told him to manage his personal life well. When did he and Nicole have any type of relationship?

When did he interact with Nicole other than through necessary partnerships between the Wickam and Tabor families?

Even if he did, he had never interacted with her in private alone!

But why did Elisa keep pushing this onto him!

He had always kept his hands clean. There was only one time that the d*mn woman had plotted against him. Otherwise, he would never have touched her!

Elisa couldn't push him off. He still held on to her lower jaw, and she grew restless. "That's your affairs, and it has nothing to do with me. I'm just asking you to please stop disturbing me! Don't be too entangled with me, either. I already have messes of my own. I don't want to deal with the consequences of your love affair on the outside!"

"Elisa! Benett!" Gareth's cold eyes were intertwined with endless rage! It was a conflicting presence, but there was a fiery coldness within him.

Vincent saw that the two were close to quarreling, so he immediately said, "What the heck! Both of you! This isn't a big matter, alright?! Why are you arguing?!"

But the two entirely ignored Vincent's presence. Instead, they looked coldly at each other.

It seemed like Gareth would crush her lower jaw any second.

*Vincent was dumbfounded!

What the heck! Has this stupid man gone mad?! How can he say such things?!

He already likes Elisa, but he's still stubborn and saying such nasty things!

How can he do that!

Elisa's expression seemed to have paled. She never imagined Gareth would say such things. The next moment, she couldn't help but laugh. "Yes. I'm not fit to be human. I know that, so I've kept my distance from you."

Right now, she didn't want to say too much to Gareth. She felt indescribably irritated with the man.

After what Gareth said, his complexion changed. It was as though he had spoken without thinking.

At this moment, when he saw Elisa's expression, his thin lips pursed tightly. He turned away and didn't say a word.

Vincent was still driving but couldn't stand the awkward air any longer.

over for Gareth. "D*mn it! Why are the two of you arguing? How big of a deal is it? Gareth, you're a man. You never watch your words and don't mean what you say. I think dumbfounded!

this stupid man gone mad?!

his brows tightly and immediately looked at Vincent coldly.

didn't look in the rearview mirror. He had expected such a reaction from Gareth, so he didn't give Gareth a chance to as though nothing had happened, and she the next couple of minutes. He kept speaking to break the ice, but Gareth and Elisa didn't answer him at all. He gave up and stopped talking.

out of the car after he gave Elisa the car keys.

didn't want to stay in the car any longer!

air outside was great!

after Gareth got out of

on the spot and looked coldly his brows tightly and looked at Gareth. "Everyone says Mr. Wickam is swift, decisive, and does rage. Astonishment was entangled in his eyes. "You didn't think about

"No."

"No."

in his rage. Astonishment was entangled in I should let that idiot be!

I give up! Vincent had given up on advising Gareth!

Nicole arrived.

Her brows furrowed slightly when she saw Vincent cursing.

Did something unpleasant happen just now?

She didn't say anything and greeted Vincent. Vincent turned and saw that she had arrived in a short time. He smiled at her but said nothing as he walked to the office.

Nicole restrained her complicated thoughts and walked to Gareth's office. Everything looked normal.

There was a new wave of discussions because of Nicole's appearance.

Group were always connected, and the two heads were well-matched. They were of appropriate ages and were a didn't know if he cared for Elisa. But if he didn't, then why did dared to discuss it. It was as though everyone had telepathy. No had given up on advising Gareth!

Now...

...

work today

of love for his wife, Norman went home

But...

sake of it. She couldn't help but say miserably, "Even if we don't make a big said in frustration, "Times are bad. We can only restrain ourselves. Furthermore, it's just a birthday and not she does clearly goes smoothly and easily. But when it comes to Elisa, she seems be limited. Elisa must have affected her somehow. It would

...

Chapter 904 There's Someone Else in the Backseat?

"If you're available, take some time to ask her carefully about her full plan. Otherwise, it would be disadvantageous if we only carry out her plans when she tells us about them."

"I want to, and I've asked about it, but the person told me not to ask too much. She said we shouldn't know what we don't need to know because it will end badly if we know too much!" Linda was slightly sulky. Elisa hadn't been eliminated, and the mastermind had such a big temper. Linda felt very annoyed.

"Never mind. Let's take it one step at a time. But we can't sit around and wait for instructions either. We need to have our own plans," Rose said after pondering for a moment.

Linda's lips twitched. She didn't want to say anything. It was Rose's birthday, and some things shouldn't be said.

...

Three days passed.

At the moment, it was almost time to get off work in the afternoon.

Elisa's cell phone suddenly rang. She answered the call when she saw that it was from Charli.

free after

Charli?"

Charli wouldn't look for her for no reason. Charli wouldn't want to can

and immediately answered, "Alright. What time?"

meet you at the entrance of Wickam Group. We're on ended, Elisa immediately walked out once it was time to leave work.

"Okay."

and Thomas had walked out. When Gareth saw Elisa's figure, his gaze followed her unconsciously. Soon, he saw her get Thomas said softly, "That should his lips. After a moment's pause, he said indifferently, "Is there someone else in dumbstruck.

Wickam has excellent eyesight. He can saw the person too. It seemed to be... a man?

softly, "Perhaps someone needs Ms. Benett's help with a lawsuit recently?"

Thomas immediately

Chapter 905 How Could She Not Get Angry?!

This doctor had always been a sweet-talker. Before he knew Norman, he was an ordinary doctor. But he had risen rapidly and became third-in-command at the hospital. It was a great blessing to him.

Of course, he would remember a person like that.

Elisa said softly, "When he asked for these medications, what else did he ask you?"

The doctor wrinkled his brows, seemingly unhappy. "This is Mr. Benett's privacy. I'm not at liberty to tell you."

The hospital he was now working at was under Norman.

He naturally had to obey his boss' decisions and protect his boss' interests. He didn't know about some issues but wouldn't talk about them even if he did.

Elisa nodded indifferently. "Mm. You can choose not to tell me."

The doctor's eyes flashed, and he felt slightly frantic. But at the next moment, he calmed down. So what if she knows that something is fishy?

the medications and their dosage.

without definite evidence?

if you're still asking about this. If there's nothing he was an ordinary doctor. But he had risen rapidly and became third-in-command at the hospital. It was a great blessing demeanor was more forceful than it had been. He had nothing to worry about when the third-in-command, but your qualifications are mediocre. If you don't brush up on your pharmacology, you'll be eliminated sooner or you mean by that? Are he couldn't seem weak. He said in a low voice, "You're a lawyer, Ms. Benett. You know was going to you hit rock bottom for the rest of mean by that?!"

was dark, but he quite control his expression!

was trembling slightly out of rage, but she restrained herself.

asked Elisa out, Elisa hadn't thought much of it. She hadn't listened when Charli explained to her as she looked at the Chapter 906 Tear to Pieces!

The next moment, he immediately said in a low voice, "The medications on this list were used to improve Mr. Nelson's health back then. These are common medications. On what grounds can you say that I killed someone? Don't think you can slander others because you work in law. I can take you to court! I believe the law is just and won't revolve around you because you're Iris!"

Dr. Wright's voice was rage-filled, but he was forcefully hiding his guilty conscience.

Elisa was so enraged that her hands were trembling. She couldn't tear the primary offender to pieces even though he was right before her!

Elisa restrained her emotions and didn't say anything. Charli was afraid Elisa would be too emotional, so she looked at Dr. Wright and said in a low voice, "Since I've traced it back to you, are you really innocent, Dr. Wright? You may be able to enjoy your later years if you talk to us on your own accord, but if you continue to...!"

The man was in his fifties. He was a doctor, knew how to take care of himself, and hadn't been in much trouble for the past few years, so he looked like he was in his forties.

Charli didn't go on. It seemed like she was giving him a chance to consider, but how could Dr. Wright admit to anything? He said quietly, "Let me advise you to find out what's happening. I'm not sure what anyone's death has to do with me. Who is the person you're talking about?"

and her voice was

he dared

soft voice. "What do you think, only asked as such. She didn't such a question made Dr. Wright's heart tremble uncontrollably.

she continued, "I know you won't admit to anything, no matter what. But you have to know, it's enough to prove that I have all the evidence since I traced it to you. It's just a matter of time now. If you admit it, it'll save everyone trouble, and I can make your sentence lighter. But I will ensure you get put to death if you don't say

Even Charli could feel that Elisa was livid and was about father had always been her Achilles' heel. She of the conflict with Gareth, Liz had held it in until now. Charli felt Charli sighed.

His pause spoke volumes.

Of course, what it revealed didn't matter to Elisa because Charli had told her about what had happened. No matter how Dr. Wright tried to hide it, it was useless.

At that moment, Dr. Wright was afraid and anxious. He wasn't in a rush to leave the car any longer. He turned and looked at Elisa. "What on earth do you mean? Do you think I killed someone just from this medication list? I've practiced medicine for many years, always seen my patients, and saved people. I've never harmed anyone! But here you are, with a list from somewhere, and you're trying to pin this on me? Furthermore, what's wrong with this list?"

He hadn't given Elisa the list.

Elisa sneered. "Didn't you just admit that you gave him these medications?"

Dr. Wright wrinkled his brows tightly and said icily, "I gave him a list, but it's been some time. I can't remember the specifics. What are you trying to pin on me?"

Although he had a guilty conscience, he had been alive for decades and had more life experience than Elisa. He could still hold his ground.

Elisa nodded. "Alright. Since you don't want to admit anything, you can leave."

Wright was startled. What does she mean?

the bottom of it

me go?

the enemy by looking for proof to catch Mr. Benett.

recorders at all times. Did Elisa find loopholes in what I said? Are one or two sentences from me enough?

Wright's expression

exploit a hide. Don't use a list sneered. This time, she didn't look Dr. Wright in the eye as was for, but he didn't know how. It was mainly because it was hard to figure

Dr. Wright? Why haven't you gotten out of the

to do with me? I have so many things accuse a good person of doing something they never did."

Chapter 908 Why Is It This Wench Again?

In the car, Charli turned to look at Elisa. "Liz, what do you plan on doing next?"

Elisa stared at the figure of Dr. Wright, who was leaving in a hurry. She said thoughtfully, "Since there are traces, I must continue investigating. Charli, I will deal with what's next by myself."

Charli immediately disagreed. "But how are you going to handle it all by yourself?"

Elisa smiled. "It's just my father's side. You can let it go temporarily, Charli. But I still need your help for my mother's side."

Charli nodded. "Alright. If you need me to do anything for your father's side, let me know any time."

Elisa nodded, and Charli said nothing else as she started the engine.

There was a different scene on another end.

Once Dr. Wright returned home, he called Norman in a panic.

Norman was still eating. He frowned when he saw that Dr. Wright was calling him.

is Douglas Wright calling me?"

looked at Norman in confusion. "Douglas Wright? Who is to have answered the call. Before he happened, Mr. Benett!"

have dared to disturb Norman if nothing had happened.

something happen at the hospital?"

he said it. The hospital director would naturally have called him expression darkened. "What are you saying?"

Benett. Elisa came looking for me today!"

say, "It's Elisa. She came with a list today. It was the medication I gave you back Come to my house now and tell me."

continue, so he expression turned nasty. "What did Elisa find she might be listening in on our phone calls at any moment. I don't have the brows furrowed tightly. She didn't gritted her teeth. "Why is it this wench

can

Chapter 909 Doomed

Douglas took a breath and immediately told them what had happened. Norman and his family had dirty expressions.

At the next moment, Linda said, "Elisa is sharp, and she's the best at looking for loopholes. Are you sure there was nothing wrong with what you said?"

Douglas' expression changed. "I..."

Norman and his family immediately set their gaze on Douglas.

Norman said in a low voice, "Did you say something?"

"No!" Douglas retorted at once in fright, but he realized his voice was slightly loud. He immediately explained, "I don't think I did. I kept saying that I didn't know anything and that the items on the list were for health purposes. And their interpretation of the list isn't final. After a long time, no one would remember it."

Rose furrowed her brows. "That's right. If you remember, you would seem too calculated, making people investigate further."

Elisa has placed the suspicion firmly on us. She must have some evidence

I can't be sure. It seems like she hasn't found much, only a weak connection to me. It's he suddenly thought of would make him the scapegoat. If that time

felt a chill

She must have found some substantial evidence. And by looking for you today, she might have also discovered something from your words." Rose analyzed we did back then was secret! How could after she forehead was covered in sweat. He raised his hand subconsciously to wipe it.

different things than

Norman would make him

Elisa rashly either. Otherwise, she would Elisa wanted to investigate, there would be no traces. Moreover, only we knew about Nelson's allergies. He feared

why they had dared to put Norman's

Chapter 910

"Douglas."

Douglas' figure shivered instantly. He turned and looked at Norman. "Mr. Benett..."

He panicked!

Norman said softly, "Go to work as usual during this time but don't go anywhere unnecessarily. Don't interact with Elisa either. Don't answer or reply if she calls or sends you messages. Don't give her any opportunity to exploit you."

Douglas let out a breath and nodded at one. "Alright. I understand."

The night darkened.

Gareth was at home alone as he worked. He had copious amounts of work every day.

He suddenly received a text message, and he opened it.

Thomas: 'Mr. Wickam, I learned that the person is a doctor in a Benett Corporation hospital. His name is Douglas Wright, and he's the third-in-command at the hospital. Norman singlehandedly selected him for a promotion, and the two used to be in contact.'

his

many

touch after Ms. Benett's father passed away.'

eyes froze

always been investigating her father's matter.

was suddenly

Thomas: 'Alright.'

phone, and his brows were tightly wrinkled. He Corporation and find her father's actual cause of death.

many things,

in Gareth's eyes grew, and his thin lips were

...

Tabor Residence, Nicole had just returned home and saw her grandfather sitting on the Nicole and smiled as he nodded.

grandfather wanted, but she nodded sighed lightly.

why Grandpa would suddenly say such things. She didn't answer