No Chance Of Remarriage: Get Lost Chapter 931

D*mn It, Woman!

Elisa was shocked and looked at him with confusion.

She could not understand why Gareth spoke in such a tone.

His tone almost made her think that he was apologetic.

Elisa looked at him but remained silent.

Gareth held her hand and said coldly, "What is your purpose for coming here this time?"

Elisa was rendered speechless.

I was mistaken. His tone is as harsh as usual. Why did I think that he was apologetic?

Elisa snorted coldly and replied, "What's the purpose of informing you? Mr. Wickam, when you make any major plans, don't you also hide it from outsiders?"

Elisa pursed her lips. "Mr. Wickam, your behavior makes me think you're unwilling to let me go. Have you completely fallen for me? Such behavior is unseemly."

Gareth's expression turned intimidatingly cold. He glared at Elisa and said, "Cancel your collaboration with Will and work with me. I will not treat you like how I did before."

"Sorry, I began collaborating with Will first, but you snatched it. Therefore, I owe it to Will to work on this for a year, so I..."

Elisa paused and decided not to reveal any more of the matter.

She had no desire to work with Gareth ever again.

Furthermore, telling him the matter would trigger him. It would only mean unnecessary trouble.

Elisa struggled hard against his grip.

Gareth clenched his teeth and finally released her wrist. "Scram! Get out of my sight and never step foot here again! Don't ever think of asking for my help in the future!"

Elisa pursed her lips. "Don't worry. I won't bother you ever again."

Rachel opened the door and could not resist smiling when she saw Elisa. "You're not here because of me, right? I came here to get a free dinner from Uncle James."

Before Elisa could say anything, James broke out in laughter behind Rachel. "Hahaha. Step aside, kiddo. Let Liz in."

Rachel stepped aside with a smile, allowing Elisa to come in and close the door.

"Uncles James, I'm sorry for disturbing you at this hour."

"There's no need to be so formal with me. You can find me anytime. My door is always open for you."

James valued Elisa's talent and work ethic.

He knew she came here because of something important. Otherwise, she would not make a trip here this late at night.

Elisa smiled. "The thing is, I'm planning to collaborate with Darcey Group, so I need your help. We will be having a meeting tomorrow."

James was curious. "A meeting? Let's talk about it in the study."

Once they entered Elisa's place, Rachel could no longer hold back her questions. "Liz, are you confident about it this time? Why do I sense that you're about to get rid of them once and for all?"

"It's not to that extent yet. Don't worry about me."

Rachel seemed to disagree. In the end, she did not pursue the matter but sighed. "I guess I can relax a little since Uncle James is helping you. Still, you have to be careful. Those people are cruel and insane. They even arranged to kill you in a car accident. I'm apprehensive. I fear..."

After all, there had been many attempts to harm Elisa. It's too dangerous.

Elisa nodded. "Don't worry."

She did not elaborate further on the matter. Afterward, they chatted for a while before parting to bathe and rest.

The person was not the only one confused. A few others looked at James curiously. They knew he would not bring up Rene for no reason.

Since he mentioned her, it either meant he had secured a collaboration with her or was planning to. James was a trustworthy man. He would not use flowery language to mislead others about a false matter. Moreover, he would also not bring up something impossible to carry out.

Everyone in the meeting room was business people, so naturally, profit was their top priority. Upon listening to his words, a few began anticipating the matter but did not dare to have too much hope. After all, they knew how elusive Rene was. Many people had sought to collaborate with her but failed. Everyone in the meeting had heard that Wickam Group and Darcey Group also desired to collaborate with her.

However, there was no news of negotiation or release of any collaborative products from them. Since Benett Corporation was considerably less influential than those two companies, they knew they had little chance. Someone sighed and said helplessly, "A person like her is out of our reach. Mr. Markee, why do you suddenly bring her up?"

Someone could not resist asking, “Does Ms. Elisa have something to do with this?”

Otherwise, why is she in this meeting? Jessie also noticed this and immediately looked at Elisa. Linda, seated beside Elisa, looked at her with jealousy and fury and was on the verge of losing her temper. Why? Why is Elisa involved in this?

His doubt prompted another to voice the same. A thin, flat-chested woman adjusted her glasses and reprimanded, “Ms. Elisa, this is important. We can’t condone any deception and secrecy about this.

What the heck is he up to? Everyone forgot what they wanted to say and looked at James. On the other hand, Norman smiled and asked, “Mr. Markee, what do you mean?”

James chuckled and said, “You have lived in Benett Residence all these years. Thus, you lived with the late chairman and watched Elisa grow up. Yet, why are you unaware of such an important matter?”

Linda was shocked. Something’s not right! What point is James making here? Why do I feel something bad is about to happen? Norman felt the same as Linda. He looked at James and appeared confused.

“Since I’ve brought up this matter today, I won’t lie or get involved in some gimmick. We are part of a corporation and have agreed to work together for mutual benefit. Thus, we shouldn’t be disputing among ourselves. It’s an honor to be able to collaborate with Rene.

Moreover, we should be glad that Elisa is Rene. We have such a talented individual in our midst.” Although James did not raise his tone, his words were veiled with a reprimand to others to stop doubting Elisa and accuse her of ulterior motives.

Furthermore, his words indicated that they should cease all baseless thoughts and accept the truth. However, the truth that Elisa was Rene was still hard for everyone to stomach. Many people were still in a state of disbelief. How could Elisa be Rene? How could a young lady possess so many talents? Is she even human? The crowd looked at Elisa strangely, as if they were looking at a monster.

However, Elisa was not bothered by their gazes. People expected her to use this identity to work with other companies. However, she had to deal with many other important things today. What happened now was only the beginning. Once this was done, she would begin another part of her plan. Everyone was preoccupied with their thoughts and did not speak. James gradually turned to Norman and smiled.

Although James’s words were pertinent, they caused Norman’s expression to darken considerably.

“Are you accusing me of mismanaging the company?” Norman’s position as the chairman put him above everyone in the meeting room, allowing him to speak freely. Everyone had a troubled expression, but James smiled at Norman.

“What I said is the truth. Our company is unable to turn around from decline on its own. This will reduce the sale of Elisa’s designs and damage her reputation.” Norman frowned and glanced at someone on his side.

The man sneered and argued, “It’s wrong for you to say that. Since Elisa is one of us, she must serve this company. Then, we will be able to turn around our situation. Moreover, we haven’t started marketing the products yet, so no one knows how the sales will be. If the product doesn’t sell well, how do we know it’s the company’s problem or Rene’s incompetence?”
