

No Chance 941

Chapter 941 Incredibly Bright

Norman smiled forcefully. "I never expected Liz to have so many achievements. As your uncle, I'm happy for you. That goes without saying."

His words implied that he agreed to the collaboration. Therefore, those supporting him followed suit. The collaboration passed with a complete consensus of everyone in the meeting.

Elisa found the result ironic.

James laughed and said, "I agree. I'm happy for Liz."

Elisa was indeed her father's daughter and had even exceeded him. James believed the late chairman would be proud to have such a wonderful daughter.

Then, he chuckled and continued, "Since we have a full consensus, let's discuss the issues we mentioned before. Liz, what do you think? Whom would you like to collaborate with?"

their gaze on Elisa.

better

was brilliant and were aware of her secrets as Iris and Black-Eyed Susan, the matter did not directly affect their interest, so they things were different this she was Rene Caovilla, a renowned jewelry and began to look at her

Then, we will lose even more supporters. Furthermore, it's too late to stop this collaboration. It will proceed as driving me crazy!

Damn it!

agree with this plan. Getting half of the profit from Darcey Group is much more than we can earn if agree to share so much profit with

Chapter 942 He Is Also a Liar

Linda never expected things to turn out this way. She knew everyone was secretly mocking her in their hearts!

She and Elisa were cousins, yet they could not be more different.

Although they grew up together and received the same education, Elisa turned out to be a genius, but Linda was unremarkable.

Linda was nearly driven mad with fury.

Norman took a deep breath to rein in his anger and force himself to smile. "Liz, you are brilliant, and I'm proud of you. However, don't you think you have hidden too much from us? None of us knew anything. I even had to hear all of your achievements from outsiders."

he said those words jokingly, they implied that Elisa did not regard Norman and Linda as family. In other words, what she did seemed inconsiderate.

want to tell anyone to Black-Eyed Susan, or Rene Caovilla, they are all awe-inducing identities. If you had exposed yourself, someone might have decided of her and, subsequently, would've accidentally revealed her words made Elisa the target of criticism. However, James' words not only cleared Elisa of blame but struck back at Norman, to silence Norman.

been decided then. Now, we only have to wait for Elisa to Gareth in sounded ashamed. "This is the second time Liz brought us immense profit. Previously, she had completed the collaboration with Wickam Group perfectly and didn't require us to do anything. Likewise, we don't have to do anything in this collaboration with Darcey Group wanted

the verge of

Chapter 943 Elisa, Please Don't Back Down!

Elisa shook her head. "We are all in the same company, so I can't only think about my interest and not find ways to improve the company's standing. I apologize for being direct but judging from the present situation, Bennett Corporation is in a state of decline. I fear the company will slowly die if we don't bring in new projects to remedy the situation."

Elisa's words were the truth, and everyone was aware of this. It was hard not to be mindful of this when the company's income had dropped significantly.

However...

No one dared to offend the chairman, so their only choice was to find a way to reverse this. Unfortunately, no one could bring up the matter because of how the chairman was.

If Elisa began this jewelry project and marketed it with her reputation as Rene, it would be easy for the company to grow to another level.

Therefore, everyone suddenly became filled with anticipation. They looked forward to seeing Elisa surprise them with her abilities.

Norman's face turned sullen. How dare she say the company is in decline? She is humiliating me before everyone! How am I to face them now?

and desperately wanted to snap back how to lead a company. You have no idea how competitive businesses are nowadays. Previously, lips and smiled tauntingly. "Is that so?"

What other reasons are there? This b*tch now dares to get calmly, "If it were merely competition from companies in the same field, it would still be understandable. However..."

this point, she suddenly turned to Linda before expressing, "What if it was due to selfish desires? If you hadn't threatened to refuse collaboration with Wickam Group over the wedding, why would the collaboration profits drop so significantly?"

was because Wickam Group wished to withdraw. They must have engaged dropped so drastically. The Wickam clenched tightly.

room was one expected her to bring not threatened Wickam Group with the collaboration, the company's profit, or at least this year's profit, from the cooperation with Wickam Group would not have plummeted.

Chapter 944 What Makes You Think I Lack Money?

Jessie and James looked at Elisa with admiration and felt somewhat emotional. It was because Elisa's demeanor reminded them of the late chairman. Moreover, she seemed even more impressive than he was back then.

They looked forward to Elisa leading the company.

Furthermore, they would not accept anyone saying that Elisa lacked experience. Even if she had yet to gain experience leading a company, Jessie and James were more than willing to assist her.

Moreover, looking at how Elisa's achievements have grown, how could anyone say she lacked experience?

An inexperienced person could not have drafted the brilliant project proposal Darcey Group and Wickam Group competed for. They were even willing to cover all the costs and distribute the profits to Benett Corporation for free.

Was it simply because the two men were in love with Elisa? Was that why they fought for the project? Such claims were baseless.

Jessie and James had seen and listened to Elisa explain the project proposal.

see that it was a top-notch negotiate. Yet, she completed every single one of them. How could anyone not be amazed her abilities, anyone would want to get that moment, everyone was waiting for Elisa to respond. After all, Norman had asked what I never claimed them and even transferred them to you. Yet, all these years, I never received any dividend payment. I wonder how you red with fury.

Nonsense!

has just cheated me of two billion!

to return all the dividends to her,

say

and looked at Norman. Everyone knew Norman had been holding Elisa and her late father's shares. However, hearing that Norman never paid Elisa anything was too much see that Norman was only pretending to care about Elisa. He had caused Elisa much trouble on the pretext of having high expectations for her.

getting more interesting now that Elisa confronted in anticipation.

Chapter 945 I'm Sorry, but I Disagree

The crowd reacted to Elisa's answer. That's right. Elisa has many prominent identities. Why would she lack money? She is likely wealthier than Norman.

The crowd suddenly sensed Norman was being pushed into a corner and found it funny.

On the other hand, Linda could no longer contain her anger and immediately defended Norman. "My father didn't know of your many identities. Naturally, he didn't know you had so much money and that you knew how to manage them. So, stop blaming him, Liz."

Linda was unsure about the kind of emotions she should show when saying those words.

Elisa nodded in a composed manner. "I'm not blaming you, Uncle Norman. I understand you wanted what was best for me. Therefore, you can keep the dividend as a reward for your kindness. I'm forfeiting them to you. Now, you only have to return my father and my shares to me."

widened her eyes in shock.

b*tch is now saying that she doesn't want the previous dividends! But she has already demanded those!

dare she now ask for contract and even placed her thumbprint to ours! This b*tch has no right to are a family, and this company used to be your father's. Why would I steal your money?

me for many years. It's time for me to take over everything my father has left behind. It must have been excited upon hearing Elisa's

Liz planning to take over

Linda was on the verge of losing her temper in front of the others. B*tch! How dare she? This company has ceased to be her father's since long ago! Her father is dead! How them said, "Ms. Elisa, do you mean you will manage the company in the Chapter 946

The crowd was stunned.

What the heck?

Two billion!

That's a freaking large sum!

Moreover, those with fewer shares would need a long time to earn two billion!

Since she dares to make such a claim, she is confident she will make the company thrive under her leadership.

Everyone suddenly became indecisive.

prominent identities. Thus, she would attract many who appreciated her skills and talents look forward to the results she could could worsen the company's situation. This is not a good plan. If you must reclaim your shares, can you delay shares. What he said was only an excuse to delay the supporting James felt inexplicably worried. If Norman deliberately delayed the supporting James felt inexplicably worried. If Norman deliberately delayed the contract you made me sign to transfer the shares is full of discrepancies.

and many shareholders were and his supporters were suddenly filled with hand, Norman's supporters began to panic.

late chairman passed away too suddenly then and did not leave a will. Mr. Benett is the late chairman's biological brother, so naturally, he was a good candidate to take over the chairman position was Keith Lance who said those words. He was one of Norman's supporters, but his words caused Norman's expression to darken is this like this? He is giving the enemies a chance to fight back.

Chapter 947 Everyone Was Stunned!

Everyone looked at Elisa and knew she was no ordinary person. They had witnessed her capabilities and were willing to respect and listen to her.

Then, Elisa said evenly, "If my total vote is less than Uncle Norman's, I will leave Benett Corporation and start a new company. If that happens, I will no longer work for Benett Corporation because I will focus on my company. As for the collaboration with Wickam Group, I might eventually transfer it to the new company. Moreover, I will also remove the jewelry collaboration with Darcey Group from Benett Corporation."

The shareholders were aghast.

Before this, some of them undermined Elisa's importance in the company. Now that she proclaimed to take away the ongoing project with Wickam Group and the future collaboration with Darcey Group, they finally understood the extent of the losses they would suffer. Furthermore, they would also lose the chance to utilize Elisa's abilities. Everyone was stunned.

If that happened, their earnings would take a nosedive.

"How dare you threaten us?" Keith looked at Elisa fiercely.

Linda was astounded.

They had witnessed her capabilities and were

is threatening utter a word. She did not know what to say.

to oppose him before everyone. Instead, she proudly proclaimed her vital importance to

However...

did not know that Elisa had long planned to remove many people were compelled to support him. But if he lost this position and became everyone still believes Uncle Norman should be the chairman, then that means that the company no longer needs Elisa leaves this company, I will leave with her. We will start a design company."

short of threatening

too furious to utter a word. She will leave the stance, everyone on James' side announced their positions too.

Chapter 948 She Was Capable

No one expected Elisa to suddenly cause a stir, resulting in many people threatening to leave the company.

It did not matter whether she was threatening them. No one dared to risk it.

Norman laughed furiously, "It seems all of you have been dissatisfied with me as the chairman."

Elisa met his gaze indifferently. "Only the capable ones should take charge."

How arrogant!

Everyone looked at Elisa uncertainly. Does she not know that she's inviting criticism with those words?

But...

more everyone anticipated to

she could surpass their identities was enough of the shareholders expected or dared to dream of being in the same room as collaboration with her would lead to was all that a businessman cared about.

you don't have much experience. How can you mock your uncle and humiliate him before everyone?

How could you darkened intimidatingly.

said sternly and gave off a threatening aura.

used to Gareth's cold and intimidating demeanor. Since she was not afraid a vote to decide this? After all, your side proposed to have a vote. So, let's start the vote now. Any objections?"

from me."

Chapter 949 Anonymous Voting

Even a few of Norman's supporters supported voting, mocking him for being at fault in this matter.

Argh...

I never knew these people had so many complaints against me!

They never dared to say anything before, but Elisa's words caused these people to show their true colors!

Norman and Linda tried to find a way to delay voting. However, James would never give them a chance.

He pulled out from his bag a stack of rectangular cards around the size of name cards.

"Everyone, I have prepared these cards. Each card is written with Mr. Benett and Liz's names. To vote, all you have to do is tick before the name of your chosen candidate. This is to allow everyone to vote anonymously and ensure fairness."

Norman's supporters secretly breathed a sigh of relief. They were in favor of voting anonymously.

this, they were troubled about how they should vote. Everyone profits to the company. However, they had been cause them trouble if he found out they voted

Norman was still the chairman after this, those who voted against him could no longer remain in the company.

he still had deep connections within the company. Therefore, he would make their up and distributed the cards. Only Norman and Elisa were not given the right to vote.

everyone take their pens to vote and said through gritted teeth, "You... How dare you do only voting. I don't think you will lose to a young lady. I will vote for you, Mr. Benett!" The person immediately secretly scolded the idiot in his mind.

would still vote no matter what he said, and it! D*mn it!

these

returned to his seat and smiled at trouble if

"Sure."

Chapter 950 The New Chairman

He made sure to show each vote so that everyone could confirm there was nothing wrong with it.

Norman's face gradually turned grimmer with each count.

Will I lose the chairman position today?

He never expected Elisa to dare to do this to him.

At that moment, he deeply regretted not killing her in the past.

He failed to eliminate a hidden threat, leaving him with numerous troubles in the present day.

James soon finished counting Elisa's votes and counted Norman's few votes.

Norman's expression had become threatening.

smiled. "Mr. Benett, you are smoldered with resentment.

D*mn it!

my supporters didn't all vote for me. They abandoned me for that high profit. Elisa! Elisa!

look at his threatening expression. Instead, he smiled and announced, "Now, let's welcome our new chairman!"

clap. Everyone on his wished to reveal that they

I will find out who didn't vote for me!

won't waste everyone's time with a formal thank you speech. From now on, I will prove through my actions that you have made the right the lowest-ranking seat, everyone revered her.

person seated on it the most respected.

about her that she could sit anywhere and still command the to Elisa presenting project, Elisa explained clearly and informed them how Darcey Group would manage it. Everyone was satisfied with her anticipate the numerous earnings that