

No Escape 641

Chapter 641

Restraining herself from throwing up, Ella started crying. "There are medical history sheets in my house and I have serious venereal diseases because Samuel, that jerk, always fooled around with various women without considering theirs or my health. "

"Don't trust her! She just wants to buy time!" One of the men did not trust Ella, making her heart miss a beat.

She stopped crying and said nonchalantly. "Never mind. You can have sex with me. But you might wanna buy some condoms just in case you contract the disease from me.

'Who could help her dear God! Where was she even?'

She estimated that she was not downtown, judging from the house made of mud walls and the presence of no windows.

The only person she could think about was Samuel. 'Samuel, Help me please!' Ella yelled in her mind, yearning for a telepathic connection to him. She started yelling Samuel's name. It seemed that Samuel sensed her appeal and sneezed while he was driving fast.
