

No Escape 642

Chapter 642

When he heard a woman's scream, Samuel rushed towards the house.

'Ella, hold on!

Do not be afraid.

Ella, I love you. I'm coming!' Samuel yelled in his mind.

Finally, he got there, out of breath. He stopped and looked around. Outside the house, he saw a small woman lying on the ground. He looked closely and took a sharp breathe when he recognized her. It was Ella. To his horror, he realised the men were sexually assaulting her.

His eyes turned blood-shot with rage. He realised he did not have much time. Though he was outnumbered, he launched himself on the kidnapers.

The men freaked out. They hurriedly fastened their belts and ran towards the back of the house.

Samuel ran after them, managing to catch one by the shoulders. At that moment he wanted to beat him to death. Suddenly, the four men who were running away cried out loud. On checking, he saw each one of them drop. Samuel sensed that they were dead.

Ella sat up from the ground. She was confused and terrified at the same time. She noticed the four men lying on the ground not far away from her. Everything happened too fast and she could not comprehend what was happening.

Then Ella looked at the man Samuel was still beating. She noticed blood flowing from his nose. She freaked out and called out weakly. "Samuel, my sweetheart..."
