

Read Novel No Longer Your Luna By A. Vitiosis Chapter 14

Chapter 14 We Are Tied

Flashback (Four Years Ago) Amethyst : 17 Years Old Kaden: 24 Years Old I would say Amethyst adjustment over the past year has been relatively smooth, or maybe that's how she wants us to see it. She has these tendencies to burden herself, that's probably due to her old pack's abuse, bottling up her emotions. The only time those emotions override her is when she is fighting. It's only been a year, but she picks up on moves rather quickly, perfecting it takes time since her moves are sloppily executed. Amethyst is determined and eager to learn how to fight and kill, she will experience guilt or remorse during her first kill but that's years away. She never backs down from a fight, having faced lose after lose and yet still continues to fight. I have work I should be attending to, packs to visits and paperwork to take care of but she comes first.

Amethyst drops to the ground, evading Daniel's punches. She has sparred with every member at R.E.D, including myself and has always lost with blood, bruises, and broken bones. During her first real fight, she ended up with broken ribs and an ankle, the healing process took a week and gradually those powers speeded up and now she heals within a day. Each member at R.E.D has been training for years, some when they were pups. Therefore patience when it comes to training is very thin, especially with Lion, Courtney and Madison. They didn't like Amethyst and they made that fact known; Lion doesn't like anyone so its not personal. The rest of the members have been welcoming and friendly towards her which assisted in boosting her confidence. She is outspoken now, completely different from a year ago. Noah, Daniel, Blaze, Sage, and Callen have brought out her fun side and I couldn't be more grateful. Newcomers aren't welcomed between Lion, Courtney and Madison but they will have to get used to is because we will have a new girl named Alice transfer here in five months. Amethyst attempts a high kick, but Daniel grabs her ankle and flings her into the tree. She grunts, her body thumping to the ground. A growl emits from her figure, her claws extending as they dig into the grass. Amethyst is infuriated, these outbursts happen quite frequently since she isn't able to tame her wolf Jade that much due to her old pack not teaching them control. 'Little snow is getting harder to control Axel says as he watches her. My wolf Axel is particularly fond of Jade, they seem close. They communicate through their own mind-link without our knowledge. We are two beings sharing one body, its only natural that they are able to communicate separately. Climbing down the cemented steps, I head to Amethyst who is losing control, growling, and thrashing with herself. Jaden is stronger than Amethyst, while she exercises restraint, Jade is more short tempered and gets angry whenever Amethyst gets severely injured. D Jade is highly protective over Amethyst. It's easy to see why since her pack treated her like shit and her mate discarded her. Once I reach her, I crouch down until we are somewhat on equal eye level. Glowing rays of purple are invading my mind, almost hypnotic. The rapid rising and falling of her chest displaying her outburst, Jade is taking over. "I will kill them" she declares, baring her fangs to me. Axel attempts to reach her since there connection is stronger than mine with Amethyst. However, Jade placed a gigantic wall between them, shutting him out. "She doesn't want to talk" he says with irritation. Reaching over, pressing my palm to her heated cheek, red tinting her skin. I caress her cheek, its like her body is consumed by fire. The nails slowly retract but the fury is still evident in her eyes. Brushing my thumb along her cheek, I remind myself that her little outbursts are due to her suffering, that she has been through hell and deserves to let it all out.

There is a strange connection between us, like a thread tying us together. Its not romantic nor do I see her as a sister. Amethyst is someone I have to protect with every fibre in my body. Axel is equally protective and possessive over them, we are merciless when it comes to them and that's a dangerous feeling. I have to limit our interactions because I have seen that look in her eyes, its more than a fucking crush and I can't let it grow. Despite my cold demeanour towards her, her heart has latched onto me and continues to evolve. There will never be an us, not romantically anyway and I try to make it known but she simply doesn't care to listen. Although Axel doesn't mind getting close to Jade. I swear he doesn't fucking listen to anything I say. Hence why I am the only person who is able to diminish her rage, the glow in her eyes slowly dies and natural lavender orbs peer at me. Amethyst has gained control back. "You're okay Amethyst, just breathe" I say. She takes a deep breathe, those eyes intensely focusing on me as if she's trying to peer into my soul. That will never happen, she has no clue what lurks in my past and she never will. After a few minutes, she relaxes. "You will learn to control those emotions; it will take time" I inform her. "Thanks for..... she trails off, not being able to meet my eyes. I know what she means, we are tied somehow and its unexplainable.