

Read Novel No Longer Your Luna By A. Vitiosis Chapter 15

Chapter 15 Alpha, Founding Families.. I Am Fucked

Amethyst Phoenix Whatever transpired between us, could have been written in bold letters across my forehead. Being in Kaden's arms felt comforting, like a layer of protection over every bad thing that will come my way. I shouldn't relish in the feeling or more importantly, I shouldn't feel this way about someone who isn't my mate. What I mean is these feelings should only be initiated by your mate and I certainly felt none of that with Mason. These feelings for Kaden, they are new and terrifying. Everyone resided in the lounge, and they completely ignored what transpired between me and Kaden, which I was thankful for since I wouldn't handle that spotlight right now. Their focus was wavering, they were deep in their mind, sifting through all the scenarios that will play out for the pack and the founding families. Their own nervousness was rubbing on me, fearing the unknown is natural but I did it five years ago but this time it's entirely different. Regardless, if I knew the outcome would be the same, becoming the alpha and a founding member is intimidating on another scale. I will be among the most ruthless, elite and the first lineage of werewolves to exist. Yeah, I am so out of my depth here. "What's the plan?" Callen questions. Switching positions to be next to Sage, I catch the fierce fire in Kaden's sapphires, pure irritation at my actions clouding his eyes. Shrugging off the cold stare he is giving me before he crosses his arms and exudes power as he announces the next stage in my life. "Amethyst will take over in three days" Anxiety creeps under my skin, I'm confident in my abilities to become alpha but that doesn't stop the unease from creeping upon my heart, the sensation of crawling out of my skin becoming more prominent. Don't get me wrong, I have a good relationship with the pack, and they are friendly, welcoming to the new girl all those years ago. But the Blood Moon pack is known to be the deadliest for a reason, they can easily annihilate me. The thought must have crossed their mind for a brief moment, the striking resemblance between my mother and I. Announcing that I am their daughter won't make them instantly love me, you have to earn their respect. They will feel disconnected from me and that's the worst feeling in the world. Because if the pack doesn't want me, I can't be their alpha. Sage interrupts. "That's too soon" Kaden nods in agreement and yet again, we can't change my fate or stop it. "We can't push it any further. In three days, we will announce to the pack that Amethyst is a Phoenix and that she will be the new alpha. The news will spread that the Phoenix bloodline isn't dead. However, the founding families will ignore Amethyst so we will have to show up at their meeting where they plan to add a new bloodline"

The entire plan sent me into a spiral of terror and excitement, intertwining and causing mania. 'You feel it don't you' Jade states, salivating at the mouth. An invisible grin forms on my lips. 'It's like a shot of tequila, the adrenaline pumping through my veins' I have been battered, beaten, and left for dead. My life has changed drastically in the past five years, the responsibilities of my parents have fallen on my shoulders. I'm not obligated to continue their legacy, but I want to, the answer might not be clear right now, but they loved Especially their murderers.

“The ceremony where the new alpha will be announced is going to be excruciating. You will have to shed your blood on the pack grounds and swear an oath” Kaden informs. “The process will be painful” he says after a minute, as if ensuring I know the calibre.

The prospect of pain doesn't scare me the way it used to in the past, mainly because during my training I have suffered from bruises, broken bones, etc. Training with R.E.D is brutal, and Kaden is even worse. He never goes easy on me, its always bringing me onto the brink of death for the first three years until it didn't become so easy to kill me. “What are we going to do about the founding families, do you even know who they are?” I question. Kaden suddenly disappears from the lounge and walks into his office, leaving us all in suspense. Blaze refocuses his attention towards me, suddenly ruffling my hair as if I'm a child. “You short stack are going to be my alpha, ain't that funny” He laughs, lightening the mood with his forest-coloured orbs and melodic laughs. I smirk. “I'm going to make you my bitch” His jaw drops, staring at me wide eyed, switching directions between Sage and Callen. “Can she say that? It's offensive right” he pouts as if I hurt his feelings. None of them come to his aid and we laugh at his expense. “Oh, I see how it is, you playing favourites purple?” he asks with a raised eyebrow. “Yes” sticking my tongue out at him Our bickering stops when Kaden returns with a thick, worn-out black leather journal, the pages are creased and coloured a light coffee brown due to the age. “This was your father's; he wrote every detail pertaining to the families and there heritage. I have studied it over the years and have a brief idea on what they are like and how you will be able to re-enter the founding families” Kaden hands over the journal and it weighs a lot, if this was five years ago, I would have dropped to the ground. The writing is in cursive and each entry is organized; I will have to read it tonight since the suspense will kill me. “What's the brief outline regarding the families?” Blaze questions. “The ranking system has changed over the years; from the intel I have gathered from a trusted source. Number one is Maverick Hale of the Shadow pack; he specializes in assassinations like us and is rumoured to be linked with the witches” Kaden states. “Rumoured how?” Sage asks sceptically. He shakes his head. “I don't know the specific details on what connection he has with the witches. Maverick is known for his cold and calculating ways. He rarely attends the meetings since he took over at sixteen. Maverick Hale is the last descendent of his line” That must have been traumatic, taking on such a responsibility at such a young age. Kaden continues. “Number two is Lucian Harrow, alpha of the Blue Moon pack. He is the second oldest among the five and was your father's best friend. Lucian has helped us a lot over the years and some of the intel I acquired was from him. Lucian is involved in the dark underworld, specializing in drugs and human slavery”

I didn't miss the hint of disgust in Kaden's tone when it came to the last part. “Human slavery? Wasn't that banned centuries ago?” I question, I can't possibly believe my father was involved in such a cruel act. Humans are worse than the supernatural, but no one deserves to have their freedom taken from them. “In the underworld, it involves the dark side of business. Human slavery is banned and among a lot of things but that doesn't mean it won't happen" Sage answers. "Number three is Mark Ravenstone, alpha of the Crystal Blood pack and is the oldest among the founding families. He will likely retire in the coming years. They specialize in underground fighting between the supernatural's, not just werewolves" Well, supernatural creatures fighting each other in a cage. Nothing animalistic about that. "Number four is Brantley Knight, alpha of the Eclipse pack. He took over a year after Maverick when he was seventeen. He is unhinged, a true psychopath. It is rumoured that he is obsessed with power and murdered his parents in order to gain a seat at the founding table. No one knows what he really does, Brantley is secretive about his business even with the founding families" "That's probably because they fear him, he is unpredictable and could massacre them in his sleep therefore they won't step on his toes" I analyse. Kaden has pride in his eyes at my answer and all too quickly they turn hard. "Lastly is the family that is presumed to take your spot. Kier Zero, alpha of the Dark Moon pack. Since he hasn't been around for centuries like the rest, I couldn't gather information on him. I only know that he is twenty-four years old and people fear "That's probably because they fear him, he's unpredictable and could massacre them in his sleep" I answer. Kaden nods in agreement, his eyes turning hard. "Lastly is the family that will take your spot. Kier Zero, alpha of the Dark Moon pack. The only information I gathered on him is that he is twenty four years old and people fear him" I soak in every piece of information and its like drowning in a sea. I am completely fucked.