

Read Novel No Longer Your Luna By A. Vitiosis Chapter 18

Chapter 18 Will Amethyst Be The Alpha?

Kaden did a good job at distracting me.

While the ceremony was beginning, I was utterly distracted with what took place in that room between Kaden and me. His lips were impossibly soft as they skated over mine, I could practically taste the strawberries and cream on those plush lips without touching. Exhaling the smoke into me alit every molecule in my body.

'Now that was sexy' Jade comments as she watches me replay the scene in my head.

I groan. 'Don't remind me' The circular table at the front, near the stage was reserved for R.E.D members, including alpha Kaden. Alice was supposed to take the seat next to me, but Lion saw the separation I apparently was causing in his eyes, so he positioned himself on the seat next to me and dragged Alice onto his lap. The possessive man doesn't like to be apart from her and I understand, they are the definition of yin and yang.

Alice had on a sheer midnight blue dress with two deep thigh slits on either side that ran dangerously close to her hips. Her porcelain skin resembled marble, flawless. Thick straight black hair ran till her waist and her makeup was subtle, highlighting her doll-like ocean eyes and deep red lips.

Lion never leaves her vicinity in general, dressed like a goddess – he wont even let anyone breathe in her direction. Alice secretly relishes in his overprotectiveness, admitting to us during a drunken sleepover after they marked each other. Lion caressed her bare thighs that were crossed, showcasing her inky heels with straps that ran over her knees. She brushed her hair back, showcasing the mark Lion gave her.

Whenever werewolves mark their mate, it will resemble a birthmark. Near the croak of Alice's neck, a dark silhouette of Lion's wolf. Apparently if your mate touches the spot they marked you, instant arousal.

Lion despises wearing formal attire, therefore he opted for a formal midnight shirt with the button undone till half of his chest was exposed. The sleeves are folded till his elbows, revealing olive skin with veins threaded through. His pitch-black eyes are solely focused on Alice, caresses her thighs lovingly. They are locked in a trance, everyone else disappears when they are around each other.

My heart warms at the sight of what true mates are supposed to be. Ever since Mason, I stopped believing in mates.

Why would the moon goddess pair me with someone so cruel and disgusting?

What surprised me was that I only mourned the rejection for a month in that forest. After that, Mason was the furthest from my mind.

How can I be fated to him when I feel utterly consumed by Kaden? Its unnatural, Mason couldn't evoke these emotions, but I feel like I'm sucked into a blackhole when it comes to Kaden.

I want it to be a mistake.

I want to be mated to Kaden; I want the moon goddess to change her mind.

But it doesn't work that way and Kaden is unfortunately mated to someone else that he will find eventually.

Lion captures Alice's lips and that is my cue to divert my attention to Sage.

Instantly, her face creases in disgust as she sips her champagne. "They are so disgustingly.