

Read Novel No Longer Your Luna By A. Vitiosis Chapter 86

Chapter 86 Epilogue 2

Amethyst Phoenix One Year Later “This hot tub was a bad idea,” I swallow, attempting to distract myself from staring at Kaden. I’m failing miserably. Control and logic evade me when it comes to Kaden, my eyes analysing every curve in his sculptured body. Each ridge on his abdomen to his bulging biceps all camouflaged by his incredible ink. Ever since we got the hot tub, there is a never a moment we aren’t in it – especially naked. A devilish grin forms on his plush lips as he eases the rim of the crystal glass filled with whiskey to his mouth. His eyes locking with mine, hypnotizing me once again with those magical sapphires. I can’t focus on anything else but him, he has my complete attention as I study the way his throat moves as he swallows, the exotic action turning me on. The steam accumulates and forms a tide around us, particularly distorting our view but casting a shadow around us. Luckily, we were far away from anyone ever seeing us. The water kept rising in temperature or – maybe that was me – burning from the inside. “Why you say that?” Kaden questions cheekily with a mischievous glint in his eyes. His body is a masterpiece, contoured and highlighted by the stars and subtle glow of the moonlight. We had a party to attend later at Alice and Lion’s house, yet here we are, tempting each other. There is no resisting when it comes to Kaden, he is the epitome of a God with the mouth of a sinner. “You know why,” I reply breathlessly, feeling the steam creep into my lungs and ignite my senses. The damp ebony strands cascade upon his forehead, bringing attention to his glowing ocean eyes that trace every inch of my body, causing goosebumps to follow straight after. His lustful gaze is kryptonite, tugging on his bottom lip sexily and I already feel myself grow wetter. “Make a fucking move,” Jade curses, practically drooling over how gorgeous and magnetic our mate is. Couldn’t argue with her, he is beyond perfection. Kaden lets out a raspy chuckle with a smile, almost like he could hear the inner turmoil of my thoughts along with Jade’s persistence and desperation. He downs the last reminiscent of the amber liquid before placing the empty glass at the outer edge. The darkness seeping into his orbs as the devilish side of him peeks through, Kaden’s scorching palm tracing up my thighs. He practically turns me into an inferno as he tugs me on top of him, my thighs straddling his naked waist. “I think the hot tub was an amazing idea,” he marvels. That’s when I feel him shift me until I could feel his hardened cock slide sensually between my soaking folds. His fiery palms grip my waist, urging me to roll as I felt every thick vein pulsating against my clit. “You feel so fucking good.” Kaden growls, his eyes shifting between black and blue, He feels so fucking good, causing lightening to soar through my veins as I lock my arms around his neck. Kaden arches his neck back against the rim of the hot tub, losing every ounce of control before even getting inside of me. It’s a twisted sense of satisfaction knowing I’m the only one who can gain this reaction from him – that the usual composed Kaden turns feral and uncontrollable in my hands. The chords in his neck begin to pulse, becoming too enticing as I trace the curves with my tongue before colliding our lips like a storm. “You taste so good.” I whisper, his intoxicating scent of rain mingled with the taste of whiskey on his tongue.

There is nothing slow about the way our tongues devour each other, it emulates the very essence of our raw desire for each other. "We can't be late." I remind him, but clearly, I would rather miss the party than leave Kaden in this moment. Kaden sucks my tongue into his mouth, before drawing out and slipping two fingers inside of me. "Don't worry little Phoenix, I know you better than anyone." Immediately, I clench around him. "Hm, already so fucking wet for me." Reframing from rolling my eyes at his cocky behaviour, I feel him twist and open me up a little more before pulling out. The head of his cock nudges at my entrance, already making tingles shoot down my spine. Despite the water, it didn't compare to how achingly turned on I was and in desperate need for him. It's a hunger like no other when Kaden wraps one entire arm around my waist, making me sink onto his cock and deeper into the abyss of ecstasy, "Fuck, Kaden." I moan, feeling myself stretch to accommodate him. ! It's a pleasurable burn that initiates no matter how many times we fuck. "No matter how many times I'm inside of you, it feels fucking phenomenal." Kaden growls, tugging my bottom lip with hooded eyes. He moulds our bodies together, my nipples straining painfully as I feel his heated skin against me. Kaden controls the pace while I follow his lead, dragging my nails down his biceps as he thrusts purposely slow inside of me. "Uh, faster please." Kaden never listens, his hot breath fanning against my neck as he scraps over his mark with his fangs. I feel myself closer to edge, almost at the edge of the cliff of bliss as he increases his temp but not enough. Tears brim at my eyes, desperate to reach my climax but he plays with me too much. His deep laughter vibrates through me as he seats me to the hilt, hitting me deeper with the force and sinking so far inside of me that I feel him in my womb. Accompanied by the pain of his teeth meeting my flesh, simply pleasure and pain morphing together, and I see fucking stars as I come. I'm clenching around him so hard that he hisses and groans, claws digging into my skin as I feel him release inside of me. "That's cheating," I point out, knowing that the easiest way to annihilate me in an instant. Kaden shrugs, pulling me into a passionate kiss before drawing back with a satisfied smirk on his bruised lips. "I don't remember any rules in place when I play with you." I smack his chest accompanied with an eye roll before I could reply I feel Blaze tap onto the mind-link. A frown marries my face because he knows I will see him later tonight at Alice and Lion's sons birthday party. Opening it slightly, "Is this urgent?" "The phone is ringing." He states. Fuck.

I inform that I would be there in a few, closing the link and relaying the message to Kaden. We move fast at leaving the cabin, taking our car to the pack house. When Jade returned, I realized all too suddenly that the consequences of my actions were that I can no longer shift into my wolf form. Which made me feel inadequate and guilty that I couldn't let her roam freely. Also, I missed sprinting through the forest, the thrill of the hunt and being with Axel in that form. However, I was grateful to have Jade back. We have spent our lives together and without her it felt empty, like losing a piece of myself. When we reached the pack house, I made a be-line for my second office. Blaze's eyes are cold and fuelled with something akin to anger. This couldn't be good; he hands over the phone. The phone is only meant for Founding Families, in order for us to communicate incase of an emergency. However, the caller ID is what left me stunned for a moment, placing the phone against my ear. "Maverick?" Heavy breathing is heard on the other line, distortion along with static as seconds pass before he replies, "It's

Sage...something happened.” (Maverick & Sage’s Story Will Begin From Here titled The Forbidden Alpha)