

Read Novel No Way Back Chapter 461

No Way Back Chapter 461-A shadowy figure suddenly appeared.

Charlotte's neck was broken.

Her eyes were wide open, and her expression was full of regret.

In the next second, her corpse was dragged away. It disappeared into thin air.

Seeing what had happened, Miguel and Justine were scared out of their wits.

They attacked Madelyn even more ruthlessly.

Madelyn was on the brink of death. She had vomited a lot of blood.

"Jane... We've already beaten Madelyn half to death, just as you wanted. Can... can you spare our lives?"

Miguel panted. He was covered in sweat. He looked at Jane with fear, trying to win some sympathy.

Jane said calmly, "Do you think I'll give you a chance to live after seeing my face?"

"You!"

Upon hearing this, Miguel subconsciously wanted to escape.

Beside him, the shadowy figure broke Justine's neck.

Crack.

With that crisp sound, Justine *****.

The shadowy figure then walked toward Miguel.

"Jane, you lied to me!"

The abandoned warehouse was filled with Miguel's desperate roars.

The next second...

Miguel was also dead.

Charlotte and Justine's were cleaned up.

Not a trace was left behind.

Those three people had vanished from this world.

Seeing what had happened, Madelyn panted. She could not help but laugh.

As she laughed, she spat out blood.

Retribution.

This was retribution.

Did they think they could escape from Jane?

In the end, they still before Madelyn's eyes.

If they had not come looking for Madelyn and forced her into a corner...

None of this would have happened.

It was well deserved. They deserved to *****.

Madelyn had never felt so relieved before. She felt grateful to Jane.

Jane glanced at her watch.

She estimated that the Fowlers were about to arrive.

"It's about time, Madelyn. The time to decide your fate has finally arrived."

11:30

With that, Jane turned around and left.

"Jane..."

Madelyn spoke with difficulty.

Afterward...

She caught a strong smell of gasoline.

Madelyn seemed to realize what Jane wanted to do.

She struggled to crawl toward the exit.

At first, she had no strength left.

Besides, Miguel and Justine had almost beaten her to death.

Madelyn could not move at all.

Her consciousness began to blur.

A raging fire was ignited.

Jane...

She wanted to burn Madelyn alive.

How vicious.

"No... Don't..."

Madelyn shed tears of blood. She kept shaking her head.

Her beautiful life was just about to begin.

She wanted to go to Ruburg and live a wealthy life, with more money than she could spend in this lifetime.

She wanted to be with the man she loved.

For that future, Madelyn betrayed the Fowler family, who had raised her for almost two decades.

How could she burn to death in a fire? It was such a tragic outcome.

Absolutely not.

At this ***** ...

A few figures rushed in through the fire.

"Jane, where are you? Jane!"

This voice...

Were her brothers here?

"Henry, look over there!"

Quinton's sharp eyes were looking in a particular direction.

Henry and the others took a closer look...

Wasn't that Madelyn?

Why was she here?

Moreover, she looked so miserable.

"Save... Save me. Please save me... Brothers... I don't want to  ... I don't want to  . Save me!"

On the verge of death, Madelyn seemed to have her hopes renewed. She found the strength to shout at Henry and the others.

Right now, this was the only way for Madelyn to survive.

Madelyn knew she might suffer a fate worse than death if she fell into the Fowlers' hands.

But it was better to be alive than dead.

Madelyn did not want to  . Only by living would there be unlimited possibilities. If she  , everything would be over...

Madelyn's money, the man she loved deeply, and her wonderful life would all disappear.

Henry and the others frowned.

Although they had wished for Madelyn to end up like this...

They still had too many questions to ask Madelyn.

Right now, Madelyn could not yet.

Even if she had to  , she had to tell them the truth behind her betrayal before her death.

Just as Henry and the others were about to walk over toward Madelyn.....

"Be careful!"

Dwayne reacted the fastest. When he heard the sound of something shattering above his head, he immediately pulled his brothers back.

The warehouse was about to collapse, and the steel bars had started falling.

Dwayne quickly said, “We can’t go over. It’s too dangerous. We have to leave this place quickly.” “But Madelyn...”

Aaron did not have the heart to leave her there.

If he rushed up to save Madelyn, there was still a chance.

But he would be taking a risk.

No one dared to risk their own life... to here with Madelyn.

They would choose to escape this warehouse safely instead.

If Madelyn were the innocent, kind, and pure younger sister they once knew, they would take the risk. They would not let their little sister in such a place.

However, Madelyn was no longer worthy of being one of the Fowlers. She had betrayed the Fowler family and harmed so many people, causing them to lose Jane. Besides, Madelyn wanted to Anna, and she caused Jack to go to jail.

“Ignore her. A woman like her who betrayed the Fowler family should have long ago. Let’s go.”

As Dwayne kept urging them, the fire became more and more intense.

Henry and the others turned around and escaped from the warehouse.

Only Madelyn was left to despair amidst the thick raging flames. The intense pain of being burned by the fire would not stop eating away at Madelyn’s senses.

This was the meaning of “a fate worse than death”.

“No!”

Madelyn’s despairing wails echoed through the entire warehouse.

Anna, Sam, and Peter were waiting outside.

Looking at the burning warehouse, they seemed anxious.

Only when they saw Henry and the others escape from the warehouse did they heave sighs of relief. They hurried forward. “Where’s Jane? What happened? Why is the warehouse on fire?”

Henry shook his head. "Jane isn't inside. It's Madelyn. She's in there. She must have burned to death by now. No one can save her now..."

11:30

Anna was slightly stunned. "Madelyn? Why is she inside? Did... Jane do it? Is she getting back at Madelyn?"

No one could give Anna an answer.

"", let's leave first. The fire is too strong. We can't be involved in this. Let's talk about the rest later."

"Okay!"

Everyone left in a hurry.

On the top of a mountain not far away...

She looked at the flames in the warehouse.

After knowing the Fowlers' choice...

Jane took a deep breath.

Rain appeared beside Jane and said calmly, "Jane, I've handled the . Everything that concerns the Fowler family... Is this the end of it?"

"There's one last thing to do..."

Madelyn suffered the same death as Jane in her previous

The Fowlers had also received their retribution.

life.

They had lost the Fowler Corporation and their dignified status.

Anna was now disabled, and Jack was imprisoned.

They had paid off what they owed Jane.

Now, the only thing Jane was interested in when it came to the Fowler family was...

The “Finale” of Johan’s dream.

“Come on, Rain.”

“Okay, Jane.”

Two months passed by in the blink of an eye.

In the past two months, Stormton City underwent a tremendous change.

First, Fowler Corporation was taken over by Crown Group.

Several of the Fowler family members who had left Cruksia were nowhere to be found.

Before the Fowlers left, they had wanted to see Jane again. They wanted to know why Jane helped them get rid of Madelyn, the traitor.

Did she do it to help the Fowler family?

However, Jane had left Stormton City. She found a quiet place to prevent the Fowlers from pestering her.

She no longer wanted to be involved in unnecessary trouble.

Jane was not helping the Fowler family.

It was just that Madelyn owed Jane in her previous life.

Jane was only using the same method to exact her revenge.

The Fowlers had no way of finding Jane. To avoid unnecessary trouble, they could only leave Cruksia.

Finally...

It was the day of Jack’s verdict.

Jack was not actively involved in the bribery incident. He took the initiative to confess and also provided details and evidence.

11:30

Jack's crime was only not reporting what he knew.

He was sentenced to five years of imprisonment, and 75 million dollars of his property were confiscated.

The case had come to an end.

On this day...

Jane had just walked out of her apartment.

Suddenly, her right eyelid twitched.

She bumped into Johan, whom she had not seen for several months.

Johan's skin was tanned. He looked a little down and out.

With his current appearance, no one would recognize him on the streets. He was Johan, the Best Actor and an A-list celebrity in Cruksia's entertainment industry.

Jane said calmly, "You're back. Do you have the answer now?"

"Yes, I know the answer. That's why I've waited for you here."

It had to be said that Johan's extrasensory perception was indeed accurate.

He was able to get the perfect timing of when Jane would come out of her apartment.

Jane stuffed the car keys back into her pocket and turned around. "Let's go."

Johan followed her silently.

The two of them walked in silence for a while.

It was almost summer.

The weather began to warm.

However, it did not affect Jane and Johan at all.

Finally, Johan stopped in his tracks.

Jane turned slightly and looked sideways at Johan.

Her eyes were as calm as a placid lake, emitting a cold light.

“In the ‘Finale’ of my dream, only Henry, Quinton, and Sam survived.

“Dad was locked up in jail for the crime of accepting bribes. He of depression. had a heart attack because of the huge of Dad’s death. She passed away.

“Aaron’s illness suddenly relapsed while he was on the streets. He lost control and was in a car crash. Dwayne secretly took part in underground boxing to help his family repay their debts. In the end, he was beaten to death. And Peter... jumped off a building.

“Only Henry, Quinton, and Sam were still struggling to hold on. In the end, I became  . I don’t remember anything except... my intense regret toward you.”

As Johan spoke, his voice was trembling.

Because Johan knew that it was not only a nightmare.

It did happen in another time and space, or in a parallel world, where the Fowlers were reduced to such a sorry state.

“The culprit behind all this is not so much Madelyn and the people who joined forces with her. It’s more that we, the Fowler family, deserve it. We wrongly trusted Madelyn and left you to in the fire. We abandoned your grave. This is karma.

“I always thought this was something that happened in a parallel world. I thought that was why I had that dream, giving me a warning. It wasn’t until I left Yalondy that I knew about the Fowler family’s current situation. I went to Meridonia to see and the others and knew what you did. I know you let Madelyn in the warehouse fire.

“All of us know... That you were reborn with that memory. You knew the outcome from the beginning. and didn’t want to repeat the same mistake. You also knew that the Fowler family would eventually suffer this tribulation.”

Read Novel No Way Back Chapter 462

No Way Back Chapter 462-Jane had yearned for kinship so much back then. She was submissive and never dared to resist.

However, it was as if she had suddenly become a different person one day. She decisively cut off her kinship with the Fowler family and bloomed into her own.

From then on, Jane was still the same Jane, but her soul was different.

Because she had experienced a most tragic ending in her previous life, and she had been reborn.

From the beginning...

The Fowlers never stood any chance of asking for Jane's forgiveness.

They had owed Jane many years of torture and abuse. Jane could not even rest in peace after her death.

Even the word "death" was far from being able to describe the pain Jane felt in both her lifetimes.

Jane still did not speak.

Quietly, she looked at Johan.

"At this point, we understand that no one in the Fowler family has the right to ask for your forgiveness. In fact... After knowing what happened, we no longer dared to appear before you again.

"Compared to that alternative ending, at least we're doing much better. No one has died. Dad is in jail, while is disabled. She even contracted hypertension and other diseases because she had been so stressed. We lost the Fowler Corporation and became nothing...

"I shouldn't have come to you. No, I don't have the right to come to you. Coming here to talk to you is shameless of me. It's just that I promised that I would tell you about this alternative ending. This is the only closure I can give you.

"From now on, the Fowlers will never appear in front of you again. Don't worry."

Johan finished speaking.

Without hesitation, he turned around and left.

Jane looked at Johan's silhouette.

He gradually disappeared from her sight.

Afterward, she took a deep breath.

She continued walking.

From then on...

Jane and the Fowler family became like two parallel lines.

There would be no more entanglement between them.

That was the last time she had seen anyone from the Fowler family.

After knowing what became of the Fowlers in her previous life...

They completely disappeared.

They would never appear before her again.

On the other side...

Johan walked back to his family.

Johan told a small lie.

When Johan told Jane the truth...

The Fowlers were silently watching them from afar.

At first, Johan wanted to come alone.

However, the Fowlers insisted on coming with him.

Perhaps...

Jane had sensed it long ago, too.

But it no longer mattered.

Other than Jack, who was still in jail....

Everyone else was there.

It was because of Johan's dream and Jane's method of killing Madelyn....

That they learned the truth behind Jane.

That was the last time they returned to Stormton City.

From then on, they would never come back.

They did not even have the right to catch a glimpse of Jane.

The Fowler family owed Jane too much.

If they appeared before Jane again, kneeling and begging for her forgiveness...

They felt it would be a sin that would throw them into the depths of *****.

The best way forward was to never see each other again.

Anna sat in her wheelchair. Suddenly, she could not help but tremble. She fell forward and fell to the ground.

“**!”

Henry and the others were about to hold her up when they saw Anna kneeling on the ground on her own. Her tears fell incessantly, like beads of a broken pearl necklace.

“Jane, I’m sorry. I’m sorry... You’re right. You shouldn’t have been born into the Fowler family. You wouldn’t have suffered that much pain and torture if you weren’t my child. I’m sorry... I’ve let you down...”

Anna’s voice was hoarse and heart-wrenching. She had so much regret. When she knelt and burst into tears, she felt a deep despair toward her blind and self, who trusted Madelyn. Anna chased away her flesh and blood, her daughter, Jane. She was incompetent and useless... She could only feel an unbearable sense of despair.

“** ...”

Anna felt her sorrow deep in her bones. It went straight to her soul. Even the brothers could sense it, too.

The Fowler family’s seven sons knelt in unison. With tears streaming down their faces, they paid their respect as they watched Jane leave.

“We’re sorry...”

“Jane...”

“I’m sorry...”

“My own sister...”

“I’m so sorry...”

“We’re not worthy... to be your brothers.”

“From now on, forget about us. Forget about the Fowler family. Go and pursue your true family and happiness.”

“Even if we no longer have the right to, we will pray for you always.”

“We’ll pray that you, Jane, will find your happiness.”

Jane kept walking.

She seemed to have seen someone.

Her eyes, which were as calm as a quiet lake, began to radiate. Her gaze shone brightly.

She waved at the figure and jogged over.

“Hugh, I’m sorry to have kept you waiting.”

Hugh hugged Jane and rubbed his chin against Jane’s head affectionately. He said gently, “I didn’t wait for long.”

“The dignified Mr. Croft has especially taken a day off to go out with me on a date. This is such a rare opportunity. How could I keep you waiting? Let’s go, Hugh. Let’s have fun today.”

Jane blinked at Hugh.

“Anything you say, Janie.”

Hugh lowered his eyes slightly.

Just now, Hugh saw... Jane and Johan together.

However, Jane did not say anything..

So Hugh did not ask.

This was a tacit understanding between the two of them.

If they wanted to say something, they would naturally tell each other about it.

If they said nothing, it meant that the matter was insignificant.

As long as they trusted each other, they would live happily ever after, hand in hand.

That was enough.

They would hold each other's hands.

And grow old together.

They would never let go of each other again.

Hugh and Jane had a good day at the amusement park. Hugh had reserved the entire park to themselves.

The sky gradually darkened.

It was already ten o'clock, almost midnight.

Hugh interlocked his fingers with Jane, and they walked side by side on the street.

Her hands were soft.

His heart was warm.

Passion was in the air.

Their souls were becoming closer to each other.

"Janie, if I propose to you right now, will you say yes?"

Hugh suddenly asked.

Jane thought for a . She said, "Proposing is fine, but getting married... I still want to wait a little longer. There are so many things I want to do."

Such as looking for her Teacher and having him witness Jane's wedding.

Besides, Yale's illness had completely recovered. Eden had helped treat Hugh so that Levi and Hugh could reconcile with each other as father and son.

She also wanted to start a company with Lila, working on game design and forming an eSports team.

She would also lead Red Star Team to continue to shine, exploring the unknowns of the world to protect the country.

Oh, my god, Jane thought.

On second thought, she felt dizzy just thinking about those things.

Jane's delicate face turned sour.

There were so many things to do....

She suddenly felt that her and Hugh's wedding would be prioritized very far behind.

Jane wondered if she should arrange a suitable date for the occasion.

At this ***** ...

Hugh suddenly held Jane's hand.

He knelt on one knee.

He took out a diamond ring.

"Hugh?"

Jane was shocked by Hugh's gesture.

Under the moonlight....

Jane looked at the simple diamond ring in Hugh's hand.

She could see the traces of time left behind on the ring.

It did not look like something Hugh would choose at all.

"My dad gave this to me... It's the only heirloom my left behind. It's also the ring my father used to propose to my mother. My father and mother designed it together. It's a ring that would only belong to the bride for the rest of her life."

Jane's heart skipped a beat. "Hugh, do you..."

Did Hugh already know Levi's difficulties?

No... For the sake of Hugh's life, Levi would not tell Hugh the truth until everything was confirmed.

Perhaps...

Hugh had already sensed something all the same.

He was only waiting for the day when Levi could tell him.

After all...

They were father and son.

Even if Levi did not say it outright....

They would still miss and think about each other.

It was different for Jane.

"I've thought of designing a new ring for you myself, Janie, but this is my first time proposing to someone. I think... I should propose to you through this ring.

"This way, I feel that my mother in heaven would bear witness to my love for you.

"Miss Jane Fowler, are you willing to accept Mr. Hugh Croft's proposal and stay by his side no matter what happens in the future?"

Facing Hugh's scorching, sincere, and starry eyes... Jane pursed her lips and could not help but smile.

"Mr. Hugh Croft, do I have a chance to say no?"

"Of course not, Janie. You're my woman. You won't be able to escape for the rest of your life."

Hugh's lips curled into a determined smile. He reached for Jane's hand and slid the ring on Jane's finger without saying anything.

The size was just right.

"See, it's like my is saying-we're meant for each other."

"Nonsense... But if you want to marry me, Hugh, you still have a long way to go. You'll have to earn the approval of my three senior brothers, and you'll have to find my Teacher and the others..."

Jane put up her fingers to count how many tests there would be for Hugh.

Before she could finish speaking....

Hugh had taken her by surprise, kissing her.

It was a deep kiss.

After a long while, Hugh finally let go.

Jane panted heavily and pouted. “Hugh, you’re breaking the rules.”

“Janie, if it’s for you, even if I have to pluck the stars and the moon, I’ll go through and high waters for you. I don’t care how long or difficult this road is or how many tests there are. I only care about... whether your heart would accept me and if you’d let our hearts beat as one.”

Hugh’s words were very tender.

He seemed to have used all his strength to utter every single word. They sounded extremely gentle.

They came from the bottom of his heart.

The cry from the depths of his soul resonated with Jane’s soul.

A man and a woman who loved each other deeply could understand each other’s feelings without needing to say anything.

Jane took a deep breath.

At this *****-

Swoosh!

.

Fireworks soared into the sky.

Sparks flew.

Countless dazzling sparks bloomed.

It was such a wonderful atmosphere....

Jane could not let it go to waste.

It was time for a young girl to show her feelings to the man she loved deeply.

Under the bright lights...

Jane blushed slightly.

She pulled on Hugh’s tie.

She took the initiative to tiptoe.

And she kissed Hugh on the lips.

This gesture allowed Jane to take the initiative.

After all...

Jane was about to give Hugh her answer.

It was just one word.

It was a simple word.

It meant their hearts would beat as one. They would never hesitate to hold each other's hands and spend the rest of their lives together.

"Yes."

They had promised each other, after all.

For as long as time itself...

They would never separate.

Under the witness of the dazzling fireworks and countless lights...

Their kiss traveled across space and time.

It was a kiss that lasted forever.

They hugged each other, basking in each other's warmth..

Forever and ever, never leaving each other's side.

1

She wanted to be one with the wind, falling into his embrace for the rest of eternity.