Chapter 7 The Confession

Chapter 7 The Confession

"Dad, it's alright." Alena Wright was afraid that Alfred Gray would really call and scold Waylon Gray, so she lied, "I wanted to work because I was bored at home. It wasn't because I didn't have money. Dad, Waylon, and I had decided to get a divorce. However, that matter is not his fault, it is my problem, so please don't scold him."

Alfred Gray immediately frowned as he heard Alena Wright's words and he said very strongly, "Divorce? Amanda, what's happening? I promised your mother that I will take good care of you. As long as I am alive, you will be the young lady of the Gray family, and nothing can change that. I don't object if you want to go to work, but marriage is not a child's play. How can you file a divorce casually? If Waylon had done something wrong, tell me and I'll help him."

Alena Wright had bitten her lip, and she did not know what to say. She and Waylon Gray had already signed a divorce agreement.

Alena Wright took a deep breath and she had no choice but to say, "Dad, I had talked to him. Please, let us settle the matter between the two of us. Don't worry about it."

"Well, if you say so." Then Alfred Gray gently compromised, "Go back to the old house with me today, I will call Waylon again. We will have a meal together."

Alena Wright felt nervous when she heard Alfred Gray's plan.

It was impossible to hide from Waylon Gray, how could she move forward?

So, she immediately said, "Dad, I just worked over-night last night, and I was really tired. Can you let me rest? I promise that I will accompany you another day?"

Alfred Gray's father was reluctant, but he still understood what she had said, so he could only say, "If that's the case, then how about this Sunday? Go home and have a meal with me. What do you think?"

"Okay," Alena Wright had no choice but to agree.

She could only hope that she would not meet Waylon Gray there.

After Alena Wright made an appointment with Alfred Gray, she had refused his offer to send her home, so she watched as Alfred Gray's car leave.

Alena Wright exhaled impatiently as she saw that Alfred Gray's car had not completely left because of the traffic. When she was just about to turn around and leave, loud noise had caught her attention.

A red Ferrari stopped in front of her.

Alena Wright was taken aback as she looked at the car in front of her.

Then, the door of the car slowly opened, and the man inside walked out slowly.

The man was tall and his physique was slender. He had wide shoulders and a narrow waist. He looked like he could be a model with his height and his face. His face was god-like, and his charming and mesmerizing. It was as if it was made of a vast galaxy. However, there was an evil smile on his face, and he looked dangerous despite his irresistible face.

Alena Wright's face changed slightly, the person who had come out of the car was actually, Waylon Gray.

"Why are you here?" Alena Wright suddenly turned to look in the direction to where Alfred Gray's car was and she had confirmed that he was still stuck in heavy traffic. Fortunately, Waylon Gray was not able to meet his father while he was still in front of her.

Waylon Gray looked at Alena Wright. His face seemed to be impassive as he slightly raised his eyebrows, "What are you looking at?"

"Nothing..." Alena Wright immediately took a step forward and she stood in front of Waylon Gray because she was afraid that Alfred Gray would see them. Alfred Gray's car was still parked in the heavy traffic and he was not far from them at all.

Waylon Gray should not discover that his father was just nearby. Otherwise, she would definitely die in embarrassment.

However, because of her limited height, Waylon Gray was able to look in the direction where his father's car was.

"That car!"
