Chapter 451: Ding, the cheat has been transferred to the account! 1

“Ah... I’m going to die!”

The next morning, the sky was just beginning to brighten on the deck. Most of the crew and passengers had yet to wake up from their dreams, so they could not hear the weak voice of a certain girl on the deck.

Mei Ji was like a dehydrated salted fish, lying on her back on the ground. She looked at the sky where she could still see some stars, and her heart was filled with endless regret.

He had miscalculated.

She didn’t expect her body to be so weak. She hadn’t eaten for a day and a night, but she couldn’t move at all. She didn’t even have the strength to get up.

Being able to see the stars in the night sky while sailing on the sea was completely different from being on land. How could Maggie, whose target was the greatest astrologer, give up on something as valuable as this?

After observing the stars for an entire night, she put away the compass in satisfaction and prepared to go back to her room to catch up on sleep. It was as if she had stayed up all night playing games. She was fine when she played, but the moment she turned off the computer and stood up from the chair.

Plop!

Mei Ji only felt her vision turn black before she lost consciousness. When she regained her senses, she had become like this.

In this situation, Mei Ji could not help but think of a fable. It was about a demon who was sealed in a bottle, hoping that someone would open the bottle and save him. If someone opened it within a hundred years, he would give it to the other party to be immortal and rich. If it was within two hundred years, it would be given to a country. If it was three hundred years...

Mei Ji couldn't remember clearly.

Anyway, since she had nothing to do, she was prepared to give it a try. But of course, she did not have the ability of the demon in the fable, so she could only replace it a little.

"If someone can come and save me in three hours, I will divine for him."

"If someone can come and save me in an hour, I'll divine for him for free!"

"If someone can come and save me in half an hour, then I'll...Uh..."

Mei Ji thought for a moment and realized that she had nothing else to offer other than divination. There was no one around, and she was lying alone on the deck. The possibility of someone coming to save her early in the morning was almost zero, unless the other party knew divination.

Since that was the case, he might as well be bolder. Anyway, it would not come true.

Thus, Mei Ji continued to ponder in her heart,"

"If someone can come and save me in half an hour, I will follow him for a month and become his personal astrologer.

"If you can come and save me within a minute, then I will, I will... What good? Forget it, I'll devote myself to you. If it's so coincidental, it must be fate's guidance P'

The astrologer girl was secretly pleased with her bold and unrestrained contract to sell herself. It was as if anyone would like to test the waters at the edge of danger, jumping left and right because it was very exciting.

However, if it didn't come true, it was called excitement. If it came true, it was called...

Coincidentally, just as Mei Ji finished her last sentence, she felt her vision go black. Then, a cute little wolf cub jumped onto her body. The man and wolf looked at each other for a short while.

Mei Ji was speechless.

The little wolf cub felt a little strange at this moment. He had clearly rushed over in the morning to trigger an accident according to the circulating memory to increase the favorability of this mysterious astrological girl, but in the end...

From Mei Ji's eyes, he didn't see the joy of being rescued. Instead, he saw a look of despair that was similar to "I don't want that kind of thing"

A few minutes later.

In the restaurant on the Astorokis.

"Miss Mei Ji, eat slowly. Do you want to drink some water?"

Vivian looked worriedly at the female Astrologer who was wolfing down the food like a hungry ghost.

Mei Ji swept up seven to eight pieces of bread on the table, ate three to four plates of dishes, and drank a large bowl of thick meat soup before finally...

"Burp..."

The girl burped and touched her belly comfortably. Under the dead water jumpsuit, her belly was only slightly undulating. It made people wonder where all the food went.

“Miss Vivian, thank you so much. Not only did you save me, but you also treated me to such a sumptuous meal. I, Maggie, will remember this kindness and will definitely repay you!

“By the way, this meal costs...How much did you spend?” Mei Ji’s confident tone became softer and softer.

She secretly glanced at it and took it out from under the table. It was a shriveled wallet, and not even a copper coin could jump out.

Meggy knew that everything on the Astorokis was precious. She did not have any other memories, but she was very clear about the debts. The repair fees for the instruments, the planetary-meter, the remaining payment for the replacement of the compass...

She was really penniless.

Fortunately, Vivian waved her hand repeatedly, indicating that she did not do anything. It was Blackie who discovered Maggie first. She did not have to pay for the meal. All her expenses on the ship were covered by the society.

The astrologer girl revealed an extremely envious expression. Ah, no, as an astrologer, she should limit her materialistic desires. She was not envious at all !

As for Little Black...

Maggie stole a glance at the wolf cub in Vivian’s arms and immediately said seriously,”

Chapter 452: Ding, the cheat has been transferred to the account! 2

“Alright... Alright then.”

The little girl didn’t know why, but this Lady Maggie insisted on emphasizing this point. Moreover, from the expression of the astrologer girl, it seemed that if they didn’t equal, something big would happen.

“Phew... No matter what, I’m finally alive. Moreover, after observing the stars all night last night, I now feel that I can do it again! Vivian, in return, please let me divine for you once! ”

Under Mei Ji’s persistent emphasis, the little girl did not refuse. She returned to her room with the young girl and began to deduce.

As she had already seen the steps of Maggie’s divination the day before, she saved a lot of time explaining. When Vivian put her hand into the astrolabe, the surface of the water that reflected the stars immediately changed.

“This is...Double Wolf?”

Mei Ji let out a surprised sound similar to the previous cycle. The same expression appeared on the wolf cub’s face, but it was not because of the stars, but the water pattern this time.

Originally, it was a closed loop formed by two wolves chasing each other and biting each other’s tails. However, the two wolves that appeared on the surface of the compass now, one on the left and one on the right, not only did they not attack each other, but they seemed to be working together to protect their territory.

” Vivian, the stars indicate that you are about to be involved in a crisis.

Fortunately, you have met another trustworthy teammate, but...”

” The twin series of astrological signs usually end in tragedy because one of them is destined to fall and become dim. Look carefully at this picture. Although you can’t see the enemy, it’s because of this that it hints that the enemy you will face is far beyond your current level. Therefore, it’s very likely that your companion will die for it, or that both of you will fail.

Under such a bumpy fate, Maggie could not help but put away her previous relaxed attitude and became extremely focused. She did not wait for Vivian to speak and said bluntly,”

But don’t worry, Vivian. Although my dream is to change fate, I usually don’t give advice to others because it will involve me in other people’s fate. But for you, I don’t care. From the moment you saved me, we have been connected by the thread of fate. ”

Let me see. If you want to change your destiny, then the variable hidden inside is...”

The astrologer girl’s hand gesture changed again. The water in the astrolabe erased the old image of the Double Wolf Constellation and replaced it with a new constellation.

“This is...Water droplets? Eh, a necklace?”

Meji did not understand the meaning of the pattern on the astrolabe at first, but Vivian and the wolf cub understood it immediately. They looked at each other, and soon, a crystal necklace in the shape of a drop of water was taken out by Liao Zixuan from his backpack.

“This necklace...I seem to remember!”

The wolf cub was startled by Mei Ji’s intense reaction.

The astrologer girl immediately sensed the Water God’s Chain when it was taken out. She seemed to have been stunned and stared at the necklace.

After a long time, Mei Ji seemed to have finally come out of her memories.

“Sorry, I lost my composure a little, because I seem to have remembered a lot at once. May I ask where you got this necklace? If I remember correctly, that old woman of mine...There should be one that looked exactly the same. ”

“Old lady...Granny?”

“Ah, I forgot to explain to you. This is how I address my master. As for why I call him that...Oh, I’m not too sure either. There are still many memories that I can’t remember. Maybe it’s because I don’t get along with her?”

Mei Ji scratched her head in embarrassment.

After that, Vivian also told the girl about the origins of the Water God’s Chain. She also said that the purpose of their trip was to find the Water God and unseal the seal on the Water God’s Chain so that the necklace could recover its true power.

The astrologer girl, on the other hand, listened attentively and said something that shocked Vivian and the wolf cubs.

“Eh? You guys spent so much effort to travel across the country. So it was just to remove the seal? Then you should have said so earlier! I should be able to do it.”

“What? Don’t look at me like that. Didn’t I already say that although I don’t know if it’s the same necklace, that old woman of mine does have one too. As her only disciple, it’s normal for me to know the method to unseal it, right?”

Mei Ji puffed out her chest as she spoke, looking as if she was waiting for them.

After the little girl handed the necklace to the young girl, she stroked the necklace’s body and revealed a nostalgic expression. Soon, the magic fluctuation of the water element surged from her body.

Specks of starlight formed a pattern of stars, looming around the astrologer girl. It was clearly daytime, but it created a scene in the room that was like the night sky.

When Mei Ji's tactics reached their peak, the battle was over.

"Fate has appeared here!"

Mei Ji waved her hand and made a very handsome gesture. Immediately after, the Water God's Chain emitted intense starlight. Cracks appeared on the water-drop-shaped necklace, as if the water drop was amber and was just a shell..

Chapter 453: Ding, the cheat has been transferred to the account!_3

When the water droplet split open, the real necklace was revealed. It was a brand new, four-cornered, rhombus-shaped star.

The little wolf cub quickly opened the game's panel and checked the attributes of the Water God's Chains. He found that there had indeed been earth – shattering changes. [Water God's Chain (Unsealed)]

Mei Ji waved her hand and made a very handsome gesture. Immediately after, the Water God’s Chain emitted intense starlight. Cracks appeared on the water-drop-shaped necklace, as if the water drop was amber and was just a shell..

Chapter 454: Why Are You So So Familiar? 1

She looked at the star-shaped necklace in front of her. It was obvious that it was not an ordinary necklace. Then, she looked at the young man sitting opposite her. He was constantly signaling her with his eyes to quickly bring it along and try it on.

The fact that she had accepted the magical feather that had healed her burns last night had already made Ann feel very complicated. Before this, Ann had already done everything. She was going to be bandaged for the rest of her life.

Not only did he restore her appearance, but he also wiped away all the hidden injuries on her body. It was definitely no less than letting a blind person open her eyes to see the beautiful and beautiful world.

Ann didn't dare to get more. She was afraid that she would be addicted to it. Therefore, no matter what the necklace was for, her first reaction was to reject it.

"I don't..."

Unfortunately, before the girl could finish her sentence, the young man opposite her seemed to be impatient. After grabbing the necklace, he flashed behind Ann.

"You..." Being so close to her from behind, Ann's body instinctively tensed up, and she almost subconsciously turned on her combat mode.

She was not like Vivian, who was only pretending to be wanted in Fire Code City. Damir even opened the back door for the little girl to use the official portal of the Fire God Church. It took her less than a week to reach Red Plume Harbor.

What Ann experienced was that after she escaped from Fire Code City, she was wanted by the Demoness in the entire Flame Domain. She had to be careful every day and could not even hire a carriage frequently. Most of the time, she had to walk, step by step, crossing mountains and rivers to reach the border port of the Flame Domain that led to foreign countries.

This was not just a week or two, but a few months. It was enough for An Yang to be on high alert.

However, at this moment, a large palm pressed down on the girl's shoulder, suppressing her struggling momentum.

It wasn't over yet. The palm quickly passed through the shoulder and reached the most vulnerable part of the human body, the neck. This almost made the alarm bells in An Xin's heart ring non-stop.

"Don't move." Liao Zixuan said softly from behind An Lin's head, probably sensing the girl's reaction.

These two simple words made Ann purse her lips and suppress the strong sense of uneasiness she felt after being touched. She resisted the thought of struggling.

Liao Zixuan unbuttoned the Water God's Chain and the necklace slowly wrapped around the girl's delicate neck.

By the way, after healing all the scars on her body last night, Ann had removed the bandages except for her face. As for why her face was still wrapped, it was naturally to prevent the scene of two Vivians from appearing.

All in all, the young girl was now exposing her smooth and tender skin that had just been removed from the bandage.

When Liao Zixuan put on the necklace, he accidentally touched Ann, and her skin reacted like a mimosa.

Wherever Liao Zixuan touched, his body would immediately tremble and his breathing would quicken. However, at the same time, his entire body was still tightly tensed. It was very stiff and extremely nervous. This contrast could only be described in one sentence...

In short, it was very cute.

She knew that she couldn't push her luck. Although it was just a simple necklace, it was still not easy for the very conservative Ann.

After putting on the necklace, Liao Zixuan quickly left the girl's back. He was relieved to see Ann.

Even though the young girl did not say anything, from her angry and embarrassed eyes, it could be seen that Ann was extremely protesting against the young man's behavior just now, and...

He, he was really skilled...

Ann felt that Liao Zixuan's skillful technique... He was secretly delighted.

To be able to put a necklace on a girl without blushing or jumping, he must have had many experiences. As for who he had experienced it with, Ann felt that there was no need to ask.

She could feel that the young wolves were very loyal. Other than Vivian (herself), they would never go out to flirt.

Of course, Liao Zixuan couldn't understand that his small action could trigger so many scenes in An Xin's heart. He just thought that An Xin was too conservative.

Wasn't it just a necklace? He had given it to his paper wives countless times!

"How is it? Do you feel a King's Power emerging from your body?" Liao Xuan quickly changed the topic and took the opportunity to crack a joke.

On the other side, Ann was much more serious and reliable. As soon as Liao Zixuan asked this question, the girl quickly reacted. This necklace was different from the feather last night. It was to be used for serious matters.

Ann closed her eyes and carefully felt the changes in her body. When she opened her eyes again, she shook her head at Liao Zixuan with a puzzled expression.

"How about this, let's go to the kitchen." Liao Zixuan made a prompt decision and thought of the simplest way to verify it.

Although Ann felt strange, she did not say anything. When she saw the young man in front of her transform into a wolf cub, she silently picked him up.

The man and the beast were unimpeded on their way to the back kitchen of the restaurant without being questioned at all. The chefs and waiters inside even specially opened up a small area for them to use.

There was no other reason. The little wolf cub in Ann's arms was the best pass. After Ichiro's time with the supervising warrior, no one on the Astorokis could not recognize this "stray puppy" anymore. They looked at the little wolf cub as if they were looking at their ancestor, afraid that they would provoke the 'shikigami' monster and be taken out of the room at night to be thrown into the sea to feed the sharks..

Chapter 455: Why Are You So So Familiar?_2

It seemed that the little girl's random lie had now become a ghost story that was circulating among the crew.

The little wolf cub pointed at the pots and pans, indicating for Ann to cook something. The girl seemed to understand the function of this necklace and revealed a surprised expression. Then, she began to cook.

After a while, the fragrance of food began to spread. Just the smell of it was enough to make one's fingers move.

A simple plate of fried rice made Ann look incredulous, and the wolf cub was overjoyed. He ignored Ann's attempts to stop him and took a bite first.

Delicious!

From the little wolf cub's expression, Ann read this thought.

The girl looked down at her hand in a daze. She should have been under the influence of the curse. All the food that passed through her hand would become abnormally unpalatable and have negative effects.

But soon, Ann placed her hand on the necklace in front of her chest. She now completely understood the ability of the necklace.

“It... It can make the curse ineffective?”

After receiving the little wolf cub’s nod in response, Ann was at a loss for words for a moment. She suddenly understood why the young man was so eager to put the necklace on her in the beginning.

Three wishes and one curse.

This was the Witch’s ability that she had awakened, but under this necklace that was immune to curses, it became...

Three wishes, no curse.

In other words, she could pray at will without any cost!?

The wolf cub understood the expression on Ann’s face and nodded, then shook his head.

If he only treated Ann as a tool, then he could indeed make Ann wish as much as he wanted. With this, he could practically crush Ann and clear the level without any obstacles.

However, as long as one stood in Ann’s shoes and thought about it, they would realize that there was a problem.

The effect of the Water God’s Chain was only to “ nullify ” the curse, not to remove ” it. In other words, the curse would only be effective when the necklace was worn.

In other words, once Ann took off the necklace, the curse on her would immediately return.

If Ann really used Prayers without restraint, causing more and more negative effects to accumulate in the status bar, then once she lost the protection of the necklace, the consequences would be unimaginable.

Even though Liao Zixuan knew very well that the current Ann was just a " shadow of fate " and it was very likely that she did not really exist, but...

What if?

What if they returned to their respective parallel worlds after the intersection of the two world lines, the Astorokis, ended? Were they going to let Ann return with a curse? To make An's already dark world even worse?

In Ann's world, the young girl still had her revenge to take, and there were still people waiting for her to save. Besides the Blazing Feather, they could not help Ann much, so they could not add to Ann's burden.

Therefore, in order to prevent such a situation from happening, the little wolf cub solemnly explained to Ann that every time before making a wish, he must inform him in advance.

Ann understood what the little wolf meant. She nodded on the surface, but in reality...

Before the wolf cubs could notice, the girl had secretly used the kitchen knife to cut a small wound on her palm. It was not deep, but it was definitely noticeable from the outside.

Anne quickly covered it up and took the wolf cubs to find Vivian. After verifying the effectiveness of the necklace, it was time to carry out the real plan. Because Vivian did not want to know, if she knew her identity, it would be very awkward to meet her, and Ann had the same idea.

The two girls had the same idea. When they met here the next day, both of them clearly knew what was going on, but they both pretended to be stupid.

"Ann...Miss An, good morning!"

"Good morning to you too, Wei...Vivian."

The little wolf cub shook its head as it watched the two girls greeting each other. However, at this time, Ann did something unexpected.

I'm sorry, Vivian. I lied to you yesterday. Actually, I sneaked into this ship as a laborer to investigate something. Now, I have very certain information that this ship will be attacked by sea monsters tomorrow. I suspect that this matter has something to do with Ruzi.

"I heard that Miss Vivian is an outstanding adventurer and has a platinum-level advanced certification, so... For the sake of the Astorokis and everyone on board, can I ask Miss Vivian to assist me in preventing this disaster?"

An's words not only revealed her identity, but also explained her actions. Liao Zixuan only told An about the reincarnation cycle, but he didn't tell his little girl.

Vivian nodded without hesitation after a brief moment of reaction. She had been mentally prepared for this from the astrology girl in the morning.

As for Liao Zixuan, he was impressed by the fact that she was indeed Anne. It was really a relief to have such a teammate. In fact, he was not willing to tell the little girl about the rotation cycle because he could tell from the third experience that it would make Vivian fall into a heavy shadow of self-blame, which was not what he wanted to see..

Chapter 456: Why Are You So So Familiar?_3

However, neither Vivian nor the wolf cub noticed that when she stood up and let go of the little girl's palm, she secretly glanced at Vivian's palm.

He only saw that it was smooth and flat, and there was no trace of a knife on his palm.

Ann secretly turned her wrist and looked at the fresh knife mark on the same spot on her palm. The stone hanging in the girl's heart was finally put down.

Because her first wish...

He had succeeded.

I'm sorry, Little Black.

She silently apologized to the little wolf cub beside her in her heart because she did not keep her promise. After learning about the effects of the Water God's Chains, Ann immediately made a wish that she wanted to make the most after thinking about it for the whole night, but she did not dare to make it because she was afraid that the curse would be too serious.

This way...

Just like the failure in the "third" cycle that Little Black had told her about, it would never happen again, right?

As the thought flashed through her mind, Ann returned to the main topic of the plan.

She continued,

"Vivian, can you ask Miss Luzi out first? Just come to your room."

Ann did not directly mention the kidnapping. She was afraid that something would go wrong with her kind and naive self.

After the little girl heard this, she knew that it was a serious matter. She quickly nodded and left in a hurry.

During this time, Ann and the wolf cub hid in Vivian's room in a blind spot. They even dragged the sleeping sparrow and Xin Yan along.

Although the sleepy little sparrow had no idea who this new sister was and what they were up to, this feeling of hiding and hiding still made Xinyan very excited. He mimicked her and held his breath, his small eyes staring nervously at the door.

“Miss Vivian called me over in such a hurry. Is there something urgent?”

After taking Lu Zi into her room, Vivian followed Ann’s instructions and quietly closed the door and locked the room.

The little girl didn’t answer Luzi’s question immediately. She really couldn’t answer it. She just giggled and found a chair for Luzi first, then faced Luzi.

“Vivian...Miss?”

Under such a strange atmosphere, Roko also noticed that something was wrong. However, out of her trust in the little girl, she only emphasized her tone and tried to communicate with Vivian.

And at this moment...

Vivian shook her head at Ann, who was hiding in a corner. She did not smell any strange fragrance on Roko, and Ann did the same.

However, this would not be a reason for them to let Lu Zi go.

Roko only saw the apologetic expression on the little girl’s face, and the woman quickly became vigilant. As the person who could drive the Astorokis, she naturally had magic power.

However, before Roko could use her tactics, Ann’s figure had quietly appeared from behind the woman. Under Vivian’s wide-open eyes, she made a clean hand cut.

Plop!

When Vivian came back to her senses, she saw that Luzi had been knocked unconscious on the ground, and Anne had skillfully pulled out a large bundle of hemp rope.

“Ann...Miss An, what exactly are we...”

“Kidnapping, interrogation.”

An was simply talking while he tied the unconscious woman up on the chair. It was absolutely difficult for her to even move her fingers.

Ah, this...

You, why are you so skilled...

Vivian looked like she was about to shrink her neck. She did not expect that her other world line was so, so, uh...

The little wolf cub looked at Ann’s practiced technique and began to seriously doubt how many times Ann had done this kind of thing.

The only person present who was not afraid and was even so excited that he was drooling was...

Xin Yan.

The little sparrow looked at the scene in front of her and felt that a strange attribute that had been sleeping for a long time in the depths of her heart had finally been activated again.

Bind...

He was tied to the chair and could not move...

Hey... Hehe...

She really wanted to play this kidnapping game with this very skilled Big Sister Bandage!

Chapter 457: The Ice Queen (1)

“Miss Vivian, I don’t understand. What are you doing?”

After waking up, Lu Zi took a few seconds to figure out the situation. She did not show too much panic and calmly asked the little girl opposite her.

If I’ve done anything wrong, I can apologize to you and accept the investigation of dismissal after arriving in the Thousand Islands. With your relationship with Risa, you don’t have to use such low-level methods on me.”

“Or is it...”

Roko recalled the many unnatural things that Vivian had shown her when she was invited. Then, at the last second before she fell unconscious, Vivian shook her head at a certain position behind her...

As expected of the administrative officer of the Sakai family, she immediately thought of another possibility.

‘ Miss Vivian, if you have been bewitched by someone, then I sincerely beg you to reconsider. Not only have you failed to live up to Lady Risa’s trust, but you are also showing hostility to the society and the entire Thousand Islands. It doesn’t matter what you do to me, but the Astorokis and the passengers on this ship are innocent.

Seeing Luzi’s sincere look, the little girl didn’t know what to say. Fortunately, Ann walked out from behind at this time.

“Leave this place to me!”

Lu Zi followed the voice and looked over. Her expression immediately became much colder.

She had an impression of Ann because of the incident with the supervising samurai. However, Roko did not expect that there would be such a follow-up.

Ann didn’t waste any more time talking to Lu Zi. Based on her observation and the Witch’s lingering fragrance, the “ Lu Zi ” she was looking for wasn’t the Lu Zi they were looking for.

Do you know about Lin Dong and the magic puppet?” Ann suddenly asked.

On the other side, after staring at Ann in silence for a while, Luzi answered,”

” As the ruler of the Thousand Islands, I’ve naturally heard of the Nine Nations. If I’m not mistaken, the magic puppet you mentioned later should be similar to the staff in the Adventurer’s Association, right?”

Roko nodded in response, and then proceeded to the second level of information.

“Then do you know, the executive officer of the ‘Winter’s’? ”

“Executive officer? Was it the authority of the Winter? I’m sorry, I don’t know or understand what this has to do with our current appearance.

Roko was still confronting Ann with a cold face, but in fact, when she heard the words “ executive officer,” her heart was slightly stirred, but she might not even have noticed it.

However, this small detail was captured by Ann, who was already fully focused.

She had a rough idea of Luzi's situation.

After a moment of silence, Ann continued to give information,

Is that so? Then what if I say that there's a Winter Executive who claims to be a "doctor" who has privately established an organization to research and capture women with extremely powerful magic power in order to realize his plan to create a witch? Hearing this...Do you remember anything?"

"No, and I think you might have misunderstood something about me.

Upon hearing this, Roko understood what Ann meant. After all, her intentions were too obvious. She was targeting Lin Dong and the executive officer.

Moreover, Lu Zi could vaguely sense that the coolie who wrapped the bandages in this plane was not a vicious person. Because of this, she was even more puzzled. She could not help but take the initiative to say,

"You've asked me so many questions, so can you please tell me what your motive is for doing this to me? If it's reasonable, then I'm willing to fully cooperate with your investigation."

After Lu Zi said that, Ann shook his head.

"Miss Roko, in order to ensure the safety of you, this ship, and all of us, I'll have to trouble you to stay here tonight.

"Wait, what do you mean?"

As Roko shouted, Ann left the room with Vivian and the two monsters, leaving Roko alone.

She first assigned the little girl a mission to find Roko's assistant samurai on the ship and explain Roko's situation. Of course, she was not kidnapped, but there was something important that needed to be discussed with her all night to prevent the samurai from discovering Roko's disappearance and causing chaos on the ship.

Vivian did it quickly, and the process went smoothly. After all, the warriors knew the little girl's identity and did not suspect much.

When Vivian returned, the three of them found a corridor near the room and began to wait outside the room silently.

Time passed by slowly, and the light coming in from the window became weaker and weaker until it was completely dark.

Most of the passengers on the ship had returned to their rooms to rest. The night lights in the corridor were lit up, and the surroundings fell into silence. It was the same in Vivian's room.

Ann and the wolf cubs had very sharp senses. They could sense that about half an hour ago, Luzi's breathing had suddenly slowed down and finally became a very uniform rhythm, which symbolized sleep.

It was obviously abnormal to fall asleep so suddenly, especially in this kind of kidnapping situation. The few of them perked up. Soon, even Vivian noticed the abnormality.

"This smell is..."

Vivian's little nose twitched. She suddenly smelled a faint fragrance from her room. The fragrance was very strange. She knew it was not the smell of food, but more like a special spice..

Chapter 458: The Ice Queen (2)

This was not the first time Vivian had smelled a similar scent. For example, Anne, who was beside her, also had the same scent, but it was different, like a different type of spice.

“He’s here!”

Ann and the wolf cub looked at each other. They quickly opened the door and entered the room.

After that, the scene presented was really so strange.

In the dark room, only the moonlight could be seen from outside the cabin window. In the middle of the room was a woman tied to a chair. The woman looked like she was asleep with her head lowered, so much so that her black hair fell down and covered her face.

All of a sudden, the woman started to turn her neck left and right as if she had just woken up, but also as if she was adapting to her new body.

Two to three seconds later, a strange sound came out of Lu Zi’s mouth. This was because the woman realized that other than her neck, she could not move any other part of her body.

This made the woman realize that something was wrong. She started to look around and check the current state of her body.

She wouldn’t know if she didn’t look.

“What happened? Did I send my spirit to the wrong target?”

At this moment, footsteps sounded from behind Roko, causing her to immediately snap out of her surprise and subconsciously ask, “Who is it?” “Who is it? We should be the ones asking you this question, right?”

Ann walked up to Luzi. Judging from her performance and the lingering fragrance on her body, it was clear that she was the one they were looking for.

“Oh? Ha, this is really interesting.”

After hearing Ann’s question, the expression on Roko’s face turned into one of interest. She did not have the slightest awareness of being exposed or being at a disadvantage. Instead, she observed Ann with a smile.

She quickly asked,”

‘ You don’t look familiar. You’re not on my watch list on the Astorokis, so I’m curious...Who exactly are you? And how did you find me?’”

If I remember correctly, in order to ensure the success of the plan and prevent exposure, I used the gentlest method and only hypnotized Roko subconsciously. Other than only following my instructions in a few critical places, she should be no different from usual most of the time.”

The person who had taken over Rose-dew’s body didn’t seem to have any intention of hiding it. Instead, he openly revealed it in exchange for an explanation from Ann.

Unfortunately, all she received was Ann’s cold gaze.

“Alright, alright. How about this? As long as you tell me the reason, in exchange, I’ll tell you what I want to do to this ship. How about it?”

“Look at how tied up I am now. I definitely can’t carry out the follow-up plan. We exchanged information with each other, so our efforts weren’t in vain.

On the surface, it seemed like the woman was playing around, but if they did not know what would happen in the future, they might really have been paralyzed by her.

The Astorokis had been set on a course that would collide with Orochi on the last day. This was an established fact. Whether the woman told them or not, it could not be changed.

The reason why they still wanted to control Luzi was to find out the mastermind behind the scenes and the true motive behind the other party.

Thus, Ann gave the little wolf cub a look. This was what they had agreed upon. Whenever Ann wanted to use her "Wish" ability, she would inform him in advance.

Then...

Ann looked into the woman's eyes and began to speak word by word,"

"I hope that from now on, you will listen to me.

Haha?

Are you kidding me?

This was the first reaction of the woman who possessed the body of the woman when she heard Ann's words.

But it was obvious.

Her mouth had a different opinion from hers.

"Yes, Master."

After a short delay, the woman finally lost her composure.

Perhaps she was frightened and completely broke through her defense. She used an extremely high decibel voice and said in a panic,

“What? Why did I... You, what did you do to me!?”

Ann ignored the woman who was immersed in the recording. Her time was limited. Ann continued to give orders to the woman who was in the “Obedient” state.

“I want you to leave her body and completely cut off the connection between you and her, so that you can never possess her again.”

“Dream on! That’s impossible!”

The woman gritted her teeth in anger and stopped halfway-

“Yes, Master.”

After she said this line respectfully, a soul phantom was stripped out of Rose-chant’s body and floated in front of everyone.

After that, Roko seemed to have lost her support. Her head hung down again and she fell into a deep sleep.

“What kind of ability is this? You, who are you?”

The woman now was like a patient with schizophrenia.

Before Ann gave her orders, she could still maintain her self-control. However, once she heard Ann’s voice, it was as if there was a magical power that made her instantly submit to him. She treated Ann as her master and listened to him.

“Tell me, who are you, and what is your purpose on the Astorokis?”

“I don’t...”

“Yes, Master. I don’t have a name. I only have the code name of an executive officer given to me by the supreme Ice Empress. ”

” The operation on this ship is a very crucial part of our Thousand Islands Plan. We’ve been planning this for a long time, but according to the original plan, we shouldn’t have carried it out so quickly. However, due to the failure of the Flame Domain Plan, we were forced to change our schedule and secretly push forward the Astorokis’s departure.

In this way, we’ll be able to kill three birds on one ship. We’ll be able to eliminate the biggest cause of our plan to fail in the Flame Domain. The girl named Vivian can also provoke the anger of the Yamata no Orochi, which will pave the way for the fall of this forbidden monster and facilitate the collection of data. Finally, we can also use this as an excuse to overthrow the Sakai family, the current ruling Sakai family, and replace them with our own people. This way, we can indirectly control two of the three families of the Thousand Islands.”

Regardless of whether we are in the Thousand Islands, the Flame Domain, or soon, we will be in Green Maple and Gui Li. The goal of all the plans in the Godly Kingdom is only one, and that is to assist our supreme Ice Empress to fight against...”

Just as the lady’s soul phantom was about to say ” object of resistance,” it seemed to have violated an unforgivable taboo. In an instant, the temperature in the room began to plummet.

In just a few seconds, the crystal clear frost started to climb up from the corners, windows, and bookshelves in the cabin.

White fog began to appear in front of everyone’s faces. It was the hot air they breathed out. When it encountered the cold air, it instantly froze.

Not only Ann, but even the wolf cubs had yet to react when the shadow of the ‘ lady ’ in front of them changed. Could souls be frozen too?

The answer was yes.

The little wolf cub felt a bone-chilling chill. Even with his Forbidden Body, he could not withstand it at all. It was as if an iceberg had penetrated the depths of his soul.

The last time he felt this way was during the Samsara of Death. That pair of eyes that were staring at him like the sea of stars wanted to drag him into the whirlpool of the deep sea.

The wolf cub immediately reacted. This was...

It was the gaze of a God.

However, this time, this gaze did not come from the Water God. It was clearly...Ice God.

Fortunately, this gaze was not focused on them. Or rather, this gaze had no self-awareness.

The whole process is fast, the whole process is fast, the whole process is fast.

In the blink of an eye.

When everyone came back to their senses.

The temperature in the room had slowly risen. The frost that had frozen all over the furniture had also melted into water and began to drip down.

The only thing that had not returned to normal was...

In front of them, the soul of the lady had turned into an ice sculpture.

But it was still very fast.

After a “crack” sound was heard.

Cracks began to appear on the soul ice sculpture from the head, and at an extremely fast speed, they spread to the soles of its feet.

Pa!

Like a mirror, it shattered completely, turning into shards of ice before disappearing into nothingness..

Chapter 459: Cause and Effect

Winter, executive officer,

In the game’s storyline in his previous life, these two words didn’t appear very often. The one who had always appeared as the villain in the players’ eyes was the Fallen Abyss.

But now, it seemed that there was another big hand behind the Fallen Abyss incident that had caused chaos in various countries.

Even though the “lady” didn’t reveal much information and was killed by the Ice Queen, Liao Zixuan still managed to capture a lot of key information from her words.

Firstly, it was the connection between them and Fallen Abyss.

From the lady’s description, she mentioned that the main purpose of crashing the Astorokis into the Yamata no Orochi was to catalyze the forbidden monster’s “abyssalization” process. At the end, she mentioned the words “collect data”

In fact, Liao Zixuan had been a little puzzled since he was in the Flame Domain. The shadows of Fallen Abyss and Winter could appear on Count Sisre at the same time. Could there be some connection between the two?

Now, it could be considered preliminary confirmation. At the very least, it was very likely that the Ice Queen of Lin Dong had long sensed the existence of the Fallen Abyss. It was even to the point that she had already begun to study the Fallen Abyss.

In the Flame Domain, it was Count Sisl who had been infected by the Fallen Abyss. In the Thousand Islands, it was Orochi who had been corroded by the Fallen Abyss.

Liao Zixuan couldn't help but recall the definition of " Fallen Abyss " in Fallen God. He remembered that the official setting was that the Fallen Abyss was an evil force that didn't exist in this world and invaded from the outside. The source of its power came from the negative emotions of the creatures on the continent.

If it weren't for the cold winter, Liao Zixuan might not have associated the Fallen Abyss with the Witch, but now that he suddenly compared them together, he found that there were indeed similarities between the two. They both used negative emotions as the foundation of their power and belonged to the evil camp.

So, could it be that the mysterious organization established by the Doctor to study witches was trying to use the power of the Fallen Abyss to become a way to realize the " artificial witch " ?

As for why such crazy behavior was not stopped, but instead received the tacit approval and support of the Ice Queen, the Ice God, the key reason was most likely the thing that the Ice God wanted to fight against as mentioned by the " lady " at the end.

Everyone knew that when faced with a powerful enemy that was at the risk of life and death, the best method was to resort to unscrupulous means.

Liao Zixuan felt that it was a pity that he didn't know what the " object of resistance " was.

However, if they thought about it from another perspective, the more they knew, the more dangerous it might be. This unknown existence that even a 'god' would use any means possible to resist was clearly not something they could come into contact with at the moment.

The fate of the lady who was one of the executives was the best proof. She was killed without hesitation and without any mercy.

Tsk.

After sorting out all the information in his mind, the wolf cub couldn't help but sigh.

Back then, as a "player," he was like an examinee sitting in an examination hall. Under the pre-designed test paper, he solved the questions step by step.

And now, as a Dark Flame Wolf, he had changed from an examinee to a question setter.

What would happen to this test paper in the future...

He and the little girl beside him might not be able to make a complete decision, but they would definitely be able to participate in the key questions.

However, he believed that no matter how difficult the questions were, the tens of millions of players would be able to solve them easily. This was the power of the Fourth Calamity, and also the decisive advantage that allowed them to rise from the grassroots.

Of course, there were still more than three weeks before the open beta. They could not count on these "warriors" for the time being. They had to rely on themselves for a while.

The number one problem that Liao Zixuan needed to solve now was still the Yamata no Orochi that he would encounter tomorrow.

The hidden danger in Roko's body had been eliminated. Ann shook her awake and told her everything that had happened just now.

At first, Roko didn't believe it. But later, Vivian showed up and used the little wolf cub's in-game recording function, which corresponded to the magic of recording images in reality. After showing Roko the whole process, the administrative officer of the Sakai family completely believed that he was the mole.

"I'm really sorry!"

In front of the two girls, Roko immediately made the same apology as the supervising samurai. It was the highest standard of apology in the Thousand Islands. She knelt down and pressed her head to the ground.

Hurry to give, help up later, dew son also know now is not an apology time, situation emergency, she first is recall, down, she is where is being hypnotized by people control.

A few minutes later, Roko found the most likely location from her memory. It was a week ago, when she went to perform her ritual to hand over the paperwork report about the ongoing "Divine Wizard Selection."

However, there was a small incident in the middle. Roko remembered that other than meeting her colleague, there was another foreigner in the middle of winter. There was clearly a foreigner who appeared at the core of her family's power structure. Such a suspicious thing was forgotten by her at that time. It was only today that she suddenly remembered.

It was obvious that from then on, someone had already given her a hint.

Furthermore, the expression on Roko's face became even more serious as she continued to deduce. This was because the lady had mentioned that toppling the Sakai family of the society was also one of her goals. Moreover, she said that this would allow her to control two of the three..

Chapter 460: Cause and Effect

In that case, it seemed that the people of the country had been secretly manipulating them. This was undoubtedly a great blessing. For Lu Zi, this was no different from a bolt from the blue.

When An still did not understand and asked what the Great Fu-Practicing was,

Lu Zi replied, ”

” The Great Fu Sect is in charge of the military forces of the Thousand Islands. They are also the main force and executor of the ‘Divine Wizard Selection.’ No wonder they would target the Eight Limbed...”

“Wait a minute, Miss Lu, is this matter related to the forbidden monster in the Roko nodded. Since she was going to face Orochi later, it was necessary for her to briefly explain the origin of the snake to Vivian and Anne. Perhaps it would be helpful later.

” The two of you aren’t locals of the Thousand Islands, so you naturally don’t understand. Every ten years, the Thousand Islands hold a Divine Magus election. The girls who have the potential to become Divine Magi are chosen by the ‘god’ of the Thousand Islands. They compete for the selection, and in the end, a Divine Magus is born. The Divine Magus will enter the Abyss Sea and be sacrificed to the Yamata no Orochi.

“This... I don’t quite understand why humans are sacrificed to... Demonic creature?” Vivian found it a little unacceptable.

However, Lu Zi shook her head.

“The sacrifices here are not meant to be sacrifices. If we really talk about this matter, it will involve the history of the Thousand Islands.”

Both of you should know that before the Era of the Nine Gods, order had yet to be established, and the world was still in chaos and war. At that time, ordinary people had to rely on powerful existences if they wanted to live. Orochi was the first patron saint of the people of the Thousand Islands at that time.”

But then, with the rise of the Nine Gods and the arrival of a new era, a country cannot have two gods. Even if the Water God didn't mind, the Orochi's pride wouldn't allow it. Therefore, it took the initiative to wage war against the Water God."

In the end, the snake was defeated, but the Water God was merciful and didn't kill it. Instead, he made an agreement with the snake and allowed it to bring its people who were still willing to follow it to the bottom of the deep sea. Legend has it that there is an eye of the sea there that connects to the Evil World, and it is called the Abyss Sea."

"The condition for the snake and its offspring to survive is to guard the Abyssal Sea for all eternity to prevent the evil from surging out of the eye of the Abyssal Sea and harming the Thousand Islands."

As an official of the Sheshi House, Roko was extremely proficient in the culture of the Thousand Islands, because Sheshi House was in charge of sacrifices and ceremonies.

Although a small portion of the information was already classified as internal documents, at this point, Roko did not hold anything back. She tried her best to use short and clear words, hoping to quickly let the two people in front of her obtain more information.

Because she knew that this was the only way she could win a chance of survival in the upcoming shipwreck.

"As for the selection of Divine Magi, under the new era's ideology advocated by the Grand Ceremony, it is regarded as an inspection system. By sending the selected Divine Magi to the Water God Temple in the Abyssal Sea, it is determined whether the snake and its descendants are continuing to fulfill the agreement and whether they are continuing to guard the Abyssal Sea."

'Of course, our society has always been against it. Because in our eyes, the selection of the Divine Wizard is more like a consolation. It tells the snake and its descendants, as well as the people who followed the snake into the Abyssal Sea and are now known as the survivors of the Abyssal Sea, that they have not been forgotten. The Water God and the people of the Thousand Islands still remember them.

After listening to the history of the "selection of the Divine Wizard," the little wolf cub suddenly remembered that in the "third" experience, there was an old Thousand-island Warrior on the ship. He had also emphasized the selection of the Divine Wizard to the violent snake, calling it an inducement. He had also mentioned the words "resistance" and disrespect many times.

From the looks of it, the older generation of samurai should have been more inclined to the concept of "social practice" and had a sense of reverence for the Yamata no Orochi. However, why did the concept of the great ceremony become the mainstream, and even the situation of the shrine maiden escaping?

Lu Zi didn't let the wolf cubs wait for too long. After she finished explaining the general history, she returned to the current situation with a heavy expression.

However, in recent years, there have been more and more people who oppose the Divine Magus Selection among the people of the Thousand Islands. The reason is that all the Divine Magi who entered the Abyssal Sea have started to...There's no return to the United States."

"At first, they could still suppress it. But as time went on, people began to question whether the snake had broken its promise and torn up the contract. Then, wouldn't it be equivalent to sending a sheep into the tiger's den to die if they chose their Divine Wizard?"

Because of this, the impression of the snake among the people of the Thousand Islands began to deteriorate rapidly, and they boycotted the selection of the Divine Magus. Initially, every family hoped that their daughter could be selected as a candidate for the Divine Magus, which was an honor to bring honor to their ancestors. Now, everyone is afraid that their daughter would be selected by the Great Fu Priest and taken away to become food for the snake."

Hearing this, Ann couldn't help but ask,"

"What about Water God? Didn't your Lord Water God show up after such a big thing happened?"

Vivian was also puzzled by this. Both of them were born from the Flame Domain.

Although the Fire God Alice's recent actions were a little like stabbing her people, if one looked at the river of time in the entire Flame Domain, the Fire God was still very dutiful. She protected the Flame Domain at all times. If there was even the slightest movement, she would immediately nip it in the bud..
