Chapter 471: You Are Called Yamata no Orochi? 1

Sea.

This was the deepest part of the sea. In the legends of the Thousand Island culture, this place was connected to the demon's nest and was the most dangerous place in the world.

Any light would be devoured here. The sea floor was so dark that one could not even see one's fingers. The seawater was so cold that it was bone-piercing. The seawater that should have been soft was squeezing flesh and blood like a knife under the extremely strong water pressure.

However, what made the Abyssal Sea even more terrifying was far from these ordinary appearances.

If a school of fish or powerful sea creatures were lucky enough not to be torn into pieces by the water pressure, they would suffer an even more terrifying attack.

It was a whisper from the demons in the Abyssal Sea.

In an instant, the fish and sea creatures would be bewitched and swim crazily in the sea. Finally, under the corrosion of the demon's whispers, their bodies would rot and collapse, turning from sea creatures into slaves of the demon.

Under the control of the demons, they would swim out of the Abyss Sea and into the sea where they lived.

They would attack all living things in their sight. Even the weakest fish would dare to bite at the predators that were several times larger than them, or even the upper predators that used to treat them as food.

They tried to assimilate living beings outside Abyssal Sea and expand the area of the Abyssal Sea bit by bit until one day, the Abyssal Sea was expanded to the point where the demons that were connected to the bottom of the Abyssal Sea could surge out of their nests.

At that time, not only the ocean, but even the creatures on the land and the people on the Thousand Islands would suffer an unprecedented catastrophe.

It was the Water God, Floria, who came forward and solved the problem of the Abyssal Sea.

It was once said that in Green Maple, the Wind God used his own strength to raze the cliffs into flat ground, turning them into flat terrain suitable for living beings to live in, creating the endless green grassland of Green Maple today.

It was once said that in Guili, there was a rock god who summoned all the immortals and conquered the four directions. The forbidden land filled with demons and ghosts became the largest territory and population among the nine countries. It was the most suitable place to live and work in peace and commerce.

He had once heard that in the Flame Domain, a Fire God had descended a meteorite and...Will...

What the Water God did for the Thousand Islands was to release divine power and transform the Abyssal Sea. Legend has it that the Water God drained all the polluted seawater in the Abyssal Sea and built a palace on it. It was called...Water God Palace.

The light of the palace dispelled the darkness of the Abyssal Sea and brought warmth. The power of the Water God also made the demons entrenched under the Abyssal Sea retreat, not daring to whisper and bewitch the living.

Hundreds of years ago, after the battle with the great snake, there was another hall outside the Water God Palace, the Snake God Palace. As the fate of the defeated, the great snake and its people would live in the Snake God Palace for generations to come, surrounding the Water God Palace and helping to guard the demon's nest under the Abyssal Sea.

However, legends were still legends.

At this moment, the Abyssal Sea in reality was quite different from the one in the story. The first thing to be affected was the light. In the story, under the light of the Water God Palace, the entire sea area was illuminated, simulating the sunlight on the ground.

However, in reality, there were only a few faint lights in the Endless Sea, and they did not come from the Water God Palace at the highest point. The palace that should have been lit up was like a withered oil lamp, extinguished and dimmed.

It was still struggling to hold on, allowing the darkness of the Abyssal Sea to return and devour everything. It was still emitted from the subordinate Snake God Temple, and it was the dim light that was like a candle in the wind that was mentioned earlier.

If one looked closely, they would find that the " decoration " on the roof of the Snake God Temple was eight huge snake heads, and the entire outside of the temple was covered with wires that looked like " circuits."

The reason for this was because the threads around the temple god seemed to be delivering energy to the Snake God Temple, supporting the temple to keep emitting a dark light and not extinguish.

All of a sudden.

The originally calm Abyssal Sea water seemed to have received a huge force and began to fluctuate violently. Immediately after, if there were outsiders present, they would definitely be so frightened that they would fall to the ground.

The " wires " on the Snake God Temple moved as if they were alive!

They coiled around the temple and moved slowly. They didn't move much, as if they were consciously controlling them, afraid of damaging the Snake God Temple itself.

so...

It should be said that they were not wires, but...Body.

This was confirmed by what happened next.

The eight giant snake heads that were originally decorated on the roof of the palace opened their eyes in unison. In the dark sea, it was as if eight spotlights had suddenly lit up.

However, one of them was obviously different in color from the other seven. That was...

It was a red color that was filled with a violent aura.

Hiss...

Hiss...

In the silent sea, there was the sound of breathing and the sound of dangerous and rapid breathing.

Anyone familiar with snake-type monsters would know that this meant that it had entered a state of alert after being stimulated by the outside world.

The eight heads of the snake that was entrenched in the hall were raised and looked up at the sea. If one could calculate, they would find that their gaze was directed at the Astorokis that was sailing on the sea and entering the Abyssal Sea Domain.

At first, the snake might have sensed that the intruder was not an enemy and had no malicious intent, so it suppressed its desire to attack..

Chapter 472: You Are Called Yamata no Orochi?_2

But then, as the Astorokis got closer and closer to the core of the Endless Sea, and closer and closer to the snake, the snake began to become irritable.

Even though the other seven heads were trying to suppress the thought of eliminating the intruder, the remaining head with red eyes continued to sway, trying to float up.

The final thing that broke the balance was that the snake finally sensed the aura of the Heart of the Sea on the Astorokis.

No, to be precise, because it was made by imitating the Water God's " Heart of God," it was very likely that the snake had mistaken it for the real Heart of God.

In an instant...

Hiss...

Hiss!

The snake's eight heads became irritable at the same time. The entire Snake God Palace that was wrapped around the snake's body was shaking a little because of this, as if it was about to be crushed by the snake.

Fortunately, despite the snake's huge size, it was surprisingly agile. The entire process took less than a minute, and its huge body had already left the Snake Shrine.

The eight heads controlled its body, ignoring the duties that the Water God had requested of it. It had to stay in the Abyssal Sea at all times and could not leave even an inch. The snake began to swim at an extremely fast speed, bringing the water in the entire Abyssal Sea area to boil as it swam fiercely towards the surface of the sea.

Closer and closer, closer and closer to the

As it rose higher, sea creatures began to appear around the snake. However, whether it was the school of fish or other large sea creatures, they all paled in comparison to the snake. It was as if they had seen a small wizard. They fled everywhere, making way for the snake, afraid that they would become its prey.

However, the snake didn't even look at them. At this moment, the snake's eight heads and sixteen pairs of vertical pupils were only staring at one target.

Astorokis on the sea.

If one were to look down from the ship, they would be shocked to find that it was similar to a terrifying scene in sea monster horror movies, where a giant beast was about to come out of the water.

"Hurry up...Look!"

The first passenger who was leaning against the cabin window noticed this scene.

His shout attracted more people to come closer.

"Then... What's that?"

"Something is coming out of the water!"

"It's the snake, it's that snake!"

The shadow created by the serpent's massive body was initially a dot.

However, as the snake approached, the shadow that was seen from the sea surface doubled in size. The area grew larger and larger until it could even cover a large area of the sea.

However, very soon.

Through the shadows, it could be seen that the snake seemed to have suddenly slowed down. From its original position of shooting straight out of the water like an arrow, it had turned into a spiral swimming in the sea, slowly approaching like a winding mountain road.

Although it slowed down the speed, the impact on the surface of the sea was even greater.

Due to the snake's size, any movement would cause the entire sea to tremble.

Now that it was spiraling upwards, it would create a huge whirlpool in the sea.

The Astorokis was no longer the largest ship under the waves of the giant whirlpool. It was like a fallen leaf in the water, helpless and powerless.

At the same time, the originally rainy sky seemed to finally be unable to support itself. The wind began to blow, and the rain began to pour. Raindrops hit the windows, and the intense rain alone made the passengers inside tremble with fear.

In addition, the raging sea outside could be described as a "disaster".

"We're finished..."

"The prophecy is true, that snake has come out!"

"We're dead, we're dead..."

The final blow to the hearts of the wailing passengers was the sound of water splashing.

Following that.

A huge, ferocious snake head broke out of the water and stared at the Astorokis with its red, vertical pupils. To it, the Astorokis was like a toy on the sea.

The snake's glance alone made countless passengers turn pale with fear. Some of them even fainted.

Zhao Jie gripped the family portrait pocket watch tightly in his arms, his lips turning purple. Lu Zi, who was in the control room, looked at the scene outside the window and was also on the verge of collapse. She gritted her teeth.

The female Astrologer next to Ryu, Maggie, also seemed to be dumbfounded.

She stood rooted to the ground, but she was the first to recover from her fear.

She continued to use spells that she could not understand, trying to control the Heart of the Sea that had already changed a little.

Hiss...

Hiss...

Snake-type monsters did not have vocal cords. They made sounds by breathing. When they were at the bottom of the sea, there was no reference. Now that they were at the surface of the sea, they realized that the hissing sound alone could reverberate throughout the entire sea area, penetrate the hull, and hit the ears of all passengers. It made people feel a chill on their backs and spines.

It raised its head high. Just its body standing up from the sea was as tall as four or five Astorokis. God knew how long the snake really was, including those that were hidden under the water.

The snake looked down at the ship as if it was looking at an ant.

This was only one of the heads of the Yamata no Orochi.

It was obvious that there were originally eight heads, but something happened in the middle, so there was only one head.

Even so, as a forbidden demonic creature that had appeared in the historical legends of the Thousand Islands, no one knew how long this snake had lived or how many years it had experienced..

Chapter 473: You Are Called Yamata no Orochi?_3

However, just from the fact that he could fight with the Water God and challenge the Water God, and that the Water God had accepted it and truly regarded the snake as an opponent, it was not too much to describe it as comparable to a god.

Moreover, before the Era of the Nine Gods, Orochi was originally worshipped as a " god."

However...

Even a god would fall.

The snake's head confirmed that the Heart of the Sea on the Astorokis was not Pearl's Heart of the Water God, and the Water God was not behind this human ship.

Hiss!

The snake's head flicked its tongue wildly, and its body began to slowly retreat. It formed a bow and gathered strength. Anyone could see that the snake was about to attack.

His red vertical pupils flickered with killing intent, brutality, and madness.

After the bow reached its maximum, the muscles of its body suddenly exerted force. The entire huge snake head was like an arrow that was released from the bow. It used the most primitive method to violently collide with the Astorokis.

It seems that only in this way, the great snake can get the pleasure of satisfaction.

It was enjoying its time on the Astorokis. The ant-like humans screamed under its charge. Their eyes widened, and their faces were filled with despair and ashes.

These human emotions were like nourishment for the snake, but also like a catalyst, making the snake's head exert more strength.

However...

The only thing that puzzled the snake was the bright spot. First, why were all these humans in the cabin and only a few figures on the deck?

The second was...

Why did the few figures on the deck not give it any fear when they saw its head charging at it? On the contrary, they even...

"Humph."

It was the hissing of the snake that echoed in the ears of the people on the Astorokis.

Now, at this critical moment, just as his head was about to hit the ship and overturn it completely, or even split it into two, suddenly, a seemingly... A young girl's cold snort?

This voice that was completely incongruous with the current scene suddenly sounded.

And then...

This scene was unforgettable for all the passengers in the cabin, including Roko and the Thousand-island Warriors.

When        were on the deck,        did not see the girl.

However, when the young lady shot up from the deck like a cannonball and used her thin body to meet the head of the huge snake, this scene was imprinted in everyone's eyes.

Ann already had Level 40 attributes. With the buffs of the gift equipment and the Dark Flame Wolf's attributes, she was already close to Level 50.

Not to mention, Ann also had the wish she had made with Prayer, which increased her strength by several times.

The combination of multiple areas had finally created the level 60 Ann who could be called the Witch.

Perhaps it was still not enough to deal with the Level 80 Yamata no Orochi at its peak, but if it was only used to deal with one head..

That was more than enough.

Ann Ann waved her arms, and the chain claws on both sides, one left and one right, formed a pincer attack, bringing with it a whistling wind as she attacked the snake head.

Both of them were moving at high speed, and in the blink of an eye, they collided.

In the previous cycle, even the Astorokis, which was protected by the Heart of the Sea, shook violently under the impact of the snake and almost flipped over.

But this time...

Bang!

One of the two figures flew out like a kite with a broken string.

The reason why the passengers on the Astorokis forgot to breathe for a moment and were so dumbfounded that they could not speak was that the owner of this figure was the huge snake that had brought them fear a second ago.

On the other hand, the figure of the young girl who had rushed out from the deck earlier was now safely floating in the air.

She had moved too quickly just now, and the crowd could not see the girl's appearance clearly.

But now...

Two blood-red claws floated beside the girl.

She was dressed in a noble dress that contrasted with the current scene. It was not the slim and elegant style of a young lady from a noble family. At a glance, one could feel her flamboyant and unruly unique style.

The hem of her dress fluttered in the wind, just like her long hair that had changed because of her dress. The outside was black, but the inside was red.

Unlike Vivian who had her hair tied up in a ponytail under Xin Yanli's outfit, Ann's change did not bind her hair. Instead, it seemed to be more relaxed.

Her long hair draped over her shoulders, and the volume of her hair had quietly increased. It hung down like a waterfall, even covering her back. At the end of her hair, there was a small rise. It was no different from a finishing touch, which further highlighted her flamboyant nature.

In the eyes of the crowd, the girl was elegant yet wild, just like how she was wearing a blood-red dress on a battlefield.

It gave people a sense of shock, but unexpectedly, no one felt that something was amiss.

Even if he did, he didn't dare to breathe loudly. He quickly extinguished this thought in his heart. It didn't go wrong. How was it wrong?

If one wanted to ask why...

The snake head that the girl had sent flying back to the water was the best reason.

The girl's devilish laughter echoed on the surface of the sea like a silver bell, yet it made people shiver.

"You're the one called Yamata no Orochi?"

"Why did you have to take the initiative to come to my door? Could it be that you also want to...Giggle, become my toy?"

Chapter 474: Raising Your Head Too High

Boom!

The sound of splashing water could be heard as the snake's head, which had been sent flying, rushed out of the water in anger. It was obviously humiliated by the defeat just now. It was just that it had been ambushed by Ann.

It still did not use the power of the sea. It was still the simplest and most brutal attack. The snake opened its bloody mouth and bit at Anthony, who was in midair.

After Ann's attack succeeded, she didn't take it head-on. She fully utilized her advantage of being petite and agile compared to the snake.

The young girl did not panic at all when facing the snake's bloody mouth.

She jumped up and tapped the long heel of her ceremonial boots lightly in the air. The moment the snake's mouth closed in on her, she rushed up and let the snake bite the air.

However, this was not the end. The girl in the sky took advantage of the gap between the snake's bite to descend rapidly and accurately landed on the snake's head. After that...

Ann stepped on the snake's head with her boots.

Although this was nothing compared to the snake with the girl's body size, the damage was not high, but it was extremely insulting.

Being stepped on by an ant-like human made the snake's already manic head even angrier.

It twisted its body crazily, trying to shake Ann off.

However, Orochi didn't even need to do this to begin her next move.

The chain claws on the left and right sides of the snake were grabbed by the girl.

Immediately after, on the giant snake's head, the girl's mouth had a similarly crazy smile. She directly jumped backward as if she was bungee jumping. Ann spread her arms and gently jumped backward.

Shua!

In the blink of an eye, the girl's body began to fall freely from the head of the snake that was a hundred meters tall.

The whistling sound of the wind echoed in An's ears, but the sound of the wind echoed together, and there was another very harsh sound of the friction of the chain and claws.

The chain claws that Ann had grabbed onto the snake's scales were now falling at high speed along with the girl's free fall.

The chains were stretched taut, and the claws tore through the scales of the snake, only reaching deeper into the flesh. Every time Ann fell, the claws would cut through the skin and flesh of the snake. When Ann returned to normal height, a long claw mark full of blood was left on the snake's head.

Hiss!

Hiss...!

The snake's breathing quickened from the pain, and its neck twisted in the air like a rattle-drum.

It finally began to look at Ann seriously. It didn't understand why, as a forbidden monster, its scales should have been the strongest defense in the world, but it was so easily broken by the other party.

That pair of blood-red claws...

Snake Eyes stared at the girl's weapon. It was only then that it noticed the aura coming from the chain claws. It was an aura that only belonged to the 'forbidden monsters' like it.

This instantly caused the snake's head to become extremely vigilant. It even took the initiative to retreat and put some distance between itself and Ann.

Even though it could not understand how a noble forbidden monster could become a weapon in the hands of a human with its current chaotic mind, it knew that if the enemy also had taboo power, it could really hurt its life.

Thus, the same scene as the previous cycle appeared.

The snake no longer used brute force. Instead, it began to stir the sea. Under the movement of the snake, the sea water was pulled up from the surface of the sea, forming spiral water columns that surrounded the snake.

It roared angrily at the girl. The sound did not come from the snake itself, but from the huge waves that were more than ten meters tall. One after another, they slapped at the girl.

In a home-ground battle, the entire sea area could become the great snake's assistance. Under the surging waves, Ann's figure was like a red crystal butterfly dancing in the air.

Every time it was about to be swallowed by the huge waves, the red butterfly would always fly left and right at the right time and reappear in a safe position in the next second.

The distant snake raised its head as if it thought that Red Butterfly was like a moth to a flame and couldn't dodge its waves every time. As long as it was in this sea, it was the absolute ruler.

It seems that the truth is true.

The snake kept using the spiral water column from the bottom of the sea to block Ann's movement trajectory and squeeze Ann's space to hide. In the eyes of the snake, the butterfly that made it restless was drowned in the sea.

Finally, the girl seemed to have been completely forced into a dead end. There were monstrous waves in all directions, and she had nowhere to retreat.

The red butterfly could no longer dance. After the snake controlled the waves to swarm forward, when the seawater fell, it was as if the butterfly did not miraculously survive and was thrown into the sea from the sky.

The snake's vertical pupils revealed a smug and satisfied expression, but what it did not know was that in the blind spot behind its neck, a Dark Nightmare Gate had quietly opened.

The blood-red crystal butterfly that was thought to have been drowned by the huge wave, the figure of the girl holding the claws, silently appeared here.

The wolf cub had also used this move in the previous cycle, but it had activated the Shadow Door. Although it could also achieve the effect of short-distance teleportation, it was easy for the opponent to discover it.

When it became a gift and fused with Ann, the Dark Flame Wolf, which was originally mainly of the fire attribute and only a sub-attribute of the dark element, was greatly stimulated by Ann and turned into a host. Under the chemical reaction with Ann, a new power was finally born..

Chapter 475: Raising Your Head Too High (2)

It was not Dark Flame, but Dark Nightmare. This power existed in the same form as Ann, drifting between illusion and reality like an erratic quantum. Its greatest characteristic was that it was difficult to detect and could not be restrained by any elemental power.

When others finally noticed..

Just like the snake at this moment.

However, it was already too late. The Nightmare had descended, and the snake still maintained its triumphant look. However, the girl's voice rang in its ears.

"Your head is too high..."

Distorted spatial power spread from Ann's two chain claws. In an instant, it was as if the entire world had stopped, leaving only the two colors of red and black like the girl.

Red was the background, while black marked her prey.

“Get down!”

With a cold snort, Ann threw the chain claws behind her back to the limit and pulled back violently. The chain claws intersected left and right, forming a cross. With the snake’s neck as the center of the “X” they finally tore it apart.

He couldn’t even scream.

The back of the neck was the snake’s weakest and most fatal part, and now Ann’s chain claws had dug a bloody hole in it.

Its huge body seemed to have lost control of its consciousness in an instant. Without any signs of struggle, it fell straight to the sea in front of it.

Crash!

Countless waves were splashed high up. Just the fact that its body plunged into the sea caused quite a large wave, causing the sea to fluctuate violently.

Everyone on the Astorokis forgot to breathe. Many of them were like wooden figures, opening their mouths to say something, but no sound came out. The only thing left in their minds was the scene of the world turning red and black, and the girl assassinating the snake.

Slowly, after the ripples of the sea subsided and the surface of the sea returned to calm, no more waves were seen after a full minute. The snake’s head did not rise from the sea again.

“It... Is it dead?”

Finally, a passenger could make a sound. His trembling voice rang in the ears of everyone hiding in the cabin.

This sentence was like a fuse that completely ignited the fear that had been suppressed for a long time among the passengers. After their lives were on the line, they finally escaped with a narrow escape. The indescribable emotions in their hearts.

“We survived, we survived!

“Sob... Mom, Mom, I miss you so much!”

“Someone, someone give me a slap, let me know this isn’t a dream.

After surviving the disaster, they cried bitterly. Many passengers who did not know each other hugged each other nearby to vent their emotions and tell themselves that it was not fake.

Of course, there were also a small number of people who quickly recovered from the joy of surviving the disaster and began to think more.

“Yamata no Orochi, that’s a genuine Yamata no Orochi! Who was that girl? Even the snake was no match for her?”

“It must be the witch sent by the Water God to save us. It must be...”

“Witch? Look at that young girl. How does she look like a witch from head to toe? There are only so many people on the ship. I guess it must be that big shot from the Flame Domain!

“What big shot?”

“You don’t even know about this? I heard that a big shot from the Flame

Domain is coming to the Thousand Islands. It's said that he's a close friend of Lord Risa. This Astorokis, which hasn't set sail for more than ten years, is rumored to be specially set off to pick up this person.

"Really...? Is that true? I think I did see Miss Lu Zi taking care of a young lady from the Flame Domain. Hiss..." Thinking about it carefully, the back view does look quite similar, but the temperament..."

He had to admire the thoughtfulness of the passengers. Their attention quickly shifted from the Orochi shipwreck to the mysterious girl. The crowd began to discuss, but they could not come to a conclusion.

Even Zhao Jie, who was most familiar with Vivian, was now very suspicious of whether the red-black girl who could show her arrogance to the snake was the gentle little girl he knew.

However, there was one person who didn't care about this at all.

It was the writer from Thousand Islands.

Rather than saying that he didn't care, it was more accurate to say that he had no time to participate in the conversation of the surrounding people. He wrote quickly on a random note, and he couldn't help but have ideas.

"It turns out that we can use this method... There was no need to let the main character cheat himself, because there was another hidden boss on the ship who stepped forward when the main character was in danger and saved the main character and everyone from the snake's mouth.

Her arrogant and unruly figure was deeply imprinted in the protagonist's mind, making the protagonist unable to extricate himself and completely fall in love. Unfortunately, the difference in strength between the two of them was too great. She did not even look at the protagonist before returning to her room. The protagonist knew that the current her was not enough to match the young senior, so the protagonist secretly resolved to work hard so that one day, she could repay the senior's kindness!

"Perfect, this storyline is too perfect! This way, not only would the protagonist have the motivation to move forward, but it would also add a mysterious and popular character to the novel. It would also make up for the shortcomings of the novel that was criticized by others for not having an emotional line...Uh, although my main character is also a female, I believe that my readers will definitely like the Yuri Line very much!

Everyone used their own ways to express their excitement, but soon, their excitement was extinguished by a bucket of cold water.

“No, don’t be happy too early! Legend has it that the Yamata no Orochi has eight heads. Just now, there was only one. There are still seven left. If it comes back...”

That’s right...

The passenger’s words woke everyone up, and panic quickly began to climb into their hearts again.

“We have to leave quickly!”

“Yes, what is Miss Luzi doing? Why hasn’t she started the Astorokis yet?” “Hurry up and leave! I don’t want to stay here for another second!”

It was said that what people were most worried about would appear. Just as the noisy voices of the passengers in the cabin fell, and many people were clamoring to go out and look for Lu Zi...

Gulp...

Bubbles suddenly rose from the calm surface of the sea. Then, with Ann floating in the sky as the center, a huge deep sea vortex was born from the surface of the sea under her feet in an instant.

Vivian, who was originally cheering and clapping with Xinyan on the deck, froze on the spot.

Then, a second later...

“An, Xiao Hei!” The little girl exclaimed.

This time, the deep sea whirlpool was different from the past. Although the area was not big, the strength of the attraction was beyond imagination. Even Ann could not react. He was pulled into the whirlpool in an instant and sank into the deep sea, disappearing from everyone's sight.

Vivian anxiously wanted to follow her into the vortex channel, but who would have thought that after the vortex sucked in Anne, it would immediately disappear without a trace. The sea returned to its original calm in less than a few seconds.

The little girl had no idea where Ann had been taken by the vortex. Perhaps the only thing that made Vivian feel a little relieved was that her connection with Blackie had not been broken. At least it meant that they were still alive.

Sea.

Snake God Temple.

Ann, who had fallen into the whirlpool, tried to struggle, but her eyes immediately went black. She felt her body being wrapped in seawater, but miraculously, she did not feel uncomfortable like a drowning person. On the contrary, the whirlpool seemed to be protecting her and had no intention of hurting her. Perhaps it was just to...

He had teleported her here.

When the scene before Ann's eyes became clear again, what filled the girl's entire vision was...

There were seven giant snake heads that were exactly the same as the ones on the surface of the sea.

Their fourteen huge glowing vertical pupils were staring at the girl in front of them, who was tense and extremely vigilant.

After that.

The seven-headed snake spoke, not with voice, but with thought.

That's four characters, the word "Save.... Thousand Islands...

Chapter 476: I Won 't Exchange Anything for You (1)

The originally tense atmosphere immediately stopped.

It also allowed Ann to be prepared to ignore everything and temporarily slow down her thoughts of praying to escape. However, she did not let down her guard and was constantly tense, even though the girl knew that this might not be of any use.

There was nothing she could do about it. The one in front of her was clearly Orochi's true form. The pressure it gave her was far from what the berserk head from before could compare to. It was not as simple as seven times its original size.

Ann could sense the majestic aura of an ancient creature that only existed after living for a long enough time and experiencing the erosion of the river of time from the snake. Or rather...Epic.

This also seemed to prove that the snake really had no ill intentions towards him.

Otherwise, with the Seven-headed Serpent's strength, even though Ann was unwilling to admit it, she knew that she wouldn't be able to resist.

However, this made it even more strange. It could even be said that she was surprised. From the tone of this existence, if Ann's senses were not wrong, the seven-headed snake was...

Begging her?

“Save the Thousand Islands?” Ann repeated tentatively.

The seven heads of the snake nodded in unison, and then a new thought appeared in Ann’s mind.

“I must immediately...Reactivating the Water God Palace...Suppress...The Abyssal Sea...Otherwise,”they” would make a comeback... Devouring all the Thousand Islands...Living beings...”

“Them? Who are they?” Ann frowned and asked.

The Serpent was clearly puzzled by Ann’s question, but it did not immediately answer her. Instead, it moved its seven heads closer to the girl, as if it was trying to identify her.

Just as Ann thought that she had said something wrong in this sudden situation, the snake’s head slowly left and returned to its previous position. It said to Ann,

“Could it be that Water God...Didn’t I tell you Divine Magi...The ‘they’ under the wprp qtill intact Evil Tt the nnnn«itp of all life

The one you’ve defeated before, My other head...It was from “them” ...Affect...” As the snake spoke, its seven heads looked in the same direction. Ann followed it and found that in the shadow at the corner, the last head of the Yamata no Orochi was now weakly paralyzed on the ground.

From the huge wound on the back of his neck that Ann had torn open, it could be clearly seen that the flesh inside had completely rotted, and it was constantly emitting black grain-like fog, making people feel disgusted and uncomfortable.

Upon seeing this, Ann’s gaze instantly focused. This was because she had seen this scene before. It was on Count Caesar of the Fire Code City of the Flame Region. The symptoms of the two were almost identical.

“This is...Fallen Abyss?” Ann also knew the description of possessing a wolf cub without the formal attire.

Perhaps it had sensed the gazes of the other seven heads and Ann, but even though it was fatally injured, the rotten head still showed a fierce and irritable expression.

It recognized Ann at a glance and threatened the girl with its teeth bared. At the same time, it roared at the other seven heads as if it was questioning them why they had brought the enemy here and turned a blind eye to them.

However, what it received was the roars of the other seven heads, as if they were asking it to shut up.

The rotten head might have been noisy before, but now that it was severely injured, it could only shrink its head in fear and close its eyes silently, panting weakly.

“Divine Wizard...I didn’t know that the Thousand Islands on the ground... What happened...To make you break the agreement...For decades...

They didn’t even send a single person to maintain the Water God Palace...”

“Please forgive my rudeness...But thou must be Immediately pass the trial...Entering the Divine Palace...Activate...

Formation...”

“Just the Snake God Temple...Just based on the current me...It was no longer enough to maintain the suppression...I experienced that battle...He no longer had the power he once had..

Only true Divine Power...To make them...Continue to hide and retreat...”

The snake became more and more excited as it spoke, and its seven heads began to shake restlessly.

However, Ann had no choice but to bite the bullet and interrupt the snake despite its emotions.

“Wait a minute! I think you’ve misunderstood something.”

“Misunderstanding...What misunderstanding...” The snake’s seven heads stopped moving and stared at Ann in unison.

“From the beginning, I felt that something was wrong. You... Did he get the wrong person? I’m not a Divine Wizard like you said, and I’ve never seen a Water God. I’m only from the Flame Domain... Traveler, you should know the Flame Domain, right? It’s the Fire God Alice’s country. I’m not even a native of the Thousand Islands, let alone talk about the Divine Wizard, pass the trial, and restart the Water God Palace...

Ann tried her best to explain to the snake, but the snake frowned more and more. In the end, when she heard Ann say that she came from the Flame Domain, the snake completely lost control.

“That’s impossible...That’s impossible!”

“You are lying...You’re lying to me! You must be the Conqueror of Gods and Sorcerers. I can feel it... The rich Water God aura on your body...

Only the human witch who was an Oracle...Only then will there be such a thing.

The other seven heads of the snake were not as normal as he had imagined. Under the intense emotional fluctuations, they more or less revealed a similar irritable behavior to the previous head that had been corroded..

Chapter 477: I Won’t Exchange Anything for You (1)

The entire Abyssal Sea trembled because of the snake’s abnormality. The Snake God Palace, which was only supported by a faint light, dimmed even more because of this, and it was on the verge of collapse.

At the same time, other than the roar of the snake, there seemed to be some other whispers in Ann's ears. Although Ann could not hear the contents of the whispers clearly, just the strange and obscure rhythm and tune made the girl feel like she was going crazy.

"I understand...You must want to escape... Fleeing your responsibilities... No wonder no Divine Magi came...Ridiculous..."

What a joke! Then all these years, our clan...Work hard... In your eyes...What is it again!

The situation was about to worsen and was on the verge of going out of control.

The ceremonial attire on Ann's body automatically took off. Immediately after, a huge pitch-black wolf appeared beside the girl and appeared in Orochi's vision.

The black wolf's appearance had an immediate effect. The Yamata no Orochi's roars and roars instantly stopped.

Next, not only did the seven heads that were talking to Ann, but even the one lying on the ground suddenly opened its eyes. It forced itself to pop up its neck and looked at Black Wolf nervously.

There was only one reason.

The snake sensed the same aura from the black wolf as it did, an aura that belonged to a forbidden demon.

"Xiao Hei..." Ann wanted to say something anxiously.

However, Liao Zixuan gave her a reassuring look. Then, he turned around and raised his wolf head to look at the snake.

"You..." The snake wanted to speak but stopped.

Liao Zixuan was the first to speak. He used the communication method between demons to transmit his thoughts.

“Now you can prove that we really are travelers from the Flame Domain.” The snake fell silent.

Forbidden monsters were very rare. Except for the special territory of Guili, the number of forbidden monsters in many countries basically did not exceed the number of a palm.

As for it, Orochi, the total area of the Thousand Islands might not even be as large as the Flame Domain, and almost half of it was the sea. It had lived here for so long, so how could it not know how many forbidden demons there were in its territory?

Other than it, there was only the thousand-year-old fox on the island that chose to live with humans.

Moreover, the snake could feel that the main attribute of the black wolf in front of him was the fire element, which was almost impossible to be born in the Thousand-island Kingdom, which was dominated by the water element.

Every piece of evidence pointed to a fact for the snake. That young girl and the black wolf beside her were all from...In a foreign country.

Fire Country, Flame Domain.

“Heh... Hehehe... Fate...’Is this the fate of my clan...’ Is this also the fate that you, Water God, want to see...”

Ridiculous! Back then, my clansmen were still too stupid...Too silly...Water

God...You don’t deserve to be a god of the Thousand Islands!”

After accepting this fact, the snake once again went berserk, and it was far more violent than before. However, its target did not seem to be the girl, but something even more distant.

Looking at the seven huge heads dancing and roaring at the bottom of the Abyssal Sea, Ann nervously pressed her body close to the black wolf. Although Liao Zixuan looked very calm on the surface, his wolf eyes were only looking at the violent snake calmly.

However, in reality, he was also very worried. As a transmigrator player, he was no stranger to the Yamata no Orochi. This was because in the final BOSS battle of the Thousand Islands version, the world-class BOSS that all the players in the server had defeated was this forbidden monster!

However, at that time, the eight heads of the Yamata no Orochi had already rotted and completely became a monster of the Fallen Abyss. Therefore, at this time, Liao Zixuan was betting that in the battle between the Orochi and the Fallen Abyss, its consciousness should still have the upper hand.

After a full 15 minutes.

Only then did the snake's frenzy gradually calm down. In the end, it returned to the appearance when they first met. However, it was slightly different. One could clearly feel that from each head of the snake, there was a kind of...

The meaning of sadness and grief is as high as the law.

"Since you're not a Divine Wizard chosen by the Water God...Then you...It was impossible to pass the Water God Palace's trial... Obtaining the legacy...You..."

Let's go..."

After the snake transmitted this thought, it seemed to have aged a lot in an instant.

"Thank you."

Seeing that the snake had relented and did not force them to stay and make things difficult for them, Liao Zixuan finally put down the stone that was hanging in his heart.

However, he hadn't really left yet, so he didn't dare to relax. He took the opportunity to continue pacifying the snake and hint at the effect of letting them out so that the snake wouldn't go back on its word.

"When we go up, we will definitely do our best to spread the news. I believe that the people of the Thousand Islands will not sit idly by. After all, this is also a threat to their survival."

But regarding Liao Zixuan's safety, the snake only shook its head and said nothing.

It once again summoned out the whirlpool that pulled An into the bottom of the Abyssal Sea, indicating that they only needed to jump in again to return to the surface.

After doing all this, the snake turned around and turned its back to them. Dragging its head that had collapsed on the ground, it staggered like an old man in his twilight years, returning to his temple step by step, or rather...

He walked towards his destined grave.

Just as Liao Zixuan was about to bite the girl and jump into the vortex to leave...

Chapter 478: I Won't Exchange Anything for You (1)

"Wait a minute!"

Ann's sudden voice not only caught Liao Zixuan off guard, but also caused the snake's back to pause.

"You just said that on my body...There's a strong water god's aura?"

The snake turned around and stared at the girl again.

“That’s right.”

“Only Divine Magi would have such a phenomenon?” Ann quickly asked.

“At least that’s what I remember.”

At this point, Liao Zixuan could already tell what An wanted to do. He hurriedly shot a look at the girl to stop her, but An just pursed her lips tightly. For the first time, she did not listen to her Little Black’s opinion.

“Previously, you said that if you pass the trial of the Water God Palace, you will be able to obtain...Inheritance? What’s that?”

“God’s Heart.”

“Divine...Heart?”

“I’m not sure about the specifics...But what I know is...The Heart of God had the ability to fulfill all wishes...It could give people great power... If you really obtain this inheritance...

Then I can be sure...Your current strength can at least increase by an entire level...

After hearing Orochi’s words, Ann took a deep breath and seemed to have made up her mind.

“Excuse me, is there a rule that says foreigners can’t become a Divine Wizard?”

“Hiss...Indeed, I don't remember such a rule...” The snake's vertical pupils revealed an excited expression that was visible to the naked eye.

Following the girl's last sentence, it once again fell into an intense mood, but this time it was happy.

“Then I'm willing...Enter the Water God Palace as a Divine Magus and accept this trial! ”

“Ann!”

Liao Zixuan couldn't hold it in anymore. He transformed from a black wolf into a human and grabbed the girl's hand.

“You're crazy!”

“Do you know what you are doing? Cant you see that Orochi is obviously following your words and guiding you step by step! “I know.” Ann looked at the nervous young man and nodded.

“But I also believe that it did not lie to me.

Looking at the stubborn Ann, Liao Zixuan felt a little dizzy for a moment, and even his tone became a lot heavier.

“Alright, even if it didn't lie to you, do you really think that the trial in the Water God Palace can be passed so easily? The greater the power, the greater the price to pay! You and I both know that you're not a Divine Wizard at all! “Stop fooling around. Let's go back, Wei...Vivian is still waiting for us!”

Liao Zixuan was about to drag Ann to the exit of the vortex, but he received a firm resistance from his palm.

“Ann, you...”

“Go back? Xiao Hei, this is not my world. Even if I go back, where can I go?”

Don’t tell me that from now on, between you two, I’m going to be a stranger?”

No, you don’t understand, Anne. Vivian had a second personality. After you appeared, the second personality disappeared, so I’m sure you must have...”

Enough, Little Black.” Ann shook her head and pulled her hand out of the young man’s palm.

I’m very grateful to you, I’m very knowledgeable, so I’m very beautiful, the world is very beautiful, but I’m sorry, I’m just me, I’m Anne, not your Vivian, and certainly not anyone else.

“In my world, there are still people I cherish who are suffering every day, waiting for me to save them. Do you want me to ignore them and forget all the pain I’ve experienced and only indulge in this beauty that doesn’t belong to me with you?”

“Sorry, I... If I can’t do it, I might disappoint you. Little Black, I’m no longer the little girl you imagined. What I want the most now is...Power. For this, I am willing to give up everything.

After saying that. Ann quickly took off the Water God’s Chain from her neck and handed it to Liao Zixuan. She left the young man’s side without looking back and walked toward the Yamata no Orochi to enter the trial of the Water God Palace.

When she turned her back to the young man, the ruthlessness and toughness that Ann had put on a pretense earlier seemed to have completely lost its effect. On the young girl’s face, it was replaced by a strong reluctance and reluctance.

But...

I’m sorry, Little Black.

Sorry, the other one... It was me.

Please forgive me... My selfishness.

Pa!

A crisp sound rang out in the silent sea.

The young man behind the young girl quickly caught up to her and grabbed her hand again.

“Xiao Hei, please don’t...”

It wasn’t just Ann, even Orochi, who was beside him, was sticking out its forked tongue at the young man with a hint of dissatisfaction.

But at this time, how could Liao Zixuan care so much?

I don’t care if you’re a Yamata Serpent or the strongest forbidden monster in the Thousand Islands.

He only coldly glanced at the snake that was about to intervene. Unexpectedly, the seven heads of the snake actually shrank back in an instant.

Then, without the snake’s interference, Liao Zixuan turned his attention back to Ann.

“Don’t talk!” The young man’s face was full of frustration. It was not hard to hear that his voice was very angry.

However...

In complete contrast to these, the young man's incomparably gentle and delicate movements at this moment.

The young man first wiped away the tears that had already flowed out of the corners of the young girl's eyes the moment she turned around. He wiped away the tears that should not have been on the young girl's beautiful face.

After that.

"Lower your head!"

Liao Zixuan glared at this stubborn and disobedient bad girl from another world line and spoke in a commanding tone.

For a moment, Ann's mind was a little stiff, and she could only do as she was told.

Immediately after, the girl felt the cooling sensation on her neck that had disappeared earlier. It returned to her once again. It was the feeling of the crystal necklace touching her skin.

After personally putting the Water God's Chains on An again, Liao Zixuan waved his hand irritably under An's helpless gaze.

"Go ahead."

But this time, it was the girl's turn not to leave.

Ann knew that in this world line, Vivian and the wolf cub came to the Thousand Islands to unseal the Water God's Chain. But now, the necklace had been restored by the female astrologer by chance, and their mission was completed.

Next, he only needed to bring the necklace and return to the Flame Domain. However, the young man opposite him had given such an important tool...

He still had to give it to her. If she insisted on accepting the Divine Water Palace's trial, it was very likely that she would never come out again...

Her?

Chapter 479: You, I Won 't Exchange Anything (Part 2)

Ann hurriedly wanted to untie the necklace, but Liao Zixuan's stern gaze made the girl's hand subconsciously shrink back weakly.

"What are you doing?"

The young man frowned and threatened, but the girl knew the importance of the necklace. She braced herself and insisted,

"I don't need it! I'll return it to you!"

"Say it again!" Liao Zixuan took the initiative to take a step closer to An. As the distance between them shortened, the young girl panicked.

"I don't need it. I'll, I'll..."

She wanted to retort, but under the unquestionable gaze of the young man, her voice became lower and lower. In the end, it turned into a girl lowering her head, not daring to look into Liao Zixuan's eyes.

Orochi's decayed head was like a miracle in medical science. Its limp head struggled to stand up. Its already big eyes were now even bigger, and its expression was filled with disbelief.

It couldn't imagine that a few minutes ago, the violent girl who had been spouting wild words and toying with it, and even it felt that she was a little crazy and scared of the snake, how could she...She seemed to have become a little girl?

What about the sentence "You raised your head too high, go down"?

Why did you lower your head first??

Everyone is a taboo monster, why do you treat that wolf so differently??

Ann could tell that she could not be tough in front of Black, so she changed her strategy and began to persuade him earnestly,

Xiao Hei, have you ever thought about what will happen to the Flame Domain and Lord Fire God after you give me the necklace? "We privately took the necklace for ourselves. This is no longer a betrayal of trust, but a use of Lord Fire God's trust. This, this is very likely to incur the wrath of God! Xiao Hei, you..."

The more the girl said, the more excited she became. It seemed that she could predict everything, Alice, the classic, the falling stars, the rain, and the falling huge meteorite.

However, the young man beside him could not help but interrupt,

"Stop! Stop! Ann, you seem to have misunderstood something. We're not taking it for ourselves. I'm just borrowing the necklace temporarily. When you're done, I'll send it back to the Flame Domain."

"Wha... What did he mean? Do you still want to stay in the Abyssal Sea until I come out?"

Liao Zixuan didn't say anything, but An understood from his expression that it was five words.

Was there a need to ask?

“Then... What if I can’t get out?”

“Then I’ll go in and find you.” The young man looked at the girl who asked such an idiotic question as if he was looking at a fool.

Ann was rendered speechless for a moment, but Orochi, who did not know how to read the atmosphere, spoke up.

“Once the trial of the Water God Palace begins...Other than the Divine Wizard...No one else could stay in the Abyss Sea...Otherwise, it would interfere with the trial...In addition...

Even if he passed the trial...You can’t leave... Until the next Divine Wizard...

Appearing...”

Ann, Orochi, words, and immediately seem to occupy the upper hand, revealing the one, vice, you look!
“He had a smug expression on his face.

It was as if the two of them were arguing about something that was more like venting their emotions than the necklace itself.

In fact, whether it was An or Liao Zixuan, both of them knew in their hearts that they would eventually have to separate. Instead of saying that they were quarreling, it was more like...

He was reluctant to leave.

And another...Goodbye.

“You don’t have to worry about how I find you. Even if it seals me again, I will definitely have a way to get back in here!

Liao Zixuan began to flip the table unreasonably.

The Yamata no Orochi was unhappy when it heard this. It immediately wanted to say something. How could you come and go as you please in a forbidden place like the Abyssal Sea?

However, Liao Zixuan seemed to have expected it. He took the lead and looked up at the big snake that was in the way.

This made the snake want to say something but stopped. In the end, all seven heads turned to the side.

The unlucky fellow, who had been corroded by the Fallen Abyss and beaten up by Ann, wanted to lie down and continue watching, but in the end, it was taken away by the other seven. It completely left space for the young couple in its eyes.

On the other side.

Ann was very angry, not only because the young man was swearing stubbornly, but also because she had not retorted.

Whether it was the young man's serious and confident temperament when he said this, or the fact that the young man had already created a ready-made "miracle" in front of her, she could not find any reason to doubt him.

It was easier to cultivate a witch than to enter a closed sea.

In fact, comparing the two, it could indeed be described as "a mere Abyssal

"Xiao Hei, you, you really are!

The young girl was so angry that she stomped her feet and cried again.

She didn't understand. Why did she have to be so...? Why did he have to be so good to her? Why did he have to give her hope, give her nostalgia, and give her...

"Do you know that the sooner you help the Fire God remove the Fallen Abyss, the sooner the Fire God can protect the Flame Domain again?"

"Do you know that countless citizens of the Flame Domain are affected by the fall of the Fire God at every moment?"

"Do you know that I don't exist in the first place? It's an illusion created by the Water God!

"Do you know that as long as you give up on this fictional fake person, you can exchange it for the Fire God's favor, the safety of thousands of people from the Flame Domain, and how much unnecessary effort you can put in! It's a complete waste of time!"

Chapter 480: You, I'm Not Changing Anything (Part 2)

Liao Zixuan did not say anything else as he looked at the girl who was sobbing with all her might. He just hugged the crying Ann in his arms.

The young girl leaned against the young man's broad chest. The young man's soft voice rang in the young girl's ears.

"I know.

If it was anything else, I could accept it, but you...No matter what you give me, I won't trade. I believe that not only me, but the little girl on the boat will also make the same decision. "

He was afraid that the girl opposite him did not hear him clearly.

Liao Zixuan let go of Ann in his arms and placed his arms on the girl's shoulders. He looked into Ann's eyes and repeated word by word in an extremely serious manner, "You, I won't exchange anything."

As for Ann...

Ann clenched her fist and punched the young man's chest. The inertia force caused her to fall into the young man's arms again.

The girl buried her head deep into Liao Zixuan's chest to hide the unspeakable emotions on his face that she did not want to reveal.

Do you know...

If you continue like this, I'll really...I can't leave you guys.

Ann knew very well that people were easily paralyzed by the current situation and thus forgot everything they were carrying. Just like many villagers who gathered the strength of the whole village to provide for the development of the big city, they kept saying that they would not forget their hometown, but after so many years, Ann had never seen anyone come back.

It wasn't until she was recruited as a maid and went to Fire Code City that she understood that those people had either been defeated by reality or had long been blinded by the scenery and had forgotten about them.

At first, Ann was angry, but in the end, she fell silent. The young girl could understand, but she...

I don't want to become such a person!

Thus, the snake's request and the trial of the Water God Palace were just a perfect opportunity.

Even without this opportunity, Ann's will to leave was still very firm.

At first, Liao Zixuan only stood from his own point of view, so he did not understand the girl. He thought that this was too abrupt and he could not accept it, but now...When he felt the trembling body of the girl in his arms, the complicated and painful emotions.

Liao Zixuan understood that it was a great success

“Do you know, if it was the original me, I would never allow you to be so willful. I would tie you to my side even if I died.

“But now...” Liao Zixuan shook his head helplessly.

He stroked the girl’s long hair.

“Although I have always wanted to secretly nurture you in the past, when have you ever...Has it been affecting me?

Obviously, the “ you ” Liao Zixuan was referring to was not Ann, but Vivian.

“It was you who taught me to respect others. I can’t be too self-righteous. I have to learn to think from the perspective of others. I have to... Be gentle, that’s why I made the decision I made now. ”

“Ha, speaking of which... Wasn’t this also a kind of fate? It was indeed quite mysterious. No wonder the old auntie Water God was so obsessed with studying it.

“In short...Go, become stronger, and then return to your world. Go and rewrite your future as you wish!

This time, it was Liao Zixuan who took the initiative to leave the girl. He took a step back and pulled the distance between him and An.

There was no longer any urge to stay in his eyes. There was...It was just encouragement and trust.

Sometimes, letting go was also a kind of love, right?

“Remember not to die, Ann.”

“When we return to the Abyssal Sea, you must return the necklace to me in one piece. Otherwise, I won’t be as easy to talk to then. I’ll really be angry!

“Once I get angry, the consequences... But it’s very serious. Liao Zixuan deliberately put on a serious face and said fiercely.

As for the girl...

“Yeah.” Ann nodded heavily.

She did not mention that she did not need the necklace anymore. After all, in order not to anger Little Black and to fulfill her promise of “immortality,” she really needed it. This necklace was practically tailor-made for her.

The young lady reached out and caressed the crystal clear Water God Chain on her neck. A cold and refreshing feeling flowed through her fingers and into her entire body, gradually sealing Ann’s heart. It buried all of her emotions today and made the young lady return to the original arrogant Ann.

After all, a sentimental girl would not be able to pass the trial of the Water God Palace. The undistracted and vigilant bandaged man was the cornerstone of how he could reach today.

However...

Occasionally, it could still be unsealed. As for the timing of the unsealing.

“Then we... It’s a deal.”

“It’s a deal!”

“Wait a minute, it’s easy to forget something like that, suddenly said.

“Then, we’ll pull.. ‘

Liao Zixuan thought that the girl needed a sense of ceremony, so he pulled a tick. However, before he could finish speaking, his finger was halfway up...

He only saw Ann, who was opposite him, suddenly turn around at a speed that even Liao Zixuan could not catch..

The girl stood on her tiptoes and used the softness of her lips to press against the young man’s cheek.

By the time Liao Zixuan recovered from his daze, shock, confusion, panic, and panic, the girl had already run far away.

It was as if only the moisture on his cheeks was proof of what had just happened..
