

NPC Become 51

Chapter 51: Just Beat... Break a Few Legs?_2

The atmosphere became awkward.

This was because Yassen's face had turned red. He was about to use all his strength to pour mana into the wooden token, but the wooden token in his hand did not change at all. It was as if all the mana had sunk into the sea.

What was going on?

The prosecutor and the city guards who were scratching their ears and cheeks anxiously looked at him.

Just now, the little girl had made a " pa " sound. It was very fast. It might not even take half a second for the wooden token to glow.

But why hasn't the wooden token reacted at all after so long?

"Ahem...Ahem, wait a moment, I... I'll go and get someone! Yassen couldn't tell if his mana was too weak or if it was really just an ordinary wooden token. So, only the prosecutor and the city guard were left staring at Vivian.

This time, a long time had passed.

Just as the little girl was getting impatient, she heard footsteps again.

Although the person who had returned was also wearing the Fire God Sect's robe, the patterns on it were clearly of a much higher grade than Yassen, who was following behind him.

Joseph, 2nd rank professional, Elementalist, Fire God Sect Deacon.

“Bring it over.” Their statuses were different, so their attitudes were naturally different.

Not to mention, it was a country bumpkin from a village.

Joseph’s voice was cold as he ordered the little girl sitting on the wooden chair.

Vivian could tell that the other party was also a big shot. The girl obediently handed over the wooden token.

Joseph carefully looked at the wooden token, and then, like Arsen, he began to pour mana into it.

And then...

The air seemed to freeze again.

The proud deacon had his head held high at first, but after a few seconds, he frowned when he saw the wooden token that was completely ignoring him.

“Are you sure that the wooden token lit up just now?” The Fire God Cult’s deacon was very suspicious that these people were working together to play with him.

“Absolutely!”

Yasen didn’t respond, but the prosecutor immediately spoke up. He had seen it with his own eyes.

“You, let it light up again.” As expected, Joseph still did not believe her. So, he threw the wooden token back to Vivian.

“Oh, okay...’

In fact, the little girl was also puzzled now. Why couldn't these people wake up the wooden token? She had only injected a little bit of magic power and there was a reaction!

Vivian did the same thing and repeated the first step. It was easy. In the blink of an eye, a dazzling flame flashed in front of everyone.

Ah, this...

Now, the pressure was on the Fire God Cult's deacon, Joseph.

Sensing the awkward gaze of his disciple, Yassen, and the suspicious gaze of the city guards, Joseph couldn't put down his face.

He pretended to cough and did not even ask. He reached out and snatched the token from Vivian's palm.

This time, the Fire God Cult deacon had used all his strength.

Joseph's face turned red, and he tried his best to urge all the mana in his body. His body even began to tremble, and he couldn't stand steadily.

Finally!

Joseph's efforts were finally paying off!

A faint red light, like a small flame, slowly emerged from the wooden token. However, unlike the dazzling light that Vivian had previously emitted, the one in the Fire God Sect deacon's hand was like a candle that would be extinguished by the wind.

"Phew... Hu hu..."

Even so, Joseph only managed to hold on for two to three seconds before he lost all his energy and almost fell down. However, it was still Yasen who had sharp eyes and quickly caught him.

“Lord Deacon, you..Are you alright?” Yasen asked his mentor worriedly.

However, Joseph didn’t feel good hearing those words.

He was the official deacon of the Fire God Cult and was respected by countless nobles in Fire Code City. He should be the one who was most favored by the Fire God. Could he be inferior to a village girl from the countryside?

“Mr. Joseph, look, this token is...”

The prosecutor’s question was interrupted by Joseph.

Joseph was now certain that this token was the legendary Fire God Token.

However...

“Cough, I’m not feeling well today. I have to bring this token back to our Fire

God Sect to be appraised. “The Fire God Cult’s deacon said with a straight face.

Joseph would definitely not admit that this was the Fire God Token on the spot. Otherwise, where would he put his face?

As for her, she, Joseph glanced at Vivian, who was dressed in simple clothes and was a little dirty because she was in a hurry.

To be honest, he really could not figure out how such a person could have a connection with the Fire God Token.

But no matter what...

No matter what the other party's identity was, he had come with the Fire God Token after all. He had to take it seriously.

Hence...

"Let her wait here first."

"Yes..."

"Get me another glass of water."

This was the deacon's understanding of "importance".

Joseph felt that he had given enough face to a village girl who came out of nowhere.

After that, he took the token and left without looking back.

But what he did not expect was that the little girl from the countryside actually called out to him.

"Please wait a moment!"

"You can leave, but...Please return the token to me." Vivian's tone was very serious. For the first time, she stood up from her chair.

The Magical Beasts in the Dreadclaw Forest had gone on a rampage, and the strange black hand in the lair deep in the forest...

Even if Vivian had never seen the world, she knew that these were important matters. There were also many villages near the forest that might be in danger, waiting for her to call for help from Fire Code City.

As for her, she was a penniless and lowly villager. The only thing that could prove her words and make everyone believe her was this Fire God Token. Therefore, Vivian, who had always been weak, was extremely tough when she saw that Joseph wanted to take her away.

The Fire God Cult deacon stopped.

He turned his head, his face full of disbelief. His expression was even more exaggerated than when he saw the real Fire God Token just now.

Joseph didn't understand.

Why did the other party dare to speak to me like this?

However, the mocking words that he had imagined did not appear because the deacon could not even be bothered to respond. He felt that he was simply lowering his price by talking nonsense with a villager.

As for the prosecutor and the city guards at the side, they also looked at this little girl from the countryside with strange gazes.

Wasn't it obvious? If someone asked you to wait here and didn't chase you away directly, it meant that they were just looking for a way out. In a while, they would definitely let you enter the city.

He was a deacon, a middle-level figure of the Fire God Sect. If he were to really be considered an official, he would be much higher than a prosecutor like him. How could a villager without power and influence afford to offend him?

Just as the prosecutor was about to give Vivian a look to tell the silly girl to shut up and talk less...

He noticed that after the girl failed to stop him, she lowered her head just like how she did when she first registered her gender.

This time, the prosecutor finally heard what the girl was mumbling. “Well, they’re not really bad people. Later...Be gentle, okay?”

[Yes, yes, yes...]

“Well, you have to promise me that no one will die!

[Yes, yes, yes!]

“That...’

[Hey! Are you done?]

“No, what I mean is that after thinking about it again, I feel that the others indeed don’t seem to be bad people, but that Fire God Cult deacon leading them should be... Bad guy!”

“You can teach him a lesson later. Ah, of course, don’t be too heavy. Just hit...

How about breaking a few legs?”

“The other me, then, I’ll leave it to you!”

Chapter 52: Cannon Fodder NPC Encountering the Version of the Version

Fire Code City.

On the top floor of the Fire God Tower.

This was the center of the entire Fire Code City and the core of the Fire God Church. Ordinary peripheral members were only distributed in the cathedral below. Only those who had risen to the profession were allowed to enter the tower.

It should have been a solemn and quiet place, but at this moment, it was filled with quarrels.

“Get out of the way. I have something urgent to see my mentor. Now, immediately, immediately!” A black-haired young man in a mage robe was angrily shouting at the guards in front of him.

However, the guard held his weapon horizontally in front of him, preventing the young man from entering.

“Damir, Bishop Maggie is currently in seclusion. The archbishop has instructed that no one is to disturb her unless she comes out of seclusion on her own accord.

“Even if you are her disciple, we cannot let you go...”

Before the guard could finish his sentence, the black-haired young man opposite him angrily grabbed his collar.

Although his small body as a spellcaster was not enough to compare to the tall guard in front of him.

“I’ll say it again, let me in!”

“You don’t understand at all! I sensed an extremely evil power in the Dreadclaw Forest in the north. I must let Teacher Maggie know about this immediately!

Just as the situation was about to get out of control, the sound of leather boots could be heard from the spiral staircase of the Fire God Tower. What followed was a magnetic voice unique to middle-aged men.

“Shh! Damir, calm down.”

“Although it’s not that I want to intentionally attack you, your magic can’t protect you at this distance. These elite guards can easily take you down.

“So, if you have anything to say, say it nicely.”

The owner of the voice walked up to Damir and pushed the guard’s hand back.

When the guards saw the burly middle-aged man approaching, they immediately showed expressions that were far more respectful than when they were treating Damir.

“Commander Harvey!”

Harvey waved his hand, indicating that the guards did not need to salute.

Then, he put his arm around Damir’s neck like a good brother and quickly led him away from the top of the tower where the archbishop was in seclusion.

“Let go, let go of me, Harvey! “Damir struggled non-stop along the way, but how could his constitution as a small mage compare to that of an experienced commander of a knight regiment?

It wasn’t until the two of them came to a corner where no one was around that Harvey let go of Damir.

“Alright, alright. It’s not like you don’t know. Ever since Maggie announced her advancement in seclusion a few years ago, your teacher hasn’t shown her face much.”

“Even the Old City Lord would find it hard to meet her, let alone you.”

Harvey patted the young mage in front of him. It could be said that he was the young mage with the most potential and talent in the entire Fire Code City.

A 3rd rank professional, a spellcaster, an elemental archmage-Damir.

Similarly, he was also the only disciple of the Fire God Church's Archbishop Maggie, the strongest powerhouse in the Fire Law City.

"Harvey, listen to me. You have to help me this time. "After being forced down from the top of the tower, Damir had regained some of his composure.

"Help you with what? Speaking of which..You were just yelling at the guards about the evil power. What happened?"

When Harvey saw that Damir wasn't joking, his expression finally turned serious.

"Something happened in the Dreadclaw Forest!" Damir's words were concise.

"Dreadclaw Forest?"

"Yes, it's that forest of monsters. Just now, when I was meditating, there was a terrifying aura fluctuation from the direction of the Dreadclaw Forest that made my heart palpitate. Although it was very hidden and only lasted for an instant, I still caught it.

' And I'm very sure that the power..." At this point, the young genius mage of Fire Code City paused, as if he found it difficult to speak.

But in the end, he still said firmly, "

"That power is definitely not one of the nine great elemental powers! The commander of the knights, Harvey, frowned after hearing Damir's words.

"Is that why you said it was evil?"

“Yes, you’re not a Spell Caster, so you don’t understand. All the power in the world should come from the nine elements, but this power... It was very strange! It did not have any elemental fluctuations. Instead, it was more like... It’s more like a...

“Abyss.” Damir held it in for a long time before he finally found a close adjective in his mind.

” You know, it’s the kind that you can’t see the bottom with just a glance. It makes you feel as if your entire body is wrapped in darkness and coldness, and you can’t help but fall down...”

“Stop!”

Seeing that Damir was about to continue speaking, Harvey quickly reached out to stop him.

This important figure in the knights began to size up the anxious young mage in front of him. Then, Harvey held his stomach and laughed,”

“Damir, do you think it’s possible...Are you hallucinating because you’ve been reading too many novels recently?”

“You!”

“Stop, stop, stop! Alright, even if what you said is true, let me ask you. If such a big thing really happened, why didn’t the Fire God statue react at all?”

This was the real reason why Harvey did not believe him.

Fire God Statue.

It had existed since the Fire Code City was built, and it was the symbol of the Fire God’s will. It had protected the people of the [Fire Domain] for generations. Whenever a huge disaster occurred, the first thing that sounded the alarm was always the Fire God statue..

Chapter 53: Cannon Fodder NPCs Won 't Meet the Version I s Child (2)

“The statue... It...” Harvey’s questioning words immediately rendered Damir speechless.

This was because if it were a human, there was a possibility of making a mistake. However, if it was a god, there was absolutely no such possibility.

Hundreds of years had passed, and the Fire God Statue had never made a wrong judgment.

If the statue didn’t give out a warning, it meant that even if there was an abnormality, it would only be a small matter. It wouldn’t even be able to threaten a small village, let alone Fire Code City.

“Alright, Damir, if you ask me, it’s because your teacher has been in seclusion, causing you to be too lonely these past few years. Look at you now, you look like you’ve been holding it in!”

“As your good friend and uncle, I think you should stop fiddling with those magical knowledge that makes people’s heads hurt and want to sleep.”

“A young man your age should lie on a woman’s belly! And not on the pile of pungent parchment books!”

“Do you need me to introduce you to a bar? I guarantee it’s not the serious kind! After you go there once, you’ll definitely feel refreshed and won’t be lonely anymore...”

“Hey, hey! Come back, don’t go! It’s fine if you don’t go to the bar, or let me introduce you to someone? I think that noble lady from the Cecil family is not bad. She just happens to be at the age to go to the Royal Academy. Are you really not going to give it a try? Sigh!

I'm talking to you! How can you be a boy?

Looking at Damir, whose face had turned red from his words and who was fleeing in a sorry state, the smirk that Harvey had deliberately put on his face earlier began to quickly disappear.

He walked to the window of the Fire God Tower and looked out of the city with a complicated gaze. The towering and holy statue of the Fire God stood in the Fire God Church.

Logically speaking, as a citizen of the [Fire Domain] and the commander of the Fire Code City's Knights, Harvey should have no reason to believe and trust the Fire God Statue.

After all, there was no way the statue could be wrong. If, by that, he meant that if something went wrong with the statue, it would mean that there was an even more terrifying truth behind it. Fire God...There was a problem.

This was impossible!

Harvey didn't want to think about it, nor did he dare to think about it.

But...

Gazing at the tightly shut city gates and the half-sealed Fire Law City, Harvey couldn't help but feel suspicious.

Why did the Fire God statue not give any warning about the strange infectious disease that had spread in the Fire Code City?

Could it be that the entire city had entered a state of emergency? Harvey had even heard that similar situations had more or less occurred in other places in the entire [Flame Domain].

So, was such a huge abnormality not enough to cause the statue to react?

“Hey, Maggie, you bitch! At such a crucial time, when Fire Code City needs you the most, why are you still in seclusion?”

“Sigh...”

Harvey let out another heavy sigh and left the Fire God Tower. He quickly walked toward the military supplies of the knights in the city.

“First team, pack up your luggage and horses. Tonight, we will quietly go out of the city to investigate.

“Leave the city? Scouting? Boss Harvey, where should we go at this time?” Harvey was silent for a moment before continuing to walk toward his office.

“Dreadclaw Forest.”

Could it be that I really...Too lonely?

Damir, who was walking on the streets after leaving the Fire God Tower, was slightly shaken by Harvey’s words.

But soon, this young genius mage shook his head.

How was this possible?

Female...How could women be more interesting than the profound knowledge of magic?

Women will only affect my spellcasting speed!

Yes, that’s right!

After firming up his conviction, Damir began to think about the Forest of Dreadclaw again.

He felt that this matter could not be let go just like that.

Damir always had a bad feeling in his heart. It could also be said that it came from the intuition of a mage, the talent of a genius.

He felt that even if the others did not believe him, even if the Fire God Statue did not respond, he would still leave the city and go to the Dreadclaw Forest alone to investigate.

After this thought rose, he couldn't stop it.

If Liao Zixuan was present at this time, uh, who was Liao Zixuan?

Oh, I almost forgot that there was such a person. Cough cough, if Liao Zixuan was present, the little wolf cub would definitely exclaim that he was indeed the son of the version!

Look at this sharpness, this decisiveness, this enthusiasm! No wonder he could become the main character NPC of the 100 version of the [Fire of the Prairie]. He was also the biggest contributor to the main storyline of the players.

She was completely different from a certain dandruff who was clearly the main character but did not steal the show at all!

Back to the main topic.

Damir said nothing. He immediately walked towards the entrance of the Fire Code City. He did not seem to be prepared at all, but the strength of a third-rank professional was there. It should be known that even the bishop of the Fire God Sect had barely reached the third-rank.

However, these bishops were almost half-dead, and Damir had just reached adulthood at the age of 20. It was the time when he was full of energy and hot-blooded. His own powerful strength made him fearless. At this point, it could be said that all the world lines were still normal.

Until...

After this young genius mage arrived at the city gate, he stopped in his spot in a daze and looked at the messy and tragic inspection entrance..

Chapter 54: Cannon Fodder NPCs Won't Meet the Version's Child (3)

The city guards, who were supposed to be on guard duty, were now lying on the ground, either hugging their stomachs or their legs, moaning and groaning.

The one who suffered the most was the original prosecutor. He was beaten up the most. Not only was his face swollen, but there were also several footprints on his chest as if he was venting his anger.

This was...

What exactly happened?

Bandits? Intruders? Mobs?

Who dared to attack the guards of Fire Law City in broad daylight??

Before Damir's mind could process what was happening, another tragic groan quickly attracted his attention.

Because Damir was no stranger to this voice.

Joseph, a 2nd rank professional, Elementalist, Fire God Sect Deacon!

But at this moment, this dignified 2nd rank mage, the deacon, was foaming at the mouth, and his face had turned into a pig's head. If Damir had not looked carefully, he would not have recognized him.

And if he went down to the lower half of his body...

Alright, Damir took back what he had said about the prosecutor being the most miserable.

so...

Who was it!

Damir quietly circulated the magic power in his body, and a faint blue light began to appear between his hands.

Soon, a translucent magic shield protected him.

Damir could tell at a glance that even the deacon of the Fire God Cult could be crushed. Joseph was subdued without being able to fight back. Such an enemy could only be...

Tier 3!

Moreover, they were Tier 3 Warriors or Assassins!

This was the only possibility for him to possess such powerful close-combat abilities! The guards and a Tier 2 Mage at the checkpoint couldn't even put up a fight.

His breathing quickened.

His forehead was slightly drenched in sweat.

Damir had never thought that he would encounter the most difficult battle of his life before he even left the city for the Forest of Dreadclaw.

“Eye of Truth!”

“Sharp Perception!”

“Magic Power Amplification!”

As expected of a genius Mage, he had added three buffs to himself at the start. After making his preparations, he took a deep breath.

Damir took every step with extreme caution, holding a few Mana Bullets in his hand at all times as he walked toward the innermost door of the inspection entrance.

And then...

Creak...

The door to the deepest room of the “Registration Office” was pushed open.

But after seeing the scene inside, Damir was stunned again.

That was because there was a little girl sitting in this small room. The girl seemed to be at a loss, and she turned her head to look at Damir because of the sound of him pushing open the door and entering.

Poor people, weak physique, body...There was no external mana fluctuation.

They were not enemies.

They should be people who came to the checkpoint to enter the city!

After making a quick judgment of Vivian in his mind, Damir immediately shouted at Vivian, who was still sitting on the wooden chair.

“Come here quickly! It’s dangerous there!”

“Oh... Alright, alright!”

Vivian saw that there was finally another person, and it looked like an even more powerful person. She looked left and right with her little head. There was no one around her who could stand, so the other party must be talking to her.

After confirming this, the little girl quickly ran over obediently.

Damir heaved a sigh of relief after using his magic shield to protect himself and the poor girl.

He continued to be on alert. He did not know if there were unknown enemies who had left or were still hiding in the dark. He immediately asked Vivian anxiously,”

“Miss, when did you get here? Did you see what happened here?”

And then...

Vivian nodded obediently.

“I know.”

"What happened?!" Damir, who was too nervous to imagine an enemy, didn't react to the strangeness of the conversation for a moment. He even sounded happy and anxious that he had obtained a clue.

"I have an urgent matter that requires me to enter the city, but they didn't allow me to do so. Someone even wanted to snatch my Fire God Token." Vivian sounded very aggrieved at first.

So, it's time to give the card to the system.

The little girl's tone slowly softened, and her head lowered.

When she lifted it up again.

"Hehehe...I'll make them all fall down"

Chapter 55: The Genius Mage Won't Fall In Love At First Sight (1)

After the girl finished speaking with a light laugh, a cold feeling instantly crawled all over Damir's body.

Out of instinct, this young genius mage did not hesitate and did not care about his image at all. He directly rolled to the side to pull away from the little girl.

He rolled on the ground.

The first thing Damir did after he got up was to light up the blue light in his eyes. He raised the magic barrier again and got into an attack stance.

"You... Who is it?" Damir questioned the young girl who was smiling at him.

He finally reacted.

Indeed, it was a little abnormal from the beginning. How could a normal poor person see such a miserable situation at the inspection entrance and still sit on the chair foolishly?

Then, the young girl opposite him spoke.

However...

It opened, but not completely.

This was what Damir saw.

“Alright, my other self, stop fooling around. “The little girl first said in a complaining tone.

[Tsk, so boring. I was just trying to scare him.]

Then, for some reason, the other party’s tone became a little heavier, as if he was a little angry.

“Now is not the time to play!”

[Hmph, fierce... Why are you so fierce!]

All of a sudden, the icy chill that Damir felt disappeared from the girl’s body.

In the blink of an eye, she seemed to have returned to the innocent little girl from the countryside when he first saw her.

“That... I’m really sorry about just now!” Vivian, who had returned to her main personality, apologized to Damir first.

Next, the girl took out the Fire God Token again.

“Excuse me, do you know...This?”

In the beginning, Damir was extremely vigilant and was constantly on guard against the girl opposite him.

However,

The moment Vivian began to infuse magic into the wooden token in her hand...

Whoosh!

It was as if a Level Surpassing Curse had exploded in his mind.

In that moment in Damir’s world, it was as if the girl across from him was the only person left in the world.

What was a genius?

Geniuses were different from the rest. They could keenly sense things that others could not.

From the fact that he could sense the evil aura from the Dreadclaw Forest even though he was far away in Fire Code City, it could be seen that Damir was extremely sensitive to magic power.

Naturally, when Vivian wanted to awaken the wooden token and began to activate the magic power in her body, Damir finally sensed the little girl’s magic power level.

Then, he saw.

Pa da...

This version's son, the Main Storyline NPC who would lead countless players in the future, the youngest genius Mage in Fire Code City, and the only disciple of the Fire God Church's Archbishop.

Damir, a 3rd rank professional and an Elemental Mage, fell to the ground.

A fiery red flame flickered on the wooden token in Vivian's palm.

Sacred and noble.

However, in the eyes of the Damirei, no matter how dazzling the Fire God Token Token was, it could not compare to the magical halo that was emitting from the girl's body.

Was it about how strong Vivian's magic power was?

It wasn't.

Although it was indeed far beyond Damir's imagination, his mentor was, after all, the Archbishop of the Fire God Church, who was a Level 4 Extraordinary. In comparison, Vivian's total mana was still quite lacking.

What really stunned Damir, and even fascinated him, was the purity of Vivian's magic power. It was as if he was looking at a beautiful piece of art.

Essence.

These two words might not be enough to express it.

If Damir were to describe it, it was as if the girl before him had no impurities in her body. It was as if all her growth had been focused on magic power since she was born.

The world...

How could there be such a beautiful person in the world!

Yes, the thinking of geniuses was always different from ordinary people.

A normal person's standard for a beautiful girl was that she was very superficial, fair, beautiful, had long legs, and fierce. However, Damir was not interested in these at all. The only thing that could interest him was magic. In his eyes, women were just moving pieces of meat.

Of course.

Unless...

Unless this woman was the incarnation of magic!

He was already extremely passionate about magic, and he had spent all his effort to study it. In the words of Harvey, the commander of the Knights of the Fire Code, he was Damir, who would have children with the parchment scroll in the future.

At this moment, this young genius mage felt his heart pounding...He jumped again! He even jumped! He simply couldn't stop jumping!

Thus, from this moment onwards, magic was no longer everything in Damir's world.

A human instinct that he had forgotten for a long time gradually and quietly awakened.

"That... That... Are you alright?"

Vivian's worried voice finally pulled Damir back to reality.

The little girl had long stopped transferring magic power to the Fire God Token. She came to the spot where Damir had fallen and kept waving her small hand in front of Damir's eyes.

"Ah, I... I'm fine! Very good! Well, I... I..."

Damir stammered anxiously, wanting to say something.

His mouth, which was clearly able to recite a few complicated, complicated, and obscure incantations fluently and quickly, was completely out of his control at this moment, like a stammer.

Damir panicked and wanted to stand up.

His mouth was no longer listening to him, but his brain was still working. Damir didn't need to think to know that the way he looked on the ground was absolutely embarrassing.

'Well, I... My name is Damir, an honorary mage of the Fire Code City's Knights. My teacher is the current Archbishop of the Fire God Cult, Maggie. I also have a very good relationship with an indecent uncle called Harvey, ah! Don't think that he's frivolous, but he... He was also the commander of the entire Firecode Knights, and then, and then, oh right! I'm a senior student of the Royal Academy, and I'm also the deputy head of the student council..

Academy, and I'm also the deputy head of the student council..."

Damir, who had crawled up from the ground, had originally only wanted to make a simple self-introduction, but in his extreme nervousness, this young genius mage had almost told him his house number.

Finally, Damir had nothing more to say, or he saw Vivian's increasingly awkward expression.

"In short, it's very... I'm very happy to see you!"

"I... May I know your name, heart was thumping wildly. This was the first time Damir had taken the initiative to ask for a girl's name.

"Vivian."

"I'm from the village of Notch, and then...He was a villager, and his occupation was...Tailor?" The little girl thought that this was the etiquette of the city people. They had to introduce themselves when they met.

However, the young girl had been holding it in for a long time, but she could not say a series of noble statuses like Damir. She only said this sentence. In the end, she even imitated and added...

"Also...Nice to meet you?"

However, before the young girl could finish her sentence.

"Vivian, my god, what a nice name! "Damir took less than half a second to engrave these three words into the DNA. However, this was not the end of the matter.

There was more to come...

"Tailor? Oh my god! It was too powerful! To be honest, I've always had a dream, and that is..."

"I want to be a tailor!"

Vivian was speechless.

[Vivian, this guy... Is there something wrong with your brain?]

“But...” Maybe?”

Chapter 56: Vivian Knows A Little About Magic

“Excuse me, you mentioned the Fire God Cult just now. Then, about this token...” Vivian caught the main point of Damir’s words and quickly pulled the conversation back on track.

To be honest, after what had happened with Joseph, the little girl was not confident that the wooden token in her hand was the real Fire God Token.

Fortunately...

“I recognize it! This was the Fire God Token that only bishops could hold.

Hiss... Wait, why is it in your mentioning the Vulcan Order again, Damir finally sobered up.

Only then did he remember to check on the city guards who had been taken down all over the place, as well as the miserable state of the deacon of the Fire God Cult named Joseph.

The young girl in front of him was not a kind person.

That was not right.

Perhaps the city guards and Joseph were bullying a girl from the countryside?

Then, Vivian fought bravely and accidentally injured them.

rnacs ngnt! •rnat must De cne case:

Good fight! This group of people deserved it! The Fire God Sect and the Knights should have been reorganized a long time ago!

On the other hand, Vivian did not know what Damir was thinking, but she was happy to finally meet someone who admitted that she had the Vulcan Token.

' I came to Fire Code City for this. A major disaster has occurred in the depths of the Dreadclaw Forest. The person who gave me this token asked me to bring this information back to Fire Code City. She said that the evil power was not something that this world originally should have. She also said... Even the Fire God knew about this!

Dreadclaw Forest, evil power...

When these words came out of Vivian's mouth, Damir was completely awake.

"It's actually true. My premonition was right. Something has really happened in the Dreadclaw Forest..." He muttered to himself.

"But... However, why is there no reaction from the Fire God Statue..."

The young genius mage frowned.

However, the current Damir was just a young kid who had just come out of the grass. He was still far from being the future savior of the [Flame Domain], so he didn't think too deeply about it.

It could even be said that he felt excited all over.

Actually, Harvey was right when he was in the Fire God Tower. Damir, who was bored because of his mentor Margie's seclusion, had indeed read a lot of casual novels.

Naturally, novels were all about heroes. The protagonists would save the world from a great crisis, protect everyone, and eliminate evil.

Damir was young and frivolous, and he happened to have such great power.

Although he didn't show it on the surface, he still yearned for it in his heart.

Therefore, sometimes, one should not underestimate the use of novels. Damir could become the savior of the [Flame Domain] in the near future because he was influenced by these novels.

After all, who wouldn't want to become the main character of a novel in real life?

"How about this, I'll use magic to send this message to Uncle Harvey. With the Fire God Token, he'll definitely believe us this time and send the knights to attack.

"As for us..."

Damir was playing tricks here. In the past, he had never paid attention to the sour and smelly love scenes that seemed to be necessary for the protagonist in novels. He would skip them every time.

But now, he felt that those novels were all right!

Since he had to take the risk and crush the evil, how could he be alone? He had to have companions!

Damir's face was red again, and his heart was beating fast as he stammered,"

"As for us, I... Let's not wait for Uncle Harvey and the others. Let's set off now!

"After all, even if the knights decide to leave the city, they will need a lot of preparation time. We are racing against time now.

"Alright." Vivian nodded and agreed with Damir's suggestion.

The little girl's original plan was to rush back first after reporting the news.

However...

"Isn't it too dangerous to do this?"

Vivian asked worriedly. She had personally fought with the festered monsters and knew how powerful these evil creatures were. Of course, she was not worried about herself, but about Damir.

Bishop Eugenia, who was in the cave nest, was a 3rd rank professional, so the girl felt that... It seemed like that?

However, Damir completely understood what Vivian meant.

"Don't worry, with me here, no matter how powerful those evil forces are, we can still escape safely!"
"The young genius mage was extremely confident when he said this.

"So don't be afraid, I... I.

"I will definitely..." Protect you!"

Damir took a long time to say this somewhat embarrassing sentence. He remembered that the main character in the novel always said this to the female protagonist. He secretly glanced at the girl's reaction.

Unfortunately...

Vivian was expressionless.

The little girl even wanted to say something, but she finally smiled politely and said,”

“Thank... Thank you.”

“If there’s nothing else, shall we set off now?”

“Oh, okay, okay!” Damir was a little depressed. Why was this different from what was written in the novel?

However, it was good to be young. He quickly became excited again.

This was because he was about to have another great opportunity to show himself!

First, he used a magic letter to send Vivian’s report and the Fire God Token to the knights’ encampment in Fire Code City.

Damir randomly found a stone on the ground and began to draw a complex and profound pattern on the spot.

Vivian was confused and asked,”

“You are...”

“Wait a moment, I’m drawing a Teleportation Circle. Since we have to hurry, we definitely can’t ride a horse over. We Spell Casters naturally have our own methods!”

“I’ve been to Red Flame Town, which is closest to the Forest of Horrors. I still have some memories of that place. Let’s teleport there directly.

Damir was full of pride when he said this.

One had to know that the Teleportation Spell was extremely difficult to learn. It could be said to be a pseudo-Tier 4 spell. Back then, he had begged his teacher for a long time and spent a full month to barely master it.

Even so, he still needed to carve a magic array on the ground to assist him. As for the real teleportation spell, it was actually not needed at all.

However, no matter how troublesome and clumsy the steps were, the effect was still the same.

To be able to teleport a person dozens of miles away in an instant, this ability alone was enough to shock the vast majority of people.

Vivian was no exception.

The little girl, who had originally planned to run back with the second personality, was surprised after hearing Damir's explanation.

Damir was secretly pleased. He had finally been able to act for once. After he finished drawing the magic circle, he began to chant.

A blue halo shone from the magic circle on the ground. Damir raised a hand, and countless light spots began to gather on it. Then, they turned into threads and weaved into a spiral circular pattern.

"Quick, come in!" Damir said in a hurried tone.

At his level, it was already very difficult for him to cast a teleportation circle that could accommodate one person. Now, he had to perform exceptionally to expand the range of the teleportation spell to...

The size of 1.5 people.

In other words, Vivian had to squeeze with him and almost stick to him to complete the teleportation.

Don't misunderstand. Damir definitely didn't have any other thoughts in his mind. This was really his limit.

Perhaps Vivian could see Damir's embarrassment and strain.

The little girl had the mentality of trying it out and began to repeat the teleportation spell that Damir had just chanted.

And then...

Shua!

With the girl as the center, azure magic power surged wildly, and a huge circular pattern began to flash from the ground under her feet.

The surging magic power blew the girl's long hair, and the light of the teleportation circle flickered around the girl.

Looking at Damir, who was less than one-tenth of her size and was about to collapse, the little girl asked tentatively, "How about.... You come in here?"

Chapter 57: The Heavens Did Not Give Birth to Me, Liao Zixuan, and the Fallen God Will Be Like a Long Night (1)

Ah... Achoo!

Lying on the Silver Earth Wolf's neck, the little wolf cub sneezed.

Looks like someone must be missing me!

But I won't say who it is!

Actually, Liao Zixuan was also missing someone else a little now.

The other person here was naturally Vivian.

Although the quality of the Silver Earth Wolf's hair was very good, Liao Zixuan just couldn't lie comfortably. He inexplicably missed the little girl's ordinary embrace.

Although it was a little rough, it also made him feel emotional. He really couldn't get used to it when it was changed to a soft body!

It really fulfilled the old saying.

A golden nest or silver nest was not as good as his own airport!

Since he felt uncomfortable, Liao Zixuan left the Silver Wolf's body. However, when the Silver Wolf saw that the wolf cub was about to leave, it immediately howled a few times, like a concubine who had been disfavored by an emperor.

The wolf's eyes that were filled with grievance had an expression that said, 'What did I do wrong?'

Hiss...

No, you don't even have a name. Why do you have so many scenes?

Liao Zixuan was cruel and merciless. He used his wolf cub's short legs to kick the Silver Earth Wolf to make her behave. She looked like a man who put on his pants and left.

However, who knew that not only did the Silver Earth Wolf not feel sad because of being kicked, but it even let out a comfortable cry. Its eyes were filled with joy, and it even directly got into position, eager to wait for Liao Zixuan's next kick.

Liao Zixuan was speechless.

Alright, you're good. You win!

Liao Zixuan ignored the Earth Silver Wolf, who was full of "ambition", and continued his "Witch Cultivation" plan.

So far, the entire plan had been going very smoothly.

If he wanted Vivian to escape the fate of being a cannon fodder NPC, what did he need the most?

Answer: influence.

The influence here was divided into two parts. The first was the popularity among the natives of Fallen Gods, and the second was the popularity among the players.

Originally, Liao Zixuan had planned to let Vivian develop first and then make a big splash during the open beta. However, plans could not keep up with changes. If there was meat to eat, of course, he had to eat it.

This "Dark Wave Attack" was the best opportunity to expand their influence!

To put it bluntly, heroes could only be born in troubled times.

The fastest way to become famous was to be in a disaster crisis. It just so happened that the Fallen Abyss appeared in advance, creating excellent conditions for Liao Zixuan and the little girl.

Taking advantage of the opportunity, Liao Zixuan had Vivian go to Fire Code City alone to report for reinforcements.

Liao Zixuan didn't care about how many soldiers the Fire Code City could send over or whether they would pay attention to it. His real goal was to let the little girl see the world. It would be best if she could show her face in front of the big shots of the Fire Code City and get to know them.

Liao Zixuan was very confident in Vivian. The " Vivian " here referred to the second personality.

The little wolf cub could guess what would happen to a village girl when she entered the city with her cute toes. She would be mocked, made difficult, and cheated.

Liao Zixuan believed that Vivian would meet a few of them.

At that time, he had a bad temper and thought that it should not be a big problem to mix around in the Fire Code City. Instead, he was a little worried and hoped that this face would not be too familiar.

After all, there were still a few main storyline NPC characters in Fire Code City. It was best not to provoke those who were also cheaters.

For example, Chris, the future leader of the Treasure Thief Gang, the future

Blood Countess of the Cecil family, Harvey, the highest commander of the Knights, and the most awesome one, a savior of the Fire Domain with the word 'Da' in the beginning, a true version of the NPC.

No, it should be better to think about it. My Vivian's main personality is so kind and gentle. Who knows, she might be able to kidnap a few of the characters above?

Just like in novels, the moment the protagonist's domineering aura was unleashed, all kinds of future awesome characters would instantly become his underlings!

Alright, Liao Zixuan also knew that he was thinking nonsense.

However, he couldn't say that.

It was still uncertain who was thinking nonsense! The strength of these people was only a matter of one version, but our little girl was the legendary witch who would be famous throughout Fallen God in the future!

Right now, it was just the process of a clown duck becoming a white swan. Let alone the future, even now, as long as there was a toad that wanted to eat swan meat (immature), Liao Zixuan would definitely beat them up!

No one could touch the cabbages that they raised at home!

Of course, guarding cabbages also required strength. Although his potential limit was extremely high, he had not fully developed after all. He was still in a weak infancy.

He was currently at Level 16, and he was still four levels away from reaching Level 20 and entering the growth stage. These four levels were neither easy nor difficult.

The path of leveling up for monsters and humans was different. For example, as a Dark Flame Wolf, every level up required more than ten times the experience points of Vivian.

However, in return, the stronger the bloodline of the monster, the more it could skip levels.

In other words, as long as Liao Zixuan reached level 20, after entering the growth period, his level would directly rise to level 30, and then enter the next level from the growth period to the maturity period.

At that time, what would a Level 30 Dark Flame Wolf be like in the early stages of the game?

The answer was...

Walk sideways.

He was invincible below Transcendent, and above Transcendent, as long as he wasn't at Tier 5, he could fight anyone equally.

At this time, they might have doubts. Level 30 was only the standard of Tier 3, so how could you be so awesome?

The answer was talent.

Previously, Luo Chen had already used Intermediate Detection to peek at the tip of Liao Zixuan's interface. There were countless bonuses and resistance, and this was only the Liao Zixuan when he was a wolf cub.

The effects of this bonus became more and more terrifying as time went on. Take the simplest [Advanced Strengthened Life] for example. Its effects were simple and unremarkable. It only increased maximum HP by 300% and recovery speed by 1,000 to 2,000%.

Rude and unreasonable.

They hadn't even started fighting yet, and they already had three times the HP of others of the same level! The recovery speed was even faster. Basically, if you couldn't kill me today, I would be alive and kicking tomorrow. This was only the simplest of Liao Zixuan's countless talents.

Actually, many games had such settings.

For example, Bosses were basically all bulls of health, and their attributes were many times better than players of the same level or small monsters. If the players made a slight mistake in their positioning, they might be killed by the Boss with a single slap. If they could not dodge a single skill, the entire party would be wiped out. If you accidentally left the range of the Boss battle...

Hey! It was a waste of time, the Lun family had recovered full health!

Liao Zixuan was only four levels away from becoming a slut, at least in version 1.0.

As for why he said it was not difficult when the experience required to level up was ten times more...

There are still our cute and dedicated players!

Indeed, the growth path of a proper Boss was based on the human side's bitter hatred and experience of various hardships. The monster side was slightly simpler. They just needed to find a deep mountain forest to sleep, but it usually took years as the unit of measurement.

Their common characteristic was...Time consuming, extremely time consuming.

However, Liao Zixuan was different. The only thing he needed to consider was how to be more efficient.

Not only the players, but also the game system.

After the little wolf cub's intelligent little brain turned a little, the product that Liao Zixuan named the "Experience Biosphere" appeared.

First of all, because the players were only in the closed beta, there were too few ways to obtain experience points, and their strength could not increase. As a smart banker, he had to first apply fertilizer.

So, where did the fertilizer come from?

Of course, it was the mission reward quota for our little girl to become an NPC!

Liao Zixuan's first step was to continue issuing missions. In the form of missions, he would give players a large amount of experience points to increase their strength.

That is, to apply fertilizer.

However, the more troublesome thing was that because he was still in his infancy, the only person he could communicate with was Vivian. Therefore, once the little girl was not around, he could not take on the task.

However, this small problem was definitely not difficult for Liao Zixuan. He couldn't give new players missions, but he still had the two dogs of Miss

Vivian from before...Pah, what a loyal follower!

Chapter 58: The Heavens Did Not Give Birth to Me, Liao Zixuan, and the Fallen God Will Be Like a Long Night (Part 2)

He was here!

The next phase of the new mission!

When the wonderful system notification sounded, Big Watermelon and the melee Archmage were so touched that tears streamed down their faces. This lady finally remembered them again!

They were the first to follow Vivian, so they had seen many big scenes. Their tastes had long been spoiled. It was easy to go from frugality to extravagance, but it was difficult to go from extravagance to frugality. Ordinary missions were no longer in their eyes.

Both of them desperately hoped to increase their strength so that they could become participants in the storyline, not just spectators like they were now.

After a quick glance at the updated contents of the quest bar, Big Watermelon and the Melee Mage looked at each other and saw the pity in each other's eyes.

Sigh, as expected, the game is being played.

Paper still couldn't hide the truth. They couldn't keep this treasure to themselves anymore.

This mission simply expressed one meaning.

I'm going out to cause trouble!

At first, they thought that Vivian was just a rare hidden NPC, but the more they went on, the more they realized that something was wrong.

This wasn't the feeling of a hidden NPC who was about to become a main storyline character!

"What do you mean? Are we inviting him now?" The Melee Mage quietly typed a message to Big Watermelon.

From the literal meaning of the words, this 'Miss Witch wants more people' included two kinds of rewards.

One was the prize pool, and the other was the individual.

From the rewards alone, it was obvious that the individual rewards were the biggest and the easiest to complete. Inviting a player to join would immediately give him 10,000 experience points.

Instead, the prize pool reward was more like a secondary gift after completing the mission.

They had to meet the requirements of 1,000 people before they could be given out. Although it was said that they would be divided, in reality, each person would only be given a fixed 1500 experience points.

Although 1500 EXP was not a small amount, it was nothing compared to 10,000 EXP for a single player.

Right now, there were more than 20 players in Noch Village, and they had saved the two of them the trouble of looking for someone else. This amount of experience points could be said to have fallen from the sky. It was simply too easy to complete.

The melee Archmage was already eager to give it a try and couldn't wait any longer.

That was 10,000 experience points!

It was enough for him to jump two levels!

“No, wait a minute. Let’s see what the hidden additional content is first.”The big watermelon was more experienced and mature than the melee Archmage.

He vaguely sensed that something was wrong.

What was wrong was that this prize pool reward felt too perfunctory and did not deserve the word ‘prize pool’. Or could it be that there was actually another mystery?

At the moment, only the two of them could see this mission. Once they shared it, everyone could see it.

Therefore, he had to take this opportunity to get to the bottom of it.

The melee Archmage also realized this point and became patient. Thus, according to the mission’s hint, the two of them came to the wolf cub. “Xiao Hei?” The big watermelon tentatively called Liao Zixuan, sounding intimate.

He remembered that Vivian always called the wolf cub that, which should be the name of the monster.

In the end, he only received a cold glance from Liao Zixuan.

And a system notification sound on the [Little Black’s favorability towards you has decreased by 10 points.]

Good heavens.

Is Little Black someone you can call?

Also, why do you feel like you're seeing a friend's pet on the roadside?

On the other side, Big Watermelon's forehead was covered in cold sweat, and countless f * ck's flew in his heart.

It was his own arrogance!

He knew very well that although the wolf cub in front of him looked cute on the outside, it was actually very smart. As for its strength, it was even more terrifying.

Fortunately, Big Watermelon had been a gaming veteran for many years.

He immediately changed his words.

"Black... Lord Hei?" The big watermelon called out again tentatively.

And this time, there was no notification of his favorability decreasing in his mind.

Phew...

He secretly let out a long breath. That was close.

Liao Zixuan didn't waste any time talking to them. In fact, he couldn't communicate with these people. He directly opened Vivian's shop system for them.

Although the wolf cubs did not issue quests on behalf of Vivian, they could open the NPC shop on behalf of Vivian.

Then, the essence of Liao Zixuan was here.

He was in Miss Witch's black-hearted business... * Cough * Another brand new item was purchased in the Warm Store!

Big Watermelon looked at the shop panel that popped up. In addition to the original [Sacrifice your power to the great witch Vivian!] ) [Sacrifice to the great witch Vivian!]) Other than these two, there was another one.

[The great witch Vivian's precious battle video]

[Price: 50,000 experience points]

[Item Remarks: Let the beauty of the witch shine throughout the world!] After purchasing it, you will unlock a new prize-pool mission exclusive to you.]

[Item quantity: 1]

Big Watermelon and the melee Archmage's first reaction was, F * ck! 50,000 experience points, this was way too expensive!

But when they saw the new prize-pool mission...

"Your prize pool's initial reward has become o. For every player you invite, you will receive 1000 experience points. The maximum number of players is 100. This quota is not shared with the main mission."

[After the main mission is completed, you will receive all the experience points in the prize pool alone. If more than 100 people are invited, the excess will be converted into favorable impression points according to a certain ratio.]

100*1000 was equal to...

IOW!

Even after deducting the EXP he had spent on the video, he had earned 50,000 EXP!

And that was not even counting Vivian's favorability!

It was very rare to get a good impression of this young lady. From the other two items on the list, it was obvious that both required offerings and sacrifices.

He had to find someone to join him!

He had to find someone with great influence!

Liao Zixuan naturally knew that a single player would not be able to take out so many experience points, so he allowed players to cooperate in the form of a team to buy.

Big Watermelon and the melee Archmage made a prompt decision. As expected, the expert player who had left an impression on Liao Zixuan, Luo Chen, was also pulled in front of them.

As expected of a high-level player, he was also the guild leader. He was more capable than the big watermelon and the melee Archmage.

After a while, they found two other trustworthy brothers. After the five of them invited each other, they gathered 50,000 experience points in the blink of an eye.

[You have consumed 50,000 experience points.]

[You have received a copy of the " Precious Battle Video

[You have unlocked a new prize pool mission.]

“Quick, quick, quick! Hurry up and post this video on the forum! Then, post our mission invitation link at the bottom!

Luo Chen knew that the in-game forums were the fastest for the players to spread the news. Luo Chen roughly looked at the battle video and found that it was the second half of the battle of the Dreadclaw’s nest that Long Road had shared with them before!

He had already seen the influence of the first half of the video. The reason why he not down all his tasks and appeared here was because he had seen the previous video.

The second half of the video was the part where the real Vivian came online and beat up the Bishop Eugenia. It was obvious that there would be a bigger reaction.

However, Luo Chen quickly reacted and hurriedly stopped him,” “Wait a minute! We can’t use the original video, or else we’ll have bought it for nothing. I think there’s only one of this product, probably the only one. The original version in our hands can’t be leaked!

“You guys wait here. I’ll go find a special effects artist and musician I know. We have to edit it before sending it out!

Look, what a professional!

Liao Zixuan, who had successfully collected a portion of the EXP given to the players by the system, felt gratified when he saw Luo Chen and the others busy.

This was his experience ecosphere.

With the system-player-father as the cycle, excellent experience was produced!

At the same time, he could also get the players to enthusiastically promote the little girl among the players!

Of course, if that was all, Liao Zixuan wouldn't have been able to say that if the heavens didn't give birth to him, he would have fallen into eternal darkness.

His more ruthless killing move was still to come.

While Luo Chen and the others were still editing the video and adding special effects...

The little wolf cub jumped onto the head of the Silver Earth Wolf and began to head to the next village.

At the same time, he quietly continued to purchase a new battle video from the Witch's Shop!

Who said that if there was only one item, it could not be restocked?

Hence, very quickly...

Fallen God's official closed beta player forum...

It exploded!

In the words of the players who had participated in the closed beta at that time, this day was to experience the fear of the entire forum being dominated by Vivian!

And...

He wanted to experience what it meant to be able to produce talented people, bald post-production, and have millions of clips when everyone was using the same material!

Chapter 59: Closed Beta Forum

Jian Ji, as his name suggested, was a video producer out of interest.

There were barely more than ten thousand fans on C site. Although there weren't many, they were all loyal old fans. With their excellent skills and serious attitude, they were considered slightly famous among the UP Masters.

He was lucky enough to pass the screening of the AI and participate in the closed beta as an official invited member of God Fall.

Although Fallen God was fully managed by the AI, the game's publicity and post-production still had to be done by the officials.

Therefore, in order to warm up the public beta of Fallen God, many video producers were invited to participate in the closed beta.

In the past half a month, Jian Ji had almost completed his first draft. In order to produce an excellent video, he had put in a lot of effort.

For example, he went deep into various dangerous areas to film the scenery, was bitten to death more than ten times to film monsters, and even flirted with the widows in the village to benefit his fans, almost being hunted down by the entire village.

Although he still felt that something was missing, Jian Ji was still prepared to upload the video on the closed beta forum to see the effect.

However, when he opened the game forum...

Jian Ji was dumbfounded.

[Bounty for Vivian's location!!

[Gentlemen, I'm planning to go to Fire Code City to seek refuge with the witch.

Is there anyone who wants to come with me?)

[Casually cosplay Vivian]

[Bishop Eugenia is so big

[Rationally analyze Vivian's current strength level]

[I'm crying. Why am I so far away from Fire Code City? Sob sob sob sob...]

[If I don't understand, then I'll ask Vivian. Since she's a witch, is she a villain?]

[Miss Vivian, I want to be your dog!!!)

Wha... What was going on?

Jian Ji rubbed his eyes. He hadn't browsed the forum for half a day, so why were there so many posts all of a sudden?

Moreover, it seemed like...

The titles of all these posts were related to the word 'Vivian'?

This was not the end. When she clicked to the video section, she was even more shocked.

Good fellow!

What the hell was with all these videos with the title 'Vivian'?

Keeping up with current events was the most important quality of a video worker.

Jian Ji was not in the mood to post his video.

He quickly selected the first popular video, [At that moment, Miss Vivian remembered her main account], according to the number of views.

It started with a short black screen.

Well, it wasn't a black screen at all, because it had long been flooded with bullet comments such as "Congratulations on discovering the treasure," "Let's do it a billion times," and "Mom, I'm in love."

This forced Jian Ji to pause and adjust the screen to the highest level to barely see the screen.

Finally, the video's official content began.

The first scene was of a country girl in coarse linen clothes carefully stepping into an underground nest deep in the forest.

The nest was so deep that one couldn't see the end.

The exaggerated size of the hole seemed to imply that there was a terrifying monster residing inside.

If one were to combine it with the main character of the camera, the girl's thin body, thin clothes, and the only weapon on her body was the sickle in her hand.

In an instant, the tension and pressure had been filled.

All sorts of comments floated across the screen, such as "I'm already starting to get scared", "Will anything suddenly rush" "(Red eyes)

However, just as Ji thought that the plot would develop into a normal monster movie, he realized that as the girl went deeper into the cave, the light in the cave became brighter. There were even torches on the surrounding walls.

The answer was soon revealed.

It turned out that this was supposed to be the nest of the Dreadclaw Forest's BOSS, the Demonic Tyrannosaurus, Dreadclaw, but it was actually taken over by a viper.

Large patches of purple grass grew in the cave, looking demonic and mysterious.

A group of Fire God Cult members in their robes kneeled at the feet of a woman sitting on the bishop's chair.

Later, through the conversation between the girl and the bishop named Eugenia, Jian Ji learned that it was the Fire God Church who carried out an evil ritual here to promote the growth of these purple grass.

The purpose of this mysterious country girl was to stop the ritual.

It could be seen that, regardless of the number of people or the aura, this female bishop was obviously superior to many other girls.

The female bishop, who had an aloof look on her face, seemed to want to play a game with the girl. As long as the girl could withstand five of her attacks, everything would stop.

Just as the atmosphere became extremely oppressive and Jian Ji was worried for the girl, who knew that this seemingly weak girl would actually display such powerful magic power!

She propped up a sturdy magic barrier and prepared to receive the opponent's attack. However, at this moment, the situation changed. The female bishop seemed to have expected this. She actually dropped a cage that was holding the players from midair into the Molten Flames to distract the girl.

As expected, the girl was hit. In order to save the players in the iron cage, she split her magic power and was sent flying to the ground by the female bishop's whip.

At this moment, the bullet screen in the video started to new curses like despicable and shameless " and " bad woman '

Just as the other party's next fire whip was about to strike, and the young lady had to split her magic power to maintain the iron cage from falling into the lava...

The players imprisoned in the iron cage chose to delete their accounts to escape the control and no longer drag the girl down.

To be able to force the players to this point, it could be seen how depressing the situation was. The audience watching the video was the same. Jian Ji couldn't help but clenhis fists.

Shua!

The female bishop's whip whistled through the air with killing intent. Flames roared in the air and rushed towards the exhausted young lady on the ground.

At this moment, Jian Ji subconsciously held his breath.

And then...

Suddenly, the depressing BMG came to an abrupt stop, and the gray color of the video gradually brightened.

The girl in the camera seemed to have finally awakened because of the sacrifice of the players. Flames were also burning around her, and a black scythe that was a few meters tall was held in her hand.

There was a clang!

The fire whip that the female bishop had used her full strength was actually deflected away by the sickle in her hand!

The passionate background music entered the scene at this moment. It was as if the girl's temperament had changed drastically. It was as if she had really changed into a different person. The weak country girl from before had disappeared and was replaced by a crazy and powerful scythe witch.

The bullet comments in the video also reached a crazed climax.

Even though Jian Ji had already activated the highest level of shielding, he was still...

"It's here, it's here, the main account is online!

Sister is so handsome!!" " The giant sickle and the teenage girl's DNA has moved!! "

"Player: Sister Vivian, play me!

"Crazy beauty, I love you!"

After the video ended, there was a feeling of " when my background music started playing, no one could beat me anymore ".

Vivian, in her scythe witch form, killed the Fire God Cult as if she was cutting grass. Her domineering and elegant fighting posture attracted the attention of countless viewers.

The last part where he beat up Eugenia made Jian Ji even more addicted.

It could be said that the second half of the fight was as satisfying as the previous one.

Phew...

He let out a long sigh.

The video wasn't very long, only two to three minutes long. As a professional, it was still very crude. There were still many flaws in the special effects and sound effects.

But even though it was a video that seemed to have been rushed out, it still gave Jian Ji a feeling that it was too good to watch because the material itself was too high quality.

At the end of the video, there was a link inviting players to join Vivian's mission.

Jian Ji tried to click on it, but it showed that he was not within the range of Fire Code City, so he could not accept it.

Without hesitation.

For a video producer, the material was their life!

She was a mother.

Mother, I'm coming for you!

There were many people like Jian Ji.

Originally, it was a long way to go to gather players in the Fire Code City area, but now that Vivian's battle video had started to spread like wildfire on the forum, it could be said that players from the nearby cities had also begun to move towards Fire Code City in large numbers.

Of course.

Some people were happy about Vivian's videos, while others were worried.

The long road was the wave of worry.

As a fan of Vivian's, he had personally experienced the battle. Naturally, he bought the battle video from Liao Zixuan.

Unfortunately, the little wolf cubs arrived at their village relatively late. Therefore, when Long Road Man obtained the video and made it, the forums were already filled with similar videos.

"Damn it, clearly...I was clearly here first!"

A long way to go. He watched as others made his goddess 'video so popular, but because his style was similar and he didn't have much intention, he played very little. He felt extremely sour in his heart. This kind of situation is actually not rare.

Just ask... It was too curly.

Even after a long journey, he saw people who took a different path. They started to not do the burning style, some did it like ghosts, some did it like pranks, and even...There was even a f * cking ghost who wanted to do welfare!

Most importantly, all the shots were given to Bishop Eugenia, and Vivian was not shown at all.

"What do you mean? Are you looking down on my goddess 'figure?'" Long Road roared as he kept posting negative comments on the video.

Boss, but Vivian is indeed very flat. But look at the female bishop. Her legs, her fierceness, and the damage she suffered after being beaten up by Vivian, and..."

Bang! Crash! Bang bang bang!

"Ah, I was wrong. Boss, don't hit me, don't hit me!"

"Stop! Ouch, it hurts! Stop! Old... Boss, I suddenly thought of a new idea! Long Way's subordinate held his head, feeling wronged, but suddenly came up with an idea.

"Speak."

"Boss, look, everyone else is focusing on Vivian now, but don't forget that Vivian has a little wolf!

So if our video wants to be played and clicked, we have to be different. If everyone else is doing Vivian's video, we'll do it..."

"That wolf's! "

Chapter 60: What Bad Thoughts Does the Little Wolf Cub

Have? 1

Red Flame Town.

This was a stronghold town located in the middle of the Dreadclaw Forest and Fire Code City. It could be said that it was a pass that one had to pass through.

Liao Zixuan had gathered a large number of villagers and players in the town.

This place would become the frontline to defend against the upcoming Tide of Fallen Abyss.

As for Thorin, the mayor of Crimson Flame Town, he was now trembling with fear.

What made him afraid was not the many villagers who were taking refuge, nor the unknown monsters that came from the Dreadclaw Forest that the villagers had mentioned.

What truly made Mayor Thorin at a loss was actually those foreigners who seemed to have suddenly appeared out of thin air and swarmed over like a tide.

Yes, he looked at the dark mass of players in the small town, who were running around energetically.

The little wolf cub sitting on the head of the Earth Silver Wolf could not help but sigh. As expected, the power of the fourth day's natural disaster was the strongest!

The influence of Vivian's battle video far exceeded Liao Zixuan's expectations.

As an NPC with a player interface, the little girl could naturally use the " forum function. Therefore, Liao Zixuan could clearly see that the forum was almost flooded by Vivian.

Moreover, not only could he see it, but he also watched it with great interest. Many of the hot comments in the popular videos were even written by him.

For example," The flame burning in your hand is my eternal faith!" , "Give up your heart for Miss Witch!" "Please! The other me! "I want to give birth to a monkey for Vivian!

Wait a minute.

Of course, in addition to admiring his " newly-grown " cabbages, Liao Zixuan also noticed many " analytical " videos.

Many of the big shots began to analyze what kind of role Vivian played in the game through the battle video.

Liao Zixuan briefly summarized it and roughly divided it into three categories.

The first type was also the most common. They thought that the little girl was a key storyline character and was on the side of justice. They had to think of a way to get in touch with her. Who knew, they might be able to trigger some hidden mission.

The second type believed that Vivian was the only class mentor that players could come into contact with during the closed beta, as a way to obtain the Summoner class.

As for the third type, it was more interesting. They found that Vivian seemed to have a serious inner and outer personality. Although the outer personality was kind and righteous, the inner personality was full of madness and killing.

In addition, with the title of " Witch ", some people even boldly guessed that this might be a foreshadowing in the future plot. It was very likely that the girl would suddenly become the biggest villain BOSS. Therefore, they urged everyone not to blindly follow her and to be vigilant.

Of course, as you can imagine, the replies from the third category of players were basically a lot of scolding.

However, in general, although everyone had their own opinions, everyone reached a consensus. There was no doubt that...

This NPC was definitely not simple!

He had a big secret on him!

It would be the core of the entire version for a long time to come.

Therefore, not only in the closed beta now, but also after the official open beta, the first thing to do was to look for Vivian!

This was what Liao Zixuan really wanted to see.

In fact, why was Vivian so successful now? It seemed to be easy for her to get so much attention from the players.

The answer was the bonus from the closed beta.

To put it simply, the game content was too little. The current closed beta players had no access to the highly popular NPCs from his previous life.

Without any competitors, Vivian naturally stood out.

But don't forget, once the open beta officially began, the entire world of Fallen Gods would be open to players. More and more real storyline characters would enter the players' field of vision. It would not be easy for Vivian to maintain the highest popularity.

However, with this batch of closed beta players as the foundation, it meant that the little girl was already ahead of all the other NPCs.

"Hmm?"

Just as Liao Zixuan was about to close the forum, a video that was rapidly gaining popularity suddenly attracted the wolf cub's attention.

The reason was simple.

The title of the video was [Don't look at me like I'm just a little wolf]

F * ck!

There's actually a video of someone being a master?

Young man, you're really... The road has widened!

Liao Zixuan clicked on it with great curiosity and found that the content of the video was actually very simple.

There are three stages in total.

In the first stage, the camera was focused on him lazily watching the battle like a mascot.

In the second stage, when Eugenia turned into the witch Bella, even Vivian, who was on the main account, was in danger. The situation took a turn for the worse. At this time, under the girl's summoning, he made his move.

The original cute little wolf image disappeared in an instant. After transforming into his true Dark Flame Wolf form, his entire body was wrapped in black flames. He stood in the air and was extremely handsome. Once again, he crushed Bella and scared the huge wolf that Bella summoned into running back into the shadows.

In the third stage, after the battle ended, he returned to his lazy state, turning back into the harmless little wolf cub, lazily held in Vivian's arms.

This was a huge reversal of the image. The black-bellied, arrogant, and extremely unique wolf cub instantly gained countless fans among the players. It was simply a fan of both men and women.

The male players were all paying attention to the terrifying strength of the Ghostly One, guessing what level of monster it was, how noble its bloodline was, and whether they could have such powerful companions after becoming Summonmoners.

The female players were more pragmatic.

All kinds of similar... "Your uncle dotes on her!"

" AWSL!"

"He looks so much like the arrogant male lead of the CEO novel! "

"It's too cute. Sob, sob, sob."

"I'm so envious of Vivian. I've decided, I want to be a Summoner too. I want to have a little cub like her!"

"I really want to hug it!"

[I'll show my cards, I'll show my cards!]"

Humans couldn't, shouldn't...

Liao Zixuan had never expected that after the video became the latest trending headline, its popularity had surpassed Vivian's!

The female players played a huge role in this.

In terms of gaming, ten girls might not be able to beat a boy, but in terms of popularity, a hundred boys might not even be able to beat a girl!

In addition, now that Vivian had gone to Fire Code City, many eager players could not find the little girl at all. This led them to focus their attention on the little girl's only companion, a cute little wolf cub.

After a while.

A large number of black mud posts appeared on the forum.

Most of the complaints and protests were male gamers.

Because they had discovered it.

This wolf cub seemed to have a natural sense of rejection and alienation towards male players. On the contrary, female players could easily gain the wolf cub's acceptance.

Furthermore!

Their male instincts told them that this little wolf was very indecent!

Liao Zixuan, who had already begun to enjoy being surrounded by soft jade and warm fragrance, faced the jealous gazes of the male players and curled his lips in disdain.

In a show of force, he arrogantly snuggled into the arms of the super fierce lady who was trying to hug him.

After all, he was just a small cub.

What bad intentions could he have?

Liao Zixuan suddenly began to hope that Vivian would come back from Fire Code City later. After all, he had never experienced such softness and elasticity from a little girl.

It was a few dozen kilometers from Fire Code City to Red Flame Town. It would be dark by the time they made the round trip, right?

Thinking of this, Liao Zixuan closed his eyes comfortably in the gentle land. After that.

A dazzling white light appeared in Red Flame Town as if it was justice from the heavens, almost blinding Liao Zixuan's wolf eyes.

After the white light dissipated.

Coincidentally, the little wolf cub in the arms of the super fierce lady and Vivian, who had completed the teleportation spell and walked out of the teleportation circle, looked travel-worn and missed her little wolf cub...

And it just so happened that their eyes met!
