

NPC Become 561

Chapter 561: Open Beta!(I)

At first, the melee Archmage had wanted to refuse. After all, everyone knew that the time in the early stages of the server was very precious. However, on second thought, he couldn't help but pinch the person crazily. When he came back to his senses, an hour had passed. He had long missed the most precious first time. It didn't seem like a big deal to help this cute new uncle.

It was definitely not because the other party's praise made him feel a little comfortable.

"Alright, it's on the way to the novice village anyway.

"That thing...New... Novice Village?"

[Melee Mage God: >

Alright, since he didn't even know about the Novice Village, he must be a true newbie among newbies. Actually, when the melee Archmage first saw Zhou

Lei's ID " Lei Zi ", he had a hunch about this. After all, anyone who surfed the Internet often wouldn't have such a nickname.

"Didn't the system automatically give you a random Level 2 birth location at the beginning of the game?
"Our first goal now is to go to the nearest village. When we get there, we can meet NPCs, receive missions, and buy weapons, defensive equipment, props, and the like.

"Oh... So it was like this. "Zhou Lei nodded his head in a half-understanding manner.

"Big brother, you're really lucky. You don't know how many people are envious of your random spawn point!" If my other brother knew, he would probably cry even more miserably!

The melee Archmage was very emotional. The other brother he was talking about was naturally his good brother from the closed beta, who could eat a big watermelon with one bite.

Unfortunately, although Big Watermelon had also chosen the Flame Domain, he had been teleported to a town at the border of the Flame Domain that seemed to be called "Red Plume Port". He was currently sending him a crazy private chat and cursing non-stop. Why was he so self-disciplined as to give up on pinching people and enter the game at the first moment? In the end, he was given a random place like this, but after pinching the melee Archmage for an hour, he was still randomly sent to Fire Code City.

"Little brother, I don't understand what you're saying. Is there a difference between good and bad spawn points?" Zhou Lei asked in confusion.

"Of course! This is because those of us who have gone through the beta test know that the Fire Code City that we are currently in is the core of the Flame

Domain. It is also the place where the beta test plot is the most concentrated. As for the low-level village that we are going to next, if I remember correctly, hmph hmph...

The melee Archmage's heart was burning with passion. Because of the name "Nochi Village", he had also been here during the closed beta. It was also the place where his dream began! Because there, he received a mission called "Find the missing girl from the herb-picking village."

The two of them quickened their pace. After a while, Nuo Qi Village appeared in front of them. Only then did Zhou Lei know what it meant to be crowded. The reason why he was only with the melee Archmage God was that they had been pinching him for too long and missed the first batch of people.

At the entrance of the village, a middle-aged man who looked like he was in the middle of the new year, but was in high spirits at the moment, even finding a platform for him to stand on and give a speech. He was surrounded by a large group of players, attracting Zhou Lei's attention.

[An Lu]

[Level: 2]

[Class: Village Chief]

[Danger Level: Extremely Low]

(Because of the death of his wife, he led a decadent life. He was once a famous gambling addict in the village. However, after the disaster in Fire Code City, he relied on his daughter Vivian's outstanding performance and successfully became the village chief of the reconstructed Noki Village.)

" Vivian, hehe, when she was born, it was cloudy. The moment she was carried out of her mother's arms, lightning flashed through the window, followed by heavy rain and strong winds..."

' You don't know, but Vivian was different from other children since she was young. She could understand everything very quickly. At the age of three, she could breathe fire from her mouth, at the age of five, she could make fireballs, and at the age of ten, she could float in the air...

Indeed, my daughter's achievements today are inseparable from her own efforts, but it is also due to my years of hard work. You don't know, in order to help my daughter find herbs to nourish her body, I spent all my money to help Vivian buy a magic book. I did not hesitate to walk more than ten miles..."

"Don't worry, don't worry! If you want an autograph, come one by one. There are all of them!

[Melee Mage God: >

If he had not gone through the closed beta, he would have believed it!

When the melee Archmage turned around again, he realized that Zhou Lei had disappeared. After focusing his attention, he realized that this person had already joined the queue for the Village Chief's signature. He kept waving at him, telling him to hurry over!

After all, from Zhou Lei's point of view, although he did not know anything, since so many people were surrounding him and fighting for it, he should hurry up and follow!

[Melee Mage God: >

In the darkness of Noki Village.

“Aiya, humans are really strange creatures.”

“So that Lady Vivian...Could he really spit fire at the age of three?”

“Old Ape, you idiot! She couldn’t tell that it was the old man bragging.

A young girl who was as beautiful as the first snow was speechless. Beside her was a tall and sturdy man. He was none other than Cher’s subordinates, the one-horned white horse and the giant ape.

Due to the special nature of the Starfire Forest, the monsters were absorbed by the remaining power of the Heart of God, causing most of the monsters to have high levels. The outstanding ones like them could even transform into humans in advance.

They were ordered by Shirley to protect Vivian’s father, who was also the current village of Noki.

Just as they were chatting, their expressions suddenly changed. They turned their heads in one direction, and the figure of another tall woman slowly walked out. “Boss!”

“Boss!”

Cher nodded slightly at the two of them before looking at the village that had been filled with foreigners.

“When did they appear?”

“It’s exactly the same as what you told me, Boss! “White-horned answered first, his eyes shining with admiration.

As soon as she finished speaking, a colorful bird flew down from the sky and landed on Xue Li’s shoulder.

“Boss, Cai Que just scouted around. As expected, the distribution of these foreigners is mostly concentrated on our side!

“Yes...”

Xue Li felt slightly relieved, because this proved that Lord Black’s plan had succeeded.

The reason why Liao Zixuan asked Liz to prepare so much in advance was that the larger the village, the easier it would be for the system to determine that it was a suitable place for players to be born. This would allow them to be one step ahead of others and attract a large number of players to be born in their own territory.

From the looks of it, the first step was a success. As for the rest...

Liao Zixuan, who had played Fallen God before, knew that this game was not very friendly to newbies. It did not say that there would be a list of newbie missions at the beginning. If a real newbie wanted to level up to level 10, it would probably take a month to do it on his own.

Liao Zixuan had asked Liz to spend a lot of money and resources to make the configuration of the novice village so perfect. Another main purpose was to speed up the growth of the players. The premise of harvesting leeks was that the leeks had to grow first.

Cher silently glanced at the gamers who were already bustling in Noki Village and soon began to explore the forest with their swords. After giving White Horn a few more instructions, she left.

She also hoped that these foreigners could grow up as soon as possible. Because she had the power of Fallen Abyss in her body, she could clearly sense that this evil power was showing signs of showing itself everywhere in the Flame Domain. They urgently needed the power of these foreigners to resist it.

Guili.

Compared to the Flame Field, the players who were born in Gui Li were not as comfortable because of the arrangements that the wolf cubs had made for them.

Qilin Pavilion.

“Sigh, Lord Zhao, I didn’t expect to meet you again in just a few days. “Last time, the deacon of White Tiger Hall was sitting in Zhao Yu ‘er’s tea market again.

However, this time, the other party was not here to blame Zhao Yu-er. Instead...

“As expected of Lord Zhao, the Qilin Pavilion Master. You’re indeed a god. I admire you!

“Lord Li must be joking.”

“Don’t. This is really not an official statement. If it weren’t for Lord Zhao’s preparation in advance and the detailed plan for the isolation of foreigners so that all the departments were prepared, everyone would have been in a mess with such a sudden influx of foreigners today! ”

Zhao Yu-er frowned slightly at the words, but she still quickly said,

“Then Lord Li, I wonder if my request to send a fleet to the Thousand Islands has been approved?”

Chapter 562: Open Beta!(2)

“This...” Deacon Li of the White Tiger Hall hesitated.

At the end of the day, it was still the Astorokis on the Thousand Islands. There were already rumors of the shipwreck, but a few days later, another ship miraculously returned. However, this was not the end. Later, it was said that smuggled goods were seized on this ship, causing a major change in society. In short, it was a period of chaos.

Guili Fang had always maintained a non-interfering attitude towards foreign countries. In addition, it was almost the day when the Emperor would come out of seclusion for a hundred years. Guili was extremely busy internally and did not have the time to care about foreign countries.

However, the problem now was that Zhao Yu-er's father, who had been missing overseas for many years, was on the Astorokis. Now that the ship had returned safely, it meant that Zhao Yu-er's father was very likely not dead.

At this moment, even Deacon Li did not know how to speak to the girl in the cheongsam in front of him.

First, he finally found out that he had lost contact with his loved ones. Then, he found out that the news was about his death. However, in the end, the news turned out to be a false report.

After so many twists and turns, it was no wonder that Zhao Yu-er had applied so many times. It was no longer the initial application for a diplomatic investigation, but she wanted to mobilize the fleet and make a trip to the Thousand Islands personally!

"Lord Zhao, I understand how you feel, but..." Deacon Li could only bite the bullet and say.

"If it weren't for the sudden appearance of so many foreigners, we should have been able to approve your application. But now, at the critical moment when the Emperor is about to wake up, such a major abnormal incident has occurred. Firstly, almost half of our soldiers are now used to manage and quarantine those foreigners. Secondly, regarding the foreigners, we can't miss you, Lord Zhao. Therefore, no matter what, Lord Zhao, you have to stay in Guili."

Zhao Yuer was speechless.

Sigh.

The girl in the cheongsam sighed.

“Is that so? I understand now.”

“Thank you for your understanding, Lord Zhao. I’ll take my leave first. “The deacon of the White Tiger Hall cupped his hands at Zhao Yu ‘er and was about to leave the tea room.

However, at the door of the tea room, Deacon Li’s eyebrows twitched. As if he could not help but glance at the screen at the innermost side of the tea room from the corner of his eye, he still left a sentence before he left.

“Now that all the five elements are focused on the Outlander Shrine, the inspectors in many places are much weaker, especially Glass Port. They even let in many shady people.

He seemed to be mumbling to himself, but he received Zhao Yu ‘er’s gratitude.

“Thank you, Lord Li.”

“Don’t, I was just saying casually. I’m really leaving this time. “Waving his hand, the man’s figure disappeared into the distance.

After Deacon Li left the tea room, a new heroic female voice with a valiant style sounded in the tea room.

“Xiao Yu, what did that guy mean by his last sentence?”

The source of the sound was from the screen at the innermost side of the tea room.

A woman in casual clothes with a pirate-like blindfold on her right eye strode out from behind the screen. From the looks of it, she had been hiding in the tea room all along.

“What Lord Li meant was that as long as I didn’t leave Guili and didn’t borrow Guili’s soldiers, he would turn a blind eye to me and allow me to send a private fleet from Glass Harbor to Thousand Islands.

The girl in the cheongsam took out a new tea set from under the tea table and made tea while patiently explaining to the one-eyed woman who had just appeared behind her.

“What? Did he say that just now?” The one-eyed woman was obviously surprised.

But he quickly reacted.

“No! Xiao Yu, since when did you have a private fleet? Wait a minute, could it be that the sun suddenly rose from the west and you called me all the way here to reminisce about the past just to...”

“Come, have some tea.”

Zhao Yu-er pushed the warm tea she had just brewed in front of the one-eyed woman, who was looking unhappy.

Humph!

Although her words were very unfriendly and she snorted coldly, the one-eyed woman still took the tea and drank it in one gulp.

“As expected of the famous Qilin Pavilion Master’s treasured tea. The taste is different from the coarse tea I drank with my brothers on the ship.

“That’s not true. No matter how good the tea is, it can’t compare to having a good person to drink it.

“The woman in the cheongsam shook her head.

“Humph, so many years have passed, but Xiao Yu, your mouth is still so powerful.

“But I still don’t understand. Since you’ve already planned to let me lead the fleet, why did you make such an application to Five Elements and deliberately let me hide in the tea room? You should have noticed that the guy from White Tiger Hall has obviously discovered me.”

In the end, Deacon Li’s glance at the one-eyed woman’s hiding place could not be any more obvious.

Facing the question, Zhao Yuer smiled and said,

“When you feel that the room is too hot and want to open the windows, if you directly mention it, you might still be rejected. However, if you propose to lift the roof first and are rejected, then propose to open the windows, then they will definitely be very happy to accept it.

“I asked you to hide there to show Lord Li my attitude. Some things can be said in the open, but some can only be said in the dark. Fortunately, Lord Li is also a smart person. He understood my meaning, so he said those last words..

Chapter 563: Open Beta (2)

After listening to Zhao Yu ‘ers explanation, the one-eyed woman nodded in realization, but she soon sighed helplessly.

“This... Is that so? Sigh, that’s why I don’t like you officials. Each of you is too scheming and shrewd. In my opinion, just say what you think openly and don’t be long-winded like a woman! Always beating around the bush! There was a hidden meaning behind his words!

“Eh? No! Wait a minute, so that stinky fellow was referring to me when he mentioned the dubious person just now!? “The one-eyed woman was furious.

“Let’s not talk about this first. Nan, other than the matter of the Thousand Islands, I also called you over because...”

Zhao Yu ‘er paused for a moment before a serious expression appeared on her pretty face.

“I heard that you’ve already started to interact with foreigners in private?” “You mean this? Indeed.”
Nan scratched her head.

The one-eyed woman recalled her experience not long ago. After she got off the ship, she disguised herself and prepared to go to Qilin Pavilion to meet Zhao Yu ‘er. In the end, on the street halfway, she happened to bump into soldiers chasing after four or five foreigners who had escaped the net.

At that time, Nan had been drifting on the sea and was not well-informed, so she did not know about the foreigners. She only helped the four or five foreigners escape when she saw injustice.

However, just as Nan was about to leave, these foreigners seemed to have discovered a new continent. They were excitedly shouting something like ‘Special NPC!’ What did he mean by ‘trizzerinz a hidden event, the Concealment of Concealed!’ Nan was baffled.

From then on, these foreigners were extremely enthusiastic about her. They fought to be the first to chat with her non-stop and refused to let go of her.

They even said that they wanted her to issue some missions. Give it to them.

“I beg you to... Release missions?” The more Zhao Yu ‘er listened, the more she frowned.

“Yeah, at that time, I also thought it was interesting, so I casually said that I wanted them to dance on the street for me. Guess what happened... Ahahaha, I can’t take it anymore. I’m dying of laughter. When I think back to how those people looked at that time, I’m so happy! Hahaha...”

for a period of time. Wuxing almost forgot about this matter. Who knew that it would be so sudden today...Nan, since you've interacted with foreigners before, how do you feel about them?"

Zhao Yu-er thought about it from another perspective. Why did they have to isolate the foreigners? It was because they did not understand. Now that Nan was an opportunity, perhaps...

"I think that your actions are a little overreacting. Because in my opinion, these foreigners are all talented sailors! You don't know, but it's like they've returned home after boarding the ship! Moreover, they can learn everything very quickly and speak well. Anyway, I quite like them!

Was he talented in sailing?

After Zhao Yu-er secretly noted this down, she looked out the window. It was getting late.

"No matter what, Nan, you have to be careful of these foreigners. Don't be careless. I won't pursue the matter of you hiding foreigners. After all, you're about to bring the fleet to the Thousand Islands.

"Lastly, my father...I'll leave it to you. Zhao Yu 'er pursed her lips with a complicated expression.

"Yes, don't worry!"

The one-eyed woman pounded her chest with her fist as a guarantee.

Thousand Islands.

Sakuragi Island.

A wolf cub was lying happily on Vivian's tablet, browsing the player forum.

It had been a few days since the server opened, and the posts on Fallen God's forum had exploded every day. The little wolf cub glanced over and saw that most of them were from players, ridiculing and commenting on the experience of the "Initial Five Kingdoms".

Although he was now...The wolves couldn't escape from the Thousand Islands, but they could still rely on the players' posts on the forum to learn about the developments and situations in various countries..

Chapter 564: Open Beta (2)

With the player forum in his hands, the information of the Little Wolfins could be said to be even better than the top intelligence network in God Fall and the Adventurer Association.

Among the five nations, the one that was ridiculed the most by the players was undoubtedly "Winter".

The wolf cub moved its claws and opened a very hot discussion thread.

The title of the post was [A lesson of blood and tears. Newcomers who have not yet fallen into the pit should never choose the Winter Opening!

The author of the thread began by simply explaining that he had chosen this country because he liked snow. Then, he began to describe his painful experience. Not long after he was born, he was captured by a group of tribal warriors wearing animal skin coats. He was blindfolded, tied up, and thrown into a car.

Fortunately, as a player, he could open a third-party perspective. The thread owner was quite happy at first, thinking that he had encountered some special incident, until he realized that the destination of this trip was a hidden laboratory under the ice and snow, and he...He was f*cking treated as a test subject by others!

The next step was to experiment non-stop every day. Although he felt nothing as a player, the system notified him that he had been brainwashed and lost control. He could not escape until his Intelligence reached a certain level. This account was basically useless!

When the OP was being pursued by the Gui Li soldiers, he was lucky enough to bump into a special NPC and was recruited into the fleet. His subsequent movements were still unknown. The OP said that he would update here in real time once there was any new news.

The wolf cub silently added these special posts to the favorites list. They were all precious war reporters!

Gui Li and Lin Dong were almost done watching. Little Wolf finally turned his attention to the Flame Domain and...On the Thousand Islands..

Chapter 565: Open Beta (Part 2)

[I'm dying of laughter. Could it be that someone is being isolated while playing a game? Oh, so it's me. No, I might as well be isolated. Help! If we continue to float on the sea, my character's thirst will soon run out. I'm going to die!!)

Lightning Strike at the opening of the game, a post from Thousand Island's collective lamentation was pushed to the top of the forum sub-section.

According to the different landforms of each country, the way players were born was also different. In mainland countries, it was fine as they were randomly spawned in villages. However, in countries on the sea like the Thousand Islands, the players were squeezed into a small, broken boat of refugees on the sea and floated to the islands of the Thousand Islands.

This extremely realistic opening experience had originally made many players of the Thousand Islands who wanted to experience the Sea Area immerse themselves in it. However, only players who had gone through the closed beta knew how ridiculous this setting was. This was also why there were so many column bloggers on the forum who had previously posted that they strongly advised newbies not to choose the Thousand Islands Opening.

The players from Thousand Islands who didn't waste any time and entered the game right after the server was opened were lucky because the Three Executors of Thousand Islands didn't react in time at that time and allowed this group of players to log in successfully.

However, as time passed, more and more people began to wait.

Even though only a small number of players chose the Thousand Islands, the overall population was huge. As more and more refugee ships flooded out, the Three Executors were not blind. Although the internal chaos was caused by Gong Si's deep sleep, they still ordered the blockade of all the island ports as soon as possible.

The players were completely dumbfounded when they saw the port being sealed off. Although the players in Gui Li were also isolated, they still had a large area to move around. But what about the players from Thousand Islands?

The group of newbies squeezed into the boat and looked at each other. Then, they looked around them in unison. There was nothing but the sea.

Some players couldn't take it anymore and tried to jump off the boat to swim to the island. However, it turned out that with the current level of the players, their Stamina bar would be depleted before they could even swim for a minute in the sea. It was impossible.

The most despairing thing was that after the white light flashed, the respawn point they respawned at was still the same damn small broken ship.

As for Lin Dong, Gui Li, and the Thousand Islands, the players had suffered since the beginning of the game. Most of the players on the forum were just enjoying the show and eating melon seeds.

There was no other reason. It was too comfortable for them to speak out in the Flame Domain.

When the little wolf cub clicked on the sub-section of the Flame Domain, the style of the posts in the forum was completely different from the sub-sections of other countries.

[Coordinates: North Mountain Range. Team up to kill Lone Wolf. We're urgently lacking two fierce Tanks.)

[Super Rare Critical Harm Helmet, max out critical hit rate, absolutely a godly weapon in the early stages of the game. 10 Gold Coins, look over here, boss!

[Commander Harvey is too handsome! Does anyone know how to add the Fire

Code Knights?)

[Flame Domain's closed beta plot summary! The newbie looked over.

Everything you want to know is here!)

[Black Mud warning, why am I assigned to the port at the edge of the Flame Domain at the beginning of the game, while my other idiotic friend was assigned to Fire Code City after pinching people for an hour!?

[Let me introduce everyone to my new husband (with Damir's photo in the game)]

[Perhaps it's the fastest way to change classes and increase combat strength in the early stages? Thief player, enter! Treasure Treasure Pirates 'Power Analysis! Join Brotherhood together!]

[Vivian! My Vivian, where have you been? How can I live without you?!!

The other three countries' forums were filled with cries and howls. As for the Flame Domain, it was definitely the most similar to the player experience of a normal game. As far as the eye could see, there were all sorts of posts about players interacting with NPCs, such as lament posts, strategy posts, and classic illness posts.

Teaming up to kill monsters, reselling equipment, making friends...Cough, wait a minute. More than ten players appeared every second. It was obvious that the Flame Domain's players were not restricted by the official system.

As long as the players were not blind, they could tell which country was the officially recognized Novice Village. There were already many regretful posts on the main page. They were all envious of the players of the Flame Domain and regretted not listening to the strategy guide when the server opened and choosing another country.

This scene not only made the Little Wolf Cub sigh, but he remembered that in his previous life, although the Flame Domain was indeed the most friendly to the Players in the beginning, it had not reached the point where it was completely open to the public.

It could be said that during the closed beta period, the big wave of the closed beta plot brought about by the little girl played a crucial role.

This allowed the higher-ups of the Flame Domain to see the potential and strength of the Players. In addition, they knew in advance that there was a threat like the Fallen Abyss. That was why they had accepted and even welcomed the Players.

Of course, the players of Flame Field were also troubled.

For example, the little wolf cub saw several posts, complaining about how the difference between the two spawn points was so big.

He immediately noticed a post from an old acquaintance with the ID "A Bite of a Big Watermelon". He clicked on it and saw that the previous post was the black mud post that he had just scanned.

Big Watermelon said that in his village, the village chief was an old man in his seventies or eighties. He would only issue the simplest daily missions. If he wanted to find a Class Mentor, there was none. If he wanted to farm monsters, he would have to run for half an hour without any supplies..

Chapter 566: Open Beta (2)

Then, he looked at the novice villages under Red Flame Town that he had received from his friend "Melee Archmage".

There were weapon stores, item stores, and defensive equipment stores. They had all the supplies they wanted. Even the class mentors were brought to the village at the beginning of the game. Players born in these villages could receive class change missions at the beginning of the game. Then, they turned around and saw that the village was next to the monster forest, which seemed to be called the Starfire Forest.

The monsters inside increased in level from the outside to the inside. Old players could tell that this was definitely a large-scale dungeon. There might be some bosses inside that they could fight. The exploration level was full!

At the end of the post, what broke Big Watermelon's defense the most was that he had been bitterly leveling for three to four days and had only just broken through to Level 5. On the other hand, the close-combat Mage God, no, the newbie uncle that the close-combat Mage God had met by chance, had almost reached Level 10 by following the quests in the village!

Puff...

The wolf cub silently mourned for him.

However, it was true. After all, Red Flame Town could be considered the starting point of Vivian and the wolf cubs' power in the Fire Domain. Liao Zixuan had prepared so many resources for the players in advance because he wanted to spoil the situation. He believed that it would not be long before the players under Red Flame Town would be far ahead of the players in other areas of the Fire Domain in terms of level and equipment.

At that time, there was no need for Liao Zixuan to do any more publicity. A large number of high-quality players would spontaneously pour into this early stage treasure land, allowing them to obtain a large number of powerful labor forces.

As for how to make these tired Fourth Calamity obediently work for him...

[Mom, I'm in love! What kind of beauty was this Countess!

[First of all, I'm not female bronze. Second, I'm not female bronze. Finally... Damn it, stop pretending. The Earl is too aggressive. I really want to be pressed under her body...]

[Liz glanced at me. I'm in her heart!]

[To be honest, this Countess 'mission load is really huge. My evaluation is...Modo Modo!

[Aren't you concerned about the maidservants of Count Lisis? The white-haired, stoic character was in love!

The little wolf cub could only say that with Liz's level, it was too easy to toy with the players! The other NPCs were still reserved, but after being taught by the wolf cubs, Liz was fast, accurate, and ruthless to the players. She gave out missions one after another.

Even the little wolf cub couldn't help but wipe his sweat with his paws after reading the 996 posts on the forum where the players were reported by Liz. He finally understood what it meant to be a noble capitalist!

However, the interesting thing was that in reality, everyone was slacking off, but in the game, we enjoyed it! This was especially so when the game was at its peak during the game's launch period. Even if the game was moving bricks in the morning, cutting trees in the afternoon, building walls in the afternoon, and fighting monsters in the evening, the wolf cubs did not even see a single complaint post. They could only see countless posts, comparing who had completed the most quests today and how much experience and contribution points they had earned.

Yes, contribution points. This was also the method Liao Zixuan had taught Liz. One could imagine that the Red Flame Town area, which was originally a mess and had a lot of things to do after the disaster, would definitely develop rapidly with the hard work of the players.

The little wolf cub could not help but sigh. What was the fourth natural disaster!

Whoosh!

Seeing how hard Lissy was working in the Flame Domain, the little wolf cubs couldn't keep browsing the forums here. Sometimes, this thing was really too addictive.

It was also time for him to prepare to take action with the little girl on the Thousand Islands to "save" the large number of leeks trapped in the sea... Players!

Hiss...

No, something was missing before this!

There were five countries in total, but did he only see the posts of players from four countries? Where was Qing Feng? Where were the players from the Green Maple Kingdom?

[Let's play a game of Ji Xing card!]

[Coordinates: Joel City, Dandelion Town. Do you have any mahjong friends? Play quickly!]

[Team up... Swipe my ass! I have a rare card, Vampire Hunter. I will trade for another card of the same grade!]

[Attention everyone! There's a bard dressed in green in Fort toot. Whenever he sees you, he will play cards with you. Don't be fooled by him! I've lost all my underwear and I've already treated him to eight glasses of cider. F * ck!

[F * ck! +1 for the older brother upstairs! But I met him at the lookout grassland!]

[Really? I met him in Bloody Ridge too! It was as if he knew how much money I had on me. After winning all of it, he ran away!]

The little wolf cub was speechless.

Alright, it could only be said that Green Maple was indeed a country that slacked off. No wonder there were not many posts about Green Maple on the forum, and even the players inside were slacking off!

Taking this as a warning, the wolf cub quickly closed the forum and called the little girl. The two of them began to head to Moon Abyss Island's Grand Ceremony.

"So you mean that you want us to let those refugee ships in and let all the foreigners gather on one island?"

The Six Paths Robe summarized Vivian's suggestion to her.

"This is indeed a method. We have also considered it. After all, the Three

Executors can't just watch them starve to death at sea. However, the problem is..."

' With the number of foreigners, if you want to put all of them on one island, it will have to be at least a medium-sized island. However, these islands that meet the conditions are all inhabited by the local residents of the Thousand Islands. They can't eat so many people. Moreover, the local islanders are definitely not willing to let their island's resources be taken up by outsiders.

" The current plan of the Third Executive is to first set aside a small island and move away the native Thousand Islands people on it. Some of the foreigners will land on the island, and some will stay on the sea. Although this will be a little unfair to those foreigners, at least they will have an island to stay on."

The words of the Six Paths Silk Robe sounded very familiar to the little wolf cub because it was like this in the game's plot in his previous life. The Three Pursuers had given a place called " Leaving the Island " to the players. Only after the players had earned enough reputation with the Three Pursuers could they leave the Island.

But this time.

“Luosha, how about this? Actually, since it’s a medium-sized island, there’s no need to worry about it. There’s actually one island in the Thousand Islands that has disputes and safety issues with the locals!

“Hmm? How is that possible?” The general frowned. She was a native of the Thousand Islands. Did she not know the Thousand Islands better than Vivian?

However, Luo Sha quickly came to a realization because she suddenly understood which island the little girl was referring to.

“You mean... Sakuragi Island?” The purple-haired woman said the name with a complicated tone.

As one of the two great shrines of the Thousand Islands and the origin of the Yaegong Shrine, Sakuragi Island was one of the largest medium-sized islands. It was almost as large as the main island, Moon Abyss Island.

However, due to the historical disaster, this originally beautiful island had become a cursed island. It was uninhabited and was classified as a forbidden area in the Thousand Islands.

But now, Vivian had actually suggested that she use Sakuragi Island to receive a large number of foreigners at sea...

Luo Sha’s first reaction was that he was sending a foreigner to his death!?

The thunderstorm that enveloped the entire island, as well as the vegetation, soil, and monsters that had become strange and terrifying due to the thunderstorm and curse...

“Believe me, Luo Sha!” “Me (Little Black)...”

“I know those foreigners the best!”

Looking at Vivian’s sincere blinking eyes, he thought back to the time when Lord Gong Si seemed to have wanted Vivian to go to Sakuragi Island to do something. Could it be that Lord Gong Si had already expected all of this?

After pondering for a while, Luo Sha finally nodded.

“Alright, then Sakuragi Island and those...I’m counting on you, Vivian.

“Yes! Don’t worry!”

Chapter 567: The Witch in the Fox Mask

Although she said that, Vivian still had no idea how to do it.

But it didn’t matter. The little wolf cub had already planned everything. While there was still a short period of time before the players landed on Sakuragi Island, he needed to make some preparations for the little girl’s future contact with the players.

The first thing he had to do was to change his clothes and disguise himself.

“Eh? Witch... Witch costume? I don’t mind, but is it really necessary?” Vivian was surprised to hear that her little wolf had sent a telepathic message asking her if she liked getting a witch costume.

But the little wolf cub spoke eloquently.

“There’s a saying in Guili that goes, if a worker wants to do a good job, he must first sharpen his tools.]

Seeing that Vivian could understand every word, but her little face was still completely confused, the wolf cub sighed. While considering whether he should find time to improve the little girl's cultural level, he translated simply,"

"If the craftsman wants to do his job well, he must first make his tools sharp. Since we want to entrust foreigners to help save Sakuragi Island, we have to have a decent identity, right? Otherwise, who would listen to us? With Sakuragi's background and history, it was definitely the most suitable for her to appear in front of the foreigners in the form of a witch!]

This was a lie!

This was actually only a small part of it. For the vast majority of players, as long as they could issue high-value missions, the identity of the NPC was just a bonus. The real purpose of the wolf cubs was to hide the identity of " Vivian "

As for why he had to hide it, he would soon find out.

"I, I learned it! Little Black knows a lot!"

On the other side, Vivian first showed admiration for her wolf cub's profound knowledge, but soon, she hesitated and said,"

"But Xiao Hei, you mean... Do you want me to pretend to be a shrine maiden from Yae Shrine? Is this really okay?"

In the little girl's heart, she was still very respectful to the shrine. If she went to the shrine in the name of someone else, although she was doing a good deed, it would still make Vivian feel bad.

The little wolf cub hurriedly explained,"

[There's no need to use the word 'impersonation'!] J

“We are only using the identity of ‘shrine maidens’ because in the Thousand Islands culture, this identity is the fastest to be accepted and trusted by everyone. There is no need to take the initiative to declare that we are from the

Yae Shrine!]

It was better to say that the more Riddler he was, the more ambiguous his identity would be, because that way, the gamers would be able to make up wild guesses! Isn’t this much better than impersonating a shrine maiden of the Yae Shrine?

Of course, the little wolf cub did not tell Vivian the last part of his words.

After the little girl had finally overcome the psychological barrier, the next step was to find a witch costume. Originally, the little wolf cubs thought that it should be a very easy task, but after they went around and inquired about many clothing stores, they found that none of the stores sold authentic witch costumes.

The reason was that the little wolf cub had explained not long ago that witches had a very high status in the Thousand Islands culture. Even if it was just clothing, it was not something that ordinary people could wear. Naturally, clothing stores would not sell it. It was even illegal to sell counterfeit goods privately. Once they were caught by the society, they would be imprisoned!

Helplessly, the wolf cubs and Vivian could only look for a certain social attendant who seemed to have been forgotten by them for a long time.

“I’m so angry! I’m so angry! Why should I? Why was that little girl so lucky every time? Who did she think she was? Feng Aotian, the female protagonist in light novels!

Sakai Risa gritted her teeth. Meanwhile, Roko, who was beside her, was expressionless because she had heard this sentence countless times over the past few days.

In Bella’s imagination, Vivian would come to her obediently in less than a day. However, she waited and waited. After waiting for almost two days, there was still no news. Bella could not sit still.

She brought Roko to the foot of the shrine. After asking Owl, she found out that Owl was related to the daughter of the Earl of Fire Code City by blood! Vivian had used this to get information from Owl.

And how could she still use her?

Having missed a great opportunity to flirt with a little girl, Bella was filled with resentment every day. At this moment, unexpected footsteps sounded from outside the door, followed by...

“Lady Risa, Miss Roko, may I come in?”

Vivian’s voice came from outside, making Bella shiver. Her dispirited expression instantly disappeared. Bella was still very good at losing face.

After Lu Zi opened the door, the little girl’s figure came into view.

“Hmph, if you came to me to borrow the power of the society to play with your so-called island revival plan, then I suggest you give up.”

Sakai Risa snapped.

Bella also learned from Owl about Vivian’s next plan to restore the Cursed Island to its original state. Bella originally thought that she could rely on her own resources to lure the little girl to train her to vent her anger, but who knew that Vivian would suddenly play so big? Even her avatar of Sakai Risa was probably not enough to do this..

Chapter 568: The Witch in the Fox Mask (2)

Therefore, she was not interested in Vivian’s arrival.

However, unexpectedly, the little girl opposite him actually shook her head. Instead, she said with a little embarrassment and embarrassment,

“Lady Risa, I wonder if you can...Can I borrow your witch costume for the time being?”

Sakai Risa, as the master of the family...The former head of the family, and the Society was in charge of the Ritual Society. If the little wolf cub remembered correctly, Sakai Risa had also appeared in the eyes of the players in her previous life wearing a witch costume. Therefore, Sakai Risa was undoubtedly the best candidate for them to get the most authentic traditional costume.

He had no choice but to do so because of the situation.

Witch costume?

Bella quickly realized what Vivian was trying to do. It was nothing more than impersonating the witch of Sakuragi Island. Of course, that was not the main point. What really concerned Bella was...

It seemed that the little girl could not find a way to obtain a shrine costume, so she came to her place. Bella did indeed have a few spare shrine costumes that she had not worn in her luggage. Although she looked like this, she was also a shrine maiden in name.

So...

She could finally unlock Vivian's new outfit!!

Witch... Hehe! Witch...

Moreover, Vivian said that she was just borrowing, which meant that she would return it later. That meant that she could get the clothes that the little girl had worn without any effort!

This, this is simply!

Puchi!

“Ah! Lady Risa, are you alright? “Vivian was shocked when she saw the fresh blood flowing out of Sakai Risa’s nose.

“Cough cough, that, witch costume, right? No problem, quickly reveal your child! Take Vivian to change!”

Bella covered her own nose and agreed without hesitation. Even in the imagination of the little wolf cubs, she deliberately made things difficult for them.

I didn’t expect Ning to be a female bronze too!

Although Bella’s temporary residence on Sakuragi Island was very simple, it had two bedrooms. After Ruzi and Vivian went in, they finally came out after a while.

The biggest reason was that Sakai Risa’s witch costume was a little difficult for a little girl to wear. After all, the difference between the two sizes was not ordinary, especially the bust area of the dress. When Vivian wore it, she felt that a part of it was deflated and extremely loose.

But in short.

This small problem was not a problem for the old tailor’s little girl and Luzi.

After a slight adjustment, the new limited edition Vivian of the Thousand Islands appeared in front of Bella and the wolf cubs who were looking forward to it.

By the way, Bella also wanted to go in after the nosebleed stopped and help Lucy change Vivian’s clothes. However, the wolf cubs were at their limit, so she sacrificed the opportunity to feast her eyes and successfully delayed the great witch who had been classified as the “ female bronze group ” by the wolf cubs.

“That... Isn’t it strange to be a ‘desect’? Vivian, who was already a witch when she came out, could not help but mutter.

When the dark, ordinary adventurer outfit with long sleeves and long pants was replaced by a witch outfit with a contrasting white top and red bottom, it was not eye-catching, but rather, it was brilliant.

The little wolf cub now felt that the saying 'clothes make the man', 'horses make the saddle', was indeed true.

The witch's costume itself, be it in color or simple style, highlighted the word 'pure'. This imperceptibly magnified the flawless feeling that was originally on Vivian.

Due to the size problem, she made some minor changes to the witch costume, such as tying a thin red ribbon around her neck, then winding the two sides of the red rope from her back to her shoulders, and finally to her chest, tying a bow-like knot.

In this way, it solved the problem of the little girl's sagging due to the tablet and tightened the witch's dress. It did not look too out of place, but more like a decoration, adding a bit of playfulness and approachability to Vivian, who was originally emitting a strong and pure aura.

In addition, Vivian's cheeks were slightly red, her eyes were slightly lowered, and her lips were tightly pursed because she was nervous and uncomfortable. Her feet, which were wrapped in white stockings under her clogs, were wriggling back and forth restlessly, and her toes were clenching and releasing immediately...

Pfft...

Without a doubt, today was another day where the Witch Bella would have a terrible defeat.

What was the ceiling of pure desire!

Right, there was one last thing that he could not forget.

The wolf cub took out a fox mask that he had looted from Bella and placed it in front of Vivian with his little claws.

Since it was to hide his identity, he naturally couldn't reveal his face.

Sakai Risa protested vehemently, while Vivian wished she could hug and kiss the wolf cub a hundred times. Little Black knew her best. Vivian felt that it was too shy for the witch to meet people directly like this, but if she could wear a mask on her face, she would feel much better!

Hence, it was like this.

[The mysterious witch lady wearing a fox mask is a female witch.]

This little wolf cub was custom-made for Vivian to serve the large number of public beta players who were about to arrive at Sakuragi Island. The brand new NPC image was completely finished...

Oh, that's not right.

He had almost forgotten that this was the most important thing.

[Since I'm using a new identity, I should also have a new name!]

In the wolf cub's heart, although a name had already appeared, he still asked for the little girl's opinion first..

Chapter 569: The Witch in the Fox Mask (3)

But when he saw Vivian's eyes lit up after a few seconds of thinking, the wolf cub knew that they were thinking the same thing.

" Then in this period of time in the future, this witch in the fox mask, we will call her... Peace!"

The wolf cub and Vivian looked at each other. They were already telepathically connected, and there was no need to say anything more.

Hence, he decided to do it.

Liao Zixuan opened Vivian's interface and changed the name he had written for the little girl. It was a new name that would be unforgettable for countless players who were born in Thousand Islands in the future.

[Ann]

"F * ck! Brother Dog, that most handsome little wolf is really godly! Dont tell me he's an insider of Fallen God!"

When the small boats of the refugees sailed towards a purple island shrouded in lightning in the storm, the people on the boats did not show any despair or helplessness. On the contrary, they were eager to give it a try. They looked at the Cursed Dead Island as if they had seen a paradise.

Without a doubt, these were the Players who were allowed to land on Sakuragi Island under the new decree of the Third Execution.

As it was a small boat, it was protected by the system. Therefore, no matter how big the waves were, the players' boats would not capsize. Before they landed on the island, the boats would not be damaged. At least, the system still had this kind of protection for the players.

On one of the ships, there was a player with the ID " Big Mutt Isn't a Dog ". If the little wolf cubs were here, they would definitely...

Alright, I guess I don't remember him, but he was indeed the unlucky player who had been indirectly persecuted by Vivian during the closed beta period.

He still remembered that the little wolf cub had been trying to garner votes for the " Divine Wizard Selection so he had resorted to unscrupulous means on the forum. Even if the people he had gathered were all anti-fans, he still wanted to increase the percentage of players who were willing to start with Thousand Islands after the open beta.

Liao Zixuan had indeed played a good role. Under the influence of his post, many players who were like the big dog, who were anti-fans of Vivian and disliked the little girl, chose Thousand Islands.

The big dog's idea was simple. He just wanted to hide as far away from Vivian as possible.

Naturally, the original followers of the dog could only follow their boss and start with " Thousand Islands ". As a result, it was known in the player forum a few days ago that the Thousand Islands players were almost at the bottom of the contempt chain and were mercilessly ridiculed by players from other countries. Among them, Vivian's fans from the Flame Domain were the most happy.

Scream? Why didn't he continue shouting?

Look at the Fire Field, then look at the Thousand Islands. Even Vivian, who was almost missing the words " Main Storyline NPC ", did not choose the country she was in. She even listened to the nonsense post of " The Most Handsome Wolf Cub ". Now, she must be stupid! Bah! He deserved it!

These few days were the darkest days for the players of Thousand Islands, especially those who hated Vivian.

However!

From the words of the big mutt's underling, he knew that the light of the righteous path had arrived even though it was late!

Just as countless players on the forum began to question why Vivian's anti-fan leader," the most handsome wolf had stopped talking, he only posted a picture.

To be precise, it was a picture of an island.

Just as all the players were still confused by the post, Sanxing turned around and gave the order to send all the players to an island.

The Thousand Islands players and Vivian's haters were undoubtedly a shot in the arm, and they all had a hunch that next...

They were about to turn the tables. It was time...

It was their turn to blow the horn of the counterattack of the players from other countries who had mocked them!

Chapter 570: We Were Like Abandoned Orphans Until She Appeared (1)

[You have unlocked a new map, Sakuragi Island]

[Current Exploration Level: 0/0]

When the mutt got off the small boat and stepped onto the ground of Sakuragi Island, the long-awaited system notification finally sounded in his mind. This made the mutt tear up.

Many Thousand Islands players had the same feeling. It had been a long time since they had heard the voice of the system.

"Boss, what are we going to do underlings around the big mutt were all eager to give it a try.

However, because there was no Novice Village and no NPC to issue quests, most of the players had landed on the island, but they stayed in place for a while, not knowing what to do.

In fact, many gaming organizations had investigated and found that there were only a few players who really liked to explore freely. Most ordinary players were still inclined to give them a clear goal in the great world.

After the big mutt glanced at his character's hunger that was about to reach the bottom, he said to his underlings,

"Let's set the goal of finding food and water for the first time. Although the initial death penalty is very low, it's best to avoid it as much as possible.

To be able to become a closed beta player back then, the big mutt naturally had the strength of the game. Otherwise, he would not have such a large group of followers following him.

After he led his lackeys to explore the island, many other players also reacted. Their primary goal was to fill their in-game characters' stomachs.

Of course, there was still a small interlude in between.

"Old... Boss, my stomach hurts a little, so I'll stay on this boat by the shore for now..." One of the big mutt's underlings shrank in the boat and did not move. "What the hell? Stomach ache? Wasn't there no pain system in this game?" Faced with his teammates' doubts, this little brother stammered until...

Kacha!

A purple lightning bolt as thick as a bucket flashed past their area, followed by a loud rumble of muffled thunder, hitting an unknown part of the island.

"Wow! Mommy, Mommy!" The crew member, who had been clutching his stomach and pretending, jumped up under the lightning and thunder. He was so scared that he was talking nonsense and trembling all over. This time, it was completely exposed that the girl was afraid of thunder.

Sigh.

After the big mutt sighed, it left with the rest of the laughing underlings.

In fact, there were quite a number of players like this. When they landed on the island and finally calmed down from the excitement of "freedom," the players gradually began to realize that the island they were on...A little sinister?

Of course, it was only after a while that the players realized that this wasn't a little sinister, it was simply...

This was too f * cking netherworld!

"Hahaha, I'm dying of laughter. Old Han used to brag about how bold he was in the group every day, but today he's just like this? Wasn't it just a lightning strike? What can I do?"

The big mutt brother had just finished speaking when he noticed from the corner of his eye that the light purple ground under his feet had suddenly darkened a lot. Moreover, there was also a slight sizzling sound in his ears.

What was going on?

Just as this thought rose in his heart, the next moment...

Kacha!

Boom!

A purple lightning bolt struck down from the sky above the island covered in thunderclouds. It did not give the underling any time to react before it exploded on the ground under his feet.

Waah!

After hearing a miserable cry, this lackey was blown away by the thunderstorm. When he landed, he didn't even have a chance to be rescued. His entire body turned into a white light and disappeared on the spot, resurrecting.

The group of players, who had been chatting and laughing just now, suddenly fell silent.

Everyone had always thought that the thunderstorm that shrouded Sakuragi Island was just a setting for the environment and atmosphere. But now, it seemed that the thunderstorm was really going to attack them! ?

The reason why most people weren't afraid of lightning and thunder was because they knew that there was nothing else other than the terrifying sound. But now, if they were to say that they were not just the atmosphere team, but would really give you a real blow...

Hiss!

Everyone sucked in a breath of cold air. From the scream of that lackey just now, they could tell how scary it was to be struck by lightning. God Fall clearly did not have a pain system, but the almost lifelike sound and shadow effects alone were enough to make the players feel as if they were in the real world.

His vision was completely covered by the purple light, and the electric current in his ears exploded. His entire body was thrown into the air again... A few of his underlings shuddered just by simulating it in their minds.

At this time, it was a coincidence.

Boom! Boom! Boom!

From all directions not far away from them, several thunderstorms similar to the ones just now came one after another, followed by screams and frightened cries from the players from all walks of life.

Obviously, the gamers who had come to explore Sakuragi Island after the big mutt and the others had also started to fall for it. Judging from the tragic sound and the increasingly dense thunderstorm clouds above them, it might be because there were more gamers, which led to more and more thunderstorms.

The Thunderstorm's precise strikes seemed to be hinting to the Players that the lightning was not random, but targeted at outsiders like them..
