Chapter 61: My Girl Has Gained Ability! 1

Liao Zixuan was speechless.!

Vivian:

At this awkward moment, a voice from behind the little girl broke the silence. Vivian could not help but look back.

“Ahem...’Ugh...’ It seemed like he hadn’t used teleportation magic for a long time. It was really a little uncomfortable...Ugh...” Damir stumbled out of the white light.

This young genius mage was extremely dizzy and retched. It seemed like he couldn’t even stand properly.

He said that it was because he had not used teleportation for too long, but in fact, it was entirely because Vivian’s magic flow was too strong that even he began to faint.

“You... Are you alright?” The little girl saw Damir’s wobbly appearance, so she asked “very concernedly”.

Then, Vivian instinctively wanted to help Damir up.

But in fact, after seeing that there was nothing wrong with the girl, she turned her head back to Liao Zixuan.

Now, the little girl’s attention was all on the wolf cub lying in someone else’s arms. How could she have the mood to do anything else?

On the other side, Damir looked at Vivian’s little hand that was reaching out to him. At this moment, the young genius mage’s head was no longer dizzy, and his stomach was no longer disgusting.

He was excited and happy to accept the little girl's support. After all, this was the first time he could get close to the girl. In the end, he naturally ended up being lonely.

She almost fell down again.

Damir had just reached out his hand and hadn't even touched it when the little girl's body had already left. She was heading straight for a certain position and was quickly advancing.

"That" ,"Xie" , "That" , "That" , "That" , "That" ,"That" Thank you for taking care of Xiao Hei for me."

Vivian came to the female player who was holding her wolf cub.

She did not show any anger or jealousy. Instead, she thanked him sincerely.

Then, inevitably, the little girl began to realize for the first time that the gap between her and others in a certain aspect could be so big.

A sense of loneliness flashed across the girl's eyes.

Vivian opened her mouth, wanting to say something.

However, she clearly remembered the first time she saw her wolf cub in someone else's embrace, which was many times softer and warmer than her own, and the comfortable expression on his face.

Thus, the little girl wanted to take the little wolf cub's hand, but she retracted it.

This small detail made Liao Zixuan's heart ache.

His heart was instantly filled with guilt.

Without hesitation, the wolf cub immediately abandoned the super fierce lady and jumped back into Vivian's arms. He was afraid that Vivian would feel inferior and sad, so he rubbed against the girl affectionately.

It seemed to mean...

Don't cry, don't cry, I don't mind at all! Besides, our Vivian is still so young. When she gets enough nutrition, she will definitely have a bright future!

Those outside were all coquettish and cheap. How could they be better than their own fresh cabbage!

Pfft...

Vivian seemed to be amused by Liao Zixuan's performance

The little girl immediately beamed with joy.

The sad, lonely, and depressed expression on his face disappeared in the blink of an eye, as if it had never appeared.

It could even be said that...

Wait a minute, Vivian, explain. You must have a smug expression on your face just now! ?

Definitely, hey!

The little wolf cub in the girl's arms finally reacted and immediately revealed an angry expression that said, "I've been fooled."

Liao Zixuan was heartbroken.

Oh no, my silly cabbage is not like this!

How did you learn to be bad!

At this time, Liao Zixuan felt that he could no longer treat Vivian as an innocent and silly girl.

But at the next moment,

A young mage who had been abandoned by the girl finally caught up and ran to Vivian's side while panting...

Liao Zixuan was dumbfounded.

The little wolf cub in the girl's arms rubbed its eyes with its thick paws. Although Damir looked much younger than in his previous life, the youthful aura on his body had not faded.

However, Liao Zixuan still recognized this future version of the Son of the Flame Domain's Savior at a glance.

Then, countless yellow question marks appeared in his mind.

Why was this guy here?

Moreover, it seemed like...

As if he knew Vivian?

No, this was no longer just an acquaintance. This was... This was...

“Vivian, I’m a...” Let’s go to the mayor’s side and talk to him about the situation first!

“I’m quite familiar with Brother Thorin! Don’t worry, I’ll definitely convince him to send troops to save your village with us!”

Daniel patted his chest and promised Vivian, but then felt that it was not enough, so he quickly added,”

“Of course, if you- If you’re really in a hurry, I can accompany you to save him. No problem!”

Hiss...

The wolf pup looked out from Vivian’s arms and suddenly became alert.

Look at the cautious tone, the fawning smile on his face, and the intentional or unintentional, always stealing glances at Vivian’s reaction and expression.

This was...

This was clearly bootlicking!

Good fellow!

Why did he just go to the Fire Code City to report the news and end up turning the Flame Region’s future hope into his bootlicker!?

Then he looked at Vivian’s attitude. Others might not know, but Liao Zixuan was already very familiar with the little girl.

He could clearly feel that when Damir was talking to the girl, Vivian's body would subconsciously tense up a little. It was completely different from when they were alone. She had really let down her guard and relaxed her entire body.

It could be seen that the little girl did not have any feelings for this young genius mage.

But out of politeness, Vivian replied with a tone of gratitude,"

"Alright, I'll listen to you. Let's go to the mayor first. I'll have to trouble you to communicate with him later."

After the experience in Fire Code City, the little girl had learned her lesson. She realized that her words were not important, and she needed someone who could speak with weight to solve the problem. Therefore, she did not refuse Damir's help.

As for Damir, he was overjoyed. To be able to rely on Vivian and finally have the ability to showcase his abilities, he was full of energy!

In fact, he even got carried away when he was happy.

Damir had actually noticed the cub in Vivian's arms from the beginning.

Yes, it was a young beast. He thought it was the little girl's puppy.

Even though Damir was very envious from all aspects, and even a little jealous of this little puppy, he still wanted to please the girl. As he walked, he praised,

"Vivian, your puppy is so cute. Actually, I really want a dog too. Can I hug it

The first step to having a common topic with a woman was to start with the people or things around her.

This was the secret that his uncle Harvey had taught him.

In fact, Harvey had taught him many things, but Damir did not care at all at that time and did not listen to him. He only remembered this one.

Just as he was pondering how to continue the topic of raising dogs...

Damir suddenly saw a hint of panic on the face of the little girl beside him.

Then, immediately after. The young mage heard Vivian say anxiously,"

"Xiao Hei, don't..." Blackie?

Don't what?

Damir didn't understand what was going on for a moment. His hands were still preparing to pick up the puppy and hug it.

In the next second...

The world spun.

Damir felt as if a huge black shadow had flashed before his eyes.

Then, he flew up.

When he landed on the ground again, he felt a sharp pain in his shoulders from being pressed down by sharp claws. A strong smell of blood assailed his nose. A terrifying silver wolf opened its bloody mouth and pressed its face against his.

Damir guaranteed.

This was the first time in his life...

He experienced how close death could be to him..

Chapter 62: The Savior Who Was Played Bad

Tier 2 demonic creature, Silver Earth Wolf.

With its incredible speed and explosive power, this type of agile monster could be said to be the natural enemy of mages, even if you were one level higher than it.

Even in a normal one-on-one situation, they had to be extremely cautious, let alone in this situation.

Damir was very sure that at such a close distance, before he could even utter the first syllable of his magic incantation, his opponent would easily bite off his neck.

Why would such a powerful monster appear here?

Could it be that the demon disaster in the Dreadclaw Forest had already spread to Crimson Flame Town?

And...

He was going to...Was he dead?

Just as Damir's mind was blank from the fear of " death '

He suddenly heard a wolf howl.

The voice was very close, and even though it was still young, it gave people a strong sense of oppression.

Damir had heard from Teacher Maggie that this phenomenon usually only appeared in the descendants of extraordinary monsters with extremely high bloodlines.

If you meet these cubs, you must take the initiative to express goodwill. If you can get them to acknowledge you, they will definitely become a great help to you in the future.

As for provoking...

Damir still remembered when he asked this question, his archbishop, Teacher

Maggie, looked at him as if he was a fool.

It was not easy to recruit a disciple.

Haha, if you think you've lived too long, then you can try.

So what was going on?

Just one Silver Earth Wolf was not enough.

Another Transcendent monster cub ran out?

He and Vivian were teleported to Red Flame Town, right?

Wait, wait, wait!

A young monster... A cub.

Damir suddenly widened his eyes. He had finally thought of a terrifying possibility.

And then...

This possibility was confirmed.

After the wolf howl ended, the Silver Earth Wolf that had originally pushed him to the ground actually released its sharp claws that were pressing down on him. The entire snow-white wolf walked away from Damir's body.

The young genius mage who was still in shock quickly got up from the ground.

Then, when Damir finally raised his head, the image that appeared in front of him was the puppy that he had treated as a pet in Vivian's arms. At this moment, it was standing on the head of the Silver Earth Wolf and looking down at him.

This was...

If Damir still couldn't figure out what had happened, he wouldn't be the future savior.

Wolves Wolves Wolves Wolves had the most awareness of their own race.

To be able to make the arrogant Silver Earth Wolf willingly serve as a stepping stone for the other party...

Transcendent monsters!

Only the cubs of monsters above the fourth rank, whose parents were Transcendent-level monsters, were qualified to do so!

As for him, he had actually called the other party...Puppy?

Damir broke out in cold sweat, feeling a lingering fear.

He felt that it was a miracle that he was still alive.

On the other side.

Liao Zixuan had to admit that he felt a little good looking at Damir.

It was every player's dream to be able to show off in front of the children of this version and the subsequent main storyline NPCs! He had wanted to do this for a long time in his previous life!

Unfortunately, as a player at that time, he was probably not as strong as Damir, who had already become the savior.

As expected, players had their limits. I don't want to be a player anymore!

only NPCs could defeat NPCs!

Of course.

In fact, there was a bigger reason. Liao Zixuan was extremely hostile to all men who approached Vivian, even if they were just bootlickers.

He would beat up anyone he saw!

Little wolf cubs were super fierce!

Reality proved that one could not be too complacent.

Liao Zixuan was still standing on top of the Earth Silver Wolf's head valiantly, showing off his strength. In the next moment, the little wolf cub realized that its body had also floated up.

Vivian carried her wolf cub back.

Then, the little girl rubbed Liao Zixuan's little head fiercely, with a look of education that said, "You're not allowed to do this again next time, scaring others for no reason."

You... Your chest is flat, listen to your words!

He could be fierce to anyone except Vivian and Liao Zixuan. He could only obediently continue to lie on the airport.

"You... It..." Damir was completely dumbfounded when he saw this seemingly heartwarming scene.

His first reaction was to think that he had been showered with affection by a wolf??

Then, his second reaction was...

NO!

Wasn't this the legendary supernatural monster? Why did it feel like...It really felt like...It seemed like...

Damir was traumatized by Liao Zixuan.

Seeing that the word was about to pop out again, he immediately reined in his horse at the brink of the cliff. Even in his heart, this young genius mage would not dare to say that word even if he was beaten to death.

“I’m sorry, Xiao Hei went a little overboard. “Vivian apologized in embarrassment.

But then, the girl said seriously,”

“However, Xiao Hei is a wolf. Moreover, he is not my pet. He is very important to me...Family!”

“Uh, right... I’m sorry, I was too abrupt.”

Damir also apologized sincerely, not only to Vivian, but also to the little wolf cub in her arms.

He didn’t hold any grudges against Liao Zixuan because of the previous conflict.

On the contrary, the young genius mage looked at Liao Zixuan with the same fervent gaze as he did to Vivian. He even said...

It was even denser!

After all, this was the cub of an Extraordinary Devil!

The other party’s noble bloodline meant that he would definitely be able to step into the rank 4 Transcendent realm in the future!

If he could study it properly...

No, even if it was just a hug...

No, no, no, even if it was just a touch, it would be fine!

It allowed him to feel the flow of magic power in the Extraordinary monster's body, body structure, and elemental composition...

This was absolutely, absolutely! It would be a decisive help to him, who was currently stuck at the third step and would become a Transcendent in the future!

In the past, Damir was jealous that Liao Zixuan could enjoy Vivian's embrace, but now, Damir began to turn his head and look at the girl who could hold the wolf cubs close to him with envy.

Therefore, there was only a fine line between a genius and a madman.

This sentence was really true.

Liao Zixuan felt goosebumps all over his body under Damir's passionate gaze. He now seriously suspected that he had accidentally awakened some strange XP attribute in Damir, right?

Tens of millions of citizens of the Flame Domain, I have let you down!

Your future savior seems to be...

It's developing in an increasingly strange direction!

Just as Vivian was sneering maliciously, finally seeing her Little Black suffer a loss, an extremely anxious voice mercilessly broke the relaxed atmosphere.

"Damir? Why is it you? That's not right. I just sent someone to Fire Code City.

It's impossible for it to be so fast...'

Thorin, the mayor of Red Flame Town, appeared in front of them with a few guards.

At first, he was pleasantly surprised by Damir's appearance, but then, his face was filled with worry and panic.

"Sigh, whatever. It's good that you're here!"

"Quick, quick, quick, you have to come over and take a look at this! The Forest of Dreadclaw this time...I'm afraid something big has happened!"

Chapter 63: Can 't Send Troops

At the sentry post of Red Flame Town.

Originally, it was guarded by some militia, but now it was heavily guarded. The mayor Thorin had sent his own guards to take over, and no outsiders were allowed to enter.

At the entrance of the sentry post, Thorin hesitated for a moment, but his eyes still drifted to Vivian, who was dressed as a villager and holding a cub of unknown species in her arms.

He asked Damir,"

"Damir, the person beside you is..."

There was a reason why Mayor Thorin was so cautious.

If an ordinary person saw what was inside the outpost, it would definitely cause panic.

“She, uh... She’s my classmate at Vulcan Law. “Damir made up a random story and then winked at Vivian.

The little girl naturally understood the situation. If she wanted to know more, she had to have a reasonable identity.

“Hello, Mayor Thorin. I am a summoner, and the little wolf in my arms is my contracted beast.”

“Originally, Damir and I wanted to come to the Forest of Dreadclaw to hunt monsters and find materials, but now it seems...It seemed like there was a problem in the direction of the forest?”

After a brief reaction, Vivian finished her sentence fluently without any pause.

She did not lie and admit that she was a law student. Instead, she hinted that she was a spellcaster to convince Mayor Thorin.

In the end, she even cleverly changed the topic with a rhetorical question.

The girl was hugging the wolf cub in her arms. Liao Zixuan saw Vivian’s outstanding response and immediately smacked his lips.

It had only been a few days, but the little girl’s growth speed was beyond imagination. If it was the village girl from when the man and the wolf first met, it would be impossible for her to achieve this.

Such a huge change made Liao Zixuan sigh from the bottom of his heart...

As expected...

This grandpa is so awesome!

On the other side.

Just as expected.

After the girl's flawless words, Mayor Thorin did not have the slightest doubt. On the contrary, on the anxious face of the mayor, there was a hint of joy at the appearance of a powerful foreign aid.

After all, he knew Fire God Law School very well.

The students who could come out from there were all extremely outstanding Spell Casters, not to mention the student who was known as the academy's number one genius, Damir.

Damir was famous for his personality.

This young genius mage was very proud and aloof. It was said that he did not have many friends. He was either buried in the library or immersed in all kinds of magic experiments.

For Damir to take the initiative to introduce a student, the two of them would travel together. One could imagine that this girl's strength and talent were probably not inferior to Damir's.

Or perhaps...

As the mayor of a town, Thorin naturally noticed some clues. The clues here referred to Damir's attitude towards Vivian. Was it a little too good?

Who hadn't experienced this when they were young? Thorin naturally understood.

I really didn't expect that this stinky brat's blockhead would actually have a day of enlightenment!

Suddenly, the mayor looked at Vivian with respect. He no longer looked down on the little girl because of her shabby clothes.

After all, there were many young ladies of noble families in the Fire Code City who had pursued Damir before suffering tragic failures.

Just based on this alone, Vivian's image in Thorin's heart had risen to a very high position.

After confirming the girl's identity, Thorin finally led Vivian and the others into a room deep in the outpost.

As soon as they pushed open the door, a foul and rotten smell assaulted their noses.

"Mayor!" A few priests in the small town covered their mouths and noses with scarves. When they saw Thorin enter the house, they immediately greeted him respectfully.

"How is it? Is the power of the Holy Light working?" Thorin did not waste any time and asked directly.

"I'm sorry, Mayor."

"At least with our power, we can't purify this evil.

The priests who were gathered around a long wooden table shook their heads after hearing Thorin's question, and their faces showed a helpless expression. "How could this be..." When Thorin heard the news, he immediately frowned even more.

Although the Fire Domain was established by the Fire God, and most of the people were mainly fire elemental affinity, it was not just the fire element. There were also many professionals of the other eight elements.

But now...

“Damir, as you can see, even the Holy Light, which is the most effective in eliminating negative statuses among the nine elements, has no way to deal with these evils.”

“This time, we...Perhaps they had really run into big trouble.

Thorin waved his hand and asked the priests to spread out around the long wooden table. He showed a rotting corpse on the table to Damir and Vivian.

“This is...” Damir did not care about the disgust of the corpse. He walked forward quickly with a solemn expression.

After he took the handkerchief from the priest beside him, he carefully opened the corpse’s mouth slightly. Immediately, a small stream of black fog gushed out and quickly disappeared into the air.

Deng Deng Deng!

Damir took three steps back in shock. Then, as if he had fallen into a raving state, he kept muttering,

“It actually exists...An energy that surpassed the nine great elemental forces, this...How is this possible?”

Even though he knew that the matter was serious, it was the first time Thorin had seen the young mage lose his composure.

On the other hand, Vivian and the wolf cub in her arms were not surprised.

The little girl was the first to come into contact with Fallen Abyss, so she was naturally not surprised to see it again.

As for Liao Zixuan, he could understand how much impact it would have on the natives of this world when the power of the Fallen Abyss appeared.

Originally, this process was only gradually revealed a month after the open beta began. He did not expect that under his influence, it had already begun even after the closed beta.

“Damir...”

“Damir!” Mayor Solin raised his volume until he called out the second time, then Damir was awakened from his trance.

“It seems like you don’t know the origin of this evil power either?” Damir’s performance had already explained everything.

Thorin sighed, feeling a little disappointed.

On the other side.

“Uncle Thorin, you...You must summon the guards immediately, no no no...He had to mobilize all the forces of Red Flame Town! Go to the villages around the forest and ask the villagers to evacuate!”

“And... That’s right! We still have to establish a defense line, and then...”

Realizing the serious consequences, Damir immediately spoke to Thorin nervously.

However, the mayor shook his head and interrupted the young man.

“I’m sorry, Damir.”

“Red Flame Town, we can’t send troops..”

Chapter 64: The Power of the Players That Gradually Influenced

“We can’t send troops?” Damir immediately became anxious.

He called the mayor by his name angrily.

“Sorin, what do you mean? You... Are we going to watch the villagers die one by “Hey, hey! Don’t be agitated, young man.” Thorin did not mind Damir’s anger.

“Come over first and take a look at this.”

Under Damir’s puzzled gaze, Mayor Thorin led everyone into the second room.

In the center of the room, there was an iron cage covered by a black cloth. The iron cage emitted intense collision sounds, as if some violent beast was imprisoned inside.

However, when Sorin gestured for his guards to remove the black cloth, Damir realized that it was just an ordinary hare inside.

No, it could not be described as ordinary.

This was because the rabbit still looked like a rabbit, but this wild beast’s body had the same appearance as the previous house. A large area of decay and corpse had appeared.

Of course, the most obvious thing was that Damir could also feel the evil power from this rabbit.

“So what do you mean?”

‘ You want to tell me that the rabbits that have been corrupted by the evil force are so fierce, so your soldiers are all afraid?’

Facing the young mage’s question, Thorin did not explain, but continued to nod at the guard.

Therefore, she was anxious.

The guard quickly opened the lid of the cage from above and threw in another normal rabbit.

The corrupted rabbit immediately bit the normal rabbit. In a few seconds, a bloody corpse appeared in the cage.

Just as Damir was confused...

In the next moment, the corpse of the rabbit that had been bitten to death seemed to come alive again. It began to twitch and large pieces of flesh fell off.

Within a few breaths, the sound of the collision inside the iron cage became even louder, and the entire iron cage began to shake from side to side.

This was because the number of Rotten Hares had increased from one to two.

“Do you see that, Damir? This evil power not only makes creatures violent and aggressive, but it can also infect other creatures it attacks, turning them into monsters like it!”

“This... Could it be that this is also...” Damir’s heart skipped a beat.

Mayor Thorin nodded heavily.

“The corpse of the sentinel in the previous room was bitten by his hound after it was corroded. ”

“So, now you understand why I can’t send troops.”

“My soldiers will not retreat even if they fight against the fiercest of demons.

However, to let them fight against this evil force...”

“Pardon me for being blunt, but this is a suicide mission. After Sorin’s resolute voice, the room fell into silence.

“Blit _ However. those villagers_

” This little bit you can rest assured Damir, although I don’t know why, but you come, when I didn’t find, Crimson Flame Town already has a lot of refugees, but the villagers who came here have. ”

After being mentioned by Sorin, Damir immediately recalled that it was indeed the case.

Could it be...

Mayor Thorin nodded.

“I’ve sent out sentries to investigate. Most of the villages have been evacuated.

“This...” Damir was very surprised.

“I was also very surprised at the beginning, but after my rough investigation, I found that this matter might be related to foreigners. ”

“Yi...Foreigner?”

Finally.

Mayor Thorin led the group to the last room in the deepest part of the outpost.

When he mentioned "outlanders", the serious expression on his face was even more serious than when he was facing the evil force.

At the entrance of the third room.

Damir noticed that there were more guards here than the previous two rooms combined.

"What happens next might subvert your worldview, Damir. "Before opening the door, Mayor Thorin said meaningfully.

And then..

The wooden door creaked open.

In the third room, there was no evil force, nor was there a cage to imprison monsters. There was only a curious young man.

Liao Zixuan narrowed his eyes at the little wolf cub in Vivian's arms.

He suddenly felt that Mayor Thorin was quite courageous and courageous.

In Liao Zixuan's field of vision, the young man in the third room had a nickname ID that only players had.

[Fish Pigeon Pigeon]

After Sorin and the others entered the house, Yu Gege, who was looking around, immediately went up to them.

“Hey, Old Suo, it’s not that I want to say this, but the conditions here are too bad, right?” Fish Pigeon patted Mayor Thorin’s shoulder in a friendly manner.

It was as if the two of them had a deep friendship.

This almost made the guards beside Sorin attack, but fortunately, Sorin stopped them with a look.

“Fish...Mr. Yu, can we go through the previous combat training again?” Sorin recited the awkward name that the other party called himself and patiently communicated with the players.

However, after hearing this, Yu Gege revealed a bitter expression.

“What? Why was it still this mission? Old Suo, can we change to something else?” Fish Pigeon complained in a depressed manner.

Like most of the players on the forum, he had come to find Vivian. He had arrived at Red Flame Town, and he was the first to arrive.

But who would have thought that before they could even see Vivian, they would be invited here by the town guards.

He thought that he had triggered some hidden quest, which made him very excited. Who knew that after arriving here, these NPCs actually made him fight monsters.

Moreover, Yu Gege felt that this group of people seemed to have some strange fetishes. They especially liked to see their appearance after being killed by monsters.

Sigh...

In fact, it was a small matter to show them that they were being tortured by monsters. If they stayed in the house all the time and missed Vivian, it would be a big deal!

The more he thought about it, the more he felt that it made sense.

Therefore, just as Fish Pigeon was about to reject Mayor Thorin's mission and suggest leaving...

He was suddenly stunned.

Immediately after, Yu Gege rubbed her eyes.

He even slapped himself in disbelief.

"Hiss..."

The game of Fallen God was quite realistic. The burning pain on Yu Gege's face told him that he was not hallucinating.

so...

The super storyline NPC Vivian, who had been pursued by countless players on the forum, was like a dragon without a tail...

At this moment, he had also appeared in the room behind Mayor Thorin.

In fact...

Opposite him?

“Old Suo! I accept this mission! If there are any monsters, bring them on! Come on!”

Chapter 65: Times... Are Changing

Foreigner observation Record No. 1. Most Foreigners look like they are more inclined to the south of the world, ruled by the Rock God [Return]

Outlander observation record number two...

After seeing Yu Gege suddenly slap herself, and then, a second ago, she was clearly unwilling to cooperate, but in the next second, she suddenly looked extremely willing..

[Temporarily determined: Often makes strange, neurotic actions, and has a high fluctuation in his thoughts.]

Mayor Thorin decided that after the incident in the Forest of Dreadclaw was over, he would personally go to Fire Code City and report the information of these foreigners.

Okay, okay, since it's like this, then let's start right away. “Fish Pigeon agreed readily, saving Thorin a lot of time.

He nodded at the guard and led everyone to another room.

Although the two rooms were not connected to each other, they could see each other's rooms.

Then, just as Damir, Vivian, and even Liao Zixuan were a little confused about what the mayor was going to do...

The few guards who had been instructed by Sorin to leave were now holding a huge iron cage together and moving it into the room where Yu Pigeon was.

Then, under Damir's dumbstruck gaze, the guard actually opened the iron cage and immediately ran out of the room, locking the door completely.

"You guys!"

Before the young mage could finish his sentence, Thorin gestured with his hand to shush.

When the iron cage was opened, as expected, it was the same festered hare that they had seen in the second room. The only thing that was worth rejoicing about was that there was only one.

However, even if it was just a festered hare, it was definitely not something a defenseless stranger could deal with. Moreover, Mayor Thorin had just shown them that these festered creatures were also terrifyingly contagious. Anyone who was bitten would be corroded by the evil power in the other party's body and become a similar monster.

Therefore, in Damir's eyes, this scene was completely a cruel act of courting death.

But...

In the end, what made Damir hold back and not make a move was that as the person involved, there was actually no fear on the face of the foreigner who was locked in the sealed room.

It could even be said to be the complete opposite.

The other party's face was full of eagerness, as if he wanted to perform well.

Could it be...

This stranger looked weak on the surface, but he was actually very strong?

However, the next moment, Fish Pigeon's performance overturned Damir's idea.

The Rotten Hare smelled the scent of a living creature and became even more violent. It directly bit and pounced at the Fish Pigeon. The Fish Pigeon was focused and got into position, preparing to use exquisite positioning to avoid the attack.

And then...

Plop.

He was gloriously thrown to the ground by the Rotten Wild Rabbit and bitten.

However, the mage looked around and realized that he was the only one who was making a fuss out of nothing. The faces of Mayor Thorin and his personal guards were expressionless.

Soon, Damir also realized that something was wrong.

This was because, firstly, the screams of the outlanders being bitten by the rotten rabbits did not appear in his imagination. Secondly, it was...

The other party actually started to counterattack?

The stranger, who was covered in injuries, did not seem to know what pain was. He first kicked away the Rotten Rabbit on his body. Then, he ignored his defense and continued to kill the Rotten Rabbit as if he wanted to die with him. He used his fist to smash the monster.

The whole process lasted for a full minute.

In the end, under the explosive effect of the Fish Pigeon's small universe, he actually performed exceptionally well. He killed the Rotten Wild Rabbit and miraculously retained some of its HP.

Ah, this...

This time, it was Mayor Thorin's turn to be depressed.

Previously, this foreigner had been bitten to death by monsters every time.

Why did he become so fierce today as if he was injected with chicken blood?

So, Sorin secretly gave the guard a look. Soon, before the pigeon could show off its strength in front of Vivian, another festered hare was sent into his house.

And this time, without any suspense, the Fish Pigeon, which only had HP left, didn't even last a second before it was instantly killed by the Rotten Wild Rabbit.

Then, the scene that Mayor Thorin really wanted Damir to see appeared.

Yu Gege's corpse did not mutate. Instead, it turned into a white light and disappeared. After a few seconds, it condensed out of thin air again, and a brand new body was born in the room.

Having seen everything that needed to be seen, Mayor Thorin ordered his fully armed guards to enter the house and kill the festered hare. At the same time, he turned his head and looked at Damir, whose mouth was wide open and so shocked that he could not utter a single syllable.

"Are you scared? I was the same in the past. After repeated verification, I am now very certain that these foreigners have some kind of divine protection that allows their souls and bodies to be separated. As long as their souls are not destroyed, no matter how their bodies die, they can be resurrected indefinitely.

“This... Impossible! I’ve never heard of any god among the Nine Gods who has such authority! “Damir was a little speechless as he retorted.

However, he quickly fell silent again. The impossible that he had mentioned had clearly become a reality. It had happened right in front of his eyes.

Mayor Thorin patted the shoulder of the young mage who was already a little dizzy after the shock of two consecutive shots.

“Whether it’s these foreigners, the evil force that suddenly emerged from the depths of the Dreadclaw Forest, or the infectious disease that I heard is slowly spreading in Fire Code City and even the entire Flame Domain.”

“All of this points to one point.”

“The era...It’s going to change.” Thorin’s last sentence was extremely heavy.

This was because the old mayor knew very well that the changes of the times were often accompanied by chaos and war, blood and fire, death and disaster.

“Whether it’s me, Harvey, or your teacher Maggie, we’re all old. “The entire Flame Region’s future...”

“It still has to fall on the shoulders of the younger generation.

When Thorin said this, he was not only looking at Damir, but also looking back at Vivian.

He seemed to feel that he had said too much.

“Alright, Damir, do you still remember that I told you before that I wouldn’t send troops?”

“Yes...”

Damir nodded mechanically, clearly still in a daze from the words ‘times have changed.’

Looking at the young man’s appearance, Thorin could not help but shake his head in his heart. On the contrary, the quiet appearance of Vivian, the girl who was traveling with Damir, was more admired by Town Mayor Thorin.

Times had changed. If one wanted to survive, one had to learn to adapt to the times.

Sorin intended to teach these two young men a lesson.

“Damir, and...Uh...”

Mayor Thorin suddenly realized that he did not know the girl’s name. Vivian, Mayor Thorin.”
Fortunately, the young girl immediately called out,

” Vivian... Mmm...” What a good name.” Mayor Thorin said with a smile. He was not being perfunctory here, but Thorin really seemed to have heard this name somewhere before.

However, she could not recall anything for a moment, so she could only cough awkwardly.

“Ahem, anyway, Damir and Vivian, I hope the two of you can help me with something. ”

When it came to business, Mayor Sorin adjusted his attitude.

“As you saw just now, these foreigners are not only immune to the corrosion of evil power, but they also have a near-immortal body. Although their strength is a little weak, if they can gather together, they will definitely be a considerable force. ”

“So, I think you are all young people, so you should have more in common. Can you please recruit and encourage these foreigners so that they can defend Red Flame Town with us?”

“Of course, I won’t let you guys work for nothing.”

Mayor Thorin raised a finger in pain.

“For every foreigner you can recruit, I will give you this amount of remuneration.

“One silver coin?” Damir was disdainful at first.

But then..

“One gold coin.”

For the sake of Red Flame Town, Thorin was ready to go all out.

In that instant, Damir’s eyes lit up.

Of course.

The wolf cub in Vivian’s arms also lit up..

Chapter 66: Go, Take the First Step to Show Yourself to the World

After coming out of the outpost, Damir was full of energy.

Even though he was the disciple of Archbishop Maggie and was young, he had already reached the level of a 3rd rank professional that many people might not be able to reach in their entire lives.

However, this did not affect his lack of money and his poverty.

There was a famous saying.

“All the powerful mages are made with gold coins.

Therefore, only noble families could nurture a spellcaster profession. Unfortunately, Damir, who was destined to shoulder the heavy responsibility of saving the Fire Domain by the plot, was an orphan who grew up in an orphanage.

If it weren't for the support from his mentor and Commander Harvey, Damir would have gone bankrupt long ago.

Therefore, whether it was for personal reasons or to defend Red Flame Town against evil forces, Damir had to recruit these foreigners!

In this regard, even if his competitor was Vivian, the young genius mage was not prepared to go easy on him.

Damir was extremely confident.

In terms of purity of magic power, he could not compare to the girl. In terms of magic talent, he could not compare to the little girl. But in terms of identity and background, could he not compare to Vivian?

He was the only disciple of the Archbishop of the Fire God Sect in Fire Law City, and he was also a powerful 3rd rank Elemental Mage. Just by revealing this identity, there would definitely be a large number of foreigners fighting to follow him.

However...

Damir thought about it again. He felt that he could not go too far. He had to leave some face for Vivian. He could not embarrass the little girl. Otherwise, how could he pursue others in the future?

Therefore, after hesitating for a moment, although Damir's heart was bleeding, he still pretended to be very generous and said,

"How about this, Vivian? Let's not split up. Let's recruit together. When the time comes, the reward... How can we split it evenly?"

Sacrificing half of the gold coins had prevented Vivian from feeling that she was bullying her, and that she did not even respond to a stranger.

Damir felt that his EQ was very high.

But...

To his surprise, Vivian shook her head!

"That... I still want to try it myself!" The young girl had her own thoughts.

Was gold coins important to Vivian?

But it was too important.

Especially when he had a little wolf cub in his arms to raise.

He didn't know how his brother's illness was, or if it had improved. His father had negotiated a contract with someone else. If he wanted to go back on his word, he had to pay a high penalty for breaching the contract. If the wolf cubs wanted to develop, they had to buy the best meat.

It could even be said that..

Vivian quietly looked down at her barren body.

The little girl had never cared about such things before, but ever since she experienced the scene of her wolf cub being hugged by someone else...

Although the young girl did not show anything on the surface, she had secretly made up her mind that she had to win him back in this aspect!

How could he let others dote on his own son?

The young girl from the countryside didn't know much about other things, but she valued this very much! And what did all of this require?

Money!

Gold coins!

With such a good opportunity in front of her, Vivian did not want to share it with others.

That was why it was said that people needed a goal to have motivation. Unknowingly, the village girl who always liked to give in and had a weak personality had grown to the point where she could stand up bravely and take the initiative to compete in order to strengthen herself.

But of course, this also included Vivian's confidence in herself.

After all, she had come into contact with many foreigners before.

She didn't know if it was her imagination.

However, the little girl felt that she seemed to be among these foreigners... Quite popular?

On the other side...

Mayor Thorin looked at Damir and Vivian, who seemed to be very confident in recruiting foreigners. The mayor sighed in his heart that they were still too young. Did they really think that their money was so easy to earn? It was not that Sorin had not tried to recruit these foreigners himself.

But how should he put it?

They didn't seem to take him seriously at all.

In the beginning, there were quite a number of people from the foreign land who showed interest in this. However, for some reason, before he could speak, the other party suddenly showed a disgusted expression.

All of them were muttering things like "It's only a D-rank mission," "The rewards aren't even a fraction of what others have" "I've already chosen a faction, so I can't change it anymore", and so on.

Moreover, it was not just one or two people who had this situation, but almost all the foreigners.

Town Mayor Thorin had no other choice. He wanted to see if Damir and Vivian, who were of higher status and younger, could persuade these foreigners.

Just like that, they arrived before the hundreds of players gathered in the square of Red Flame Town.

The first to go up was Damir.

The young genius Mage immediately cast a Shifting Spell, and it was as if he had crossed a distance of more than ten meters in an instant, arriving before the players.

It had to be said that this method of entering the stage was quite eye-catching. Immediately, many players looked at Damir with curiosity.

” Travelers from foreign lands, there is an evil force stirring in the depths of the Dreadclaw Forest. Our village is under attack, and people are constantly turning into monsters. Right now, Red Flame Town is the last line of defense for Fire Code City. We must not lose it until reinforcements from Fire Code City arrive.

“Therefore, brave warriors, I need your strength. I represent my teacher

Archbishop Maggie, my companion Commander Harvey of the Fire Code Knights, and myself, the 3rd rank Elemental Mage Damir. At this critical moment, I sincerely request you to help me resist the evil invasion! !”

The wolf cub in Vivian’s arms watched Damir’s impassioned speech on the high platform and could not help but click his tongue in wonder.

Look at this standard NPC speech. Even the lines he said didn’t seem to have changed much from his previous life.

At that time, Liao Zixuan clearly remembered that all the players were stunned when they heard Damir’s exaggerated words. All of them rushed to accept Damir’s mission.

But now...

[Elemental Archmage Damir has issued you a B-rank mission, ‘Defend Fire Code Town.’ Will you accept it?)

‘ Please note, after accepting the mission, you will be automatically assigned to the Damir faction.’

[Please note that in the SS emergency mission ” Magic Tide Attack “, once the faction of the guard force has been decided, it cannot be changed.]

The players in the Red Flame Town square all had expressions that said, "This is it."

Damn, after talking for so long, he thought it was amazing. In the end, it was actually just a B-rank mission?

Crawl!

In Damir's short life, he was definitely in the top three in terms of "embarrassing scenes that made people want to crawl into the ground."

In the huge square, there were hundreds of foreigners, but none of them responded to him!

This was completely different from what Damir had imagined!

Liao Zixuan, who was at the back, wanted to laugh when he saw this scene.

Damir wasn't to be blamed for this. Firstly, Damir hadn't fully matured yet, so the NPC quest level determined by the system definitely wouldn't be very high.

As for the second...

He didn't even look at who Damir's competitor was.

Below the stage, Mayor Thorin, who had high hopes for Damir, sighed deeply as he looked at the dismal scene before him.

Even Damir couldn't convince these foreigners?

What about Red Flame Town? What about the evil forces that were about to arrive? Did he really want his soldiers to die?

No, no, no.

It seemed that he could only give up on the town and retreat...

Mayor Thorin seemed to have aged a few years. Red Flame Town was his blood and sweat. Even if he planned to retreat, someone had to stop the monsters and buy time.

On the other side, Vivian, who was originally cheering herself on with confidence, became a little flustered after seeing Damir's awkward silence.

This was...

Why was this so different from the friendly foreigners in his impression?

Even Damir couldn't persuade a person...

He...Can I do it?

However, just as Vivian began to panic, the girl suddenly felt the wolf cub in her arms tug at the corner of her clothes.

Liao Zixuan gave the little girl a look that said, "Don't worry, you can do it. Believe in yourself." After all...

You're not fighting alone.

The wolf cub yawned lazily and licked his lips. He rolled over in Vivian's arms and found a more comfortable position. Then, he squinted his eyes.

The road ahead has long been paved for you, and the stage has also been successfully set up for you.

And now, all you need to do is...

It was to step out into this world and show yourself...

The first step!

Chapter 67: For Vivian! 1

Phew...

He took a deep breath.

Looking at the square of Red Flame Town not far away, there was a large crowd of foreigners. This was the first time in the girl's life that she had to speak in front of so many people.

But...

He felt the warmth coming from his arms.

Vivian's body, which had been trembling due to nervousness, slowly calmed down.

The young girl habitually reached out and stroked the wolf cub, which liked to move from time to time on her body and liked to move back and forth.

The soft and comfortable touch from her fingertips made the little girl feel much more at ease.

“Thank you, Xiao Hei.”

“It’s good to have you here.” Vivian whispered to Liao Zixuan with sincere feelings.

However, our little wolf cub only nodded his head symbolically.

He even kicked the girl’s stomach again with a hint of urging.

It seemed to mean...

I know, I know, hurry up and go up!

Liao Zixuan’s perfunctory attitude made the little girl a little unhappy. She repeated it again in a heavy tone.

“It’s true!”

In short, he regained his confidence. He was still nervous, but the panic was gone.

Vivian walked up to the stage with determination.

On the other side.

Damir, who was still racking his brains on the stage trying to recruit foreigners, suddenly realized that the way these foreigners looked at him had changed.

At first, they were surprised, but then they became ecstatic and excited. One by one, they began to squeeze forward.

Could it be that he had finally made these foreigners change their minds?

That was not right.

Damir quickly reacted. Those foreigners were not looking at him, but at his...Behind him!

At the same time, footsteps could be heard.

There was also the familiar voice of a young girl, weak but with a hint of determination. "It has been hard on you, Damir..."

"Next, let me try.

As Vivian spoke, she passed through the young mage and arrived in front of all the players gathered in the square of Red Flame Town.

"That...'

"Hello, everyone. My name is Vivian. I'm... An ordinary villager from Noki Village, that... I've heard about everyone's deeds from the mayor."

"Not only our Nolan village, but also many villages around the forest. They all relied on everyone's help and escort to escape to Crimson Flame Town before the evil force in the depths of the forest erupted.

"It was you who saved my village, saved many villagers like me, and prevented a tragedy from happening. I'm here...I'm really, really grateful to everyone!" A scene that none of the players had expected happened.

In their impression, most NPCs, especially powerful storyline characters, were like Damir from before. They were full of class and would first talk about their identities and backgrounds, then talk about how they were in danger and needed strength.

At the end, he added another sentence.

Warriors, I need your help.

But now...

There was no long speech or description of the grim situation.

There was only gratitude.

Some only stated the contributions of the players.

Vivian bowed deeply to the players in Red Flame Town.

This was the unique characteristic of a young girl.

She was born in the bottom class, and neither did she have the scheming mind of Mayor Thorin, nor the pride of Damir, who had many layers of halos.

Under the protection of her inner personality, she still had a simple and kind heart.

Sorin, Damir, and even Liao Zixuan were all thinking about recruiting these foreigners, but Vivian was the only one who wanted to thank the players.

At this moment, even the S-rank mission that Liao Zixuan had prepared for the girl as a trump card to recruit players had not been released yet, but the players were already boiling.

What was the point of playing games?

Being ordered around by NPCs like a tool felt good, but not good.

However, if they knew what they were doing, it would not only be a quest that would reward them, but it would actually save the plot and save lives. They would no longer be ordinary creatures in reality, but heroes that could earn the respect and gratitude of the characters in the game.

Thus, there was no need for the young girl to speak.

“Guard Red Flame Town!” As a loyal fan of Vivian, Long Road Man was extremely excited and was the first to speak up for her goddess.

Then, along with his little brother and many other players who were motivated, they also shouted passionately,

“Guard Red Flame Town!”

But soon, there were even more astute players. Yes, it was Dust Fall, Big Watermelon, and the Melee Archmage’s group from before. They began to shout even more shameless slogans.

“For Vivian!”

When the players who were still shouting “Protect Red Flame Town” heard this, they immediately became anxious. How could they be so shameless? Don’t you have any sense of shame!

Then, they immediately changed their slogan.

“For Vivian!”

Damir, who was also on the stage, looked down at the outlanders shouting Vivian’s name. The young genius mage fell into deep confusion.

He stared blankly at the little girl’s thin back.

Damir didn't understand.

How did Vivian do it?

Mayor Thorin was also confused.

However, this did not affect his emotions at all. He was also trembling with excitement and almost cried.

"Lord Thorin, Red Flame Town...Red Flame Town is saved!" The guards around him gripped their weapons tightly. They were already prepared to die.

However, if the strength of these Outlanders joined in, perhaps... They could really resist the evil power and hold on until the reinforcements from Fire Code City arrived.

At the same time...

The villagers who had fled to Red Flame Town were also concerned about the situation on Vivian's side. When they saw that these foreigners were really willing to fight for them, many villagers were so moved that they knelt down.

Among these villagers, there were a few figures that stood out from the rest.

"Father, they...They were all shouting their sister's name! "After receiving the treatment of the Amethyst Weeping Brow, Vivian's brother Andy finally woke up.

Now, this little boy was dragging him excitedly beside him. There was another middle-aged man who reeked of alcohol and had a face full of stubble. He looked very dispirited.

"Sis...Sister, she's so powerful!" Andy waved her little fists.

As for Vivian's father, Anlu stared at the girl who was being pursued by the foreigners on the stage. His expression was a little awkward, as if he did not expect that he would have such a great influence.

The father's expression changed again and again.

There was confusion, doubt, memories, regret, and even more complicated things.

No one knew what An Lu was thinking at the moment.

"Sir Robert, how did this Vivian have such a great reputation among these foreigners?"

Mage Lake, who was also in the noble butler duo who was fleeing in Red Flame Town, looked at the little girl on the stage in disbelief.

"And..."

"The little wolf in her arms..."

Liao Zixuan had left a deep impression on Mage Lake.

That was why he recognized the wolf cub in the girl's arms at a glance. Wasn't it the cub that made him shudder and was suspected to be a Transcendent monster?

However, Robert did not answer Lake's question. Instead, the noble butler took a deep look at Vivian and quickly said,

"Mr. Lake, please use magic to send a message to Fire Code City. Inform the head maid of the family to burn Vivian's indwelling contract."

"Burn... Burn it?" Lake couldn't understand what Robert was doing.

In theory, they had already made a deal with Vivian's father, Anruh. Even if the girl had any achievements, she would have been sold to someone else by her father and lost her freedom.

This was protected by the laws of the Fire Code City!

But now, Butler Robert was actually taking the initiative to burn the contract?

"Mr. Lake, do you know why our Sisre family has been able to stand tall and survive until now when other ancient nobles have gradually declined and disappeared?"

He patted the shoulder of the 2nd rank mage that his family had hired with a high salary.

Robert said softly,"

"It's because the Sith family is never pedantic. We can distinguish the pros and cons and know which is more important.

Hurry up and use magic to send a message. This is definitely our chance. If we can grasp it well, perhaps the Sith family.... No, it would definitely shine again! "

Chapter 68: What Bad Intentions Could Vivian

Outsider observation record, third entry.

The hand that Mayor Thorin held the quill trembled slightly.

In the end, he wrote on the parchment:

Not only did the foreigner have an undying body, but he was also suspected to have extremely high talent. He could quickly enter various professions and grow at an astonishing speed!

This matter had to start from fifteen minutes ago.

Under Liao Zixuan's suggestion, Vivian began to train the foreigners she had recruited to improve their combat skills. It was also commonly known as...

Choosing a profession!

This group of players was the girl's first bucket of gold in this world. As the wolf cub behind the little girl, Liao Zixuan naturally had to operate this force well.

As the saying goes, you have to feed the cow grass before you can squeeze out milk.

Old Farmer Liao was naturally well versed in this.

It even surpassed this.

He wanted to milk her.

F * ck, he'll also give you the money.

However, he let the cows eat other people's grass and then come back to milk him!

You want us to help you guard Red Flame Town, you should show some sincerity, right?

So when Vivian made a request to Mayor Thorin, asking if he could send some of his elite soldiers to teach the foreigners, Mayor Thorin immediately agreed.

Without saying anything, he even sent the captain of his personal guards, a level 2 warrior, over.

At first, the warrior leader was not very optimistic about this. After all, he did not believe that anyone could learn the martial arts of a warrior in such a short period of time.

Even as the captain of the personal guards, he had to go through more than a month of training and hard work before he could master a martial technique and officially enter the warrior profession.

And now, these foreigners who seemed to have no foundation at all wanted to sharpen their guns at the last minute?

However, even if he felt that the hope was slim, the warrior leader still tried his best to teach them, because he respected these foreigners who helped him defend Red Flame Town.

And then...

‘Whirlwind Slash!’

A player who met the level and attribute requirements could easily become a Warrior Apprentice.

After he shouted, he immediately tried out the basic class martial arts in his skill bar excitedly. The sound of the blade cutting through the air instantly sounded, and a semi-arc slash followed the momentum. It also carried the unique red glow of martial arts, attracting the attention of the other players around.

Only the warrior leader’s mouth twitched slightly.

He had clearly only demonstrated it to the other party once, so why was it...

Forget it.

Among so many foreigners, it was not unreasonable for a genius to appear, right?

And then...

Soon, the captain was sent away because of the crowd at the corner of his mouth.

That was because...

"Whirlwind Slash!" The second player.

"Whirlwind Slash!" The third player.

"Whirlwind Slash!" The fourth player.

"Raging Tyrant World Extinguishing Circle Dance Slash!" White Critical Hit.

Err...

It seemed that something strange had mixed in at the end.

However, it had nothing to do with elegance.

At this time, Mayor Thorin did not realize the seriousness of the problem. He was only secretly amazed that these foreigners had such talent in the warrior profession.

All of them were natural-born warriors!

But soon, Mayor Thorin realized that he was wrong.

That was because...

“Damir, can you teach them magic? “Vivian was forced to be a little scumbag girl under the instructions of a certain evil wolf.

Looking at the girl’s expectant expression, how could this young genius mage withstand this?

Damir did not hesitate at all. He immediately patted his chest and agreed. He was willing to be Vivian’s mage mentor.

In response, Vivian gratefully said the classic line of “ You’re a good person ” to express her gratitude.

Damir immediately became motivated again, and he swore that he would train a few magic apprentices for Vivian. Liao Zixuan’s evaluation of this was:

Old bootlicker.

However, even though he boasted that he had taught a few magic apprentices, Damir was actually the same as the captain of the guards of Mayor Thorin, or even better.

He felt that Vivian’s efforts were in vain and was not optimistic about this at all.

Then, very quickly, there was a slap.

Faint blue light bloomed from the hands of the first player who had changed classes to become a Mage. Then, it turned into a stream of light and shot toward the ground.

Although the power was weak, it only made a shallow pit.

However, it was still considered a successful display of magic after all. It symbolized that they had stepped into the door of the spellcaster profession. One had to know that many of the natives of this world might not be able to take this first step in their entire lives. Damir was quite happy at first.

Look!

What was a genius!

The genius here was not referring to the player who had successfully cast the spell, but himself.

He had just started teaching a rare spellcaster apprentice.

The young mage quickly looked at Vivian with a proud expression, as if to say, "What do you think? I'm awesome, right? Praise me, praise me!" Liao Zixuan's evaluation was...

He was like a puppy that wanted to get its owner's bone!

Originally, Liao Zixuan had wanted to record this scene with a magic video so that he could extort a large sum of money from Damir when he grew stronger.

Unfortunately, Damir's situation did not last long.

That was because...

"Magic Bullet!" The second player.

"Magic Bullet!" The third player.

“Magic Bullet!” The fourth player.

“Darkness Ultimate Destruction...”

Pa!

Interrupting the spell.

Don't worry, nothing strange has snuck in this time.

Soon, Mayor Thorin realized that these foreigners were not only natural warriors, but also natural mages, and even natural priests!

That's right, in Red Flame Town, the most classic combat technique, the Iron Triangle, was now available to the players thanks to Vivian's efforts.

However...

The players who were truly determined did not blindly choose their classes.

People like Long Road, Dust Fall, and A Big Watermelon all looked at the little girl with anticipation.

After all...

Everyone knew that Vivian was also a professional.

Moreover, it sounded very rare, and it was an unusual job called Summoner!

Liao Zixuan's Summoner class in his previous life was ranked at the bottom of Fallen God and was hailed as one of the most annoying classes. However, a group of new players didn't know about it at all.

In their eyes, the strength of a class instructor was the standard to judge the strength of a class.

Therefore, a large number of players began to stir. Everyone wanted to try to become a Summoner and become Vivian's mentor.

In this regard, Liao Zixuan naturally did not refuse anyone!

It could even be said that he was waiting for this wave of experience points to come knocking on his door.

So the first bold player mustered up his courage and walked up to Vivian. "Vivian, I... I also want to become a Summoner. Can you teach me?"

"Alright... Sure!" The little girl agreed readily.

Just as the player was overjoyed that it was so easy, he was stunned after a few seconds.

After Vivian cast a summoning spell in front of him...

It was gone.

The girl winked at him and asked expectantly,

"How is it? Did you gain any insights?"

After the previous few scenes, Vivian knew that these foreigners had strong learning abilities and talents. They could immediately understand the basics as long as they demonstrated it once.

This was the first time the little girl was teaching someone as a teacher. She felt a sense of novelty and was also very nervous and excited.

But unfortunately...

The player opposite the girl was dumbfounded. He shook his head in a daze.

Your demonstration is a demonstration for me.

But...

Why didn't the class change notification panel pop up?

Liao Zixuan, the wolf cub who was in charge of the NPC system, shook his head.

You can't do this.

It was simply not up to the mark!

Next, next!

Chapter 69: What Bad Intentions Could Vivian Have?(2)

"What happened?"

"Is there a bug?"

‘ She’s clearly willing to give us the class change. Why can’t she learn it...’

A few players tried to change their class to Summoner on Vivian’s side, but they all failed.

It would be fine if Vivian was unwilling to give them a class change.

But the problem was that Vivian was very cooperative and never refused. She almost wrote the words ” Summoner Professional Mentor ” above her head.

In this regard, the little girl was also very aggrieved.

The young girl revealed a dejected expression.

She pursed her lips tightly and clenched her hands into small fists unwillingly in a place where outsiders could not see.

Why was it that when it came to other people, foreigners could quickly master the profession, but when it came to him, they could not learn it no matter how hard they tried?

Could it be because he came from a shady background?

He became a Summoner by chance, so he couldn’t teach others?

Even though Vivian looked so disappointed, Liao Zixuan still felt sorry for the wolf cub who was the mastermind behind all of this.

However, he would not stop because of this.

I’m sorry, he’s just a little wolf who doesn’t have any feelings!

Every time a player came forward to talk to Vivian, and then according to the program, in the girl's NPC system, a question popped up, " Do you want to teach XXX Summoner knowledge?"

Liao Zixuan was very calm. He tapped his little paw and selected "No".

He had eliminated the source of the problem. Naturally, no matter how much

Vivian taught, it was impossible for the players to change their class.

As for why Liao Zixuan did this...

What a joke.

You guys can go around whoring other NPCs for free.

However, he wanted to f * Ck his little girl for free?

No way!

Liao Zixuan was very patient. He believed that there would always be players who were on the right track.

A few minutes later, the gamers weren't stupid. A small group of quick-witted gamers began to slowly think and discuss.

Some people felt that the Summoner class was an unobtainable class in the closed beta, so even if Vivian was willing to teach them, they would not be able to learn it.

However, some people were still unwilling to give up. They felt that there must be some hidden condition, but there was no hint. They were all desperately trying to figure it out.

One big bite of a watermelon belonged to the latter.

Moreover, he was the first lackey to stay by Vivian's side among all the closed beta players...Ah pui, it was a follower.

Big Watermelon thought that he had some " understanding " of the young lady.

Therefore, it was also because of this " understanding " that Big Watermelon suddenly had a guess in his heart that no other player had ever imagined.

Will it be a game or game?

In fact, Vivian had no intention of teaching them at all?

Although Vivian seemed to have never refused and promised to help them change their class, in fact, this was not the case in the NPC's heart at all.

If the other players knew what Big Watermelon was thinking, they would think that he was either out of his mind or blind. Because, didn't you see how dedicated Vivian was?

Didn't you see that because Vivian couldn't teach the players, she was very depressed?

However, Big Watermelon felt that Vivian was too easy to talk to and was too good to the players, so he became suspicious.

After all...

The first time he met Vivian was still fresh in his mind.

In particular, Big Watermelon clearly remembered that Vivian was described as a "witch who likes to disguise" on the panel.

Even though the word had disappeared for some reason.

Therefore, it was very likely that everything that was happening in front of them was just Vivian's acting for the Players to see!

The girl had no intention of letting the players change classes to Summoners!

Then...

The so-called hidden condition for the real class change to Summoner was not that the attributes were not enough, nor did it require a special item. It was actually very simple, and that was to improve Vivian's...

Favorable impression points!

Vivian would be willing to impart knowledge to the summoner, instead of acting like she was doing now!

The more he thought about it, the more reliable he felt!

Big Watermelon began to tremble with excitement. After all, when the other players were still running around like headless flies, he was the only one who had found the way. How could he not be excited?

He couldn't wait.

He ran straight to Vivian and began to verify his hypothesis.

On the other side.

Sigh...

Looking at the players who were trying all kinds of methods to become Summoners, the wolf cub sighed in disappointment.

No, this batch of closed beta players were too bad, right?

Did he have to give them a hint?

The Players could not be blamed for this. After all, even if the Players knew that there might be hidden conditions, they would first rule out the possibility that Vivian's favorability was not enough.

In most people's eyes, Vivian was still a white moonlight.

Of course, other than..

[Ding! You have received 500 experience points from " A Big Watermelon in One Mouth

[Ding! You have received 500 experience points from " A Big Watermelon in

One Mouth

[Ding...]

The system notification that suddenly appeared in his mind made the sleepy wolf cubs 'eyes light up.

Isn't he here now?

Who do you think I, Kangkang, am?

Tsk...

Good heavens, so it's you!

Liao Zixuan looked at one of the familiar players in front of Vivian, who was rubbing his hands with anticipation as he ate a big watermelon.

The little wolf cub immediately revealed a praising expression that said, "As expected of you."

It seemed that it was good to hug someone's thigh earlier. He could figure out the meaning of the thigh at the first moment.

Although Big Watermelon was hugging Vivian's thigh, he was trying to figure out what the black-hearted wolf cub meant.

But...

"Miss Vivian, I also want to become a Summoner. Can you teach me?"

In one breath, he bought 10 favorable impression points and spent a total of 5000 experience points on the big watermelon. With a nervous and nervous mood, he came to the little girl.

Success or failure...

This was the move!

Then, the same teaching process as the previous players was repeated, but this time...

[Ding, Vivian has imparted you the knowledge of the Summoner profession. Do you want to change your profession?)

Yes!

Class Advancement!

Weng!

In an instant, a white light that symbolized the Summoner profession bloomed from the big watermelon. This was a special effect that Liao Zixuan had deliberately smuggled in.

The goal was to attract the attention of the players and make everyone focus on the big watermelon.

The effect was obvious. After a short period of silence...

“F * ck!”

“He... Did he successfully change his profession?” “Am I seeing things? Someone really succeeded?” “So the Summoner profession isn’t unobtainable?”

“Ask him how he did it!”

Before Big Watermelon had the chance to look at his new Summoner class skill and characteristic, he was surrounded by countless curious and fanatical players, asking him what the secret was.

Once the first person succeeded and knew the secret, the subsequent sales would be very smooth.

Vivian was very happy now.

For some reason, these people seemed to have suddenly been enlightened. They were clearly using the same method as before, but everyone could learn in a moment!

She was...It was her first time being a teacher!

This was simply too exciting for a villager from the countryside. The girl's face was flushed red from excitement.

However...

The only thing that made Vivian feel a little strange was...

Why did she feel that every time these foreigners came to her to learn the Summoner profession, they had a pained expression on their faces, as if they wanted to say something but could not? It was not as relaxed as when they were with the instructors of other professions?

There were even some people who showed a hint of fear on their faces? It was as if he was looking at...Like a witch?

They all heard that being a teacher would make students afraid.

Could it be that he was the same?

Inadvertently very strict?

Forget it.

He didn't care.

Anyway, Vivian did not have any bad intentions!

A straight body is not afraid of a crooked shadow!

Chapter 70: If You Want to Be a Good Person, The First Step Is to Make Others Fear You

The little wolf cub was lying comfortably in the sea of experience points and gold coins.

Liao Zixuan set a threshold for all players who wanted to change their profession to Summoner, which cost 10 points of Vivian's favorability, which was 5000 experience points.

This was not a small number for most players.

As a result, the number of players who eventually changed classes to Summoners was clearly far less than the other classes. Even so, it still provided Liao Zixuan with a lot of experience points.

In addition, he had cheated them by selling Vivian's precious battle video records...Experience points earned.

Now, the wolf cub's level had increased by another level, from level 16 to level

It was only three levels away from the level 20 "growth period" barrier!

On the other side.

Vivian had recruited foreigners for Red Flame Town, and the remuneration promised by Mayor Thorin had been sent over.

There were a total of 204 players in the town, and when converted to gold coins, there were three or four money bags filled with gold coins. When they were opened, they were filled with shiny gold coins.

We're rich! We're rich!

Although Liao Zixuan still had the Purple Crystal Grass, a real money-sucking killer weapon, he still had to wait until this matter was over and find a way to enter Fire Code City before he could cash it in.

However, the 200 gold coins were in their possession.

But soon, before the little wolf cub could roll around in the pile of gold coins, a pair of small hands picked him up.

Vivian placed Blackie on her lap.

Then, the little girl stammered a little, but in the end, she made up her mind and began to preach to Liao Zixuan,

"Then... Um, Little Black, I want to discuss something with you.

"Hmm?" The little wolf cub immediately became alert.

Every time the girl showed this kind of expression, there was a high chance that she was going to be stupid.

In the end..

As expected.

"Xiao Hei, I want to use some of this money to buy armor for foreigners. "Vivian said seriously to the wolf cub sitting on her lap.

“They want to fight those monsters. Although they have the undying characteristic, he... They also need weapons and defensive equipment!”

“But after all, they came from other places. They don’t have any money on them, so they can’t afford these at all.

“So... So I thought...”

As Vivian spoke, she took out a ragged bag from her bosom. Under Liao Zixuan’s puzzled gaze, the girl opened it and found that there were more than ten copper coins inside.

“When I went to Fire Code City, a kind person gave this to me as a fee for hiring a carriage when he saw that I had no money to return.”

“So I thought... I just feel like... When we are in trouble, we should help each other.

The little girl became more and more determined.

But in the end, she still carefully asked for her wolf cub’s consent with a hopeful look in her eyes.

After all, from Vivian’s point of view, a part of the money belonged to Little Black. If she wanted to touch it, she had to get Little Black’s approval.

Sigh...

The little wolf cub sitting on the girl’s lap made a human-like expression that said, “I really can’t do anything about you.” How could he refuse Vivian’s pleading?

So out of helplessness, he could only nod his head.

'Yay!'

"Thank you, Little Black!"

"mua-"

Vivian saw that although her wolf cub was very reluctant, she still respected her opinion. After nodding in agreement, she was so happy that she directly held Blacky in the air and kissed it hard!

"Don't worry, Little Black. I've thought it through. We'll just rent armor and weapons from the weapons shop in town. After this is over, we'll get the foreigners to return them. It won't cost much!"

Looking at Vivian, he did not want to delay any longer and left the room with the money bag.

Liao Zixuan shook his head as he looked at the energetic little girl's back.

He didn't want to hurt the girl.

However, many times, good intentions were not rewarded, and they might even implicate themselves.

He hoped that Vivian's plan would go smoothly.

But of course, even if it didn't go well, with him around, he would definitely be able to 'correct' it until it went well.

On the square of Red Flame Town.

Many players had already become professionals.

It was worth mentioning that the majority of players chose Warrior because compared to the pathetic amount of mana in the early stages of the Mage class and the fact that Priests could only be used as healers to support their teammates, the Warrior class had the most obvious increase in combat power for players.

As for the Summoner class...

Due to the 5000 experience points "tuition fee" threshold, there were naturally very few people who learned it.

However, what troubled many players now was...

He had a class, but his equipment couldn't keep up.

This was especially true for warriors who had to engage in close combat. They had the most urgent need for weapons and defensive equipment.

"Brother Dog, look, there seems to be movement from Vivian's side!"

"Hmm? What's wrong?" After the little brother's words, the big dog replied disinterestedly because he was not interested in Vivian.

On the contrary, as a loyal warrior, his eyes were full of desire as he looked at the guards of Red Flame Town.

Don't misunderstand, the desire here referred to the excellent equipment on the guards.

However, the little brother's words made the big mutt turn its head instantly.

"Brother Dog! Vivian seemed to be giving out equipment!"

“What? Give out equipment?”

The big mutt looked around and realized that it was true. Moreover, most of them were excellent defensive equipment and weapons of good quality. There were already many players lining up.

“Go, go, go! Hurry up and take a look!” The big mutt immediately set off without a word, afraid that it would fall behind others.

“Everyone, don’t be anxious!”

“Line up and come one by one.” Vivian used several carts to distribute the armor and weapons she had rented to the players.

Behind the young girl, the wolf cub, Liao Zixuan, looked at the already shriveled money bag and felt a deep pain in his heart.

Although most of the money was deducted as a deposit, it could be returned after the players returned the equipment.

“Miss Vivian, can we really take it for free without paying anything?” When it was the big mutt’s turn, he asked again as if to confirm.

“No need. We just need everyone to do their best to protect Red Flame Town!” Vivian smiled.

However, as if she had thought of something, the girl quickly said,

“However, remember to return it after this!”

“Oh, okay...Alright. “The big mutt nodded.

Then, he looked at the information of the weapon in his hand.

[Fine Iron Sword] [Grade: Normal]

[Effect: Attack +10]

‘ Reward for the corresponding profession: After equipping the Warrior profession, your attack power will increase by 5 points.’

(Note 1: This is a well-made sword.)

(Remark 2: Before accepting it, you’d better gain a little favor from Vivian first, or something bad will happen.)

Looking at the weapon’s remark, the dog hesitated.

One point of Favorability was equivalent to 500 experience points. In exchange for the temporary right to use an excellent weapon, it was basically no different from giving it away for free.

With a weapon and the support of his class, he could easily earn back the 500 experience points by killing monsters.

But...

In the end, the big dog ignored the remarks on it. After saying “thank you”, it left.

Moreover...

He noticed in detail that after he took the weapon away, the weapon directly belonged to him. He did not say that it was temporarily borrowed.

In other words, as long as he did not take the initiative to switch his weapon back, he could continue to use it!

Very soon.

It wasn't just the big dog. Many players also noticed these two points.

It was interesting to note that the players who wanted to become Summoners at Vivian's place had obediently handed over the 500 experience points and favorability points before borrowing the equipment from the little girl.

On the other hand, those players who were not interested in the Summoner class and did not know what had happened to Vivian before were greedy and deliberately ignored the remarks that Liao Zixuan had added to the equipment.

There were even some people who couldn't help but reveal a look of delight when they realized that the equipment would directly belong to them after they obtained it.

Return?

How was this possible?

Only a fool would return it!

Moreover, judging from her previous performance, Vivian was on the side of justice and was obviously very kind. This was to put it nicely, but to put it bluntly...

She was easy to bully!

Good people are easy to bully!

This was what many people knew.

Vivian was so kind and seemed to have a lot of money, so she certainly wouldn't mind that they had secretly stolen some weapons, right?

If there were too many players, there would be a mix of good and bad.

He had to admit that no matter where he was, there would always be a small number of such people.

But what they didn't know was that the equipment they got for free and even wanted to take away were all exchanged for by the little girl with all her wealth.

Even if only a few of them were missing, it was enough to cause the girl to suffer heavy losses.

so...

Liao Zixuan had never wanted Vivian to become an NPC character who was as bright and majestic as the Virgin Mary in the eyes of the players. From the beginning to the end, he only had one goal.

Witch!

Because only by making others afraid of you would you be qualified to be a good person.

After memorizing all the players who were unwilling to even give 1 point of goodwill.

The little wolf cub silently hid in the shadows..
