#13 - Chapter 13 Level Ranking and Equipment Ranking!

Lin Tianhao was stunned for a moment. No wonder the Nine-Headed Hydra Banyan only had this one skill; it turned out that the other skills had been sacrificed.

This time clearing the dungeon, even after keeping 'Withered Wood in Spring', Lin Tianhao still had twelve skill books.

All of them were dropped by Twisted Treants, which were of little help to Lin Tianhao.

“Learn 'Withered Wood in Spring'.”

“Sacrifice skill books.”

Lin Tianhao sacrificed 10 Treant skill books, and 'Withered Wood in Spring' was successfully upgraded to 2 stars.

Withered Wood in Spring (Passive Skill): 2 Stars.

Effect: When your health drops to ten percent, you will immediately recover twenty percent of your health.

Cooldown: 12 hours.

Consumption: None.

Proficiency: 0 / 100 (This proficiency is calculated by sacrificing skills. Each skill book sacrificed grants 1 proficiency point. Certain special skills may grant multiple points.)

Just as Lin Tianhao had expected, upgrading one star increased the recoverable health by ten percent, and the cooldown was also significantly reduced.

This improvement was considerable.

Moreover, with this skill, his survivability was greatly enhanced again.

Not only that, but 'Withered Wood in Spring' restores a percentage of health. Even in the late game, it would definitely be considered a powerful skill.

Currently, Lin Tianhao's total health is over 30,000 points, and twenty percent of that is over 6,000 points.

But what if Lin Tianhao's total health was three million, thirty million, or even higher?

He would still be able to recover according to the percentage.

Pulling back his thoughts.

Lin Tianhao looked at his experience bar, which was still halfway from reaching level ten.

With this experience bar, if he wanted to, he could reach level 10 in half an hour at most.

However, what Lin Tianhao wanted was not just leveling up.

Opening the level leaderboard.

Lin Tianhao was preparing to see the current level rankings.

First: Shura Emperor, Level 11 25%.

Second: Dream Chaser Yanxue, Level 10 95%.

Third: I Don't Love Money, Level 10 91%.

Fourth: Floating Corpse Wolf, Level 10 90%.

Fifth: I Really Have 20cm, Level 10 88%.

... ..

The gap on the level leaderboard was not obvious. Lin Tianhao knew most of these people.

Three of the top five were guild executives, and the other two, one was a top rich second generation in Dragon Country, whose level was piled up with money.

And eventually disappeared from the public eye.

In addition to the level leaderboard, there was also an equipment leaderboard in Twilight of the Gods.

Lin Tianhao opened the equipment leaderboard.

First place: Golden Scepter (Gold Grade).

Second place: Thunderclap Bow (Silver Grade).

Third place: Nine-Headed Shield (Bronze Grade).

Fourth place: Nine-Headed Shoulder Guard (Bronze Grade).

Fifth place: Nine-Headed Cloak (Bronze Grade).

... ..

Among the top five, except for the first place's Golden Scepter, the rest were all Lin Tianhao's.

“As expected, it's still the same as in my previous life.”

Lin Tianhao thought to himself, this Golden Scepter belonged to Dream Chaser Yanxue.

It was a summoning scepter, and the only effect it had was to summon six level 10 Black Iron bosses.

This was definitely a bug-like existence in the early game.

A level 10 Black Iron boss could already walk sideways in the current stage, let alone six of them.

Speaking of which, this Dream Chaser Yanxue was also the boss of the Dream Chaser Club he used to be in.

She was quite good-looking, but unfortunately, she was nepotistic. Many of the club's executives were her relatives, making the club a mess.

But all of this was not important anymore. With a God-Tier talent, Lin Tianhao had full confidence in surpassing Dream Chaser Yanxue.

Lin Tianhao added all fifty free attribute points from the first clear dungeon reward to attack speed.

Attack speed increased from 2.63 to 3.63.

In fact, when adding points, Lin Tianhao was also considering whether to add some to movement speed.

But in the end, he gave up.

Because attack speed was the most compatible with his Hand of Heavenly Punishment.

As long as the attack speed was fast enough, he could stack his health faster.

Finally, there was the quest scroll.

This kind of quest scroll was extremely precious.

Because the quests inside were not given by ordinary NPCs, but by the gods. If the quest was completed, it was possible to receive the blessing of the gods.

The blessing of the gods, at the very least, was an attribute boost, and the good ones were said to be able to obtain permanent traits.

Unfolding the quest scroll, Lin Tianhao saw the quest that appeared inside, and he was greatly shocked.

“A drought demon is sealed below the novice village. If the drought demon is born, it will surely bring disaster to the people.”

“Quest requirement: Kill all the NPCs in the novice village and destroy the altar, so that all adventurers from other worlds can only be born in the main city and can never enter the novice village again.”

“Quest penalty: None.”

“Quest reward: Unknown.”

Seeing this quest, Lin Tianhao's face was extremely gloomy.

This quest... ..

It was simply outrageously outrageous, outrageous to the extreme!

In his previous life, Lin Tianhao had also encountered all kinds of strange and bizarre quests.

But today's quest?

Destroy the novice village?

This was a quest? Was this definitely not asking him to die?

In his previous life, some players had tried to provoke NPCs, but even a small clerk in the tavern could deal thousands of damage with a wave of his hand.

As for the village chief and blacksmith in the novice village, their attributes were probably even more outrageous.

Putting away the quest scroll.

Lin Tianhao did not immediately accept this quest.

Although there was no penalty, he still wanted to consider it carefully.

Exiting the dungeon.

At this time, many players had gathered at the entrance of the dungeon.

“Looking for a powerful priest, who has enough healing, come quickly, the team has powerful dual carries, the output is definitely enough.”

Dual carries, that is, archers and mages.

One for sustained output, one for high burst.

“It's been so long, besides the Snow Emperor, haven't any other players cleared the dungeon? I want to buy equipment, I'm rich and stupid.”

... ..

Lin Tianhao glanced at these people and didn't care too much.

This was Novice Village 10086, and there were not many real high-level players.

They were probably mostly clustered in the more advanced novice villages.

Starting from the dungeon, Lin Tianhao walked in another direction.

According to Lin Tianhao's calculations, the higher the level of the ten boss hunting quest given by the village chief, the more generous the rewards should be.

In the novice village, there was also a relatively special boss.

That was the wandering poet that Zhou Xiaopang encountered.

It was said that his true form was a yellow weasel. Because he asked for a blessing and had good luck, he transformed into a human.

But the essence of his demon had not changed, and he seemed to be plotting something in the novice village.

The strategy guides in his previous life did not say too much in detail, and Lin Tianhao only knew this much.

Just at this moment, Lin Tianhao's eyes changed slightly, and the longbow in his hand instantly slashed behind him.

That's right, not drawing the bow and shooting arrows, but using the Thunderclap Bow as a blade to slash out.

This kind of attack did not have much killing power, but it could break a sudden crisis.

“Slash!”
