

Online game: I have super god-level talent

#2 - Chapter 2: Fired for watching a promotional video?

It's true that red-eye rabbits are easy to hunt, but the experience points they give are pitifully low. Moreover, they almost exclusively drop the quest item, Red Eye, and even copper coins are rare.

However, Lin Tianhao was tirelessly hunting them, mainly to stack his health points.

As long as his health points increased, his attack damage would naturally increase as well.

Moreover, Lin Tianhao knew about a hidden reward in the novice village: when submitting the Red-Eye Rabbit quest, if you increased the required number of Red-Eye Rabbit eyeballs from the original one hundred to ten thousand, you could obtain a special skill that increased the attack range of normal attacks. When maxed out, it was said to increase the normal attack range by fifty percent.

This might be a bit useless for professions like mages and priests, but for Lin Tianhao, an archer, it was incredibly powerful.

With his attributes stacked up, and with this skill that increased attack range, he would be able to implement his next plan.

“Ding, you have killed a Red-Eye Rabbit, experience points +1.”

Effect 2: Each normal attack permanently increases your health by 2 points.

Proficiency: 0 / 100000.

With the talent upgrade, Lin Tianhao only needed three arrows to kill a Red-Eye Rabbit.

Fortunately, more than eight hours of game time had already passed, and there were no other players in the Red-Eye Rabbit area. Otherwise, Lin Tianhao would probably be surrounded by many players.

During this process, Lin Tianhao smoothly leveled up to level two and obtained five free attribute points.

He added all the free attribute points to attack speed, increasing it from the original 0.63 to 0.73.

Although there was an improvement, it was still a drop in the bucket.

“Equipment, and free attribute points, these are what I currently lack.”

Lin Tianhao thought to himself. At the same time, a feather arrow flew out, hitting a Red-Eye Rabbit not far away.

-30.

With the increase in health and talent, Lin Tianhao's current normal attack damage was already quite considerable.

Three arrows for a Red-Eye Rabbit. The efficiency had increased, but it meant that he needed to frequently attack new Red-Eye Rabbits, slowing down his attack progress.

Originally, he could perform thirty normal attacks per minute, but now it was different. He could only perform twenty normal attacks per minute. Fortunately, his talent was upgraded, increasing two health points per normal attack, adding forty points per minute, which was more than before.

But now Lin Tianhao faced a problem: level 2 players do not get experience points for hunting level 1 monsters.

In Twilight of the Gods, except for dungeons, bosses, and a few special monsters, hunting monsters lower than your own level does not give experience point rewards.

Without the slightest hesitation, Lin Tianhao still chose to continue farming Red-Eye Rabbits here, just for that special skill that provided attack range.

Two hours passed in the blink of an eye.

Lin Tianhao's level was still 2, but the difference was that Lin Tianhao's health had increased from the original 100 points to the current 4800 points.

This was definitely a terrifying increase.

At this stage, even those level five warriors who purely added health points should only have 500 health points now.

In Twilight of the Gods, the amplification of attribute points varies for different professions.

For example, for archers, adding a free attribute point to attack speed increases it by 0.02, while for other professions it is 0.01.

Warriors add 20 points of health for each free attribute point, while other professions add 10 points.

Specifically, warriors prioritize health, armor, and magic resistance, which are all doubled.

Archers prioritize attack, attack speed, and critical hit.

Assassins prioritize attack, movement speed, and critical hit.

Mages prioritize spell power, mana, and movement speed.

Priests prioritize spell power, mana, and movement speed, just like mages.

Therefore, the direction of free attribute point allocation varies for different professions.

However, relying solely on the free attribute points from leveling up is a drop in the bucket. You also need the blessing of equipment to fully improve your attributes.

Looking at the red eyes in his backpack, he had only collected more than 1,600 so far, still far from 10,000.

However, Lin Tianhao was not worried at all, because now he could kill a Red-Eye Rabbit with one arrow, and collecting red eyes would become very easy later on.

Just at this moment, Lin Tianhao received a message, it was an external device calling.

Lin Tianhao glanced at the game time, it had been more than ten hours, he guessed it was time to get off and eat.

Coming out of the game pod, Zhou Xiaopang said very excitedly: "Brother Hao, this game is too realistic, it's really like a second world."

While speaking, the two walked towards the dining room.

Chasing Dreams Club.

It is one of the three major game clubs in Binhai. Lin Tianhao and Zhou Xiaopang are just gold farmers of the club, belonging to the bottom of the club.

But for Zhou Xiaopang, having food and accommodation, money to take, and being able to play games, where in the world could there be such a cool thing.

There were more than a dozen people eating in the dining room, all of whom were gold farmers of the Chasing Dreams Club.

After everyone was in place, a pot-bellied middle-aged man walked in. Behind him, followed a long-legged secretary wearing black silk stockings.

The general manager of the Chasing Dreams Club, Li Haitao!

Also known as Li Mouth Cannon, he doesn't have much game talent, but he talks a lot all day long.

“Today, Twilight of the Gods has launched its servers, and you have been in the game for ten hours. Report your level and gold farming situation in order from left to right.”

“Level 4, forty-five copper coins.”

“Level 4, fifty-three copper coins.”

“Level 4, thirty-two copper coins.”

... ..

One by one, they all started reporting their situation, almost all of them were level 4.

Finally, when it was Zhou Xiaopang's turn, he said very proudly: "Level 5, two silver coins."

Li Haitao, who was originally indifferent, suddenly raised his eyes and looked over, a little surprised. Finally, he nodded and said: "Acceptable."

Lin Tianhao lowered his head to eat. Zhou Xiaopang pushed him, "Brother Hao, it's your turn."

“Level two, fifteen copper coins.”

The drop rate of level one Red-Eye Rabbits is really touching. Lin Tianhao killed more than a thousand of them, and only dropped this little bit of copper coins.

Hearing Lin Tianhao's words, Li Haitao slammed his palm on the table.

“Lin Tianhao, what are you doing? Everyone is level four, how come you are only level two?”

“I was delayed by watching the promotional video.” Lin Tianhao said truthfully.

“Watching the promotional video?”

“Don’t you know how precious time is in the early stages of the game? And you still watch the promotional video.”

Li Haitao scolded him head-on.

“Lin Tianhao, the club never supports idlers. We don’t need a net worm like you in our club. Pack your things and get out now!”