

O game 85

Chapter 85: Serious Injury Potion!

However, to maximize his health points, Lin Tianhao made sure to kill the Ice Serpent right before its half-hour respawn time.

Furthermore.

This time, Lin Tianhao didn't use the Book of Life and Death to reduce damage and increase output frequency.

Even so, Lin Tianhao's damage output was still over 120,000 per second.

Even though the Ice Serpent recovered 100,000 health points per second in the snow, Lin Tianhao still managed to chip away over 20,000 health points.

That's over 1.2 million per minute, translating to over 36 million damage in half an hour.

Therefore.

Lin Tianhao had to take off the Tears of the Life Goddess as well.

By reducing his damage by 20%, he could achieve perfect equilibrium.

He only needed to intersperse Weakness Attacks with his regular attacks, triggering critical hits to kill these monsters right on schedule.

Lin Tianhao tried Dual Shot and could barely manage it.

But it wasn't necessary.

He needed to recover some of the mental energy he had used up to prepare for the battles ahead.

Putting the Tears of the Life Goddess back on, Lin Tianhao went back to maximizing his damage output as usual.

He even used the Book of Life and Death.

All to kill an Ice Serpent in about fifteen minutes.

Because Floating Arrow Technique also consumed mental energy.

Lin Tianhao was now using a lazy strategy to give himself as much time as possible to recover his mental energy.

His damage was already a little over 120,000, and after killing the first nine Ice Serpents, he accumulated another 142,000, plus the bonus from the Tears of the Life Goddess and Zhou Xiaopang's passive talent.

His actual health point increase was around 185,000.

Even with the 50% suppression from Divine Might, it was still over 92,000.

Each normal attack dealt an additional 2,700+ true damage, adding up to over 8,000 true damage per second.

Plus the 1% maximum health point bonus from the Book of Life and Death.

Lin Tianhao's damage output was now close to 152,000 per second!

Going all out on an Ice Serpent, even without knocking it back and subtracting the 100,000 health points the Ice Serpent recovered per second, he could still chip away over 52,000 health points.

That's over 3.1 million per minute, meaning he could kill an Ice Serpent in less than ten minutes.

But as before, he chose to maximize his health point accumulation.

He killed the first one in about fifteen minutes, then the second one in another fifteen minutes.

Using this fighting style, Lin Tianhao could quickly accumulate health points.

Even while deliberately controlling his output, Lin Tianhao still accumulated about 15,000 health points for killing two Ice Serpents.

A total of nine sets, allowing Lin Tianhao to accumulate over 130,000 additional health points.

When only the very last Ice Serpent remained, Lin Tianhao hesitated.

He took off the Tears of the Life Goddess and didn't use the Book of Life and Death.

This reduced his normal attack damage to over 37,000, resulting in over 110,000 damage per second.

If he went all out, the Ice Serpent would still lose over 10,000 health points per second.

If he wanted to use the last Ice Serpent to continuously farm health points, he not only couldn't knock it back or crit, but he also had to control his attack frequency.

Therefore.

After only a slight hesitation.

Lin Tianhao decided to stop and farm for a while longer, accumulating as many health points as possible.

Under Lin Tianhao's control, he could accumulate about 28,000 health points per hour.

This number wasn't large, but he only needed to use normal attacks, which didn't consume much mental energy.

Thus.

Lin Tianhao persisted for over three hours before stopping.

He accumulated nearly 90,000 health points.

Thus.

This time, by killing Ice Serpents, he accumulated about 460,000 in base health points alone.

If you include the bonuses from the Tears of the Life Goddess and Zhou Xiaopang's talent, his actual health point increase was as high as 600,000!

His total health points had now surpassed the three million mark.

"This dungeon is difficult, but the health point accumulation is really impressive."

"At this rate, by the time I clear this dungeon, my health points will probably break ten million."

Thinking this, Lin Tianhao retreated back.

As he expected.

As long as he killed these Ice Serpents, retreating back to the village wouldn't reset the timer.

In this regard, it was still quite fair.

After a moment of silence.

Upon returning, Lin Tianhao found Doctor Liu and submitted his quest.

"Adventurer, you are indeed very strong, actually killing all the Ice Serpents. Here is the reward I have prepared for you."

Doctor Liu placed bottles of potions in front of Lin Tianhao, a total of twenty-seven bottles.

Severe Injury Potion: Special.

Effect: After using it, for five seconds after you deal damage to an enemy unit, it will reduce the enemy unit's health regeneration by 50% for a duration of one hour.

(Note: This potion is a one-time use potion.)

Lin Tianhao raised his eyebrows.

This Severe Injury Potion was even more powerful than he had imagined.

A 50% severe injury effect that lasts for an hour!

In the current stage, the regular severe injury attribute probably doesn't exceed 20%.

If it's a potion, the maximum duration probably wouldn't exceed fifteen minutes.

These Severe Injury Potions not only offered 50%, but also lasted a full hour!

After receiving the Severe Injury Potions, Lin Tianhao wasn't that satisfied.

Because he wanted more.

For example, a way to counter Divine Might.

His combat power was too impaired by the effects of Divine Might.

So.

Lin Tianhao asked Doctor Liu:

"Doctor Liu, do you know where the village chief is?"

Hearing this, Doctor Liu nodded, "Brave adventurer, if you want to find the old village chief, I can take you there."

As soon as he finished speaking.

A middle-aged man pushed open the door from outside.

This person was none other than Village Chief Li.

When Village Chief Li saw Lin Tianhao, an excited smile appeared on his face.

"Brave adventurer, your strength has truly exceeded my imagination, actually sweeping through those Ice Serpents without using the Severe Injury Potions."

"In you, I see the hope of saving the village."

Lin Tianhao's eyes lit up. Had he triggered a hidden mechanic?

"Village Chief, hello. If I can help the village, I'd be happy to!"

Hearing this, Village Chief Li smiled with satisfaction.

"Good, very good. But the crisis ahead may be even greater than you think."

"Especially that mighty Divine Might, which is even more difficult to resist!"