

O Summoner 1581

Chapter 1581 The Wanderer I

Adrian looked at the reports and he sighed with relief but there is still something that he is worried about. The Ennead gods were killing each other even though they needed to band together to stop the Distorted God Apophis. Due to this, the rate at which they could actually win is lessening per minute.

"Thankfully, my sister is still there so she could command the other guild members." Adrian muttered.

"They will have a difficult time though. We three are missing when our roles are very important." Levin Cloud stated.

"I wanted to fight gods! Why am I also teleported away!" Creepysoo grumbled as he was excited to actually fight gods. He probably wants to vent his anger out on the gods that descended as he was basically a slave for the death gods.

Levin Cloud knew what he is saying because he is the team wide healer and reviver of the group. The two priests that are also their member are also sent away with them which means the remaining group has no healer. Creepysoo is also sent away, and he is basically a one-man army when it comes to wars like these.

Adrian and Levin Cloud being away would be somewhat easier for the group, but they lost core members for large hordes of enemies. Creepysoo could have turned the tides and summon a large undead army to do his bidding. It was not only Creepysoo that was teleported away because every necromancer was taken as well.

The Gods of Death must have some sort of information about why they were taken as well. Necromancers are basically an equivalent to a combat profession for a Priest of the Church of the Dead. They are often given tasks to be completed by the Church of Death as the dark elves are not that numerous.

All of the players started rambling when Adrian suddenly felt something trying to crawl out of him. It was not inside him, but it was connected to his energy. It was not only him that was experiencing this because even Levin Cloud is having the same experience.

An ankh suddenly materialized on both of their chests as Adrian suddenly used the Soul Recall skill even though he was not attempting to. The ankh from Levin Cloud and Adrian shot out energy that transformed the gate into a gate decorated and formed like an ankh. All of the mana in Levin Cloud and Adrian's body suddenly left them.

The players that were grumbling that they would not get an item suddenly stopped talking as the pressure in the area suddenly increased. A man wrapped in bandages has stepped out of the Gate to the Underworld. Adrian was familiar with this being as he was able to summon him when he was at the western continent.

[You are in the presence of the God of Death, Osiris.]

All the players suddenly felt their skin shiver as a god was suddenly summoned in their presence. The elders were alerted of a god suddenly appearing on Avalon as they suddenly showed up in their true forms. The Elders of the Church of the Twin Gods are also equipped with their best armors and weapons as they also showed up.

The players are suddenly bombarded with an amazing sight of a god, the true forms of the Elders of the Daemos, and the fully armored Elders of the Twin Gods. Some are even confused as they thought that a battle will happen since everyone came out fully decked. Even Pann showed up in his true form with three large and powerful cosmic monsters.

Adrian could not fully stand up as he was in a weakened state due to the forceful summoning. He and Levin Cloud are also tethered to the God Osiris as they were constantly giving him mana. They were not recovering mana as their mana bar is stuck at 1%.

"God of Death, Osiris. Please state your purpose here in our sacred land." One of the dark elf elders asked but he was still wary.

The Church of the Twin Gods pray to the God Abaddon and the Goddess Gaea. Just because they pray to the ruler of all the gods of death does not mean that they will welcome every god of death that appears in the mortal realm. Some gods of death are not the friendly type and would rather have their surroundings be a land full of death.

The real reason why the Church of the Twin Gods exists is to make sure that the world is balanced. If death is more compared to life, then that means that the world has failed. If life is more compared to death, then an imbalance will happen that will make every living being suffer.

One of the secret duties of the Church of the Twin Gods is to make sure that the Gods of Life and Death do not appear directly on the mortal plane. They could visit to give some blessings here and there, but they must never be left unsupervised. If push comes to shove, they will banish the god from the mortal realm hence the battle armors.

"I am not here to give harm. I am only here to make an announcement as I know that some of our subjects have been left out of the war." The God Osiris stated but the elders were not disengaging as they must not let their guards down.

"Can you hurry it up! I am not in a state that can be continuously used as a battery!" Adrian shouted as he could only lie down on the grass.

"Apologies because I will make this quick." The God Osiris stated as he started his speech.

"Beings related to life and death, all of you might be wondering why you were separated from some of your friends but that is all intended. The agreement with the God Abaddon includes those under them to not be affected by the Judgement that is happening in the western continent.

I am sure that some of you wanted to be blessed for participating in such a momentous event but that cannot happen due to your affiliations. You are beings that could affect the battle and might even extend it far longer than it has to. To make sure that every one of you will also be compensated, I am in need of helping hands in my death realm as numerous evil spirits have risen.

I am in need of valiant warriors that can help me destroy them so that the souls of the fallen will be taken care of. Do not worry because all of you will also be given the same set of rewards to be given to those that participate. Do you wish to accept my offer?" The God Osiris stated as a notification popped up for all of the players that were sent away.

[Do you wish to accept the quest? Yes or No?]

Adrian wanted to help accept the quest, but the elders pulled him to the side as he was needed elsewhere. There is a strange reaction to the demon eyes as they were losing sight of someone that they were monitoring. They were monitoring someone that was giving off energy from the void.

"Unfortunately, you cannot participate in that brat. You are needed elsewhere as this is matter of greater importance than helping a god of death clean house." Ascalor stated.

"I agree." Adrian stated as he declined the quest.

All the other players were sent to the death realm of Abydos while Adrian was left alone in Avalon. He did not feel bad of being unable to get a quest as the being that slipped inside is much more important. They have a Wanderer in their own world which must never happen as they often invite disaster.

Chapter 1582 The Wanderer II

"It might have been a bit sudden but thank you for hosting me in your place. I will give a notice if there should be a next time." The God Osiris stated as he entered back into the Gate of the Underworld and vanished.

The elders of the Daemos and the Church of the Twin Gods finally relaxed upon seeing the God Osiris leave. They were able to breathe a sigh of relief as they were actually incredibly nervous. They thought that they would really have to fight against a god of death. Osiris is even one of the Greater Gods as he rules over an entire realm.

"Where was your bravado earlier? Still, you guys looked really cool when the God Osiris came. I actually feared that Avalon would be turned into a wasteland." Adrian muttered as it was also his first time to see everyone in full attack mode.

"If a fight against a god were to happen, your entire territory would turn to dust. We are lucky that he only came to give a mission to those that were deported. You should control your powers more as you are also a portal to the other side." A dark elf elder stated.

"The Great Tree is here in Avalon. I am sure that it will protect the land from any gods of life or death." A wood elf elder stated.

"Enough about this as you all need to tend to your duties. The threat has vanished." Pann stated as he returned back to his farm.

The other elders returned to their respective tasks, but the elders of the Church of the Twin Gods still investigated the area. They needed to be sure that there was no spell that was used to mark the territory. Meanwhile, Adrian was taken by the Daemos elders as he needed to be briefed with the task regarding the Wanderer.

Adrian is dragged or escorted to the observatory where the Wanderer was first noticed. He was first briefed into the nature of the Wanderers a bit. This is not the first time that this has happened as Wanderers have always been somewhat able to bypass the dimensional barrier if it is not maintained properly.

The biggest fear that the Daemos have is that the universe be flooded by Wanderers as the dimensional barrier has been unstable for the past few years. This is also the reason why the Daemos are mostly dealing with dimensional cracks instead of other problems. If the Daemos ever abandons their duty of maintaining the dimensional barrier, then more Wanderers or beings from the Void will come to this realm.

"It is actually our luck that only one managed to breach us when the dimensional barrier has been unstable for the past century. Aernas, pull the images of the past Wanderers so that our brat here could have a background into their abilities." Ascalor stated.

Aernas raised the images of the past Wanderers that were recorded. They were only able to record a total of three Wanderers but there should be more if they also recorded when they first appeared. They all have different shapes and sizes as if they are actually different beings, but Adrian has been to the Void, and he has seen firsthand the differences there.

The first Wanderer that was recorded was a behemoth that had the mixed appearance of an elephant and a whale. It was incredibly sturdy and gigantic in size as it came out of a dimensional crack that is up to ten meters in height. It had an enormous size that can squash any human as if they were ants.

The second Wanderer that was recorded was more humanoid in shape but in the extremely slender side. It had a tail like a lizard while the head is reminiscent to what humans envision aliens as. It did not walk on the ground as it actually has its own gravitational field that lets it float by itself. It also used skills that are more on the telekinetic side as it used attacks that hurl projectiles and mind beams.

The third Wanderer that was recorded is something that looked like two beings, but it actually has a body that is split in half. The floating upper half is like the body of a muscular goliath while the lower half has six legs which moves like a caterpillar. The abilities of this Wanderer banks on the fact that it could rip force itself.

Adrian could see that all these wanderers have something in common and that is the fact that their skin is deep purple in color. Adrian could not help but link their own skin color to those of the Wanderers. It seems that the elders also knew what Adrian was thinking and they immediately spoke up about it.

"Seeing you not asking us questions means that you already know of the secret of our race." Koronn stated.

"How can he not know when he has been to the Void itself and is the Champion of the Twin Gods. I am quite sure that his patron gods might have mentioned it in passing." Bronx stated.

"What you are thinking is probably correct because we are from the Void. There is one thing that the creatures from the Void have and that is their purple skin tone. It is a result of beings that can resist the sheer ripping force of the harsh dimension." Ascalor stated.

"Unlike the Wanderers, we have been accepted in this universe because our ancestors have pledged to protect it. Do you also notice something else other than their purple skin tone?" Koronn added.

"Their bodies are glitching which means they do not belong to this universe. This is usually the defensive mechanism of the world when an alien life suddenly appears on it. If the world is powerful enough it could send the alien being back to its own universe. Since they are from the Void, they seem to experience the defensive mechanism but their core being is powerful enough to resist it." Adrian stated.

Chapter 1583 The Wanderer III

"You are correct in that deduction. They have resistant bodies that can deter the effects of the universe' defense mechanism. Still, they could still be affected by the defense mechanism if they get weakened enough." Bronx stated.

"Weakening them itself is a difficult process because we are basically fighting beings that is not of this world hence unable to be identified. Even your special eyes will not be able to see what kind of being it is because it is not of this universe." Koronn stated.

"So, basically we just need to beat them down enough for the defense mechanism to work." Adrian exclaimed which Ascalor acknowledge.

"Correct but that does not make our job easy because the Wanderer that you will need to find is also new. If it was from the past three, then there would have been an outline of things to do. You will basically go in blind with this one. Aernas, pull the images collected of the fourth Wanderer." Ascalor stated.

The images collected of the fourth Wanderer is presented to all of them. Adrian looked clearly on the being that he will need to send back to the Void. He thought that it would be a ferocious being that is scary looking since each Wanderer becomes more beastly for each one that comes.

"It is kind of cute." Adrian commented as the creature is indeed cute.

The fourth Wanderer looked like a small, cute humanoid with big irresistible eyes. It looked like a cute child with a large head where it looks like it is wearing a purple jellyfish. Its body is also not proportionate to its head.

The fourth Wanderer's body is as big as its head, and it looked adorable with its small arms and feet. It also freely floated in the air as if it has the passive ability to fly just like Adrian. It moves or rather flies like it is a jellyfish swimming in the ocean.

"Do not let its adorable appearance fool you because it is not something to be underestimated." Ascalor stated as Aernas pulled a recording of the Wanderer.

The recording is basically the Wanderer freely floating in the air until a predatory monster called a War Bear started to attack it. The Wanderer felt the danger and immediately blew bubbles towards the War Bear. The War Bear did not even react to the attack as it saw it as mere bubbles but that was its downfall.

The bubbles touched the body of the War Bear, and it was immediately paralyzed. Adrian thought it was paralyzed but it was not that. The War Bear suddenly exploded into guts and blood which made Adrian's jaw drop.

"Can I do another thing?" Adrian stated as he saw the recording of the Wanderers ability which made him regret being caught by the elders.

"Unfortunately, we need to fix the dimensional cracks that started to widen due to the immense divine energy pouring into the world. You can thank the western gods for that, but you also took part in it which is why you can see this as you are fixing something you also broke." Ascalor stated.

"You just need to be careful around its ability and you will survive, we hope." Bronx added.

"From the ability it released, we have deduced that it must be using a special liquid produced by its body that it condenses into bubbles. This liquid might be extremely dangerous to the bodies of the beings of this world. Our bodies might be somewhat immune to it, but we are not sure since it is not yet verified." Koronn added.

"So, I am also a sacrificial lamb as well. Noted on that." Adrian muttered to the side.

The fourth Wanderer as the Daemos call it does come from the Void, but it accidentally arrived at this universe unlike the three Wanderers before it. It was just freely floating in the Void without a care in the world as it was suddenly sucked in by a powerful dimensional vortex. Unlike its older counterparts, the fourth Wanderer was not powerful enough to resist it and was sucked in.

The next thing that the fourth Wanderer saw is a world full of vibrant color and beauty which is not like its home world. The beings here also do not float like it and that they walk using their appendages. To Void creatures such as the fourth Wanderer, beings that walk using appendages are just beasts and not intelligent lifeforms.

In the Void, all the beings that can freely traverse it are powerful races that control parts of it. Still, the fourth Wanderer was more intrigued of this new beautiful world that it was transported to. It felt the world rejecting its being, but it held on because it wanted to explore more before it returns back to the Void.

It has been freely wandering about for the past two days and it was extremely happy on what it experienced. Granted that there were some beasts that wanted to eat it, but it released the defensive mechanism instilled in its body. The beasts of this world were not induced to sleep like what happens to beings in the void, but they are exploded instead.

The fourth Wanderer puffed its small chest proudly as it was able to defend itself by defeating a monster that tried to eat it. If this was back in the Void, then it would have just run away after affecting the monster with its unique skill. The fourth Wanderer did a victory dance by dancing on top of the corpse of its victims.

It was freely floating on the forest as it explored the lush green veil. This color is basically nonexistent in the Void which is why it has gained the immense curiosity of the Fourth Wanderer. It even tasted the leaves of the trees to see what flavor it is.

"Finally! I found you!" A voice suddenly echoed as the fourth Wanderer was surprised and released lot of bubbles in the spur of the moment.

Chapter 1584 The Wanderer's Name

Adrian was sent to a location where the forest was a bit thick. He was not sent to the exact location, but it was the best possible location according to Aernas. The Scribe Demon even triangulated and calculated everything which Adrian did not understand as all he said is ok.

Adrian summoned Sirius, Wisteria and Charon to search as they are more suited for searching in forests. He let his three soulbounds search the premises while he waited in the area he was dropped on. The first one that gave him a response was Sirius as he made use of shadows to sweep across large areas.

Sirius was able to see a strange floating being's shadow and he was also able to see a monster getting popped like a balloon. Sirius immediately notified his master and Adrian immediately teleported to Sirius' location. Adrian was able to see the fourth Wanderer that is the current source of their troubles.

Adrian could clearly see that the humanoid form of the fourth Wanderer is extremely cute and that he does have a jellyfish like hat. Adrian breathes a sigh of relief as he immediately tried to reach for the fourth Wanderer as he could feel that he is stronger than it. What Adrian did wrong is that he alerted the fourth Wanderer as it released a flurry of bubbles.

Sirius hid in the shadows as Adrian instructed while Wisteria and Charon also hid. The bubbles that are released were extremely colorful as the light bounced on it. Adrian wanted to teleport away but space itself was restricted which greatly shocked him.

The fourth Wanderer looked cute, but it was able to freeze space as the bubbles slowly traveled to his location. Adrian was already surrounded by bubbles before he noticed it and accepted his death. He did not move from his location as the gaps that the bubbles create cannot be easily evaded.

[You have been hit by Unknown Bubbles!]

[You are inflicted by the Sleep status effect due to your genetic makeup.]

[You will be asleep for 10 minutes.]

Adrian read the notifications with complicated thoughts. Adrian actually expected that he will be dead and explode into blood and guts, but he was wrong. The bubbles exploded on Adrian's body as he crashed to the ground because he was inflicted with the Sleep status ailment.

The last thing that Adrian could see is the expression of the fourth Wanderer, but he could not distinguish it clearly as he was sent to sleep immediately. Adrian closed his eyes as he was afflicted by the status ailment. He also commanded his soulbounds to not show themselves to the fourth Wanderer.

[You have recovered from your Sleep status ailment.]

[Stamina has been recovered because you have gotten a good sleep.]

Adrian opened his eyes after ten minutes and he was lucky that he was alive. Then again, the area that he has in only had monsters that range at the level 100 to level 150. No monsters in the area would be able to kill him and Paradox is also guarding Adrian as well.

Adrian thought the fourth Wanderer would escape and he would have to look for it again, but his expectations is wrong once again. The fourth Wanderer is actually sitting close to Adrian and touching his cheek as if to check if he is still alive. The fourth Wanderer was surprised when Adrian suddenly stood up.

"Sorry about that. I must have scared you. Wait... why am I even apologizing?" Adrian stated as he did not expect that he would feel like he needed to say sorry.

"Blwe whewe uwuw" The fourth Wanderer stated in an alien like voice that is like static noise.

"It is intelligent enough to communicate which means it has a functioning brain. If I remember correctly, one needs to speak telepathically as the beings of the Void are not known to speak the language of Pandemonium. Paradox, are you there?" Adrian stated.

"I am here, master." Paradox replied.

"Establish a telepathic connection to the being in front of me." Adrian stated.

"Affirmative. Establishing neural connection with the being right now." Paradox stated as it suddenly bathes the fourth Wanderer with light.

The fourth Wanderer is shocked by the sudden shower of light, but it was not as scared since it was not harmed. Adrian actually thought that the fourth Wanderer is extremely cute, but its abilities is not since it could kill other beings with bubbles. Adrian could also see its body glitching out as the defense mechanism of the universe is kicking in.

"You are like me!" A cute and tiny voice came out of the mind of the fourth Wanderer.

"By like you, you mean that I also came from the Void." Adrian replied.

"Yeah! Did you also came using the magic tunnel?" The fourth Wanderer stated.

"Unfortunately, I was born here unlike you. You are born in the Void, right?" Adrian asked.

"Yeah! They call it Void, but my race calls it the Great Expanse since it is endless!" The fourth Wanderer stated as it looked extremely happy.

It seems that the fourth Wanderer is indeed a kid by the way it is reacting. Adrian could also see the joy in its body language since it met him. It might have only encountered predators which is why it is extremely wary of everything around it despite it being curious of the new world it has arrived at.

"Do you have a name?" Adrian asked.

"I am Ko – Kei from the Void Scyphozoa. What about you?! You do not seem like any of the race that I have encountered from the Void." The fourth Wanderer stated as it floated around Adrian happily.

"My name is Equinox, and I am from the Daemos." Adrian replied.

"Daemos? I have never heard of that before even in the Void, but you are like me because you have the same core energy. Also, how are you born here? Does that mean that you have been here ever since?! This place is amazing! It has weird colors that are not seen in the Great Expanse." Ko – Kei stated as it started to become extremely excited.

"Maybe we should calm down a bit as you are getting too worked up. I was born here which is why I can stay here as freely as I can. You, on the other hand, are not exactly welcomed in this universe. I am sure that you can feel it to as your body is being pulled back." Adrian stated as he wanted to be honest as Ko – Kei does not seem to be like the other three Wanderers before.

"Is that so?!" Ko – Kei stated in a sad tone as it was having fun exploring and it was the first time it experienced such a feeling of being rejected by a universe hence it was not able to be sure.

"You are basically glitching out and it will also do you harm in the long run if you do not return to where you come from. Others might also follow to look for you which would make it extremely dangerous for the beings of this universe. I am sure that you have seen that they are very fragile when it comes to your bubbles." Adrian stated.

"You are right. I was actually horrified at the sight of them suddenly exploding when all my bubbles did was induce sleep back in the Great Expanse. I still want to explore though! This is such a unique world because it is full of light unlike the Great Expanse." Ko – Kei stated.

"I am afraid that I need to make you go home now. I am like a police force of this universe, and it is my job to protect it from external threats. I know that you just want to have fun and look around, but your very presence is not of this universe which could cause unknown destruction." Adrian stated which made Ko – Kei's head droop down.

"Maybe we can look around for just another hour as my elders are not getting in contact with me since they have yet to find the dimensional vortex that you were sucked by. Is that fine with you?" Adrian asked.

"Yup!" Ko – Kei stated as its eyes glistened.

"We can go around but you need to promise to not use your bubbles unless your life is truly in danger. We should also do something with the way that you look right now." Adrian stated as he cast Polymorph on Ko – Kei.

Adrian made Ko – Kei look like a child Imp so that it could fly around without catching much attention. The Daemos are already known in the central continent which is why Adrian does not bother to hide much.

"Where do you want to go first? What about the sea?" Adrian stated.

"What is the sea?" Ko – Kei asked.

"I think it would be better for you to see it instead of me telling you what it is." Adrian stated as he teleported them to another location.

Chapter 1585 The Wanderer's Gift I

Adrian with Ko – Kei have teleported towards the sea or rather to beach where there not many beings. Ko – Kei immediately gave a loud scream of excitement as it has not encountered something like this before. Adrian could see the childish excitement that the fourth Wanderer possessed and is reminded of his soulbounds that act like a child.

Adrian would have wanted some of his soulbounds to play with Ko – Kei but he knew that they might accidentally die. It might scar the poor child if its playmate suddenly turns into particles of light. Adrian did not know what kind of effects Ko – Kei has on other living beings which is why it is safer if they are out of populated areas.

Ko – Kei does not even know how old it is as time is not a unit of measure in the Void. He was told that in the Great Expanse, you only become powerful due to two things. One is to grow old by absorbing energy from it for a long time or devour other beings that do not use the energy of the Void.

Adrian learned many things from Ko – Kei such as the beings in the Void or the Great Expanse. He is told that the Void is home to many different races and monsters. Those that are intelligent enough to create societies or communities are part of Races. Those that are mindless beasts that pursue destruction and devour others are called beasts.

There are instances of beasts that created a Race when they attained enlightenment but that is a very rare occurrence. The Great Expanse is also extremely large that Ko – Kei said that it has only explored 50% of it. It seems that his race are drifters that just float freely in the Void.

"Do you have a concept of a mother then?" Adrian asked.

"I do have a mother, but she is just the one that birth us. Mothers are a great being in our race because they grow into big sizes just like that big rock there!" Ko – Kei stated as it pointed towards a large rock formation in the middle of the sea.

Adrian gulped as the island that Ko – Kei pointed at was extremely large. It was the size of a baseball stadium if Adrian could put in a human structure scale. Adrian almost spit out the drink that he was sipping from the unbelievable size of what Ko – Kei calls a mother.

"I see. The Void or the Great Expanse is a place where there is no concept of boundaries which is why the beings that live there should not be stunted in terms of their size." Adrian concluded as he learned from a class that the environment also plays a part on how big beings can get.

"Is there anything else you want to know?" Ko – Kei asked as it was given the same juice that Adrian was drinking.

"Then Ko – Kei, do your race have the concept of death?" Adrian asked because he already has a hunch and just want to see if it is true.

"What is death?" Ko – Kei stated with pure innocence.

Adrian knew that he would get an answer that is negative, but he did not expect that the cute little bean would be clueless. Still, Adrian had an answer in his mind because he could clearly see that the being before him almost does not have a soul. Ko – Kei has a soul, but it is like small flame of a matchstick that burns very bright.

Adrian could see the colors of souls, intensity and capacity since he has become stronger. He has seen the souls of demigods, gods or any powerful beings which is why he is sure of his criteria even if there is no definite one. A normal human would have a soul equivalent to a bonfire that burns bright at the moment of birth.

The colors of the flame represent the purity of the soul and the race of the living being. This is how Adrian could detect truth from lies as long as he could see the souls of the beings. He could also know criminals or people with bad intentions by the color of their soul.

The capacity is represented by how big the fire is. The fire becomes smaller as they live their lives as they grow old and use their life force. There is also the case of them dying even if the fire is burning bright and big such as killing them and other unfortunate events.

The intensity is determined by how bright the soul burns from dim to blinding light. This is usually the measure of one's innate talent and nature. This can change due to diligence and training which is why this is not always an identifier as there are many mystical things in this world that could change one's talent.

Ko – Kei has a deep purple color which means that it is innocent and childlike. The capacity just like that of a matchstick which means its life is very short, but Adrian cannot judge what is short for a being of the Void. The intensity that is almost blinding which serves that its small body has incredible talent.

Another reason why Ko – Kei has such a soul that cannot be easily measured by this universe standards is the fact that the Great Expanse have no death gods. In that realm, beings are not reincarnated hence they do not have the concept of death. The 'soul' that is collected there is immediately re-used since there are no god of deaths to supervise it.

Another explanation could be that the souls they possess will just vanish into existence. A realm without the concept of death and god of deaths is an unstable realm. It is also one of the reasons why gods of life and death are often born when a new universe comes to existence. The Void is not a universe but is something more like a junction hence the absence of the gods of life and death.

An explanation why there is life in the Void must be due to the fact that energy from the multiple universes it serves as junctions are spilled into it. Overtime, the introduced life and death energy gave birth to existences that are not of the norm. They have an extremely loose concept of life and death which is why Ko – Kei's soul has the form of a blindingly, deep colored flame that is the size of a matchstick.

Adrian paid it no mind and spent a fun time with Ko – Kei because he thought that it might be their last time seeing each other. The other Wanderers might have been bewildered by this universe which is why some lost their minds. Adrian then thought that the Ancestor of the Daemos must have been such a being as well, but they were able to form a soul to anchor themselves to this universe.

"In other words, the Asmodian Daemos must have pledge their very existence to this universe for them to be accepted which is not something easy. The universe would have to pay a price as well since they basically adopted an irregular being that is not born from a universe but from a junction." Adrian thought but buried it on the back of his mind since he needed to enjoy time.

Adrian was enjoying his leisure time and even called it as his job vacation. He made sure to not think about what is happening in the western continent because he left all of that troublesome job to his sister. A commander in the actual battlefield will have more grasp of the battle than someone way from it.

He was calmly creating talismans while observing Ko – Kei splash the water when Sirius and Charon suddenly came out from their hiding places. Sirius used his shadows to destroy all the projectiles that were aimed at Adrian while Charon used its chains to block the elemental spells aimed at him. Adrian raised his eyebrows as he did not expect that someone would actually be brave enough to attack him suddenly.

Adrian knew that there were people that always observed him from afar with malicious intent, but they rarely acted upon it. Actually, Adrian was just really difficult to pin down because he can easily escape with teleportation. He actually has a large bounty on his head for someone that could kill him and present a video of proof.

The only reason no such thing happened is due to the fact that Adrian can immediately disappear as it is very difficult to trap a demon. Adrian would have teleported away, but he was a bit far from Ko - Kei and an unknown barrier has already been set up on top of them. The space around him suddenly became unstable as any spatial movement from him would rip a hole in reality.

"This is no easy feat. Tell me, who are you guys affiliated with?" Adrian asked as he released his aura in full blast.

Chapter 1586 The Wanderer's Gift II

"Master, the space around us has become unstable. Any simple spatial movement might tear a hole in reality. We could be able to bypass it if we know what kind of item, they have used to trigger such a phenomenon. No other other Daemos has been detected in the area of the enclosure." Paradox reported.

"A divine artifact, maybe? The scope is too small for it to be a divine artifact though." Adrian thought.

While Adrian was thinking of the possible scenarios of what is happening, twenty individuals suddenly came to the enclosure. All twenty of them surrounded Adrian while there are still some that are observing from afar. The twenty individuals rained attacks once more towards Adrian, but Sirius and Charon easily blocked all of them once again.

Ko – Kei noticed the bloodlust being emitted towards its new friend and tried to help Adrian, but the latter told it that everything is under control. He should stay safe and hide as the one that they are really after is Adrian and not Ko- Kei. Adrian then looked at who seems to be leader of the group, which is a large, bodied man.

"So, you are the one that they call, The Demon!" The man stated in a loud and obnoxious voice.

"You are someone that I do not know and could care less about." Adrian replied which made some of the people surrounding him burst out laughing.

Adrian saw the interaction and justified that not all of them are allies. The ones that laughed out loud are probably people that were just roped in with the reward of killing him. The ones that emitted bloodlust towards him must be the ones that are under the large, bodied man.

"It seems that someone is looking down on you, Herk! You are someone that is unregistered after all." One of the individuals stated.

Adrian heard the term 'unregistered' from one of the enemies and he already knew that these people are a bit tough. Tougher than he expected because the term 'unregistered' is for people that are as powerful as rankers and at the same game level as them but choose to not participate in the ranking. Adrian was the same back then, but he already posted his official ranking when he was already known to the world.

"His strength is almost on par with Apolaki but that is only in terms of aura. The battle sense and style would make my evaluation either increase or decrease." Adrian muttered.

The man named Herk has the same aura that Apolaki emits when it comes to pure power but that is not everything in Pandemonium. You could be high level but without proper control and skill then even someone twenty levels below you could defeat you. Levels are a means of giving you power but how you use that is what makes you powerful or weak.

"Put maximum output on the Copied Relic!" Herk shouted.

"But if we do that then it might break?!" One of the enemies stated as it was not a relic that they could easily obtain.

Adrian's ears heard the buzz word that he was looking for. What he did not expect is that there would be the modifier of 'Copied' next to it. This puzzled Adrian because relics cannot be 'copied' because they are an amalgamation of divine energy. A relic is basically a powerful force of nature that could alter reality if powerful enough.

"It does not matter. We could just ask Michaelangelo more later." Herk stated as his subordinate immediately used the copied relic to 99% of its output.

The subordinate did not use the maximum output as they were warned that the stability of the copy would immediately deteriorate. Even just by outputting close to the maximum value is putting a strain on the copy as one could see that it is already breaking. Adrian was able to see the copied relic though and it had the shape of a black orb that has a crackling storm encased inside of it.

It only possesses half of the real power that the original possesses, and it can also be destroyed as it has gained Durability. It was made using the special abilities of an individual named Michaelangelo.

"That individual seems interesting. To think he could copy a relic but that would also require materials because creating a fake does not mean it will be easy." Adrian muttered as he noticed that the relic made the space quake.

If the space earlier was unstable and any spatial spells from Adrian could rip a hole in the fabric of reality, the space now is chaotic because gravity is not well defined in some areas. Stones started to float while some areas have sunken as if gravity doubled or tripled. Even the areas seem bent as the whole area has become distorted.

"It feels like I am suddenly at home!" Ko – Kei stated as it reminded him of the Void.

Just like what Ko – Kei stated, the Void is a place that is unpredictable as well. Gravity could be existent then nonexistent. Space could be twisted or distorted which makes traversing impossible if you have the standards of humans. Only a body that is resistant to natural forces could traverse the Void without problem, but Adrian did learn from Ko – Kei that there are special stones that could aid in traversing the Void as well.

"Idiot! I told you to control it well because you are a mage! If I knew that you would be this haphazard, then I would have commanded another person to do it!" Herk shouted as he noticed the strange changes in surroundings.

"In the end, the relic that you are proud of has served my purpose instead of yours. You allies are basically struggling to even understand what is happening." Adrian stated as he pointed at the enemies that were unable to move properly.

"What you saying!? You are trapped with us. You are acting tough when you yourself cannot even move." Herk stated as he was told that Daemos tend to tiptoe in areas where space is unstable because their very being can trigger a rift in reality if they are not careful.

"I see. It seems that you are very knowledgeable about my race despite no demonic players except for me. You can only receive this information if one is close to the Daemos in Avalon, but no player has built that kind of rapport yet. The only way for you to know of this information is that there is a mole in my group or rather the ones that left told you about it. That kind of information was only privy to those in my guild." Adrian stated.

Herk might not have much facial expressions but Adrian could read from the former's face that his statement was spot on. Adrian knew that the ones that left the guild immediately are either spies from other guilds or thought that they could profit off from his guild. He also saw that some information about things he has disseminated have also found their way on boards but those were not top secret which is why he did not put energy in taking them down.

"You see, I do not trust people easily which is why I mixed some truth and lies together for some of that information. I will not tell which is which though because you can assess that for yourself." Adrian stated as his hands started to spark deep purple flames.

Adrian did say the truth about Daemos tiptoeing in places with weak spaces but that only goes for Greater Demons and below. Arch Demons are a whole different breed because they can protect themselves easily even if space collapses on them. The people that failed to ambush Adrian suddenly have sweats in their backs.

A magic circle suddenly popped up in front of all of their faces. This was Adrian's signature space mines that explode the space in an area. This would not deal that great of a damage but that is a different story in an unstable area like this one. Adrian smiled like a demon and snapped his fingers.

All of the space mines exploded and each of them punctured a hole in reality that sucked all of those near it. Numerous spatial holes were created because of Adrian but he was not worried.

"Starting the repair of the dimension. Calculated the needed mana being 50% of the master's maximum. Should I proceed?" Paradox asked.

"Yes." Adrian replied as if nothing happened.

Chapter 1587 The Wanderer's Gift III

[You have killed a player that has been tagged with PK. You will not be able to grow your Infamy as the player that you killed has more than 1000 points in Infamy.]

[You have killed a player that has been tagged with PK. You will not be able to grow your Infamy as the player that you killed has more than 1000 points in Infamy.]

[You have killed a player that has been tagged with PK. You will not be able to grow your Infamy as the player that you killed has more than 1000 points in Infamy.]

Numerous notification blinded Adrian's screen as he was able to kill all of the enemies around him. Those that were only observing were also swept away as they have noticed too late that there was a space mine attached to their bodies. All of the enemies vanished just like that with a snap of a finger.

"Such a shame that they die inside the crack which is why I cannot loot any of their items." Adrian muttered as he walked towards the location of the only item that was dropped.

Adrian looked at the strange copy of a relic and picked it up. The way that the relic operated is the same as a real one, but he could see that it was breaking down. Adrian could not even stop the activation of the relic copy which means that they are unstable.

"Divine energy could be detected on the item that the master is holding. The mana signature of the real relic has been copied into the item. Paradox wishes to analyze the item." Paradox stated but the item suddenly turned to dust.

"I did not do anything." Adrian stated as Paradox might blame him because its wish was not granted.

"Affirmative. Paradox is not angry at master but at the creator of the copy because it was mediocre at best. Should a copy of a relic appear once again, Paradox would like to have independent action to acquire it. Will the master agree?" Paradox stated in its monotone robotic voice, but Adrian could feel the underlying anger in its voice, or he was just imagining things.

"Sure, as long as the copied relic is not of life and death as those things must never be copied or let out in the world." Adrian stated.

"Paradox thanks the master." Paradox replied.

"The space is still unstable though. It might be a copy of a relic, but it can still affect reality to this degree which is something that must not happen." Adrian stated as he fixed the instability of space with 30% of his maximum mana with Paradox' calculations.

"Woah! Equinox is strong!" Ko – Kei stated as it looked at Adrian with gleaming eyes.

"Well, those people were really careless because they underestimated me when they thought that they have the upper hand. They more or less defeated themselves due to their carelessness of using an unstable item." Adrian replied but Ko – Kei did not understand what he meant.

"Equinox is strong! You can help Ko – Kei get strong as well! Will you?!" Ko – Kei stated with excitement.

"I would love to, but I do not know much about you and what you can do. The Great Expanse is also different from here which will not be helpful to making you strong. Only by knowing more of yourself can you become stronger!" Adrian stated but he really did not want to train Ko – Kei as they might create untold destruction.

"That is sad!" Ko – Kei stated as it lowered its head due to disappointment.

"Since I cannot help train you then I will give you a gift that can help protect you when you are in greave danger." Adrian stated as he took out a golden talisman.

Item Name: Life Preserving Talisman

Item Tier: Mythical

Item Type: Talisman / Consumable

Effect:

- When the holder of this talisman will face death, create a powerful barrier that protects the holder's body.
- Increase healing regeneration by 500% once activated.
- Teleports the holder to the safest location that is within a thousand miles.

Description: A powerful life saving talisman that was created by a Scribe that has gained some enlightenment. It has been blessed due to the creator being blessed by a Goddess of Protection. It is something that even demigods would want to claim.

"What is a gift?" Ko – Kei stated which almost made Adrian fall down.

"A gift is something that you give to those that has treated you with great care or you appreciate them. It is something that can also symbolize the friendship of both beings. Here you can have this." Adrian explained as he gave the talisman to Ko – Kei.

Adrian does not know when will be the next time that he will be able to see Ko – Kei or the cute being would be alive to be able to meet the next time. He can always create another talisman like this which is why he did not mind giving such a powerful thing to Ko – Kei that he has grown fond of. The Void is not a safe place which is why Adrian would feel a bit better if he gave something that could save the cute being's life.

"Ko – Kei might have the ability to put beings in the Void to sleep but that does not mean that will always ensure its safety. A back-up plan is a better thing to have." Adrian thought as Ko – Kei reached for the talisman with a smile.

"I see! I am a friend! I shall accept." Ko – Kei stated as it took the talisman and shoved it inside of its head which made Adrian's eyes go big.

"I also want to give Equinox a gift! I have something that I do not need as well but beautiful!" Ko – Kei stated as it stuck its hand onto its head and started looking for something in it. After a few minutes, Ko – Kei gave an item to Adrian which made the latter enlarge his eyes.

Chapter 1588 Till We Meet Again Wanderer

"Brat! Where are you?! We have found the origin of the rift. If you have captured the Wanderer, then drag its body towards the rift. Aernas said that you are playing with it, but it must return back to the Void." Ascalor stated via a demon eye materializing near Adrian.

"I have received the location. We shall now go there. Please wait." Adrian replied.

"It is time to go home, Ko – Kei." Adrian stated.

"Already?! I wanted to explore more." Ko – Kei stated.

"I am afraid that you need to return because we will be closing the rift that you came from. If you do not get in there, then you will not be able to return to where you vanished. You will also grow weak because your body will not be able to sustain itself in this universe." Adrian stated.

"I wanted to see more beautiful things." Ko – Kei stated.

"You can have this then. It is a Memory Stone that has the best views that I have seen in this world. You can look at the images here for now and we can explore them when we meet again... hopefully." Adrian stated as he gave the Memory Stone to Ko – Kei.

"Another gift! Ko – Kei does not have anymore gifts to give Equinox though." Ko – Kei stated.

"This is not a gift because you will return this back to me when we meet again. I will give you another one that has different images of places. Make sure to keep this for me and return it back to me, okay!" Adrian stated with a smile.

"Okay!" Ko – Kei replied.

"Let us go to the rift then. It is time for you to go home." Adrian stated as he reached his hand towards Ko – Kei and the two held hands as they vanished from the area.

"It seems that you have become quite close to the Wanderer." Ascalor stated as the two arrived holding each other's hands.

"Ko – Kei is just a child after all and needs an adult to guide it. It is quite scary in a world that you do not recognize." Adrian stated.

"A brat guiding a squishy brat. Who knew!" Ascalor teased.

"We must not waste anymore time. The Wanderer, Ko – Kei, needs to return back to the Void. Even though I wanted to research it, we must let it get back to its original world." Koronn stated even though his eyes were basically surveying every specific detail of Ko – Kei's physiology.

"I guess this is goodbye. Let us meet again when fate deems it." Adrian stated.

"Let us meet again, friend!" Ko – Kei stated as it hugged Adrian.

"Farewell!" Adrian stated as he waved his hands goodbye.

Ko – Kei did not know what Adrian was doing with his hands, but the little thing copied him. With its cute little arm, Ko – Kei also waved goodbye as it vanished into the rift. The three elders then closed the rift using all their abilities as it was a direct connection to the Void.

Rifts that lead to the Void are not something that only one Arch Demon could close. At least two are needed to fully close it so that it will not suddenly re-open. The three elders are present to make sure that it will be completely fixed.

"Are you going to cry?" Ascalor teased Adrian.

"Nope. I just suddenly felt sad that Ko – Kei is gone. I guess I have formed a genuine connection with it despite only spending time with it for a short time." Adrian stated as he has a somewhat pained smile.

"Who knows? Maybe the Fates are smiling at you and will let you meet Ko – Kei again. If that happens make sure to go to my house first though." Koronn stated.

"If you meet the Wanderer again, you must notify us first. That is what you should do first." Bronx stated.

"Such a stiff demon." Koronn blabbered as he vanished using teleportation.

"That researching fool! I shall hit you for calling me stiff when I am incredibly agile and flexible!" Bronx stated as he vanished as well.

"Those two... Sometimes, I do not know if I am the only mature one. Anyway, you are free to do what you want for the time being kid, but you must monitor the western continent as well. When everything ends there, we shall be the ones that need to fix if they broke something." Ascalor stated as he vanished as well.

"Since I am free, I know what I need to do." Adrian stated as he looked at the thing that he was given by Ko – Kei. It was something that he has been looking for quite some time.

Item Name: Heart of a Protoss

Item Description: The heart of a being that is said to be the progenitor of all life. It is said that they were the first to come alive in the world before humans have been born. It is said that the Protoss are the blueprint for the humans that are alive now. It is said that they are still some of them that are alive, but no one knows where they are.

The evolution item to the most mysterious evolution path that Dodu has. It is the Heart of a Protoss which Adrian has only read about in Aernas' library. They are said to be beings that are as mysterious as the Daemos. Even for the Daemos that is long lived, Koronn is the only one that was able to encounter one.

They have said to have died off back then as they were beings that could morph into any other being. It is also said that they have the genetic material for all of the living beings except for some special races. They are also said to be the very first 'humans' created and that their descendants are the ones that are now considered humans.

"Thank you, Ko – Kei! I will make sure that your gift will not be in vain. I hope we meet again." Adrian stated as he teleported away.

Chapter 1589 The Heart Of A Protoss

Adrian could not believe that he received the evolution item that Dodu needs to become a being known as Uboth-Sathla. There are two more evolutionary paths that Dodu can do but Adrian does not have the items for that. He would rather take what he has now and prepare Dodu for evolution because that is the most important thing to do.

If he had the Acid Dragon King's Heart, then he would immediately evolve Dodu into an Elder Black Sludge. If he had the Everlasting Dark Heart, then he would definitely evolve Dodu into a Shoggoth. The items needed for the evolution of a slime is not easy because the slimes are already wiped out from this timeline.

Adrian always told himself that he would evolve Dodu to any of the three if he gets the item needed. He did not expect that the item that he would get first is the Heart of a Protoss. In fact, it was not only Adrian that was bewildered but also the game developers as that item in question is not easy to procure.

"How did a Void Being get the Heart of a Protoss? I thought that should only be available to get when they travel to the Abandoned World 01?" One of the game developers asked.

"Actually, one needs to traverse the Void to get to that place. It was in the lore that the Protoss escaped the universe of Pandemonium because the dark gods wanted them as ingredients for their vessels. It was stated that some Protoss did lose their life in the journey.

A heart or two lying about in the Void is not something impossible for the race of the Void Scyphozoa. They often pick up strange things along the way that they deem as beautiful. They are a curious race after all, but they are also very greedy.

The fact that he was able to get something from that being is already well deserved. He was able to maximize the connection with just a day. One might say that he is too immersed in that world, but he deserves the item." The game developer that designed the Void Scyphozoa stated.

"You also have to see what he gave up in order to get that thing. He gave up a precious talisman that could potentially save his life. A mythical talisman like that is something that any one in the top ranks would want." Another developer stated.

Adrian did not know that he was able to ignite a debate once more, but he is glad he got an evolution item. He needed to increase Dodu's presence more as he only used him for tanking. He would usually just summon the slime when there is a horde of enemies to devour.

"I can just say that I am quite lucky with this! I just need to fulfill the next requirement which should be easier than getting the item." Adrian stated as he looked at the requirements for the evolution.

Evolution Requirements for Uboth-Sathla

1. Soulbound must be at least level 250. (Completed)
2. Soulbound must have absorbed at least 10, 000 bodies. (Completed.)
3. Soulbound must devour a part of divine being. (Complete)
4. Soulbound must devour the item called "Heart of a Protoss". (Item obtained but not yet devoured.)

5. Soulbound must have the blessing of a Greater God of Life or someone equivalent. (Incomplete)

Adrian took out the Heart of a Protoss to see what it looks like up closely. The heart is not even shaped as a heart but just looks like a large pearl. It radiated this rainbow light when sunlight is shining down on it as if it was a prism. What Adrian could detect is that this item has a powerful source of life energy inside of it.

Adrian summoned Dodu and handed the Heart of a Protoss to his soulbound. Dodu happily accepted the item as it jiggled its body because it was given another treat. Adrian could not believe that his soulbound has become a glutton when it does not even have a concept of satiety.

Slimes do not get hungry or full as they are just beings that eat whatever is in front of them. They might get a preference when they consume too much of something and evolve but they do not get full. This is also one of the reasons why they are feared back then because a large rampaging slime can demolish a village in one gulp.

Dodu did not even wait for Adrian to tell it to eat the Heart of a Protoss as it just ate it in one gulp. Nothing special happened for the first few minutes but Adrian suddenly felt a sudden rush of energy from his connection to Dodu. The slime suddenly started to bubble up as intense energy flooded its whole being.

Dodu's fluid like body suddenly started to shrink as it became the size of a basketball. Its body then crystallized and transformed into a rainbow pearl that has the same features as the Heart of a Protoss. Adrian did not panic as he looked at the notifications first to see what happened as Dodu has still signs of life from their connection.

[Your soulbound, Dodu, has ate the Heart of a Protoss.]

[Your soulbound, Dodu, has entered a state of perpetual absorption of energy from the Heart of a Protoss.]

[Your soulbound, Dodu, has sealed its body because it cannot easily control the potent energy that has entered its system.]

[You would need an external force to consolidate the potent energy inside of Dodu or a large amount of time must pass.]

[You cannot return Dodu to your Soul Chamber while it is in this form.]

Adrian sighed with relief as Dodu was still fine and is only sealed because of too much energy inside of its body. Adrian could also feel the potent energy that was in that Heart of a Protoss but Dodu blocked most of it which is why it did not flow towards him. If the potent energy flowed towards Adrian, then he might have exploded at that moment.

"It seems Dodu protected me by getting sealed. I must do my best to awaken it then." Adrian stated as he went to the location where the last requirement could be fulfilled.

There might be great battles happening in the western continent with their gods and the northwestern part of the world with the angel and dragon war, but Avalon is still busy. The busiest area of Avalon would none other than the Church of the Twin Gods. Players and even NPCs would travel to this location to get the blessings of the two most powerful gods.

People would pray to the God of Death Abaddon to ensure that their deceased loved ones are in peace or to have them be protected from death. The ones that usually pray to the God of Death Abaddon are the elderly that want to have a peaceful end or to pray for their deceased loved ones. This is represented in the left section of the church.

People would pray to the Goddess of Life Gaea to ensure safe delivery of newborns and a healthy life. The ones that usually pray to her are the newly weds that wants to have the blessing of a child. This is represented in the right section of the church.

The church is basically split in half with the God of Death Abaddon's mural is at the left side while the Goddess of Life Gaea is on the right. A somber atmosphere could be seen on the left side, but it granted someone peace of mind and soothes a wounded soul. A lively atmosphere could be seen on the right side as the vibrant color and energy made one incredibly energetic.

Adrian cannot just barge inside a territory of the Gods of Life as he is not always welcomed in their domain because they are busy. Also, the Gods of Life barely have realms to begin with as they hid their realms even from other gods. The Gods of Life rarely interact with other gods as they can influence life itself which is dangerous if they form a bias since they should be partial.

There has been an incident back then when a God of Life was too biased with one race that he made them too powerful and hard to kill. This race was the trolls with their incredible regeneration, but they also became hunted down because of their precious blood. This almost led to the extinction of the trolls if not for the timely interference of the Goddess Gaea.

"Honestly, I do not know any other Goddess of Life other than the Goddess Gaea. I should just pray for her to give Dodu the blessing as I have been a good boy and done all she asked of me." Adrian thought as he went to a more secluded area to pray that is given to those that are part of the Church of the Twin Gods.

Chapter 1590 Back To Paraiso

Adrian opened his eyes and is shocked to see that he was suddenly in another place. This is a very familiar place to him even though he only been here a few times. It was none other than the divine realm called Paraiso.

"It seems that your wish is too strong that it has brought you to this very realm, young one." A melodious and beautiful voice stated as Adrian looked back to see a beautiful woman that exuded the grace and love of a mother.

"I greet the goddess!" Adrian stated as he bowed but he also noticed something about the goddess.

"It seems even your eyes could see the state that I am in." The Goddess Gaea stated as she smiled.

Name: Gaea

Title: [Goddess of Life] [Mother of Pandemonium]

Status: Weakened

"Why are you weakened?!" Adrian asked with great concern as the goddess was fine when he last saw her.

"A lot of troublesome things are happening all at the same time because of the impatient gods that were vanished. The world itself is fine but my brother and I have been delaying the merge with all that we got. The strain of making sure that nothing falls apart has been quite taxing even for me, but you did not come here for that. Let me see the young one that I need to bless." The Goddess Gaea stated as called Adrian over.

"If you are weakened, I would rather have a subordinate god of yours to give the blessing. I must not weaken the goddess further than this." Adrian stated as he was worried.

"Teehee... for my champion to worry about me is such a refreshing feeling but this has already been set in stone. My brother and I are the pillars of this universe and even we are required to sleep for some time. All I ask in return is that you will look after the world when we are in slumber but that will not happen immediately. You will know when we are going to slumber so, please prepare for that." The Goddess Gaea stated.

"If you utilized the faith that you have collected then you would be able to regain your strength." Adrian stated.

"I can but I will not do that. All that beautiful energy will be sent back to my beautiful children. My brother and I set it up like that so they will still have blessings even if we go to slumber." The Goddess Gaea stated as she gave a warm smile.

Adrian did not debate anymore as he the goddess has already given her ultimatum. She might be talking like a loving and caring mother, but she has already set her sights in stone. The Goddess Gaea then used her powers to call for the pearl that is Dodu as she sprinkled it with a golden glow.

[Your soulbound, Dodu, has been blessed by the Goddess Gaea.]

"I have given my blessing to this child. Make sure that it grows healthy or else I will curse you even in my sleep." The Goddess Gaea stated as she returned Dodu back to Adrian.

"Is there anything else I could do to help both of you to get your strength back?" Adrian asked as he is their champion after all.

"You cannot stop what has already been in motion. All you have to do is to make sure that nothing breaks anymore. Remember that you are our champion, and you are the representative of our might. You do not have to worry too much as slumber does not mean that we are totally inactive. The Tree of Life and Death will also aid you and give you guidance when you are lost. Goodbye for now, my champion." The Goddess Gaea stated as she waved her hands to send Adrian's soul back to his body.

"You could have at least let me greet him, sister." The God Abaddon stated as he just appeared.

"If he sees you in your current state then he might worry too much and not do what he needs to do. It is now our time to fulfill the covenant of protecting this beautiful world." The Goddess Gaea stated.

"Indeed. To think that the seed of chaos that we have planted became this bright and complex. Are you ready, my sister? If I am not wrong, we only have at most a year before we have to truly sleep." The God Abaddon stated.

"I am ready because Yewdrasil will make sure that our followers are in the right path while we sleep in its arms once more. We must arrange everything that we need to do so that we do not go to sleep with worries." The Goddess Gaea stated.

"Both of you do not need to worry because I shall make sure that the universe will not break. I have already spread my roots to the mortal realm due to the champion and envoy." Yewdrasil stated as its branches moved.

The Twin Gods then removed the veil that was covering Paraiso to show the large expanse of worlds that are colliding. All of the fractured worlds are hurtling back into the main world because of the movement of the gods. The Twin Gods need to make sure that the integration of the worlds is smooth so that the world will not experience space quakes.

The Twin Gods do not know how this happened all of a sudden, but they have known it was happening at the background. They did not know why all of the worlds are wanting to merge back but they have deduced that this is the work of powerful dark gods. They might have given the exiled gods some ideas to trigger such an event.

"Now then brother, does your sword still crave to punish disobedient children?" The Goddess Gaea asked.

"It always craved for that, sister. Remember to always protect me with your shield and no harm shall come my way." The God Abaddon stated as the Twin Gods flew upwards to fix the colliding worlds.
