

O Summoner 1761

Chapter 1761 Playing with Cousins V

"Sorry for keeping you guys waiting." Adrian stated as he descended to the village.

The people in the village were not wary of Adrian or the others as they have already been seeing demons fly all over the place. The people in this village are those that did not want to be under other kingdoms because they were exiled for having relationships with other than humans. Adrian did not tell them to go away as he does not have ownership of the place and they are good neighbors.

The influx of players to Avalon is also what makes the nearby built villages safe. Some players even became village chiefs due to having great relations with the aboriginals. The monsters around the area of Avalon also became weaker due to the fact that players and even the demons drove the powerful monsters away from Avalon.

"Wow! You look so cool!" Tala stated as she saw Adrian's form inside the game.

"You really have this aura that makes one shiver." Maya stated as she could feel some sort of power from Adrian.

"Sorry that I am not cool enough or look cool enough." Apolaki stated as he dropped down from Kanlaon.

"I also came with them." Solstice stated as she was covered in her golden armor since it was still early out.

"A dragon! Cool!" Tala stated as she suddenly charged towards Kanlaon and gave him a hug.

"Do not hug the giant dragon suddenly! You might get burnt to a crisp! I am not yet strong enough to defeat one." Bunn Bunn stated as he tried stopping Tala, but she was actually stronger than him.

"Did she choose to become a summoner?" Adrian asked as he saw another monster with Tala, but he was even more shocked that the monster could speak.

"That is not the case. I think I need to tell you all about it once we leave here. A crowd is already starting to form." Maya stated as she could see that every citizen started to gather.

"Okay then. Tala, you can ride Kanlaon. We will now go back to my territory." Adrian stated but an old man suddenly clutched his hand or rather tried to.

"Do you need something?" Adrian stated as he felt the presence of the old man who looks like a normal human, but he actually has small dragon wings behind his back.

"Lord of Avalon... can you hear this old one's request?" The old man stated.

"I think we should at least hear him out since there is a commotion that we have created here. It would be rude." Solstice stated.

"Please state what you want to say then." Adrian stated as he agreed with what his sister said as well.

"There has been some strange activity in the forest near us. The strong monsters started to roam much closer than before as if they are getting pushed out. The townspeople are not yet injured or attacked as they have become stronger in order to defend themselves, but I do not want for the worse to happen. I wish that you can investigate for me as we do not have people that is good at that skill set." The old man stated.

"Since we are basically neighbors, I should also look into it as well. Stronger monsters suddenly coming near villages usually meant that they are getting pushed by something far stronger than them." Adrian stated.

"Thank you very much. Your assurance to investigate is something that would give us some peace as well. Can I ask when you will send your investigation squad so that we can at least accommodate them in our village for helping?" The old man asked.

"No need because I will investigate it right now with my cousins. I will need to look at it since I am already here." Adrian stated as two magic circles suddenly appeared behind him.

"You have called, master." Sirius and Dodu stated as they appeared from their magic circles.

"Doggy! And a bean bag!" Tala stated as she ran towards Sirius and Dodu.

"Investigate the forest that surround us. We shall be following you once you see something strange." Adrian stated.

"As you will, master." Sirius stated as he suddenly entered the shadow realm and Tala became a bit upset because she was hugging him.

Dodu suddenly started to split up into numerous smaller slimes, but one was left. Tala saw this and immediately hugged the remaining small Dodu. The next thing that they need to do was wait but Maya and Tala were still low leveled which is why they need to start combat.

"Thank you very much. I will prepare a reasonable compensation that might be useful to Lord Equinox." The old man stated as he almost cried and immediately called the villagers to see what they can give Adrian.

"Since we suddenly got an impromptu quest, shall we head to a field that both of you can start leveling up for the moment?" Adrian stated as Kanlaon reduced his size to coil around Adrian's arm.

The cousins then started to walk to the field as they waited for Adrian's soulbounds reports. Maya also told them what happened to them while they were in the starting village. She told them that she received a necklace from a weird colored elf while Tala went to a special area in the starting village.

Adrian also checked if Tala and Bunn Bunn are indeed connected to each other, and they were. They share one soul despite having two different bodies. It was very world shocking that it was one of their cousins to unlock such a feature.

"Still, you must be careful. If either one of you dies, then the other shall die as well since both of you share one soul." Adrian stated which shocked Tala and Bunn Bunn.

"Do not worry as I shall make sure that both of us are safe since we share the same soul." Bunn Bunn stated as if he was a knight taking a pledge.

Chapter 1762 World Slowly Changing Again

Adrian explained the intricacies of Tala's constitution while he also speculated on what Maya's necklace does. The necklace that she was given is an accessory that is a growth rate item that increases her intelligence and agility in accordance with her player level. The necklace also has unknown functions as all of it was full of question marks, but it is called the Moon's Tears.

Since they were still low level, Maya and Tala started to fight the mobs that came at them in the field. Adrian, Solstice and Apolaki were guarding them since powerful field bosses now roam the world. The two might get killed by a sudden appearance of a level 100 field boss that roams about.

"Master! I think I have found the reason of the sudden influx of stronger monsters." Sirius stated.

"I think I have also found it as well, master." Dodu stated as it also found something.

"I need to share vision with Sirius first to check." Adrian stated as his eyes suddenly changed to resemble that of Sirius' wolf eyes.

Adrian saw a large monster sleeping in a distant cave and it looked like it was an armored bear. Adrian cannot inspect the monster since he is only sharing vision at a great distance. Still, Sirius stated that the monster was powerful enough that other monsters stayed clear from it.

Adrian then changed his vision to Dodu as he has finished seeing Sirius' side. Dodu could be seen looking at another monster but this one was a large jaguar monster with porcupine spines at its back. It could be seen looking around the area and not giving the small Dodu slime any attention because it is weak.

"What did you see?" Solstice stated as she saw Adrian suddenly pondering.

"The two field bosses are establishing their territory near the village which is why the stronger monsters are being pushed towards us. This is a bit strange since field bosses like this are usually immediately hunted down." Adrian stated.

"About that. I have read in the forums that a lot of field bosses started to move into different areas which is why field boss raids became even more popular. The number of guilds raiding field bosses increased which is why people are also uploading lots of raid videos." Apolaki stated.

"The others were also asking about that since no field bosses have been listed in the bulletin in the territory until now. Now that we have established that field bosses have come to the territory as well, we should give opportunities to the players in Avalon.

"Since you said it then I will fear that there might be more field bosses scattered about. I will create a quest that rewards anyone that can find a den of a field boss that is near Avalon. For now, we should kill the two field bosses since we already saw them." Adrian stated.

What Adrian did not know is that this was just the start of something in the world. The field bosses spawning near settlements were the start. All the safe zones have been erased which means any territory could be attacked by powerful monsters.

The world is slowly being expanded because of the hidden influences of different beings that have different goals. Some wanted to return to the main world in order to rule those that are lower than them. Some were making themselves more powerful by harnessing power that is not in this world which makes the world barriers weaker.

The world is changing at an incredibly slow pace, but it has started long ago when more powerful gods could descend. The world has started to change that the players are now starting to feel it as well. The monsters that were hibernating to become more powerful have started to awaken.

The players did not know this, but the advent of monsters have started. More and more unique monsters and even those that have mutated have started to spawn. In fact, players that are even higher leveled than them cannot defeat monsters that are in their same level bracket.

"How should we move then? Which one should we kill first?" Apolaki asked.

"The field bosses are only level 200, but it seems that they are mutated so their actual combat power should be level 250." Adrian stated.

"If that is the case then even, we would be hard press in defeating them with just the three of us. They are field bosses which means they are equivalent to a fifty-player raid boss." Solstice stated.

"The two are not yet moving which means we can still arrange for the guild to have two different raid teams. I think that we can raid the two as long as we are prepared. I already called upon the shadow unit to monitor the two field bosses." Adrian stated as Awraka suddenly started to materialize behind him.

"I have arrived, guild master." Awraka stated.

"Thank for coming as soon as possible. Please take note of these two monsters that are in these coordinates. The guild will raid them in six hours, but it might change if they start to move into settlements with people." Adrian stated.

"As you command, guild master. I will relay it to the others." Awraka stated as her body started to melt into the shadows once again.

"She is really great at her duty. I should give her a skill or item forged that she needs." Adrian stated.

"I am pretty sure that she would be over the moon thinking that you wish to reward her for her efforts." Solstice stated.

"We are done killing all the monsters!" Tala shouted as she ran towards Adrian and the others.

"Great! That means that we can correct some of the things that you have done. We shall start with the training regimen." Solstice stated as she was the one observing the two while they were killing the monsters.

"No! I want to have fun and not train." Tala stated as she looked like she wanted to cry.

Chapter 1763 The Dragon King Festival Almost Ends

The players of the dragonkin race are all celebrating as the Festival of the Dragon King is about to come to a close. They were already tired from fighting against the angels but today is a joyous occasion to them. The dragon kings have gathered to the place where dragons assemble called Dragon Rock.

It is a massive island that is west of the central continent where dragons of all shapes and sizes can travel to. Different dragons and even the dragonkin are invited to be there as they will all be blessed. Now that some ancient dragons have also started to awaken due to the world suppression easing up, the dragons are now more powerful than before.

All of the dragons are celebrating this day as it is now the last day of the festival. It is where the dragon kings would use their dragon souls to give blessings to all those with dragon blood that participated. In fact, there are two beings that are getting attention from all the dragons as they are special in a way.

The two beings that are getting attention are none other than Basil and Peridot. Basil is getting attention because she is the Mother of Dragons while Peridot is getting attention due to her being the representative of the Ryujins. Some of the Ryujins have finally woken up but they are still lethargic as they said they would take at least months to get back to top condition.

The sudden lethargic movement of the Ryujins were something that Peridot did not expect. She was told that they were just slumbering to accumulate energy that they have dispersed from being awake for too long. Even some of the Ryujins that have woken up found this odd because they became much sluggish than before.

The Ryujins that woke up decided to investigate what is happening to them, but they needed a representative for the eastern dragons. Dragons from all over the world have come to celebrate the last day of the event since they might get lucky with the blessing of the dragon souls. One might think that dragons have similar features but that is actually not the case.

The central continent dragons look like large, winged lizards mostly. The eastern continent dragons mostly look like serpentine which is why they are said to have come from snakes. The northern continent dragons have fur on their body with thicker skin which is why they are bulkier and look more like birds with dragon scales.

The western continent dragons look like they are made of sand and natural resources with armored bodies that are scorpion or dragonfly like. The southern continent dragons that have come look like they are being carried by clouds or light as if they are godly in terms of look. Each of the dragons that attended has increased the vastness of what the image of a dragon should be.

"The guild master has suddenly decreed that we need to raid the field bosses that came close to Avalon." Basil stated as she told Peridot of what she read from the guild chat.

"Thank goodness! I need to leave this place as I can no longer use any more words of flattery." Peridot stated as she really wanted to leave since a lot of dragons were chatting her up to form connection while some even wanted to create an offspring with her.]

Dragons have different ways to create offspring but the most common one would be a female dragon laying eggs while the male dragon gives it some essence. The eggs would usually be laid but not yet fertilized in a sense as the male dragons would need to give it a spark to start the process. Basil also falls into this category because she can create dragons eggs every two months.

Basil can also store dragon essences in her body to fertilize the dragon eggs herself which is why she is coined as the Mother of Dragons. She can also give one of her eggs to any dragon that wants to have an offspring. Still, this process does not mean that dragons can be born easily because they are very sensitive when inside the egg.

Dragon eggs are very sensitive to changes in the surroundings which is why one must take care of it should they want to hatch it. The tales of knights stealing eggs from dragons are true, but they usually raid wyvern nests which are lesser dragons. The true dragons have sensitive eggs compared to lesser dragons as the latter has tougher eggs.

"We can tell them that we will return at the time of ceremony. It will occur later within the day and Equinox can just teleport us directly here just in case." Peridot stated.

"Sure. I am already sick and tired of answering when my next egg will appear. I am still not that used to suddenly getting an egg when I login. I hope they could at least make me prepare mentally as I actually suddenly transform into a semi-dragon form since I have yet to unlock my full dragon form." Basil stated.

Just as the two were ready to leave, a powerful light suddenly blasted from the skies. The light did not come from the light elemental dragons that were celebrating but from a powerful angelic being that suddenly appeared. The angelic being was none other than Mikhail with three other angelic leaders.

"It seems that all of you are enjoying when you all have been giving my kind a difficult time!" Mikhail stated.

"Leave!" The dragon kings shouted as they released their powerful auras that made all the dragons feel the strength of their kings.

"Since this is such a joyous occasion for all of you, let me give all of you a present that will be memorable for this day!" Mikhail stated as he took out a mysterious potion.

A large magic circle of light suddenly appeared on top of Dragon Rock which blinded some of the dragons that looked directly into it. Mikhail suddenly dropped the mysterious potion onto the magic circle, and it fused together. As soon as the potion fused with the magic circle, the light that created the magic circle turned purple started to activate.

"Such insolence!" Three of the six dragon king stated as they charged towards Mikhail and the other angels.

"Now that I have given my gift, I shall bid you farewell. Let this be a gift to you that the angels are beings that should never be looked down upon." Mikhail stated as he and the other vanished with a powerful flash of light. The large group of angels that suddenly appeared vanished in an instant.

Even though the angels vanished the magic circle that they created did not. The purple magic circle suddenly started activating and scattering purple dust that stuck onto the bodies of the dragons. The ones that had the most stuck on them were the dragon kings of darkness, fire and wind as they were the ones that charged towards the angels.

"Such things will not stop...m..e.." The darkness dragon king stated as he started losing strength as his body started to lose energy as well.

The ancient dragons that are already awakened felt the dreadful power that the purple dust that is spreading towards them. They immediately created a powerful barrier to block the purple dust but even that was being dissolved slowly. The dragons that were afflicted by the purple dust started losing strength in their body as they crashed to the ground.

"What is happening?" Basil asked as she does not know what she is supposed to do in such a situation where the dragons are panicking.

"It is Dragonsbane! Hurry and collect all of the children! They must not touch the purple dust ever!" Peridot stated as she suddenly transformed into her draconic form and started to create numerous layers of elemental spells.

"Children! Come to me!" Basil stated but she could not calm down the dragons that are already panicking.

"I can do this. I just need to use Dragon Tongue!" Basil stated as she used all of her stamina to command a thousand dragons.

"Everyone must calm down and do not panic! The magic circle is generating Dragonsbane, and it would spread if all of you cause a ruckus. Those that have been afflicted should be separated from those that are yet to be afflicted. The young ones are the priority! Come to me!" Basil stated as her legs suddenly gave out as she used all of her stamina to calm the dragons, but it was successful.

Peridot no longer cared about the crystals she is saving as she used all of the elemental crystals that are of the Mythical Tier. She fused all of these crystals together with their spells and casted the most powerful Elemental Apocalypse that she could use. She even drained all her mana reserves to the point that she almost puked blood due to the immense energy used.

Chapter 1764 Dragonsbane

Peridot used all of the mana that she had and even forcibly used the mana that the surroundings have. The Elemental Apocalypse spell that she casted was able to forcibly break the magic circle that was created by the Angel Mikhail. Still, she was not safe from the effects of Dragonsbane even though she has destroyed the magic circle.

[You have been afflicted by Extreme Dragonsbane Poisoning.]

[Your stats will drop by 10% and will continuously drop by 1% every day until the Extreme Dragonsbane Poisoning is cured.]

[Your regeneration has dropped by 10% and will continuously drop by 2% every five days until the Extreme Dragonsbane Poisoning is cured.]

[You will have difficulty in using mana while afflicted by Extreme Dragonsbane Poisoning.]

[You will use 50% more mana when casting spells while afflicted by Extreme Dragonsbane Poisoning.]

[You will gain a temporary debuff every day.]

[You have been afflicted by the Great Slow debuff. All movement has been reduced by 30%.]

"Seriously!" Peridot stated as she suddenly could not revert back to a humanoid form and crashed to the ground.

Just before she could crash to the ground, the ancient dragons that were not afflicted by Extreme Dragonsbane Poisoning are able to cushion her landing. A great wind vortex suddenly appeared below her and landed her safely on the ground. She was thankful to the dragon that did this and wanted to thank them, but she could not move easily.

"All the ones that have been unafflicted must not touch those that have been afflicted by the Extreme Dragonsbane Poisoning! Those that can still move must go to the area on the other side so that they will not affect the others." One of the few ancient dragons stated.

It was not only dragons that were afflicted by the Extreme Dragonsbane Poisoning but also all beings that have draconic blood in their veins. Even the players that were of the dragonkin race were afflicted as well but the effects on them were reduced by half. Some of the players tried killing themselves in order to get rid off the Extreme Dragonsbane Poisoning but it only made it progressed.

The Extreme Dragonsbane Poisoning is a status ailment that did not vanish even if they are killed. It has already etched into the souls of the dragon race as soon as they were afflicted by it. This was not an easy task to accomplish because one needed a good understanding of souls in order to create an effect like this.

"We must get help from the other races or else they will all die miserably." The ancient dragons that were awake stated as they could see that even the proud dragon kings could not withstand the effects of the Extreme Dragonsbane Poisoning.

"What if we get the help of other races but they managed to obtain the secrets of the Extreme Dragonsbane Poisoning? Will they not just get another or create another thing like it to make sure that we listen to their demands?" One of the ancient dragons stated as he was far too proud to get help from other races.

"What will be left of the dragon race should we do not get help? There are only a few young ones that are not infected by the Extreme Dragonsbane Poisoning. Some of those that have just grown up are also afflicted as well. What will be left of the dragon race if we do not solve this problem without outside help?" One of the ancient dragons stated as she cared more about the life of the other dragons.

"Not to mention, the daughter of the fierce tyrant of the east has been afflicted by Extreme Dragonsbane Poisoning because she wanted to save us. If she learns of this then even our heads might be sent flying." Another of the ancient dragons pointed out as Peridot was currently lying on the ground in a weakened state.

"We must issue the decree even if we sacrifice some of our draconic essence." The three ancient dragons immediately agreed upon seeing the state that Peridot is in now.

The sudden emergence of a world quest made the players go into a powerful commotion. The rewards for the quest completion were almost god tier as it was basically a chance to become a powerful version of the dragon race for players that are not dragonkins. The most eye-catching reward was none other than the chance to become a dragon if they are of the dragon race.

The dragonkin players that were running late for the end of the Festival of the Dragon King were suddenly filled with a burning passion to find the cure. Not all players of the dragonkin race were present in Dragon Rock as some only wanted to go when the baptism happens while some were not able to go because of some difficulties.

The sudden emergence of the world quest made even the laziest of the players become energetic. A sudden chance to become a Dragonewt is something that the players would want. They all know what the Dragonewt race is because the most famous player of this would be Hou Yiwei and he had to get lots of achievements in order to become this evolved dragonkin.

The fact that they can immediately start to a Dragonewt is something that can only happen in the fantasies of others. They did not expect that such a fantasy would play out since it is usually on in their imaginations. This race change is something even the top guild leaders would want to have as they have seen how powerful a Dragonewt can be due to Hou Yiwei.

The players immediately scrambled to find the cure for the so called Extreme Dragonsbane Poisoning. Some searched the libraries of all information they can find about Dragonsbane. Some immediately headed towards Dragon Rock in order to get some samples from the afflicted dragons.

All the players that wanted to go to Dragon Rock were now perplexed because there was actually no way to go there unless you have a flying mount which is still dangerous. Having an aquatic mount would be another way but it is also very dangerous due to the monsters. Some players even approached the demons from Avalon for help, but they flatly refused as there was an agreement that dragons and demons would never interact via a third party.

If the players wanted to get teleportation access to Dragon Rock, then they should get a dragon representative to talk to the elders of the Daemos race. Even though the demons could transfer them there, the dragons would view this as a sign of hostility as Dragon Rock is a sacred place for dragons. The Daemos does not want to even bother to do anything with regards with the dragons as they are very arrogant according to the former.

"Something happened to Peridot!" Solstice stated as Levin Cloud suddenly bombarded the guild chat that he needs transportation to Dragon Rock immediately.

"It seems that she is afflicted by a poisonous substance. I tried calming him down, but it seems that he might have lost his mind a little that he was severely restrained in Avalon. I can hear Old Man Pann berating me via the trinket that he gave me about Levin Cloud's outburst." Adrian stated.

"Did Peridot not come with Basil?" Apolaki stated as he knows Basil because she is one of the unique players in Pantheon.

"It seems that she is not afflicted but she cannot leave the island as well. It seems that no dragon can leave the island until a cure has been developed in order for them to monitor the spread of the disease." Adrian stated as he was communicating with Peridot of what was happening in real time.

"Is there something wrong?" Maya asked.

"There is. It seems that we have to put the raid on hold. The shadow unit will still monitor the field bosses while we deal with a more pressing matter." Adrian stated.

"In that case, we can just tell the detail to the village chief and stay here for the moment. We need to level up anyways and also get used to these virtual bodies. We can just go to Avalon if we get bored here. We can see the floating island on the distance." Maya stated.

"Are you sure? One of us can stay and show you guys the ropes." Apolaki stated.

"It is fine. We want to explore the world for ourselves first. We can all play together once we catch up." Tala stated.

Chapter 1765 Cure for Dragonsbane I

A lot of players started to rummage all they wanted to know about Dragonsbane because this is something that can determine the fate of a single player. The quest difficulty was not set but one could say that this very quest is something that can affect the entire lives of the dragon race and the dragon kin. If no one finds a cure, then the fighting force of the dragons that were keeping the angels at bay would rapidly diminish.

Adrian teleported with Apolaki while Solstice told them that she would need to go to another place to look for a solution. Adrian and Apolaki vanished from the area as they headed to Avalon. Apolaki immediately left for the secret islands in the southeast part of the eastern continent as he thought that there might be cure all herbs for dragons there.

Adrian already knows that secret place which is called Mahar Lika. A place where gods can fully materialize, and it is the most fascinating place that Adrian has been to. Adrian could feel that place itself was alive and did not dare to explore it without a guide as even Apolaki told him that he has yet to go to all of the land that is Mahar Lika.

"Let us go see my raging best friend then." Adrian stated as he immediately went towards the middle of Avalon where the Tree of Life and Death is located.

Adrian was greeted by the Tree of Life and Death with a fully bound Levin Cloud on the trunk of the tree. One could see that the Tree of Life and Death has volunteered to incapacitate him since the other elders were busy. The Daemos elders were too busy to spoil a child that is throwing a tantrum.

"Feeling a bit more...calm? I heard a report that you erupted in such anger that all the trees in the territory suddenly almost turned into monsters. You actually filled them with both life and death energy to the point that they almost became ents." Adrian stated.

"Mhmsmp ... mmppsp!" Levin Cloud exclaimed as he still has his mouth gagged.

"You can take off the mouth gag please. Thank you very much, Yewdrassil." Adrian stated as the Tree of Life and Death took out the vines that gagged Levin Cloud's mouth.

"I can finally speak! I told you that I am already calm enough so you can let me go." Levin Cloud stated.

"Are you?" Adrian asked with squinting eyes.

"I am. I have already calmed down because I have been hanging here for an hour. I was also frozen in time before that but that is beside the point. I am ready for a civil conversation." Levin Cloud stated.

"Okay then. Can you please let him go? Thank you." Adrian stated as the Tree of Life and Death created a thumbs up using a vine hanging from it.

Levin Cloud can now freely move his body after being subdued for an hour. He was able to calm down a bit and suddenly sprinted towards the guild house. Adrian sighed as he knew what his reckless best friend is about to do.

With a snap of Adrian's finger, Levin Cloud suddenly stopped moving as if he was frozen in time. Levin Cloud tried hard to make sure that his body would move. He even tried to transform himself into plants, but he could not do that as well. All of his body was frozen in time and the mastermind is none other than his own best friend.

"Near huh! I learned how to do this by carefully reading the chrono energy present in the surrounding. Also, I am empowered in my own territory which is why I can easily do this. If it is in another place, then I bet I can barely stop them in place." Adrian stated.

"You knew I was going for the teleportation circle." Levin Cloud stated.

"That I did. I also know that if you used it and placed the coordinates of Dragon Rock then you will die. A powerful barrier is placed on that island that prevents any form of teleportation inside of it. Should you succeed in teleporting, the powerful barrier would crush you immediately upon entry.

That is the reason why the elders or any of the Daemos are not helping you or any other players for that matter. If you were to choose a coordinate just beside Dragon Rock, then you would be directly sent to the Harsh Sea. It is basically a place where Blade Piranhas are the most common fish at the bottom of the barrel.

You would die before you even reach Peridot which is why I am stopping you. Am I clear? Or do I have to lock you in a pocket dimension because I am very capable of that in my own territory. I can assure you that I am not joking." Adrian stated in a serious tone.

"Guild Leader! Vice Guild Leader?!" Ark stated as he and Pana got out of the guild house to see a weird scene.

"Can I help you two?" Adrian asked.

"Can you help us get to Dragon Rock? I cannot carry Pana there on my own as we might get attacked from the sky. The sky ships are also fully booked to the point that all tickets for today have been sold out." Ark stated.

"I guess people are crazy about becoming a Dragonewt or a dragon. Even the dragonkin in our guild that were late to go to Dragon Rock are frantically looking for a way to dispel Dragonsbane. Also, why is the vice guild leader like that?" Pana stated.

"He was about to do something stupid and use the teleportation circle to teleport himself to Dragon Rock. I already informed him of the danger, but it seems that he keeps insisting. I will only release him after he calms down and also... why are you two filled with spatial interference energy? Did you two use the teleportation circle?" Adrian stated.

"Maybe you should have warned us about the dangers first. We kind off use it along with other eager guild members as we wanted to be the first at Dragon Rock. We were able to get there but an invisible force suddenly smashed us into meat pastes as soon as we arrived. It was not a very nice feeling." Ark stated as he laughed it out, but one can see the trauma induced in his eyes.

"We wanted to help Basil immediately, but that kind of thing happened." Pana added a little embarrassed as well.

Adrian snapped his fingers and Levin Cloud was released from his temporal isolation. He saw the way Ark and Pana looked after experiencing a horrific thing which is why he actually snapped back to reality. He suddenly felt that he should not be that dumb or else he might get an earful from Peridot instead.

"I told you I am telling the truth. Thankfully, we have witnesses that personally experienced it. Tell me, how is it to be squashed by retracting space? It can even affect me since a spell is used." Adrian stated as the spell to prevent teleportation wrapped around Dragon Rock is not something that prevents teleportation but a spell that kills those that teleport in it.

"It was not a great experience because you get this claustrophobic feeling before dying which makes it ten times worse." Ark stated to which Pana nodded vigorously.

"If it is like that then I can probably arrive there then. I can just revive myself on the spot as my first life will be used to arrive while the second one is to make sure that I get there." Levin Cloud stated.

"Do what you wish. If that is what you thought of then I will not stop your foolishness. Make sure to get a sample of the disease if you can then." Adrian stated as he did not want to admit but that plan was indeed plausible as he can arrive there as the first outsider.

"Thanks! I will get the sample and see if I can cure it by myself as well. Can you look into Dragonsbane for me?" Levin Cloud stated.

"Sure. Just go if you want to." Adrian stated as he has a headache dealing with his crazy best friend right now.

"Thanks! I will bring you guys good news." Levin Cloud stated as he entered the guild house.

A few seconds after, the magic circle of the guild house activated. Levin Cloud was able to leave Avalon and arrive at Dragon Rock. Adrian could hear the sound of his loud scream and vines cracking but he ignored it. He needed to find information about Dragonsbane as soon as possible as he did not want to bet on the chance that Levin Cloud could cure it.

"If it can be cured by priests then they would have been cured already by the Dragon Shamans there. The angels must have also factored in healing magic into the equation which is why the dragons had no choice but to call for help." Adrian stated.

Chapter 1766 Cure for Dragonsbane II

Levin Cloud successfully arrived at Dragon Rock and his arrival was not smooth. He got crushed by the powerful force of the barrier erected in that area and died. The dragons around him thought that another foolish one tried to teleport there and felt pity, but he suddenly revived which shocked them.

"That was not a great feeling." Levin Cloud stated as he reconstituted his body from vines.

"A Leshy? Why is a Great Guardian of the Forests doing in our place?" One of the ancient dragons stated but Levin Cloud ignored him and proceeded to look for Peridot.

The ancient dragon was a bit offended that the Leshy did not pay any attention to him and is about to burst in anger but the other two stopped him. The other two ancient dragons were actually incredibly hopeful that a Leshy came as they are the best healers of the ancient world. Even if the dragons do not like the Daemos, the dragons will never offend a Faekin, because they are the only beings that can heal even the deadliest injuries.

The stories of the Faekin being mischievous and playful are all true but they are also the greatest ones that can upturn any abnormal sickness in the world. It is said that when the world was created, sickness was never created along with it. It was the unknown energy brought about by the arrival of foreign gods that created sickness.

It is something that is inevitable that foreign gods carried unnatural elements into the universe of Pandemonium. They were from different universes after all which means that the law of providence is also different. Since the foreign gods took quite a time to assimilate, the world also took quite some time to assimilate the new energies that it has received.

These new energies that could not be assimilated are the birth of what the world calls diseases. It is an unfortunate effect of the world taking time to assimilate foreign energies. This is not new ever since it started but it has also created great pain and misery to those that cannot adapt.

The only ones that are not affected by these foreign energies are the descendants of the Asmodians. They represented the primal forces of the world when it was created. It was the Asmodians that symbolized this back then, but they are no longer of this world hence it became their descendants.

The Jotunns represented the Elemental Harmony of the world as they are beings of pure elemental energy that even the spirits or elementals themselves need to bow to. The Selvaggians represented the Primal Order where the strong can only survive as there is always a hierarchy in things. The Faekin represent the Natural Order where all things have started and will always refuse change.

The Erebian represent the Dark Beginning where everything once started with darkness. The Daemos represent the Origin where time, space and force has always been present and will always be. The five descendants all represent something in the beginning of the world which is why they are regarded as special.

The Faekin, where Levin Cloud belongs to, are beings that actually dislike change. They are beings that have kept their state of being ever since they were born in the world. This is also the reason why they can restore any being or thing back to their natural order.

"Faekin Secret Art: Natural Regressio!" Levin Cloud stated as he cast the spell that is what one could call a forbidden spell in mortal terms.

[You have used the Faekin Secret Art: Natural Regressio.]

[All beings in the radius will be wrapped with the Cradle of Life.]

[You have used a spell that gives up some of the life force.]

[You will lose 10% of your total stats permanently due to using this skill.]

[Do you wish to actually use it on all of the beings around you or just a selected target?]

"Target every being here." Levin Cloud stated as he started to transform into his true form.

A sudden gigantic being that is made up of lush and dead greenery with a stag skull suddenly appeared to all of those in Dragon Rock. The players were not that shocked as they have already seen Levin Cloud's form in the game and even in videos. The ones that are shocked are the Ancient Dragons because they did not expect an Elder Leshy to actually appear.

The ancient dragons were already glad that a Leshy appeared as those poisoned might get cured but they were almost jumping for joy when an Elder Leshy is what they got. Levin Cloud suddenly started to melt into the ground as he became part of it. As soon as Levin Cloud melted into the ground, the ground that was hard and barren started to grow grass.

It did not take long for the grass to spread throughout the entire Dragon Rock as trees also started to sprout as well. Dragon Rock which was just an island before suddenly became a dense forest area just because of one spell. Levin Cloud basically created a forest out of nothing with just his own spell.

The forest appearing is not the only thing that happened as there was something that happened to all the dragons that were poisoned. All dragons that were poisoned are suddenly covered by large leaves forming a chrysalis. The dragons that were looking like they were suffering suddenly started to feel better as they were slowly being healed.

[You have successfully used the Faekin Secret Art: Natural Regressio in the selected area.]

[All living beings will be blessed by the enormous life energy that you have brought forth.]

[You have lost 10% of your entire stats due to using this spell.]

[Your body is now covering Dragon Rock.]

"Will the young ones be healed? I can feel that they are getting better!" The grumpy ancient dragon stated as he let his anger on Levin Cloud go when he saw that the dragon race members were getting better.

"Not really. This is but a temporary measure." Levin Cloud stated as a humanoid form of his using vines is created in front of the ancient dragons.

"Can you please explain, great healer of the forest?" The female ancient dragon asked.

"Whatever is poisoning them is something that could actually kill even gods if they are not treated. I merely halted the progression and slightly regressed those that have been severely affected." Levin Cloud stated as he saw everything a soon as he arrived.

"Could kill gods?!" The ancient dragons exclaimed in shock as they did not want to believe it.

"The poison that was used on all of you is something that has Dragonsbane but also something extremely foreign that even I do not know of." Levin Cloud stated.

"Excuse me but did you say all of us?" Another ancient dragon asked as she realized what Levin Cloud's words mean.

"Yes. I meant all of you because even you three have it. All draconic beings in this rock are afflicted and probably more will be afflicted if they have draconic blood. Those that can stand might look fine, but those ugly little beings can be seen gnawing at your very being." Levin Cloud stated as he could clearly see what was attacking the dragons.

Levin Cloud saw it as soon as he could use his vision upon his arrival. The entire island was basically infested with these small parasites that are eating up at the vitality of the dragons. Peridot was basically coated with these parasites which prompted him to use a forbidden spell that sacrificed his stats.

Levin Cloud also decided to coat the entire island because all of the dragons are infected. They would just get sick once again if he only focused on Peridot. Levin Cloud thought that he could cure Peridot immediately using the forbidden spell, but he was wrong.

The only thing that Levin Cloud could do was stop the progression for those that are the least infected and somewhat alleviate those that are heavily infected. Levin Cloud needs someone to look for a way to destroy the Dragonsbane that is also flowing inside the veins of the dragons. Whatever the dragons were afflicted with, it is not something that the angels can ever create without the help of a dark or distorted god.

"Make sure that no dragon leaves or else they might spread the disease. If they spread, it then the disease that all of you are afflicted with can never be cured easily." Levin Cloud stated.

Levin Cloud then returned back to Peridot's side as he was caring for her. He can no longer leave Dragon Rock as well because he is bonded to it as long as he is keeping the forbidden spell active. He immediately told Adrian that he must find the cure for dragonsbane first before dealing with the other parts of the sickness that is spread.

"I just hope that we can cure it before my body can no longer hold this place." Levin Cloud stated.

Chapter 1767 Cure for Dragonsbane III

"It seems that we need to move fast or else he might not be able to hold on." Adrian stated as he looked at the chat that Levin Cloud has told him.

Adrian wanted to tell his best friend that it was a foolish decision to actually sacrifice 10% of his total stats in order to use a forbidden spell but he cannot control him. Adrian also knows some forbidden spells from the Daemos race, but he does not even dare to use it. In fact, he was not even told the entire spell but only a piece of it so that he can use it in extremely dire situations.

"What are we going to do then, guild master?" Ark asked.

"Easy. We will ask the most intelligent scholar that actually has an interest in the outside world. Follow me!" Adrian stated as he called Ark and Pana to come with him.

The three of them went to one of the residences of the Daemos where a pocket dimension of only those that are invited can come in. Adrian activated the entrance to the pocket dimension and was suddenly transported to a place filled with scrolls, books and any literature known to the world. They met a rather young looking Daemos that is wearing glasses and a scholar's hat.

"It is nice to see you again, teacher. I hope that my visit is not something that will inconvenience you." Adrian stated as he greeted his Scribe Teacher, Aernas.

"It seems that you only come to me when you need help. Tell me, what do you need now brat?!" Aernas stated as Adrian does rarely visit him.

"Even if I do visit you, you only have time to read and research and send me away, so I barely bother. You only have interest in what I say when it involves a difficult question. This time, I have also come with that same proposition." Adrian stated.

"If it is regarding the matters of those dragons then drop it. I will not help those scaly lizards even if you beg me." Aernas stated as he seemed to be incredibly angry when he said that.

"I know that you have a deep grudge against the dragons, teacher... but this situation involves our friends. You know them as they sometimes help you after all when you need some literature that is rare." Adrian stated.

"So, Peridot and Basil are affected. It is a shame if I lose such good underlings but the thought of helping the dragon race sickens me." Aernas stated as he still has a grudge from back then.

"What did the dragons do that made him act like that? He is one of the bigshots of the Daemos race after all." Pana whispered to Ark.

"I bet it must be so tragic that he would not help them even if the dragons are at death's door." Ark stated as he guessed that it must have been a sad memory.

"I know that an arrogant dragon burned your research back then but are you seriously not going to help?" Adrian suddenly stated which made Ark and Pana almost choke as their guesses were totally off.

"Those were my life's work! To make matters worse that arrogant overgrown lizard has become a dragon king!" Aernas stated.

"Still, we need to help Peridot and Basil as they are also part of Avalon after all." Adrian argued.

"It is not that I do not want to help you, but I cannot help you. You wish to know about Dragonsbane correct?" Aernas stated.

"Yes. We need to find a cure for it and since you are a Scribe that has lived for so long... I figured that you would have a record to detoxify it." Adrian stated.

"I am afraid not." Aernas stated.

"Uhm... Sir Aernas...sir. We are not asking for a lot. We only want data on Dragonsbane." Ark stated which made Aernas sigh.

"The research that was burned to a crisp back then was my research on Dragonsbane. The dragons were afraid that it will affect their long lives that they burned anything related to Dragonsbane. I also have forgotten most of what I have collected back then because I have buried myself in other more interesting research." Aernas stated.

"You mean to say that the only thing that could have saved the dragons is also burned to a crisp by them." Pana stated.

"That is the reason why I cannot help you because the only saving grace that they can have...is no longer present. Any related research on the Dragonsbane has been banned by the dragons themselves and they purged anything related to it. They were afraid that their rule would not be absolute, and they even burned all the Dragonsbane plant that they saw back then. I am surprised that some have survived because Dragons can smell Dragonsbane like a stinky and nasty poop." Aernas stated.

"What if some survived because they had a way that can make it be evaded by the Dragon's noses? There are beings in the world that can do so." Adrian stated.

"Doing so would only provoke the dragons into an all-out war with them. All the dragons from each continent would basically wipe those that made this possible. I can only watch my research be burnt to a crisp because it is part of the agreement to not interfere with one another." Aernas stated.

"Do you think, or can you at least give a hint of a way for us to find a cure?" Ark asked.

"I would need a sample of the poison in the dragons to be sure that it can be cured. Based on the hearsay, the poison is affecting them to the point that even the dragon kings cannot stand up." Aernas stated.

"I see. If even teacher cannot confidently give an answer, then this is something we cannot do so easily as well. Thank you for your time, teacher. Please contact me if something pops up on your head about the Dragonsbane." Adrian stated as he bowed to Aernas.

"I think I do remember something, but I am not sure if it will be helpful." Aernas suddenly stated as he was contemplating if he should say it.

"Any information would be gold for us right now as time is running out for the dragons after all. The Daemos also has a pact with them which means we cannot actively help them as well." Adrian stated.

"There is a mystical herb that is said to be like a parasite from a world tree. If I am not wrong, then it should be called Orkid." Aernas stated.

"Orchid? Is that not a plant in the real world?" Ark whispered to Pana.

"It is not spelled the same. It is ORKID. Even the elves know of it as a mystical herb that is said to sprout out from a world tree, and it is something that can only appear once in a million years, or the legend goes." Pana stated.

"The dark elf is correct. It is a mystical plant that is said to be able to bring even the dead back to life. I have not witnessed it in action as it is also known with another moniker." Aernas stated.

"The Flower of War and Destruction." Pana stated which made Ark get shocked.

"It is indeed known by that name because that very flower has sapped vitality from the World Tree. Any being that eats this flower would be granted temporary immortality as they would not get sick by normal means or grow old for five thousand years." Aernas stated.

"But why is it called the Flower of War and Destruction?" Ark asked.

"It is called that because it is one of the reasons why a great elven kingdom and a human kingdom went to a great war that embroiled half the central continent. It was the most prized possession that one can have as it basically promised immortality. It might not look like it, but many races are envious of the Asmodian descendants for we are eternal." Adrian stated as he also learned of this history.

Half the continent fought for a single flower that no one got in the end. It was sacrificed to the gods by the elves as a payment for protecting them from the horrors of greed. The gods of life were given the authority to intervene as the Orkid is something that contains divine power.

"If we can find one like it then we might be able to save the dragons then?" Ark stated.

"It is easier said than done because world trees are not exactly easy to get a hold of and one having an Orkid is like one in ten million." Pana stated as he thinks that would be unrealistic.

"It is feasible, but one would need to make a grand sacrifice to get one." Adrian suddenly stated.

"You are forbidden to do what you are thinking. You might get swallowed up by time itself." Aernas stated.

Chapter 1768 Time Travel? Not Allowed!

"You cannot travel back in time and swipe the Orkid. Your involvement will create unknown variables in the future." Aernas stated with a strong warning to Adrian as he could feel what his student was thinking.

"Fine. I will not do it then." Adrian stated as he did actually want to jump into the river of time, but he knows that he is being heavily monitored by Koronn each time he tried to enter it.

"Good. I do not want my own student to destroy the fabric of reality in exchange for an herb." Aernas stated.

"Do you have the ashes of your burnt research paper?" Adrian asked.

"You want to rewind time and restore it? Do you think that I did not think of a way like that, my student?" Aernas stated as he suddenly popped out a bottle containing ashes.

"You actually kept it?! As expected of teacher!" Adrian stated as he smiled almost evilly.

"I made sure to keep it with the intent of restoring it, but things destroyed by dragon breath is not something that can be easily restored." Aernas stated.

Adrian intensely gazed upon on the bottle containing the ashes. He could see that the ashes themselves have unstable properties that make time reversal impossible. If Adrian rewinds the time on these ashes, then it would just return back in a matter of seconds due to the chaotic nature of magic on the ashes.

"Did you ask Koronn for help?" Adrian asked.

"I did and we managed to destroy half of the ashes even more which means there is only half of the research that remains. It might even not be restored anymore because half of it has been entirely destroyed." Aernas stated.

"We are forced to think of an alternate solution then." Adrian stated as he wracked his brain.

Just after the angels released the magic spell, all of those that accompanied Mikhail returned back to the Silver City. One could see that all of them are heavily fatigued to the point that only Mikhail could stand. Mikhail could stand just because of his sheer will but he would have kneeled on the ground if he did not want others to know that he weakened.

A lot of players argued that the angels that attacked the dragons used teleportation like the Daemos but that is not what happened. The angels used light as a medium in order to quickly travel to their location. This feat might be great but doing so increased the burden on their bodies as soon as they arrived.

They also did this ability two times as they needed to return quickly or else, they would have been killed by the dragons. They sacrificed a lot of their own energy in order to do cast the movement ability two times. It also took at least four of them including Mikhail himself to use it.

"We have no time to waste as we do not know if the dragons could cure the poison that we concocted for them. We must move as scheduled and conquer the hearts of the humans as fast as possible. The time to move is now because our collaborators from the east are also starting." Mikhail stated.

"As you wish. We shall now start to actively conquer the humans as they no longer honor us with reverence. The dragons have been weakened while the Daemos cannot actively suppress us as we are not doing anything that will affect the world's stability. Some Daemos might interfere, but we already planned for that as well." Gabriel stated as he already accounted for Adrian's interference.

"Good. Prepare yourselves, brothers and sisters. We shall start our march from the Holy Kingdom and start the Grand Crusade! We must let this world know who the true rulers are." Mikhail stated as he activated the powers of the Tower of Babel.

Mikhail activated the abilities of the Tower of Babel, and it finally started the plan of the Grand Crusade. The world suddenly felt the powerful mass of energy that exploded in the far north that is further than the northern continent. The Silver City that was hidden from the views of the normal people started to show in the mortal realm.

The angels have made use of the energies in the artifacts that they have stolen in the past to overload the dimensional energy keeping the Silver City away from the mortal realm. They destroyed a good chunk of the dimensional field and created a new entrance to the Silver City. A large crack could be seen in the sky that leads to a mystical and beautiful city laden with silver, gold, and white marble.

[The angels have poked a hole through reality itself in order to integrate the Silver City in the world.]

The sudden destruction of a dimensional field weakened the stability of the world barrier. All the Daemos suddenly focused their attention in fortifying the barrier and fixing what the angels destroyed. The Daemos elders became flared with anger as the world suddenly became unstable because of the angels.

The Daemos elders were about to charge towards the Silver City when the clouds or rather the sky suddenly changed. Hands of different beings suddenly manifested in the skies above that every being in the world could see. Every corner of the world could see it as numerous hands manifested in the sky.

"No!" Old Man Pann suddenly exclaimed as he immediately casted a powerful barrier to protect Avalon.

The large hands suddenly grabbed something in the skies above. They were actually grabbing or rather holding onto the crack that the angels have created. As if the hands of these almighty beings were waiting for this to happen, the angels were also aware of this because they did not just have one collaborator but many.

[Some of the gods of Pandemonium have interfered with the world barrier and permanently opened it.]

[Greater Gods can now descend to the world without losing a great amount of their power, but they are still limited to their holy domains.]

Chapter 1769 The World Shakes

The gods that have been waiting for the world barrier to weaken even more have dealt their hands. The giant hands of the gods that contained divine energy made sure that the barrier crack caused by the angels will become permanent. A powerful energy swept to the world as the intense energy that the world barrier kept out started surging into the world.

The world started to visibly shake as the intense energy rushed to all living beings that are in the world. Sounds of some seals cracking could be heard as the entire world started to expand more. The land which was already incredibly vast started to grow even bigger.

The land could be seen visibly expanding by even normal people. The expansion was very prominent in the industrialized area because the sudden space of all houses and buildings could be seen to be different. Some houses and buildings were even destroyed as the ground itself expanded before them.

Powerful tremors also started in all parts of the world which awakened some ancient sleeping beasts that were said to have been locked. The entire world is shaking because the expansion is not the only thing that is happening, but the gods are descending. Numerous pillars of light descended from the skies as gods of all shapes and sizes have descended into their temples.

[The Age of the Return of the Gods have started.]

[Greater Gods can now freely descend to protect the land where their most pious believers are.]

[The world has restricted the Greater Gods so that they cannot freely explore the world.]

[The monsters are becoming even more powerful than before.]

[All monsters will no longer be landlocked in their area.]

[The mass migration of monsters has started as the King of Monsters will soon be born.]

[The seals on the Primordials and the Primordial Beasts have greatly loosened.]

[If one can find the seals to the Primordials and the Primordial Beasts, then they can either release the greatest blessings or the greatest disaster.]

"This! Those greedy gods and stupid pigeons!" Old Man Pann stated as the world barrier can no longer be fixed because the gods themselves 'fixed' it.

"What will we do? We cannot interfere anymore because the world itself has stabilized." Bronx stated.

"We cannot do anything. The world has already made sure to fix what the gods interfered with. We can only protect our current place from the upcoming Monster Apocalypse." Koronn stated.

"Monster Apocalypse? What do you mean monster apocalypse?" Adrian asked.

"Powerful energies have flooded the world which would either go to the world itself or those living in the world. Some might go to a lucky being which could be the rise of another powerful individual, but these energies are often absorbed by the powerful monsters." Ascalor stated as he was not happy, but he is also helpless as he cannot do anything.

"More than thousands of monsters that are waiting to attain divinity has been waiting for this moment. The world has become even more dangerous than it is now." Old Man Pann stated as the peace that they are experiencing now will change in just a few days.

"Guild master!" Awraka suddenly message the guild chat.

"Is there something wrong?" Adrian asked.

"I or rather... we are sorry. The field bosses that we were guarding suddenly experienced evolution. We tried to stop them, but they were too powerful for us to do anything to them. The two field bosses are headed towards Avalon. It seems that they are sensing something there that they want." Awraka stated as she finally turned to particles of light.

[Your guild member, Awraka, has died and cannot be contacted. Your last message will be sent after she revives.]

"Emergency guild quest! Emergency Territory quest!" Adrian stated as he immediately created the quests to subdue the field bosses.

"Ark and Pana! You two need to be the ones that lead the guild while I investigate the field bosses. Rally the guild members and split them into two sides. One group will meet with me while the other will be a group that you two will lead." Adrian stated.

"Wait! We have not done this before!" Ark and Pana stated.

"Creepysoo cannot come because he is busy defending the Undead Citadel as a world boss suddenly appeared in that area. Solstice and Lycan are still in their secret territory which means they are busy as well. Levin Cloud and Peridot are stuck in Dragon Rock which means we do not have them as well.

Vayu and Soleil are stuck in Alfheim as it seems elemental great beasts have awakened. They said that it will take one day for them to arrive. We can no longer be sitting back and just waiting for help because we are the help." Adrian stated.

"That is not a very good motivational speech." Ark stated and Pana agreed.

"If that is not motivational then I can motivate all of you then." Aernas stated as he actually left his pocket dimension.

"Hurry up then, teacher. I also need to be motivated right now." Adrian stated as Saena released a cry that a monster horde is coming towards Avalon.

"The energy released by the gods in the world might be an immense problem for us, but it also can give birth to miracles. The monsters that are empowered by energies might actually give the same amount of power that an Orkid can give.

The magic stones of powerful monsters should be supercharged with powerful energy right now. If you collect those supercharged magic stones, Levin Cloud might be able to reverse the poison that is spreading in the bodies of the dragons. You must hurry though as that supercharged energy will be gone if they are given enough time to absorb it fully." Aernas stated.

"If you get some extra, give them to be as I can feed it to my lovely babies. That would be very helpful for my old children." Old Man Pann added as that monster core would be very nutritious.

Chapter 1770 Worldwide Monster Hordes

The world has changed in such a fast pace that the players could not adapt immediately. The sudden emergence of the field bosses and even some dungeon bosses created total chaos. Lots of territories immediately became alerted to the fullest as unprecedented monster hordes happened.

All of the lords from each continent as it was not only the central continent that was affected. All of the continents are affected by what the people will call the Monster Horde Armageddon. It is not just the boss type monsters that were empowered but also the weaker monsters that usually die in a minute against player attacks.

The monsters became rabid and fierce that all of the players could no longer recognize the monsters that they easily defeated before. The power of the monsters increased by half which meant that they have increased by twenty levels or so. The power that these monsters exerted not only increased but also their lethality.

The monsters not only increased physically but they also have changes in their bodies. What is even more dangerous is the fact that the monsters could actually evolve while in battle. There was a village territory controlled by a small guild that witnessed half of their guild members be slaughtered by a monster that evolved while in battle.

They were able to defeat the monster but only 10% of their original numbers was able to survive the battle. All of the guilds were suddenly in an unprecedented crisis as the territories that they have claimed could be destroyed. All their hard work and dedication to making the territory flourish would go down the drain if they do not protect their territories.

Adrian's territory, Avalon, is not that different as a large monster horde could be seen charging towards it. The monster horde was allured by the Tree of Life and Death as it was also able to absorb this powerful energy that was diffused then the world barrier was weakened. Adrian could be seen looking at the source of the headache which is none other than a flower.

The Tree of Life and Death was actually able to create a flower that contained the power of life and death. It would eventually transform into a fruit if given enough time, but that flower could actually be able to evolve a monster into mythical tier. All the monsters that are raging toward Avalon are all Epic Tier and higher which meant that the battle will not be easy.

"Fortunately, I was able to give Maya and Tala a teleportation scrolls which means they should be safe even if they are not in Avalon. I need to deal with the monster horde first as protecting the territory and getting those monster cores are priority." Adrian muttered to himself as he immediately headed to the ground below.

One might think that a floating island would be difficult to attack but they are wrong to always feel safe. The number one monster that can deal damage to them would be flying monsters but that does not mean other monsters cannot break through. Monsters that are Legendary Tier or higher are also able to wield magic which they can use to attack a floating island.

"Can you update me on what is happening?" Adrian asked one of the Daemos Corps members.

"About a thousand thunderbirds are trying to penetrate the barrier. We are able to make sure that they do not enter. Also. The residents are also fighting at full force which means that we will be able to eat a lot after this battle." The Daemos Corps member stated.

"Thanks for the update but I must hasten this battle as two Semi-Mythical field bosses have appeared." Adrian stated as he could feel the power of those two monsters that are controlling the hordes.

"Greater Summon: Kanlaon!"

"Greater Summon: Sirius!"

"Greater Summon: Dodu!"

Adrian summoned three of his soulbounds as a force to battle the horde. Saena is also outside but she can move freely inside the territory grounds as she is the guardian bird of the Tree of Life and Death. Adrian would leave her there and charge towards the horde as that would be the most optimal way of defeating all of them.

"Kanlaon, help the others clear the skies."

"Sirius, massacre everything in your path."

"Dodu, Eat to your hearts content!" Adrian commanded as all of his soulbounds emitted their battle cries and charged towards the battlefield.

"Primordial Armament: Mirror!" Adrian added as he suddenly changed his form to his mirror demon form.

Kanlaon roared to emit the might of a dragon which scared some of the monsters, but they were all in a frenzy because of the power they have received. Seeing that the dragon roar did not deter or scare all of the monsters, Kanlaon no longer held back as his master told him to destroy every enemy in sight. Kanlaon always used to hold back or use pinpointed attacks so that he will not attack his allies but this time it is different.

Kanlaon flew to the skies and created ten magic circles for each of the element that he commanded. Each of the elemental spells that Kanlaon used is also enhanced by Dragon Tongue and Dragon Might. The power that each of the spells has been not something to laugh at which is why all the players were still not advised to attack and also the Daemos are told to retreat.

"Typhoon!"

"Flame Tornado!"

"Blizzard!"

"Sand Twister!"

"Darkness Ray!"

"Light Ray!"

Kanlaon used six different elementals spells and multiplied them by ten times. Ten powerful tornadoes swept through the area which wreaked havoc on the monsters below. Even the flying monsters are all struggling to fly away.

If the ten tornadoes do not kill them, ten flaming ones also swept across the area to burn everything in their wake. All the monsters that have soft furs or are made of plants are all burned to a crisp. All they could do was scream their last dying breaths.

After the ten flaming tornadoes came the blizzard that swept across the entire area. The monsters that were already damaged by extreme heat are then subjected to extreme cold. The sudden drop in temperature made it easy for the monsters to suddenly become frozen to death. Even the flying monsters that were able to escape the first two elemental attacks cannot run away as they became frozen and crash to the ground.

If one thought that the blizzard was the end, then they are wrong as a powerful sandstorm suddenly kicked in. The sandstorm itself was not the attack but the ten powerful Sand Twisters that are created. The Sand Twisters are all powerful sand cyclones that carry the sharp nature of sand. The monsters that even had the toughest shells started to get cut by them.

The ten Sand Twisters were not the end as ten huge dark and light magic circles appeared in the sky. Upon Kanlaon's command, the ten dark magic circles and ten light magic circles suddenly erupted with power and sprayed elemental rays unto the ground. Streaks of black and white could be seen coming down on the battlefield as powerful rays of darkness and light penetrated the monsters.

The entire battlefield became a place ravaged by the elements and all of the people in Avalon witnessed it all. This was a dragon releasing magic without a thought for the surroundings and this dragon is also under the one that they call the Demon. Kanlaon did not stop with all those magic spells as it wanted to perform to its utmost peak as per his master's orders.

Six powerful magic circles of different colors suddenly appeared on the ground where all the monsters are. Kanlaon suddenly flew to the skies and released his full size which was gigantic. Parts of Kanlaon's body could not be seen as the clouds themselves hid his magnificent splendor.

"Elemental Apocalypse!" Kanlaon stated as he released a sphere of pure energy from his mouth.

This sphere of pure energy is none other than the combined elements that is compressed to a deadly degree. As if their instincts are telling them to run away, the monsters that were able to survive the previous six elemental assault started running away. They were trying to escape as far as they can because they could feel that they will die if they get hit by the attack that Kanlaon released.

"Do you really think that I did not prepare for such scenario?" Adrian stated as he smiled.

Adrian used the mirrors that he created and applied the Quantum Cascade to its fullest effects. All the monsters that were running away were suddenly pulled towards the center of the Elemental Apocalypse. The monsters did not think that such a thing was happening as some of them were about to get out of the range of the skill, but they were suddenly transported to the very middle.

"Die and be good fertilizer." Adrian stated as a powerful explosion that created an immense shockwave swept towards Avalon.
