

O Summoner 1781

Chapter 1781 Forbidden Magic: Naturalis Regressio

Adrian opened the gate for the power of life to easily penetrate Dragon Rock. He created a portal where the divine realm of the gods of life could give life energy to Levin Cloud. The Gods and Goddesses of Life responded to the call of the Champion of the Twin Gods and scattered some pure life energy to Dragon Rock.

Levin Cloud grew bigger and bigger as the life energy is scattered as he absorbed all of it. All the pure life energy is being used to make the Kaleidoscope Magna Mystica that Levin Cloud multiplied be in full bloom. A beautiful rainbow-colored light could be seen enveloping Dragon Rock as a result.

"Forbidden Magic: Naturalis Regressio!" Levin Cloud stated as he used all the life energy that he has accumulated.

One by one, the Kaleidoscope Magna Mystica started turning into particles of light which granted all the beings in the area powerful life energy that their body literally surged with it. The weakened dragons started becoming full of life as the poison in their bodies started to get purified. Even the dragonsbane that was flowing in their blood started to rile up to try and be alive as it was became a living parasite, but it was no match for pure life energy.

The dragonsbane that was present in the bloods of the dragons even became a source of nourishment for the pure life energy. This made the dragons that were affected heavily by dragonsbane to mutate. Their bodies started to created antibodies that can destroy dragonsbane, but the dragons will not know this information until another elemental dragon king gets injected with dragonsbane.

All the Kaleidoscope Magna Mystica became particles of light as they were the offerings made by Levin Cloud in order to use the most powerful forbidden magic that he can use. All the dragons started to wake up and recover as all of them were cleansed of the dragonsbane.

It was not just the dragons that were having changes as well because anyone that was in Dragon Rock at the time got something. Adrian, Ark, Pana, and Apolaki were healed back to full, and all their skills were refreshed. This made Adrian shocked as even the stubborn domain skills were refreshed from their cooldowns which mean he can use them again.

The one that has the most changes would be Levin Cloud himself as his body became different. The lush part of Levin Cloud's true form started to create buds of smaller Kaleidoscope Magna Mystica. Some of his vine or root like appendages started to gleam with rainbow colored light as well as if the power of the Kaleidoscope Magna Mystica is flowing within him.

[You have used the Forbidden Magic: Naturalis Regressio.]

[All the beings that are in your area will revert back to their most optimal selves.]

[You have used a mythical tier herb, the Kaleidoscope Magna Mystica, in order to use the forbidden spell.]

[You will not get any backlash from using the forbidden spell.]

[The penalty for using the previous forbidden spell has also been negated.]

[All your stats will return to normal due to the immense life energy that you have absorbed.]

[The dragons are singing praises of you.]

[You have received the title, "Savior of the Dragon Race".]

[Your body has adapted some special effects due to consuming the Kaleidoscope Magna Mystica.]

[All your healing spells will always heal at least 5% of the target's maximum health.]

[Your healing factor is permanently increased by 10%.]

Adrian could see that Levin Cloud recovered all that he lost as his best friend was smiling. He also gained something from the exchange as the dragons now have some respect for him. He will not be rudely stared at by any other dragons due to his miniscule increase of familiarity towards the dragons.

All the dragons started to recover after five minutes as Levin Cloud finally completed the spell at that time. The gate that Adrian has opened has done its job as well and he made sure to bow to thank the gods and goddesses of life that helped them. Dragon Rock also changed as well as it is no longer just a rocky island with trees and grass.

Dragon Rock started to change back into what it looked like back then when it was first created by the ancient dragons. Dragon Rock is now turned into a place that is sectioned into six different parts depending on the element. The areas became different as if something from the island was awakened due to the immense life energy that it bathed in.

A flaming section where lava flows freely, and a small volcano is also situated which is perfect for fire dragons. A swamp area that is also lush with greenery that is comfortable for earth dragons. A beautiful lagoon where the aquatic dragons can freely swim as it is connected to the ocean.

A section filled with large cliffs and had strong winds where air dragons can test their mettle. A vast land of darkness that has dark crystals growing on it which absorbed light which is paradise for darkness dragons. A pristine area that has a small sun like crystal that is generating light in which the light dragons can absorb light.

Dragon Rock also evolved into a more hospitable place or rather has become a paradise for dragons. One could also see that it has grown bigger as well since it was also affected by the pure energy wave that swept the world. The forbidden spell that Levin Cloud used sped up the process of expanding Dragon Rock to its peak form.

"I managed to heal everyone!" Levin Cloud stated with a large smile on his face.

"You really did. I am glad that I believed in you." Peridot stated as she finally recovered from getting poisoned.

"Since the business has already been done, I am now going to collect my reward or rather our reward. We should choose something that will be suitable for our guild." Adrian stated as he marched towards the ancient dragons.

Chapter 1782 Give us the Reward, Dragons

Adrian did not march alone as he was followed by all his guild members as well. His guild members actually wanted to stop him from hurriedly getting their reward, but their guild master is very busy. Avalon is not safe from the monster hordes that is still plaguing the world.

"Adventurers, thank you for healing our kin." One of the nicer ancient dragons stated.

"You are welcome. Please give us the reward then." Adrian stated with a stoic tone.

The ancient dragon was a bit stupefied by Adrian's very forward nature, but she also knew that the demon might want to leave due to being uncomfortable with the dragons. All the dragons were back into full health and some with sicknesses that were not related to dragonsbane was also cured as well. Even if there is bad blood between the dragons and the demons, it was an Arch Demon that delivered a cure to them this time.

"As you know, the reward for helping us is to have the chance to become a dragonewt and a dragon if they are already a dragonewt. Do any of you wish to become one?" The ancient dragon stated as she was confused since there are already dragons in Adrian's group.

"Can the reward be changed? I think no one from our group wants to become a dragonkin. Does anyone want to become one?" Adrian asked just in case.

"Already a dragon." Peridot stated.

"I am the mother of dragons." Basil added.

"I am happy with being myself." Apolaki stated.

"Not the slightest." Ark stated.

"I like what I am." Pana added. Nôv(el)B\\jnn

"Not interested." Levin Cloud replied.

"I am also not interested." Adrian replied which made the ancient dragons blush a little.

The ancient dragons looked at the group that helped them and all of them were already special for their races. There was no one that can get the reward from them, but they cannot use the treasury until the other ancient dragons woke up. The three of them were supposed to imbue the individual that solves the problem for them, but they can no longer do that for the ones that healed them.

"We might not be able to use the gift that you are supposed to give but that does not mean that some of our acquaintances is unable to use it. You can just condense it into an item that can be activated by someone that we deem worthy." Adrian stated.

"You arbitrarily deciding to give our blessing to someone that is not presented to us is a bit pretentious." The male ancient dragon stated.

"You promised to give a reward and we are here to get that reward one way or another. Are the proud dragons going to break their promise? A reward can must be given one way or another. We are not leaving without it." Adrian stated as he knows that flattery will get them nowhere when debating against dragons.

"The demon is right. We must give the reward even if they cannot receive it now." The female ancient dragon stated as she told the three that they must give them something.

"I agree as well. A reward must be given. Let us create the Sanguine Draconica by utilizing our powers. That is the equivalent exchange which can activate the dragon blood for someone of the dragonkin." The ancient dragon stated.

"But..." The male ancient dragon was about to say something when the two other ancient dragons glared at him.

"We shall now create the Sanguine Draconica." The female ancient dragon stated as she did not want to hear anything from the other ancient dragon.

The Sanguine Draconica was rather easy to create as the three ancient dragons just needed to fuse a drop of their blood onto a dragon scale. The three ancient dragons pricked their finger while the female ancient dragon took one scale from the male ancient dragon. The male ancient dragon was about to protest but he could only swallow his words.

When the three drops of blood landed on the dragon scale, the scale reacted as a powerful energy surged within it. Adrian could sense the great draconic energy present in the scale as it was likely to burst out. Adrian even thought of using a scale from Kanlaon as it might be easier to handle.

If Adrian did use a scale from Kanlaon then the ancient dragons might have fainted right, then and there. They would see that their proud Genesis Dragon was basically giving out treasured scales at the beck and call of a demon. The effect of the magic that the three ancient dragons might also have a different effect as well, but no one will ever know since the Sanguine Draconica has already been created.

"Please take the reward that we have promised. This item will be able to have one transform into a dragonewt or evolve into a dragon should they use it as a dragonewt." The female ancient dragon stated as the Sanguine Draconica floated to Adrian's location.

==

Item Name: Sanguine Draconica

Item Tier: Mythical Tier

Item Type: Race Change Item / Consumable

Effect:

- Transform the user into a Dragonewt.
- If the user is already a Dragonewt, they will gain the quest to transform into a true dragon.

Description: A precious item that is said to be coveted by any of the dragonkin. It is something that even people that want to live longer want to possess as they will have the blood of dragons running in their blood. The production for this item is a deeply held secret by the dragons that they would rather die than spill the real details.

Restriction: Can no longer use another one once it has been used.

==

"Thank you. I was a bit forward with my speech earlier, but I always believed that the dragons are a race that always keeps its promise. Now that we have the reward out of the way, I would like to ask another business matter. What do we do about the angels?" Adrian asked which made the ancient dragons turn chilly.

Chapter 1783 The Angelic March n/o/vel/b//in dot c//om

As soon as Adrian brought out the topic of the angels, the dragons that heard it suddenly flared up with great anger. Adrian expected that the dragons are furious, but their fury basically made the weather darken. The sheer anger made the surrounding mana turn dark and heavy which is related to a dragon's nature.

Unlike human mages, dragons can easily manipulate the elements around them or even just the mana around them. They are beings that are tyrannical when it comes to mana control. They do not control mana by assimilating it, but they subjugate it. The change in the weather is a manifestation of the subconscious control of the dragon.

"You ask that young demon which means that your kind must have been hit as well." The male ancient dragon stated in an angry but still polite tone to Adrian as he was not the subject of his anger.

"You are correct that we are angry because the angels finally did something to warrant our full attention." Adrian stated with anger as well which his other guild members did not notice as their guild master was not furious before.

Adrian's guild members and even his best friend did not know that he knew why the world barrier was heavily weakened. Normally, the gods having the ability to interfere will not be normal as a Daemos is always dispatched in a certain area. If the Daemos could easily fix the hole, then the gods would not have the ability to intervene.

What Adrian did not say to the guild yet is the information that three Daemos members died. To make matters worse, Ascalor is now in a severely weakened state. He was able to interact with Adrian, but he learned that Ascalor is now in an injured state.

The Daemos are connected to the space around the main world as they are the ones that makes sure that it does not rupture. Ascalor is the one that heads this endeavor which is why he is the de facto head of the Elders of the Daemos. He has the most important job in the world, but he is also the one that will get affected the most if something happens to the world barrier.

Ascalor carries a significant weight of the balance of the world which is why he got affected the most when a vast part of the world barrier was shattered. The sudden large fracture also caused a surge of power imbalance into Ascalor's core. This should not have happened unless something unimaginable is used to destroy the world barrier.

"Are the Daemos going to war then?" The female ancient dragon asked as she bore witness to the power of destruction that the Daemos can do.

"We are now at war not only with the angels that are under Mikhail but also with the gods that created such a mess." Adrian stated with a smile so ferocious that it even made the ancient dragons blood run cold.

==

A few days before after the angels released the dragonsbane upon Dragon Rock, all of them marched their army to take care of all the settlements that they marked. Mikhail commanded the angels to march from north to south and subjugate the central continent where most of the worshippers are located. They all got ready and hopped onto their golden chariots, but the monster horde suddenly happened.

09:52

A few days before after the angels released the dragonsbane upon Dragon Rock, all of them marched their army to take care of all the settlements that they marked. Mikhail commanded the angels to march from north to south and subjugate the central continent where most of the worshippers are located. They all got ready and hopped onto their golden chariots, but the monster horde suddenly happened.

The subjugation of the kingdoms suddenly became something akin to salvation. The angels fought against the rampaging monster hordes on the kingdoms that they have marked. They destroyed all the monsters in their way which made them appear as the heroes that saved the helpless people from the evil monsters.

The people did not know that it was the angels that are the reason for the vast monster horde that happened. They were the ones that started the real apocalypse by destroying the world barrier. Some 'gods' even offered them salvation as well, but these were the gods of light that aided in the barrier destruction as well.

Not all the gods of light were under the rule of the Goddess of Light Luminaria, but a majority are. Those that are not under her are either sealed or vanished in order to not be targets for her. High Gods cannot descend unto the world, yet which is why the Goddess of Light Luminaria did not descend but her other subordinate gods did.

The gods did not expect that their drastic meddling will result in a worldwide monster horde, but some actually welcomed such a sight. They became saviors to the lost and weak beings that needed the help of a higher power. The gods reveled in the worship that they received as they grow more powerful with the amount of faith given to them.

In just a span of a few days, most of the northern central continent is under the rule of the Gods of Light. All the humans were told to pray towards the Gods of Light with special attention to the Goddess of Light Luminaria. The humans did not blink an eye and made sure that they are praying every time to the Goddess of Light Luminaria.

The sudden appearance of the Gods of Light and the angels were not helpful to the other races though. Elves, orcs, dragonkin, dwarves, and even the gnomes were persecuted from their lands. Some were slaughtered where they stand as the Goddess of Light Luminaria saw them as impure beings.

The purge of other races did not stop from just the earlier ones as even the angels that turned their back on Goddess Luminaria are hunted down as well. All of the other races were forced to escape south where they know that they will be safe. The other races that known of the angels started to escape kingdoms where the majority were humans as well in fear that they might get offered to the coming winged death bringers.

Some of the strong human kingdoms made sure to protect the other races and not surrender to the angels. These kingdoms had gods that opposed the angels descend from time to time in order to defend it. An example would be the kingdom where the gods of war are heavily praised. They actively made sure to kill all the angels that are under the Goddess of Light Luminaria in sight as the gods of war declared them as beings that disrupt the world.

The hierarchy of the world changed in the matter of days as the angels now rule 30% of the central continent. Ruling 30% might be small but the central continent is the biggest continent among the others. That percentage is already the number of beings that live in the northern continent.

The angels wanted to rule the northern continent as well, but the Valkyries and the Vanir gods were protecting it. The angels knew that they cannot fight the war in two fronts which is why they made sure that the northern continent would be handled by their collaborator. The angels used a powerful artifact in order to destroy the world barrier and it is something that was given to them by their collaborators.

The world barrier was destroyed by a replica of Gungnir which is the spear of the God Odin. Even if this was a replica, the power of the weapon plus the massive power that the gods of light imbued on it was enough to pierce a whole through reality. It was not just the Gods of Light that made the hole bigger as the Aesir gods participated as well.

There were also some other gods that helped them in the shadows but those were distorted gods. The angels did not stop their march downwards, but they also made a crucial mistake on what they did. The Daemos did not participate in the defense against the angels because they did not necessarily break the flow of the world.

What they did wrong is killing the Daemos that was supposed to fix the parts of the world barrier that did not close correctly. The Daemos members that were about to fix the numerous fractures were killed by the angels and the gods. The Daemos would not have declared war against them if they were left alone to do their jobs.

Adrian was actually the one that was called to fix those fractures, but he told the elders that he needed to help his friends first. Adrian might not want to admit it, but he is feeling guilty that he was the cause of the death of his fellow demons. If he was the one that accepted the order, then he could have fixed the fractures even if he gets killed by others. Adrian blames himself because he should have been the one that went. Even if he gets killed, he can always resurrect as he is a player unlike the others that are NPCs. Fortunately, the gods of death hurriedly retrieved the souls of the fallen demons so that the descended gods cannot torture them.

Chapter 1784 The Silent Ones Become Loud

"All of you return to Avalon at once. We will now go full scale war with the angels and the gods. I will leave Levin Cloud in charge while I deal with some matters regarding the underworld." Adrian stated as he created a portal back to Avalon.

All the guild members could see that their guild master was acting a bit weird. Levin Cloud could feel it as he has known Adrian for a long time. Levin Cloud knew that his friend is now out for blood and that will be the only thing that will pacify him.

"Let us go everyone. We will recoup in Avalon and maybe ally ourselves with some of the guilds that lost their territories due to the angels. There are a lot of angry players right now as they were driven out of their territory." Levin Cloud stated as he knew that he needed to be proactive now.

Levin Cloud knew that Adrian sacrificed much of his time in order to help them out. If he was not such a bullheaded individual, then his best friend would not be acting like this. He was now left with full control of the guild by Adrian which means that the latter will not participate in a guild battle. "I will handle the rest. Go and do what you need to do." Levin Cloud stated as he was the last one that entered the portal and vanished.

"Will we have the support of the dragons?" Adrian asked just to make sure.

"We will not support you, but we will also not be your enemies as well. We will bring the wrath of the dragons to the angels and the gods that made this happen. Not only was our young targeted but also the Mother of Dragons as well! We will not rest until all the angels that are under Mikhail be wiped out from the face of existence!" The male ancient dragons stated as the other dragons roared to show that they agree.

All the elemental dragon kings flew to the skies and marched towards the angels as they were now angered to the brim. The central continent that rarely see flying dragons could see one just by looking up in the sky. The dragons have started to purge the angels with all their might as they have become overcome with great anger.

Adrian did not care if the dragons helped them as long as they do not do anything against them. Adrian then closed the portal to Avalon as he used another portal to enter Limbo. He entered the portal to Limbo with a rather complicated expression.

==

"Equinox! You have arrived. We were waiting for you." One of the fallen Daemos stated which made Adrian swallow his words as it was difficult to reply.

"I told you that you should have smiled so that he would not be this sad. Look! He is becoming pale despite his real form covered in dark mist." Another fallen Daemos stated in order to lighten the mood.

"I am sorry." Adrian stated as he managed to finally utter words.

The three fallen Daemos all smiled at Adrian as they do not blame him for what happened to them. They died doing their duty and they managed to fix the fractures that were assigned to them. They made the world stable and died doing so.

"Do not blame yourself. We have lived quite a long life to the point that we were already bored of living." One of the fallen Daemos stated.

"Yeah! If you did not come or was born, then we would have been just mindless machines maintaining the world's balance. It is such a shame that I was not able to eat all those delicious foods that flooded Avalon though." One of the fallen Daemos stated as she wanted to taste the food that she was unable to try.

"I was finally able to get a hobby after two thousand years, but I am glad that I did. It made life incredibly worth living so do not be too hard on yourself. You are the reason that we finally got to 'live'!" The last of the fallen Daemos stated as his soul started to turn into particles of light.

"It seems that our time in Limbo is up. Our souls will return to the Eye of Chaos wherever it might be. I hope that when you find it, I get reincarnated into a more peaceful era where I can enjoy my hobbies." One of the fallen Daemos stated with a smile. n/ô/vel/b//jn dot c//om

"I want that as well, but I am sure that we will not keep our previous ego upon reincarnation. Which is why..." One of the fallen Daemos stated.

"This is not goodbye, Equinox. This is just a 'See you again' scenario. Make sure to kill those angels for us and get revenge!" All three fallen Daemos stated with a big smile as they finally disappeared.

Adrian could be seen bowing to the three that departed but he was not the only one. There were numerous Anubises behind him that were bowing towards the three that fell as well but they remained silent during the earlier conversation. Adrian could be seen shaking a bit as he was really struck by the loss of the three since he knows all of the Daemos due to them being low in number.

Adrian is quite close to all the Daemos as they treated him like a younger sibling since he was actually the youngest among all of them. There were Daemos that look like children but even they were at least a hundred years old compared to Adrian. The Anubises did not stop bowing until Adrian raised his head up and looked at them.

Adrian did not immediately start talking as he was taking some time to compose himself. He knew those three Daemos members as they were part of the regiment that he trained with. He practically endured hardship with them which is why their death was a big scar on Adrian's heart even though they are NPCs.

"Thank you for your service to the great warriors that departed." Adrian stated as he thanked the Anubises.

"It is our duty. A message has been passed down to the Arbiter of the Damned from the Gods of Death." One of the Anubis stated.

"What is it?" Adrian asked.

"The Gods of Death have given you permission to kill or rather erase the existences of the gods that have brought a large wave of death upon the world." The Anubis stated.

"Tell them... I shall start the purge even if I die trying." Adrian stated as his cold voice emanated throughout Limbo which made it colder than it usually is.

Chapter 1785 The Gods of Death are Angry

The Gods of Death rarely agree on something as they have vastly different opinions. They would basically go against each other just for the fun of it. They never agree on anything but one thing and that is too much work. n/ô/vel/b//in dot c//om

The sudden influx of souls in the underworld made all the Gods of Death crazy to the point that they were outraged by what their fellow gods did. The sudden outburst of monster hordes not only created numerous deaths for monster but also for people. The balance of life and death was basically unable to be predicted.

The death tolls are still rising by the minute which is why they have given permission for Adrian to act. The Champion of the Twin Gods is not just a judge for the dead, but they can also be a judge for the living. If life and death hang in a peculiar imbalance, the Champion of the Twin Gods must execute full authority.

For the first time in a thousand years, the Gods of Death made the unanimous call to punish the gods that defiled the balance of life and death. They have given their full trust towards Adrian to carry on with their punishments. He was told to make an example to all the gods that participated in the heresy of making the world chaotic.

[You have been given the right to freely use your death abilities in the mortal realm.]

[The Gods of Death will handle providence for you while judging the other gods that dared to defile the sanctity of death.]

[You can now freely transform in your Netheros True Form without the Nether Domain while in the presence of a god that will be punished. You will not use any cooldowns for this transformation.]

Adrian smiled as he never thought that he would be able to scare gods and even kill them to relieve his anger. He might not be permanently killing them, but the gods of death will do the harsher punishment. Adrian would basically destroy their physical body that they manifested in the real world while the gods of death will deal with what will happen after.

The Gods of Death would have manifested into the mortal realm if the influx of souls were not incredibly vast. They could not abandon their duties unlike some of the gods that descended unto the mortal realm. If the Gods of Death ever stopped their duties, then the world itself might get destroyed because death will not come to all those that are about to die.

"Here is the list of gods that are the targets." The Anubis stated as he passed a scroll to Adrian.

"There are only five?" Adrian asked as he thinks that it is too small as he saw the hands of numerous gods.

"These are the five major ones that cannot be done by the other contractors of the Death Gods. All of them are Greater Gods that can utilize all their divine power in the area that they have descended upon. The Lower Gods will be handled by the other contractors as they will be scared to face Champion Equinox and might hide back to the divine realm." The Anubis stated.

"If the Gods of Death are furious then I bet the Gods of Life are also incredibly angry as well." Adrian muttered as he did not know the state of the Gods of Life since they were not contacting him.

"We wish you the best of luck for your hunt, Champion Equinox." The Anubis stated as Adrian already opened a gate back to the mortal realm.

"What would happen if these gods were protected by angels? Can I kill them using the authority of death that was granted to me?" Adrian asked before he left.

"You may not be able to use the sacred death arts on them, but you can kill them. Feel free to let lose some steam as we know that you are very stressed right now. In fact, we would also appreciate it if we got summoned to fight as well. Our weapons are becoming very itchy nowadays." The Anubis stated as he really wanted to fight.

"Since I have the authority, I might summon you guys so you can also blow off some steam. I can only do that when I am in my true form though as it would be easier to connect the gate in that form. Pray that the gods that I will be hunting are cowards that need angels or other beings to protect them." Adrian stated as he entered the gate and vanished from Limbo.

==

The expansion march of the angels did not stop as they made sure to look like heroes upon the eyes of the humans. They could be seen flaunting their skills now that they can easily stabilize themselves in the mortal realm. With the Silver City fully integrated in the mortal realm, the angels can now utilize all of their strength when fighting.

Still, there are some kingdoms that knew of the angel's tricks and did not welcome them. The angels that were turned away did not protect these kingdoms from the monster hordes but even lured some of them in their direction. To make matters worse, some monsters in the horde were even strengthened by the Greater God that accompanied the angels in their conquest.

"Foolish humans, if you do not obey us then you are not worthy for the love of the Goddess of Light Luminaria. I, the God Inti, shall be the one to cleanse you of your frivolous thinking that impure beings are needed to be protected." The God Inti stated as he empowered a large buffalo monster with his blessing.

The large buffalo monster suddenly swelled in size and its horns even glowed in a powerful light. The large buffalo monster was forcefully transformed into a Light Pursuer Buffalo which is a Legendary tier monster. The large gates of the kingdom were reinforced by the mages in order to stop its destruction from the ramming monster.

Chapter 1786 The God Inti

The God Inti is a god of the sun that was a very famous god back then, but he is now under the gods of light commanded by the Goddess of Light Luminaria. He has a humanoid body that is tan and built with the only different is that his head is a golden disk. The golden disk head is spewing out rays of light and fire akin to a sun which represents that he is indeed a god of the sun.

The God Inti was a powerful god back then, but he was reduced to becoming a Greater God when his followers were massacred. The ones that massacred his followers was none other than the angels themselves under the command of the Goddess of Light Luminaria. He was furious about this event that he challenged the Goddess of Light Luminaria to a battle which he ultimately lost.

He who was powerful when he had a million followers back then was reduced to a sorry state when he was overpowered by the Goddess of Light Luminaria. The Goddess of Light Luminaria did not kill the God Inti from existence as she needed gods to siphon power from. She has limited divine energy vessels since she was not born a goddess which is why she made sure to bind the other gods of light under a pact.

The Goddess of Light Luminaria acted as the master of all the gods of light that she has defeated. They acted like a lower god under her that she can use when the time comes. This is also the reason why the other High Gods are not calling out her actions as they cannot offend each other.

Battle between the High Gods is not something that the current world can do as it will also have repercussions. The divine realms will shake and might be destroyed which will lead to all the gods be accessible by the dark gods or the distorted gods. There were gods that were killed by the Goddess of Light Luminaria to set an example, but she made most of the ones she defeated as her underling.

The God Inti is one of those that became the Goddess of Light Luminaria's underling. He had to swallow his pride and bow down to the Goddess of Light Luminaria or else he might have been sealed. He still bears a grudge to what happened to his followers back then, but he has no choice but to go with the wishes of the Goddess of Light Luminaria.

"Let us conquer this kingdom and be done with it! I am losing so much energy when I am not situated near a temple." The God Inti stated as he enhanced more monsters to destroy the kingdom that is in front of him.

"They chose to not submit which is why the Goddess of Light Luminaria has decided destruction upon them. We can always rebuild a kingdom as long as we do not slaughter every human there. Of course, we will only save the humans, but the others will taste our holy steel." The angel stated to which the God Inti sneered.

The God Inti did not like the angels one bit as they are arrogant and prideful. They were also the ones that killed all of his followers back then because they were different to the angels. The God Inti did not like working with the angels because of what they have done but it was the Goddess of Light Luminaria orders.

"I might as well enjoy this body and create demigod babies with mortal women after this. That brazen woman will not be able to stop that." The God Inti stated as he thought that this kingdom will be easily ran over.

Just as the God Inti thought that having some of the empowered monsters were enough, a powerful pillar of light suddenly appeared from the skies. The God Inti felt another god has descended unto the battlefield and it was the god that is being revered by the kingdom that they are attacking. The god that descended was not as powerful as him, but the God Inti could tell that he was a god of war.

Just like what the God Inti observed, a god of war did descend unto the battlefield, and it was the God Neto. He was a lesser god of war that is under the God Ares as one of his confidants. The gods of war are spread thin due to protecting a lot of kingdoms which is why only a few gods can descend to help them against the angels.

Descending is also not as easy as one might think as there should at least be a temple dedicated to them for them to appear. Faith must also be in abundance for the gods to manifest as well. The Greater Gods of War descended unto kingdoms that were incredibly large to protect them from monster hordes. This left the smaller kingdoms be at the hands of the lesser gods of war.

"God Inti, a god of war has descended. What do we do? We cannot easily defeat him and the monsters that you have created will only pose a minor challenge to him." One of the angels reported.

"Continue with luring the monsters to this kingdom. I shall deal with the god that descended myself." The God Inti stated.

The God Inti is confident that he will be the one victorious against the God Neto even if he does not have a nearby temple. The temples of Light in the kingdom that they are attacking were all destroyed by the soldiers when the angels threatened them. This is also the reason why he is losing more energy compared to before.

"I am still a greater god. A lesser god will have no chance against me even if he has a temple by his side to feed him power." The God Inti stated as he suddenly vanished from his location.

==

The God Neto descended upon a kingdom where he is worshipped as the monster horde there was increasing even more. The king and the nobility were shocked to suddenly have a god by their side. The people even cheered when they felt the godly presence of the God Neto.

"I shall clear all the monsters in your kingdom, my followers. Under the banner of the Gods of War! I will make sure that all of you are safe! Soldiers of this kingdom! Come with me and defend your loved ones!" The God Neto shouted as he empowered all the soldiers and combatants in the kingdom.

As soon as the God Neto appeared, he started slaughtering the monsters that kept pouring unto the kingdom. The soldiers and combatants are even joining him in his bloodbath as the monsters fell down one after the other. They were wary of the angels in the distance, but they were not coming closer due to the presence of the God Neto.

"Lesser God! Stop protecting these heretics! They shall be punished under the command of the Goddess of Light Luminaria." The God Inti suddenly declared as the people of the kingdom suddenly saw another god.

The people of that kingdom were in shock that they were declared as heretics when it was the angels that wanted them as slaves. They have heard of what happened to the other races except for humans and they will not have that here. This kingdom has been one of the oldest and most just when it comes to ruling as there are many demi humans living here.

Even the queen of this kingdom has gnome blood running in her veins while the king is a half orc. The citizens also loved this kingdom because the nobility is not corrupt as they really do their best to serve the people. The citizens knew that things might change if the angels take over which is why they voluntarily destroyed the Church of Light and casted those in it away.

"You have no jurisdiction to place judgment of innocent people! You, Gods of Light, have grown more arrogant as we just let you be." The God Neto stated.

"If you do not wish to step away then I will have to kill you myself. Enjoy being put to slumber for hundreds of years!" The God Inti shouted as his weapon suddenly appeared on his hands.

Nôv(el)B\\jnn

The God Inti summoned a great sword that has jagged teeth on the side that resembled the rays of the sun. The God Neto also strengthened his weapon which is a sword and shield. The two gods did not even need to have a signal as they immediately started to exchange blows with each other.

Each time the two gods clashed; the force of their fight could be felt as it made the surroundings rumbled. The God Neto could feel the difference between them as he was getting pushed back further and further. The God Inti was incredibly joyous as the god before him was weak and he did not have to exert everything to win.

Chapter 1787 Battle Between Light God and War God

"This cannot be. If I fall here, then this kingdom will also fall due to those winged bastards!" The God Neto stated as he was getting pushed back further and further by the God Inti.

"Admit defeat and let the people of this kingdom surrender to us. If that happens then I shall promise to spare you and half the people living in this kingdom!" The God Inti stated as he pointed his weapon towards the God Neto.

"Half? And you call yourselves as the gods of compassion. It seems that all gods of light are missing the C, O, M, P, I, and N in the word compassion which is what perfectly describes all of you. I shall stop all of you here even if I have to be sealed for a thousand years!" The God Neto stated as he suddenly called forth enough power to double his current strength.

The God Neto started to get covered by a crimson armor that looked like metal plates with dragon scale design. He was covered from the neck to his feet with a cool looking armor that will definitely give one the impression that he is a god of war. His sword is also covered in crimson light as well which represented the bloodlust that every god of war possesses.

"You wish to perish then! I shall kill you and this kingdom with you as a funeral rite. Let this be an example to all those that defy the gods of light!" The God Inti stated as he is also suddenly covered in golden armor that has the motif of the sun. n/ô/vel/b//jn dot c//om

"War God's Strike!" The God Neto shouted as he became a crimson comet that surged towards the God Inti.

"Sun God Slash!" The God Inti shouted as he became a golden comet that clashed with the crimson comet that the God Neto became.

The most powerful attack of the gods clashed with one another, and it actually created a powerful shockwave that destroyed the magic barrier protecting the kingdom below. Fortunately, the people were safe as they have been evacuated but the rooves of a few buildings got crushed. The magus of the kingdom hurriedly put up another barrier as flying monsters might enter if it was not restored immediately.

The clash of the two gods also affected those that were observing as they were sent flying a few meters back. This was the first time that the players in Pandemonium a battle between the gods. They have seen a battle with a god but not a battle between gods that are almost equal in strength.

The people watching the fight gulped in anticipation to see who won as the clash of the two ended as soon as they collided with each other. When the smoke cleared up, one could see the clear victor in the clash between the two gods. The people of the kingdom suddenly had a gloomy expression when they witnessed it.

The giant sword that the God Inti wielded was piercing the body of the God Neto. The God Neto, on the other hand, is piercing the right shoulder of the God Inti. Both gods managed to hit each other but only one of them dealt a more devastating blow.

"Struggle all you want but the end is still the same. I commend you for hitting my shoulder but that is all you have done." The God Inti stated as he was about to sever the God Neto's body in half.

"Do you think that I will easily succumb?!" The God Neto stated as he let go of his sword and gripped the giant sword piercing him with all his strength so that the God Inti does not finish him off.

"Futile! You are nothing but helpless. Burn in the might of my sun flames!" The God Inti stated as he was about to engulf the God Neto in his sun flames.

"You have done nothing to help those people. Die knowing that you are helpless!" The God Inti stated as his golden disk head started to shine brightly.

The people of the kingdom started to weep as their patron god was about to get killed trying to protect them. The God Neto struggled with all he has but he could not stop the giant sword from burning him. He tried his best but the gap between a greater god and a lesser god cannot be easily surpassed.

Just as the God Neto was about to use his body to create a divine explosion to save the people, a scythe suddenly pierced the chest of the God Inti. The God Inti was shocked as his divine body was pierced so easily but the energy that permeated in his chest burned his insides. The God Neto was shocked as he saw a being akin to an evil demon god behind the God Inti clutching the head of his opponent.

"Universal Threat! Thank you for letting your guard down." A cold voice came from the being that looked like an evil demon god as he ran the blade upwards and sliced the head of the God Inti in half.

The angels that were cheering and laughing at their victory suddenly panicked as someone killed the god that was supposed to protect them. Some angels managed to recover from the shock and charged towards the evil looking demon god, but they were unsuccessful. The angels that were around could not move as if their bodies were bound by something.

The angels suddenly became overcome with fear as they heard the sounds of chains clanging which they cannot see. The longer that the angels were bound by an invisible force, the louder they could hear the chains clanging about as if it was a hallucination in their head. It was when they could clearly see the evil looking demonic god can they see that the things bounding them are indeed chains.

The angels looked at the source of the chains and saw a frightening monster that as made of mist and chains.

Chapter 1788 Made a War God Laugh

The angels prayed to their goddess for assistance, but their words were not heard because someone already interfered with the surroundings. The moment that the God Inti died is when all of the beings in the area have noticed that the surroundings have changed. A large hound made of mist was actually circling about in their kingdom and they only noticed it now.

"An illusion!" The God Neto stated as the giant sword piercing his stomach vanished upon the death of the God Inti.

The God Neto suddenly feared the individual that came to his rescue as he has never felt such sinister energy. The being in front of him was a being that can bring death even to gods which is why the God Neto was in high alert even if the other party killed the rivaling god. He was also caught up in the illusion that was already in place even before the fight between him and the God Inti started.

"Goddess! Sav..ee... u..ss!" The angels cried out, but it was all in vain because all of their spiritual bodies were crushed by the chains that enveloped their body.

The souls that were supposed to return to the Silver City was captured and put in soul lamps by the mist chain monster that killed them. The God Neto was extremely wary of the individual that popped out that he used his remaining grit to tightly hold his sword just in case a fight breaks out. He is also wary of the mist hound that appeared beside the kingdom as it was huge.

The God Neto prepared to go after the mist hound first should it rampage and attack the kingdom, but his worries were for nothing. As soon as the God Inti and the angels accompanying him have been all killed, the evil demon god looking individual vanished along with the mist chain monster and the mist hound. The God Neto breathe a sigh of relief as the terrifying being left him alive unlike his opponents.

The God Neto then remembered that there was still a monster horde that needs to be killed. He looked down and saw all monsters below have been killed. The God Neto inspected the monsters and saw that there were holes in the bodies of all the monsters as if something sharp sprung up from below them to impale all of them.

The God Neto then remembered the mist hound that was roaming the kingdom. The mist hound must not have been roaming the borders of the kingdom but killing all the monsters that were charging towards it. He then used the remaining faith that he has taken from the people of the kingdom to heal the wound on his body.

The God Neto then descended unto the people to check if someone was hurt or have been affected by the fight earlier. The image of a powerful entity made of dark mist still lingers in the eyes of the God Neto. The people prayed and revered him as he descended while the priests that served him at his temple asked him of what happened.

"Our War God Neto! We thank you for protecting us, but can I ask who was that deathly being that killed the opposing god?" The head priest asked as he was also wary of a being that can kill a god and have monster subordinates at its call.

"Deathly?! Huh... Ahahaha!" The God Neto muttered as the choice of words from his head priest suddenly connected the dots for him which made him laugh out loud.

The people and the priests that saw the God Neto could not help but be a bit strained when they saw their god laugh as if it was the funniest joke. They did not dare to raise their voices on what is funny because the being before them is a god after all. They just waited for the God Neto to stop laughing before asking him again.

"I am sorry if it is a bit rude to ask, War God Neto... but please tell us of your sudden jovial outburst." The head priest asked but he was shivering with fear as he might get killed on the spot for being impertinent.

"Your words describing that being just rung true because the gods and goddesses of light along with the angels have angered gods that they should not have angered. Do you know that there is a group of gods that even the Gods of War fear?" The God Neto stated.

"A group of gods that even the mighty and fearless Gods of War fear? Could you possibly elaborate, please?" The head priest asked.

"The group of gods that even we gods of war fear are none other than the Gods of Death. They are the most patient and loving but you must never bring them problems. They have sent the Arbiter of the Damned to gather the souls of the gods that created this mess." The God Neto stated as he once again laughed because he knows that the gods of light are going to get hunted and killed mercilessly.

The God Neto finally remembered the energy that he felt when the being killed the God Inti earlier. The being that he described as the evil demon god reeked of the stench of death. It was so potent that it even made the God Neto puke even though war gods also have the stench of death as they often killed enemies in battlefields.

"Do not worry about that being for now as it will not bring harm to all of you. In fact, that being might be the only saving grace that the world has now so that order can be restored. All of you focus on defending and rebuilding the kingdom as the monster horde might come again. I shall return to my divine realm to recuperate but I will aid you once more if a powerful being comes again." The God Neto stated as he suddenly vanished from his position to return to his divine realm.
n/ô/vel/b//jn dot c//om

Chapter 1789 The Feared Reaper of Gods

Adrian was able to track down the first god of light in his list and that was the God Inti. The God Inti is also one of the more powerful gods on the list which is why he needed to be careful since he is not that powerful like him. Adrian is currently supercharged by the gods of death by allowing his true form in the mortal realm, but he only has the strength a bit higher than a lesser god but lower than a greater god.

[The Gods of Death has silently interfered with the world to let you access your true form permanently for the time being.]

[Deliver all the souls of the Gods of Light that the Gods of Death have given.]

[For each God of Light that you kill, you will be rewarded with one level.]

One might think that Adrian would level up like crazy if he were to kill gods in his current form but that is not the case. This mission was basically having the Gods of Death go against the flow of the world by having a being of pure death manifest fully. The downside of this power up would be Adrian not getting any experience from killing gods.

If he were to get experience, then he might jump ten levels per Greater God and five levels per Lesser God. Adrian did not mind because what he wants is revenge and not experience points. He made sure to clear all the angels that accompany the gods of light in the battlefield to set fear and an example. n/ô/vel/b//in dot c//om

Adrian managed to find the God Inti because the players livestreaming all kinds of battle. He made use of the streaming channels to see if something anomalous will occur. He found the most anomalous one and that is monsters gaining the powerful sun attribute.

Adrian watched a bit until he saw that two gods are suddenly talking to each other. He made his decision and teleported to the coordinates of the livestream. He was able to see the God Neto easily killing the monsters until the God Inti intervened.

One might think that Adrian would be sensed by the gods, but he was hiding in a pocket dimension. He made sure to not be discovered as he needs the God Inti to be weakened. He did not even think to work with the God Neto to kill the God Inti as that would just give away what he was and will do.

Adrian observed as the two gods clashed while he prepared everything that he needs to do. Adrian summoned Sirius and let him activate Samael's Domain slowly until all the area is affected. He also made the illusion that everything is the same. He then summoned Charon and let him slowly make his chains slither towards the angels that were watching the scene of the two gods fighting.

The two gods did not notice because they were more focused on their battle. The God Inti might not want to admit but the God Neto is putting up a good fight. If the God Inti is not careful then he might be the one to lose as Gods of War are unpredictable when it comes to the battlefield and he might be the one to lose instead. All of this worked in Adrian's favor as he managed to do everything without getting detected.

Now that Adrian was finished with the preparations, he just needs the perfect time to execute his plan. Adrian waited patiently as the two gods finally made decisive blows. Adrian wanted the fight to be as close as possible and have the God Neto slightly win but it seems that is wishful thinking. The God Inti is more powerful than the God Neto, but the latter put up a good fight.

"This is the perfect chance as they are not moving." Adrian stated as he summoned his scythe and became truly undetectable even by the gods.

The God Inti was drunk on his supposed win as all he needs to do is burn the God Neto in his sun flames. Just as the God Inti was about to produce the sun flames, Adrian struck with perfect precision and cunning. The God Inti was struck in his chest and was incapacitated with nether energy. Before the God Inti could have a chance to recover slightly, Adrian sliced upwards which destroyed the divine body of his target. The God Inti died, and his divine soul was about to return to his divine realm to recuperate but Adrian grabbed it with all his might. With the powerful enhancement of Nether Energy, Adrian grasped the divine soul of the God Inti as he needed to deliver it to the underworld.

Adrian did not want to leave any evidence of his involvement which is why Sirius is important. Samael's Domain has a special ability when empowered by nether energy and that is to disconnect the mortal realm from communications with the gods. The angels that pleaded for help to their goddess were not heard as they were crushed to death by the nether chains.

The souls of the angels were all captured as well since they should never be able to revive in the Silver City. If the angels revived, then they would be informed that someone was attacking all of them. Charon captured all of the souls of the angels and kept them in soul lamps which is his exclusive ability in his nether form.

The fear of death came to all the gods of light that are involved as the Arbiter of the Damned hunted everyone cleanly. It was only until Adrian has killed five gods of light that the angels and the other gods become wary. The angels and gods of light no longer moved recklessly as they also moved in pairs which made Adrian move much slower. Still, Adrian has achieved his goal and that is to plant the fear of death upon the haughty gods that have been left unchecked.

Chapter 1790 The Wary Gods of Light

News about gods of light dying to an unknown evil demonic god started to spread as there were some players mixed with the angels that Adrian killed. Adrian expected that he might at least clean up until eight gods of light before news broke but the players are indeed the greatest variable. Unlike NPC souls, the souls of players are given more freedom which is why Adrian cannot interfere with it unless he is in the afterlife.

The remaining gods of light started to pair up and bring more angels to accompany them which made it difficult for Adrian to hunt them. This is not all bad as the conquest of the angels slowed down by half as they needed to focus more resources in one area than spread out more. Adrian's activities also alerted the remaining six angelic leaders.

Adrian had to hide in pocket dimensions and wait for night to come because one of the six angelic leaders was using their gift to see in all areas touched by light. Adrian did not know how long that angel can do such a thing, but he needed to be discreet in order to be successful in assassinating all the gods of light. Using 'Universal Threat' was his perfect way of killing all the gods of light that he encountered before since even they cannot detect it.

Adrian would also look for chances instead of using it head on. He often waited for the gods to be distracted by either fighting another god or dealing with the demigods. Adrian managed to see the hidden demigods that protect each mysterious kingdom due to his excursion.

Some demigods were wary of him while some thanked him for his help, but he did not reply to them. One of the rules of his current form is that he should not interact with any innocent mortal as his very form is death incarnate. Even demigods might get transported directly to the underworld if they touch him which is why he left as soon as he killed the targets.

==

"This cannot go on! We are cowering like scared animals!" The God Magec stated as the god was covered with gold and silver armor which made their gender unknown as their voice is also not low or high.

"We had a deal to split the kingdoms once we rule the entire central continent. The Aesir have assisted you in this struggle so all of you must keep your end of the bargain." The God Baldr stated as he is also a god of light, but his affiliation is with the Aesir instead of the Goddess Luminaria.

"You are also like us! You are just lucky that your father has a tacit understanding with the Goddess Luminaria or else you will also be under her heel!" The Goddess Prende stated as the God Baldr was acting like he was above them when he has a backer on par with the Goddess of Light Luminaria.

"If you are that irritated then why not send your armies to this realm. With the Asgardian army, we will be able to conquer the entire central continent within the day." The God Magec stated.

"The God Odin is currently sleeping as he has used his power to create a copy of Gungnir to help your servants pierce the world barrier. Do you think that doing that will not have consequences? Can you honestly answer that the Goddess Luminaria will be fine if she creates a copy of her Dawn Scepter?" The God Baldr stated.

The gods of light under the Goddess Luminaria knew that even she will fall into a few months sleep to recover that energy. The Gods of Light expected that the Asgardian army would have been able to cross the dimension easily but there were some Daemos that interfered immediately. They were able to kill those Daemos, but the crack was fixed which made it unbearable for other than gods to cross the dimensional threshold.

In fact, one soldier from the Asgardian Army volunteered to cross the dimension but he was almost crushed by the force of the world barrier. Gods of Space are needed to cross the dimensional barrier safely or an assistance from a High God. The God Odin went to sleep due to the backlash of creating a copy of his divine spear while the God Heimdall that guards the Bifrost cannot use it due to sending that spear to the mortal realm.

The Bifrost was heavily damaged due to sending the copy of Gungnir to the Silver City. A few months or maybe a year would be needed to fix it. The only way to cross that dimensional barrier would be the aid of a Daemos or the sacrifice of a million souls. They cannot ask the Daemos for help because they killed some of them while the Gods of Death will be under their tails should they use the second option.

"What should we do then? The other gods of light are afraid to get killed as they did not return to their divine realms when killed! Even the Goddess of Light Luminaria is fuming but she is keeping it in as the expansion is proceeding." The Goddess Prende stated.

"What or who do you think is responsible for the deaths of the gods and the angels? Could it be the demigods or is it the Daemos?" The God Magec asked.

"The most likely would be the demigods as they are greedy beings that want to get our divine energy so that they can ascend to true divinity easier than gaining that divinity from scratch. The Daemos is still an option as there is the Champion of the Twin Gods in their camp." The Goddess Prende stated.

"It must be the demigods because the Champion of the Twin Gods is currently in Avalon fixing the dimensional rifts popping up due to the help of our other accomplices. My spies have told me that the Daemos are not dealing with us right now because they need the world to stabilize. We must rule at least half of the central continent before the Daemos moves! If we establish order before the Daemos could intervene then they will not be able to touch us. They make the world stable as is their job! It must be the demigods which is why kill any demigods that you encounter but make sure to still look out for other beings that want to kill the gods and the angels! Even Mikhail is fuming as the number of angels are declining." The God Baldr stated.