

O Summoner 1891

Chapter 1891 Mirror Mirror II

A powerful thunderclap resounded in the area which made some people close their ears. The Goddess of Light Luminaria was sent crashing down towards the ground. The crash of the Goddess of Light Luminaria was so harsh that it created a powerful earthquake around the area. Sparks of lightning could even be seen on the ground as the God of Rain Chaac's attack continued to flow despite it reaching the ground itself.

The smoke cleared out and the Goddess of Light Luminaria could be seen damaged but was able to protect herself. She was still clutching her injured lower back that had her weak point exposed but she used her golden rings to protect herself. She used five golden rings to cushion her fall which is why she did not get rammed directly on the ground while the other five were used to defend against the attack of the God of Rain Chaac.

She was not able to fully defend herself against the attack of the God of Rain Chaac which is why she still got damaged to a degree. Anger filled the Goddess of Light Luminaria but the pain she felt from the weak point was too unbearable. She needed to find a way to get rid of all the death and darkness energy that was pushed inside her body.

Ironically, what the Goddess of Light Luminaria needs is time to recover which she no longer has. Adrian utilized everything that he could do as five mirrors suddenly appeared around the Goddess of Light Luminaria from all directions. These five mirrors released powerful darkness elemental spells of different varieties.

The Goddess of Light Luminaria had no choice but to use her golden rings to protect herself from them once again, but she made sure to have two in case a surprise attack happens. The Goddess of Light Luminaria does not know how the mortals were able to pierce her divine armor crafted using her true divine body, but she remembers the presence of that mortal. The presence of that mortal was like that of a being that negotiated with Pristina back then when the Goddess of Light Luminaria encountered people from the eastern continent.

She was curious of that young looking man with a soul of a three-hundred-year-old which is why she tried looking at him. To her surprise, the young-looking man looked up into the skies as if he was staring towards her divine realm. She remembered that he was called a Martial Sage back then but the one that attacked her was not as powerful as the one that had a deal with Pristina.

"Just because that mortal was weaker does not mean that they cannot find a way to a weakness. Even cornered rabbits might be able to kill a tiger after all. But the most annoying being is the one that is sending them all to me!" The Goddess of Light Luminaria stated as she looked around the battlefield.

The Goddess of Light Luminaria searched while defending against the continuous attacks of both gods, demigods, dragons, and mortals. She finally found the being that irritated her the most as she knew what those mirrors are. She has seen many of her angels fall in battle against that being.

"That is not his real body. That demon brat is craftier than me which means that he is hiding in the dimension that he is operating at." The Goddess of Light Luminaria muttered as she could feel that the image of Adrian floating cross legged is not the real him but an anchor to the mortal realm.

The Adrian that could be seen floating is none other than a soul image while the real one is in a place where he could see everything. A place that would take even the Goddess of Light Luminaria some concentration in order to view. The goddess knew that she would need to relinquish some control over her law in order to find the place that Adrian was hiding in.

"I will reduce the divine energy transfer by half because I have no choice. It will empower me, but I would just need to absorb the holy relics of these greater gods as compensation. I will be the one to rise on top." The Goddess of Light Luminaria stated as she suddenly had a leap in energy quantity that the greater gods immediately felt.

[The Goddess of Light Luminaria has increased her overall stats by 10%.]

As soon as the Goddess of Light Luminaria became stronger, the greater gods intensified their attacks. The greater gods wanted to defeat the Goddess of Light Luminaria as fast as possible but getting near her was dangerous. The Goddess Freyja almost lost her head when she got too close as the light element around the Goddess of Light Luminaria became sharp like blades.

"I have been far too patient with all of you. I must assert my dominance even if I have to sacrifice some things!" The Goddess of Light Luminaria shouted as all her golden rings hummed.

A powerful pulse of light waves suddenly erupted from all the golden rings that defended against attacks, but the most important thing is that the pulse made the dimension shudder. As soon as the dimension shuddered, another dimension with a different frequency suddenly materialized around the people. A dimension that mirrored the real dimension as it looked like the area was suddenly inside of a prism.

A dimension that looks like a prism that covers the entire battlefield. The only being inside that dimension or rather above that dimension is a holy looking demon that was blindfolded. Adrian moved his head down to look at the Goddess of Light Luminaria as if trying to meet her line of sight. In reality, Adrian was looking down on the Goddess of Light Luminaria and smiled smugly at her.

"Found you, demon pest!" The Goddess of Light Luminaria shouted as her golden rings suddenly activated magic circles of the Legendary Tier magic magnitude.

Chapter 1892 Mirror Mirror III

"Light of Destruction!" The Goddess of Light Luminaria shouted as all ten magic circles activated at the same time.

The other gods immediately knew that they needed to defend as ten legendary tier spells in unison casted by the same being would spell disaster even for them. This is even truer if the one that casted it was a goddess or a god. Gods and goddesses have an exponential increase when they stack spells of the same category.

Adrian tried to contain the light magic that suddenly exploded by using the mirrors that he did not utilize yet. About eight hundred or so mirrors materialized to form a dome around the Goddess of Light Luminaria. Adrian wanted to believe that this would be enough to contain the light explosion but that was not the case.

All of his mirrors disintegrated as the spell that the Goddess of Light Luminaria used erases all presence of mana except for the light element. Adrian was able to decrease the impact of the skill, but he was not able to contain it in the end. The powerful light explosion spread with the Goddess of Light Luminaria in the center which prompted Adrian to rescue everyone that will be affected.

Without even waiting for permission, Adrian shifted all of the people that were about to get disintegrated into ashes. The Light of Destruction spell is powerful enough to turn a demigod into ash when cast by an angel. If it was cast by the Goddess of Light Luminaria, then even lesser gods might get their formed body destroyed.

When the light diminished, the entire area around the Goddess of Light Luminaria was barren that even the earth beneath her turned to ash. About six meters of ground vanished in the blink of an eye while Adrian had to chug another mana potion. Adrian was able to rescue everyone, but a splitting headache also came with it. He had to split all of his attention in a large area which would make a normal person faint from the brain power needed to do it.

"Yes! That is what should be." The Goddess of Light Luminaria stated as she saw how fearful the mortals have become of her.

The gods managed to protect themselves and their followers behind them, but they did not come out unscathed. Burns could be seen on the bodies of the gods while parts of their holy relics were damaged. The gods knew that their time was severely depleted once more but the Goddess of Light Luminaria was getting stronger despite losing more health.

"Why was I hesitating this whole time? I have always squashed the bugs beneath me. I shall do the same for all of you that dare to stand against me." The Goddess of Light Luminaria stated but she did notice that she was not this careful after she became a goddess.

The Goddess of Light Luminaria thought that her link with the Chosen Nephilim made her human emotions shine but forgot that idea immediately. She knew that a mere mortal should not be able to influence her as she was a High Goddess. She was the most powerful of all the gods of light and she has already cast aside her humanity when she became a goddess.

"I was just being extra cautious because I did not have all of my power that is all. Now that I have seen what I can do with my current full power, there is nothing to fear as even these greater gods will not be able to touch me." The Goddess of Light Luminaria thought to herself as she activated a more powerful version of the previous spell.

"Light of Annihilation!" The Goddess of Light Luminaria shouted as all her ten golden rings summoned magic circles once again.

This time, the gods that just defended themselves and their followers knew that normal defensive spells will no longer work. Even the Goddess of Magic Hecate knew they were now at a crossroads and gave all her allied gods her verdict. One of the gods or two would need to use all of their divine energy to stop the Goddess of Light Luminaria or else she will annihilate all of the beings here including them.

"The two of us shall do it." The God Shamash and the God Pabilsag answered as both of them knew that they are the ones that have lower combat power.

"Defense of the Just!" The God Shamash and the God Pabilsag stated as they suddenly appeared a few meters away from the Goddess of Light Luminaria.

"You cannot defend against this attack foolish greater gods!" The Goddess of Light Luminaria shouted as a more terrifying light explosion came from her.

[The God of Justice Shamash has used Defense of the Just.]

[All defenses will increase by 1000% for the duration of one minute.]

[The God of Justice Pabilsag has used Defense of the Just.]

[All defenses will increase by 1000% for the duration of one minute. This effect has stacked due to the two gods casting it simultaneously.]

The God Shamash and the God Pabilsag were the first ones to get disintegrated by the light as their summoned bodies perished from taking the brunt of the spell. Even the holy relics that they were summoned from became ash as well from the power of the explosion. The members of the Church of Justice fainted as they were somewhat connected to the holy relics, but they were protected.

The two gods sacrificed themselves to make sure that the other gods and even the mortals will be able to weather out this powerful spell. They believed that this would be enough, but the laugh of the Goddess of Light Luminaria could be heard. She was clutching one of the goddess fragments and used its stored power.

[The Goddess of Light Luminaria has used the power of a goddess fragment.]

[Her current spell will have 50% defense piercing.]

A look of horror flashed before the eyes of the gods as they immediately used protection spells to defend the mortals. A certain demon from above was smiling though as he could see a skill that was not accessible before.

Chapter 1893 Dimension Collapse

"Defend against it!" The Gods of War shouted as they could feel the battle swaying over to the side of the Goddess of Light Luminaria if the spell hit all of the followers or soldiers.

The goddess fragment lost its current appearance as it transformed back to what it really is. The Goddess of Light Luminaria immediately hid this shard in fear that the other gods might know what it really is. The previous spell was empowered to the point that it has defense penetration which she loved even more.

"All the ones that dare to defy me will die in my holy light!" The Goddess of Light Luminaria shouted as her laughter echoed with the increasing explosion of light.

The Gods of Water immediately created curtains of water to try and contain the light explosion. The water made contact with the light explosion, but it immediately turned to steam. The gods did notice that the spell became weaker in comparison. The other gods tried using their own powers as well to at least make the light explosion weaker.

If the gods do not weaken the light explosion spell, then the only ones left in the battlefield will be none other than them. The gods of justice already sacrificed their collected divine essence and holy relic to make sure that all of the mortals will live but the sudden enhancement of the Goddess of Light Luminaria's spell was not something they have foreseen. Even the Goddess of Magic Hecate suddenly saw three different crossroads that are newly presented.

The first path in the crossroad that she saw is an end where only gods are left to combat the Goddess of Light Luminaria. They will be able to stall for more time, but they will ultimately fail in stopping the Goddess of Light Luminaria's conquest. This is not the one road that they would want to walk as that would weaken the standing of the Gods of Pandemonium. She could feel an even more terrible future in that crossroad.

The second path in the crossroad is that more gods sacrifice their divine energies and holy relics. This path would lead to the survival of most mortals, but they would then be slaughtered by the Goddess of Light Luminaria. In the end, all the mortals in the battlefield will be killed by the Goddess of Light Luminaria as she has fully transformed into a Mad Goddess.

The third path in the crossroad is not something that even the Goddess of Magic Hecate can predict. She could barely see this possibility which is incredibly unfamiliar to a goddess that could see the immediate result of each crossroad. She is a goddess that must only guide people towards their crossroads, but she was now the one that needs to choose for the first time.

"The third path is uncertain, but I can see some of it. It entails me sacrificing my current holy relic and divine energy that I used to empower the demon flying up above our heads. To think that the Goddess of Crossroads will now need to choose a path where mortals will live." The Goddess of Magic Hecate thought as she also started to laugh from the twist of fate.

"It seems that my sisters, the Fates, are also messing with me at this point in time but they are the ones that know the future more than me. I shall entrust the future to an uncertain path, but I feel is the best one. Demon with the power of the source... I shall entrust the future to you." The Goddess of Magic Hecate muttered as she looked towards Adrian.

The Goddess of Magic Hecate put all of her holy relics together as she told her followers to give them all their mana. The mages that heard the will of their goddess did not even blink as they willingly gave up all their mana or at least what they can give without being a detriment to them. All the mages suddenly felt weak in the knees as numerous amounts of mana left their bodies and flowed towards the Goddess of Magic Hecate.

"I thank my followers for the trust. This goddess has chosen the best path forward for your survival. I know that all of you will also do the same given the choice that I have." The Goddess of Magic Hecate stated as all her holy relics finally fused.

The torch, the dagger, and the keys all fused together to create a large flaming dagger key weapon. The Goddess of Magic Hecate also showed her true form for a few seconds which was three veiled goddesses with different age ranges. All three goddesses look different from each other but simultaneously the same as they are the same goddess in essence.

The Goddess of Magic Hecate then directed all of the magic that she acquired and gave it towards Adrian. The demon was suddenly surprised that he got a powerful buff from the Goddess of Magic Hecate as he knows that they have yet to interact. Even Adrian knew that the Goddess of Magic Hecate is not that pleased with demons because Origin Magic is not something even, she could easily use.

[The Goddess of Magic Hecate has given you, her blessing.]

[You are now in a state of Magic Perfection.]

[You can now use any magic spell without any restriction or mana cost.]

[If the spell that you chose is something that exceeds your level or is a spell that cannot be used by the current you, it will be sealed for six months after using it after the state of Magic Perfection.]

[You will not receive any adverse effects even in casting spells that are above you.]

"Champion Equinox, I have given you the ultimate blessing that I only give to my Envoy of Champion. Use it well as we only have one chance. That one chance will define the future that all of the mortals in the world." The Goddess of Magic Hecate stated as she vanished, and her holy relics disintegrated.

Adrian did not know why the Goddess of Magic Hecate would suddenly entrust him with such a large responsibility, but he would not argue with a goddess that powerful. The Goddess of Magic Hecate is a real High Goddess, but she can only descend as a Greater God due to the world restriction. Also, Adrian did have a spell that he could not use before because it was something that even Ascalor could not easily use.

"It was as if she could read my mind." Adrian thought as he looked at the spell that was previously grayed out. This was the spell that he knew could turn the tables and save all of the players that trusted him to save them.

"Since she made sure to trust me then I should reciprocate such trust from the Goddess of Magic. Dimension Collapse!" Adrian shouted as all of his mirrors suddenly spun around him in such a fast speed.

The light explosion that was spreading towards the entire battlefield suddenly is put to a halt. It was not just the light explosion but all the beings in the battlefield were frozen in time. Even the gods that were more powerful than Adrian was frozen in time when he uttered the spell. It was a feat only doable because he was in a state of Magic Perfection.

The state of Magic Perfection is a powerful state of magic overload where the mage could cast any spell without casting, spell chanting, or damage to the user's body. The mage will also have all their most powerful spells have a one second cooldown and all restrictions erased. This means that anyone in this state could fire off Mythical tier magic every second.

Usually, the Envoy of Magic or the Champion of Magic would be able to enter this state for ten seconds. Adrian was only temporarily gifted this state which is why he can only use it for one spell but that is all he needed. One spell is all he needed and that was the ultimate spell accessible to the Rift Walker.

[Please choose a dimension that will collapse and the intended concentration point.]

Adrian is suddenly given a choice between the mortal dimension or the mirror dimension. If he chooses mortal realm, he could damage even the other mortals. Due to the obvious reasons, Adrian chose the mirror dimension which is just a layer of the mortal realm. Choosing to collapse this dimension will not hinder or harm any of the mortals in the battlefield.

As soon as Adrian finished choosing the dimension and concentration point, the entire battlefield shook. The mirror dimension where Adrian was hiding is now fully seen by all the souls in the battlefield. The said dimension suddenly started to fold into itself as it was collapsing and in the center of the collapse is none other than the Goddess of Light Luminaria.

"What is happening!?" The Goddess of Light Luminaria shouted as she could see her light explosion suddenly condensing towards her instead of spreading out.

Chapter 1894 Ark's Chance

The mirror dimension suddenly started to shrink at a fast rate that even light could be seen getting shrunk. The power that was infused in the spell is now getting condensed with the Goddess of Light Luminaria in the center. The sight of a fractured dimension shrinking was difficult to comprehend for mortals, but the gods looked at Adrian with slight fear.

The mirror dimension that Adrian collapsed is also affected by his current form. The sturdy mirror walls were refined with aether dust which means it will not be easily broken by the Goddess of Light Luminaria. The state of Magic Perfection was lifted from Adrian as he returned back to his own body silhouette placed on the other side.

The scene of multiple light explosions and the sound of glass explosions could be heard. The Goddess of Light Luminaria is being bombarded with powerful dimensional energy exploding at almost infinite rates. The screams of the Goddess of Light Luminaria could be heard as she was also afflicted by the effects of her own skill.

The Light of Annihilation combined with Dimension Collapse made it impossible for the Goddess of Light Luminaria to escape. She was entangled with the light she made which means she would need to endure every bit of damage she is now feeling. The power of the skill is not that high because Adrian's stats are not yet really enough to cast the skill, but it certainly tortured the Goddess of Light Luminaria.

A powerful energy of life that is also detrimental to gods when used against them. This was the strange power of aether energy which even the gods of life deemed strange. Life energy should only be used to heal and recover but aether energy was different despite being the purest form of life energy. Aether energy could be molded to be either a blessing or a detriment depending on the one using it.

The Goddess of Light Luminaria suddenly felt her mind almost go numb as the numerous explosions of aether, dimensional and light energy continued to hit her. She felt numerous ants biting her body every split second. Her proud battle armor started to have cracks which should be impossible for a demon of Adrian's level to do.

What the Goddess of Light Luminaria forgot is that Adrian was not the only one damaging her. Adrian was blessed by the Goddess of Magic Hecate which means her divine essence is also mixed in the magic spell. It is basically the combined spell of both Adrian and the Goddess of Magic Hecate that is dealing damage to the Goddess of Light Luminaria.

"No! I will kill all of you!" The Goddess of Light Luminaria shouted as her golden rings started to go ballistic and target all beings in the area randomly.

Ark suddenly felt the entire subconscious realm of the Goddess of Light Luminaria shake. The walls of light started to break as if she was no longer able to hold on to reality. Ark knew that this was his chance as he looked at the gigantic golden head above him.

The gigantic golden head was the true god face of the Goddess of Light Luminaria, but Ark did not know that. What Ark only knows is that the gigantic golden head has the powerful force of light hidden inside of it. He now only needs to break it which would make the entire mental realm of the Goddess of Light Luminaria even more unstable.

"Prince of Darkness!" Ark stated as his entire body suddenly changed.

The armor that Ark wore was mostly a mixture of black and white to represent the light and darkness aspects of his Nephilim self. When he used the skill, Ark's armor turned into pure black while his wings all turned into batlike wings. All of the light energy in his body and in the surroundings are being absorbed by him which would actively convert into darkness elemental mana.

"Darkness Devastation!" Ark shouted as all the darkness elemental energy in his body exploded.

The explosion of darkness elemental energy would then condense into an orb of pure darkness elemental mana. Ark's eyes also turned pure black as well which he used to stare at the source of all the light in the mental realm. With a powerful flap of his wings, Ark slammed the orb of pure darkness unto the golden head.

In the mortal realm, an ear-piercing scream is suddenly emitted by the Goddess of Light Luminaria. She started cursing in a language that only the angels knew while she was still getting bombarded with the Dimension Collapse spell. A dreadful aura suddenly fell upon the Goddess of Light Luminaria as if she lost her entire connection with the world as she felt like she was an outsider.

[The Goddess of Light Luminaria has started to fall heavily into the Madness State.]

[The connection between the Goddess of Light Luminaria and the Chosen Nephilim Ark has been severed.]

A golden gate suddenly appeared behind the Goddess of Light Luminaria and opened. On the other side of the golden gate was none other than Ark himself. The looked incredibly weak but could still fly downwards as chains of gold suddenly shot towards the Goddess of Light Luminaria.

"No! I am the chosen goddess! I am the one that should rule everything in this world!" The Goddess of Light Luminaria shouted as a heavy energy that even made the gods wince could be felt from her.

"Get ready to seal her permanently! A mad goddess is not something that the world should have!" The Goddess of Life Freyja stated as she knew that mad gods were not gods that this world needs right now.

"True! Even Juno is scarier when she goes mad." The God of War Virtus stated as he knew of a goddess that often goes into her madness mode when her spouse cheats on her.

"Just attack her so that we can push her back into the divine realm!" The other gods protested as all of them used spells to hit the Goddess of Light Luminaria. The players also followed the gods as well because they can now see a victory angle.

Chapter 1895 The Mad Goddess

The Goddess of Light Luminaria got hit by the combined spells of the mortals and the gods. She would have easier defended herself but her anchor to the mortal realm is gone. Ark has successfully returned back to the mortal realm and severed their connection with one another.

The golden chains of the divine realm where the Goddess of Light Luminaria resides started to bind her even more. More golden chains even came out to entangle her and drag her back to the divine realm. The Goddess of Light Luminaria did not care whether she was getting hit by numerous spells from gods or mortals. She was left with the instinct to cling to the mortal realm.

"Go back and repent for what you have done! The council of gods will decide on your punishment later!" The God of Rain Chaac shouted as he infused more lightning into his axe once again.

The entire sky lit up as lightning came down from the heavens. With a mighty swing from his axe, the God of Rain Chaac hit the Goddess of Light Luminaria. The goddess was not able to thoroughly defend herself and all the barriers she conjured up shattered in an instant. As if showing how desperate she was, the Goddess of Light Luminaria actually dug her hands on the ground itself.

"No! I will be the only goddess to rule the realm!" The Goddess of Light Luminaria shouted with a voice filled with persistence and desperation.

"No! You shall be the goddess known to have almost plunged the mortal realm in great danger." The Goddess Freyja stated as she held her sword up high and rainbow light condensed inside of it.

With a powerful slash, a sword wave came out of the Goddess of Life Freyja's sword. The sword wave accurately hit the clinging fingers of the Goddess of Light Luminaria. Upon getting hit, the Goddess of Light Luminaria flinched and her grip on the ground became sloppy.

The three gods of war would then appear in front of the Goddess of Light Luminaria to kick her in the body. The powerful kick of the three gods of war sent the Goddess of Light Luminaria flying backwards as more golden chains clutched her body. The Goddess of Light Luminaria tried using her ten golden rings as anchors to the mortal realm, but golden chains also clutched onto them and sent them straight inside the golden door.

"NO! I WILL GET MY REVENGE!" The Goddess of Light Luminaria muttered as she was dragged straight into the divine realm that she stays in.

The golden door then became shut but one could see that it started to rumble. The Goddess of Light Luminaria was not stopping her attempt to break open the dimension door. The screams of the Goddess of Light Luminaria could even be heard from the other side of the door while she was shattering the very dimensions itself.

"Gods and goddesses! Aid me in sealing her!" The Goddess of Life Freyja stated as all seven remaining gods and goddesses flew to the sky and started to chant spells.

All of the players wanted to cheer but they restrained themselves. The threat has not yet been a totally sealed as she was banging on that dimension door like a crazed lunatic. They did however make sure to rest immediately as some even directly laid on the ground.

Adrian reverted to his normal form and called upon all of the guild members to see how Ark was doing. Ark was incredibly exhausted when he got out of the divine realm that he was trapped in. Adrian could only think of what adverse effects it had on his body as beings without divinity cannot step inside a divine realm of another god without lasting complications.

Ark fell but Basil's dragons managed to catch him in time. All of Pantheon's guild members rushed to see if Ark is fine. Some are curious if something changed within him but all of them were genuinely worried for him. They had heard of their guild leader and other guild officials' story about divine realms and even that scared them.

"You lived. You certainly are a tenacious one." Adrian stated with a smile.

"Thanks, guild leader... but it was not easy." Ark stated weakly as his stamina was incredibly low.

"I should check and heal him just in case. We cannot have him pass out while he tells us how he managed to escape." Levin Cloud stated as the other healers of the guild assisted him.

"I was trapped in the divine realm..." Ark stated weakly as he continued his story on how he managed to find a way out.

Adrian listened carefully and was surprised that a being known as Samael or a consciousness of him was present in the divine realm of Heaven. Adrian would have wanted a conversation with the young Samael, but Ark told him that he has vanished. The remaining consciousness which formed into the young Samael has protected Ark to the utmost which made it fade into nothing.

"Is there anything else that we should be worried about on the other side of that divine realm?" Adrian asked.

"It is not the divine realm that you should be worried about, but it is the Goddess of Light Luminaria!" Ark stated as if that was a bad omen.

As soon as Ark told them that the Goddess of Light Luminaria was someone that they should be worried about, the banging on the golden door suddenly stopped. The others thought that the Goddess of Light Luminaria simply accepted her fate and stopped trying but if that was the case then the door to Heaven would have vanished. The light in the surroundings suddenly turned red in hue as a foreboding feeling could be felt by every being in the mortal realm.

"That Mad Goddess!" The Goddess of Life Freyja shouted as she suddenly opened her eyes as a powerful explosion suddenly blasted all of the gods away from the skies.

Chapter 1896 Luminaria Gone Mad

The sky turned red while all of the gods that were trying to seal the Goddess of Light Luminaria were all blown away. The players were all shocked to suddenly see all remaining gods and goddesses crash down to the ground. The golden gate that sealed the Goddess of Light Luminaria could be seen opened but not entirely.

The hand of the Goddess of Light Luminaria could be seen gripping the door and making sure that it does not close. The red sky was due to the light turning into that color as the Goddess of Light Luminaria has succumbed to madness. The Goddess of Light Luminaria has totally forsaken her role in maintaining the dimension as a goddess of light.

Gods can only maintain their respective elements in their divine realm. The divine realm of the gods is basically connected to the stability of their respective element. It is also the reason why there are more gods of the same element just in case another god gets incapacitated. The only elements that are not being handled by gods are the space and time element since those were tied to the Daemos race instead.

The Goddess of Light Luminaria has already made sure to throw the entire world into pure chaos. She lost her mind and let loose of her control towards the light element. She will no longer be able to handle the light element in the world, but she will no longer be restricted by the world in return. Due to this, the restriction of the world on her is starting to loosen once more.

She even used a powerful spell from her divine realm to attack all of the gods that were trying to seal her. She broke the taboo of not using the divine energy of the accumulated divine realm as the divine realms are also connected to the respective element. Since the other gods of light are not in the divine realm to control the light element, the Goddess of Light Luminaria was the only one able to utilize it.

There would have been a safety lock to ask other gods of light on how to use the energy of the divine realm, but the Goddess of Light Luminaria was the only one calling the shots due to the absence of the other gods. The other gods of light were either hiding or trying to go to another dimension when the Daemos started to hunt them down. Some saw the lunacy that the Goddess of Light Luminaria did and tried to return to the divine realm of Heaven, but they were restricted entry.

The Goddess of Light Luminaria has locked out the entire divine realm of Heaven. She will now be the only god or goddess of light that can control it. If there were still some remaining essences of Samael left in the divine realm then there may have been a chance to stop the Goddess of Light Luminaria but there is none. The Goddess of Light Luminaria has already started refining the divine realm as she is now starting to absorb it to forcefully descend unto the mortal realm.

"I shall be the goddess of all!" The shrill voice of the Goddess of Light Luminaria could be heard from the other side of the door as she was practically clawing at it.

The Goddess of Light Luminaria has lost all sense of self and even her elegant sounding voice is no longer there. The previous sound of her voice would allure you in and make you think that she is a benevolent goddess, but her voice now is the opposite. Not only was her tone filled with rage, but the sound of her voice can also make anyone have chills as they contain madness and desperation.

"What is happening?!" Adrian asked Ark but the latter suddenly coughed up blood and fainted.

Ark was about to say something important to them, but he suddenly collapsed. It seems that his connection was not yet totally severed as Peridot sensed a disgusting mana signature suddenly flow towards Ark. Levin Cloud and the other healers immediately did what they can to save Ark as he was losing health so fast. Ark started to shake uncontrollably as if he was having a chronic episode.

"Paradox, scan him for any foreign energies." Adrian commanded as Paradox flew towards Ark immediately.

Paradox suddenly turned into smaller astrolabes and used beams of light to scan Ark's body. The scan did not take long as the offender was obvious, and it was none other than the Goddess of Light Luminaria. The residual energy of the Goddess of Light Luminaria that Ark still has inside of him also transformed. The residual light energy also became tinted in red just like the new color of light that the Goddess of Light Luminaria emits.

"We need someone that is an expert in Magic Nullification." Adrian stated as Paradox told him that the residual energy of the Goddess of Light Luminaria is poisoning Ark.

Adrian immediately chatted in the group chat with the other guilds to see if they have someone like that. Aisha immediately responded and told them that they will send someone with that same skill set. Adrian immediately opened a portal from the Valor guild side and three people came over.

One of them was Ain and the other is Aisha. The last one that came over was someone familiar to any player in Pandemonium as she was a participant of Pandelympics. She was a member of the America team called Null. She was an expert in magic nullification because her forte is anti-magic.

"Please look after him." Adrian stated but the danger was not only there because the Goddess of Light Luminaria started to become stronger.

"I will do my best." Null answered as she set up a barrier that negated sound since she needed to focus.

A loud creak could suddenly be heard as the Goddess of Light Luminaria started to push the golden door with her raw strength. All of the gods that crashed to the ground managed get back up and directed spells towards the door itself. They wanted to push back the Goddess of Light Luminaria back into the divine realm since she has gone full on crazy.

"Make sure to push her back in! Sacrifice your holy relics if you have to!" The Goddess of War Bellona shouted as she could feel the great rage from behind the door.

The Goddess of War Bellona knew that the Goddess of Light Luminaria will no longer stop with just conquering the world. The Goddess of Light Luminaria will definitely wipe out all life in the central continent due to her madness. She would then divert all that hatred to the rest of the world if she does not calm down.

"She became mad on her own. I guess we are no longer needed." A female voice from faraway stated as she was observing the situation.

"We should leave now. There are many eyes, and our presence might alert them even more. Gods descending had garnered to many observant beings." A male voice stated as he vanished into dark smoke.

"I wanted to enjoy the view more, but this is just the first stage after all. I wanted to see if the rumors are true after all." The female voice stated as she used her large scissors to slash at an empty space to create a portal to a dimension that is not the mortal realm.

All the remaining gods started to push every ounce of divine energy that they can in order to make sure that the Goddess of Light Luminaria does not escape the divine realm. They can see it being effective since the golden door was getting pushed back. They were seeing a good chance that they will be able to lock out the Goddess of Light Luminaria in her own divine realm.

Just as the other gods were being confident, another hand emerged from the golden door as the Goddess of Light Luminaria is now using two of her arms to make sure it gets opened. The other players seeing the desperation from the gods also started to use long range spells and targeted on pushing the door closed. The help of the players might not be much, but their tenacity and faith filled the gods.

Gods and mortals were now aligning all of their wills in order to complete something. A powerful rush of faith could be felt by the descended gods as the world that is witnessing what is happening started to offer their prayers. The descended gods felt stronger as the faith of the people were aligned with one thing.

It would have been such a great thing if that was all what it takes to stop the Goddess of Light Luminaria, but she was far gone than they have imagined. Ten golden hands suddenly clutched onto the golden door as the Goddess of Light Luminaria has now used her true form itself to forcefully descend unto the mortal realm.

Chapter 1897 True Form of Luminaria I

The Goddess of Light Luminaria screamed in a high pitch voice as ten golden arms clutched the golden door and pried it open. The figure of the Goddess of Light Luminaria could be seen as she entered the mortal realm with her true form. The weaker soldiers fainted upon the sight of the true form of the Goddess of Light Luminaria.

[The Goddess of Light Luminaria has forcefully entered the mortal realm in her true form.]

[The Goddess of Light Luminaria has performed a taboo and refined the divine realm of Heaven to prevent the will of the world from interfering with her descent.]

[The world's barrier is starting to quiver due to the immense pressure that the Goddess of Light Luminaria used on it to forcefully descend unto the ground.]

[All beings with lower persona will have debuffs.]

[All beings that have the lowest persona will faint at the sight of the Goddess of Light Luminaria.]

[You received a 10% debuff on all your stats upon gazing on the true form of the Goddess of Light Luminaria.]

Adrian could not believe what he saw because he could really not believe it. He did not just see the Goddess of Light Luminaria forcefully descend to the world in her true form, but he could see the entire world starting to split apart. If the world was not in the stage of expanding, then the Goddess of Light Luminaria would have ripped the fabric of reality due to what she has just done.

The gods have already known that using divine realms as sacrifices could potentially given them a chance to descend but no god in their right mind would ever do that. Refining a divine realm is basically deleting an exit path if a god or goddess have their created forms destroyed. The divine souls of the gods would have no place to escape or hide while they undergo restoration.

The Goddess of Light Luminaria basically cut off any chance of her escaping because she knows that she would be able to win. This kind of thinking is not really from her intelligence but due to her madness taking over her conscious mind. What the Goddess of Light Luminaria knows is that no being in the mortal realm could ever defeat her.

The Goddess of Light Luminaria refined the entirety of Heaven which was the divine realm of all gods of light that was previously under her. An enormous amount of faith has already been collected in that divine realm due to it being a collective divine realm. This enabled the Goddess of Light Luminaria to basically destroy the rules by committing a taboo such as no longer caring of the light element she is handling.

Fortunately for the world, the Goddess of Light Luminaria does not have sole responsibility for this. There are other minor gods of light and Gods of the Sun that are not under her which is why the world is not pitch black. The Goddess of Light Luminaria, however, has a very large degree of control over light which is why the entire day sky turned red due to her last influence.

"Have you gone truly mad, Luminaria!" The Goddess of War Bellona asked the Goddess of Light Luminaria.

"Mad?! Me?! Mad?! I am just taking what is rightfully mine. Even if I have to destroy all those that are currently alive in it. I can always force the evolutions of animals to create another race of intelligent mortals." The Goddess of Light Luminaria stated as she laughed.

The Goddess of Light Luminaria has fully emerged from the golden door which showed her real form. The Goddess of Light Luminaria is basically a large female golden statue with angelic runes on her body. She had ten arms with eight of them coming out from her back. If one looked from faraway then one might mistake the eight arms as eight wings.

The most notable feature of the Goddess of Light Luminaria's true form are these ten golden rings behind her that is swirling like a halo. These ten rings were burning with golden flames which one might associate with the image of the halos of angels. This form of the Goddess of Light Luminaria is so powerful that just being near her would make you face the ground from the pressure that she was emitting.

[The Goddess of Light Luminaria is in her true form.]

[A god in their true form could be killed by beings that can go against the divine.]

[One that truly kills a god would acquire some of the divinity of the divine being that was killed.]

The next notifications sent the players in an uproar as they saw a way to create the Divinity stat before their eyes. A way for them to obtain a powerful stat that enables other people in dealing more damage to beings that are considered divine. The players learned of this because some demigods have incredibly loose lips and would gladly tell if you praise them enough.

The demigods that spread this information did not think much of other mortals knowing this because the Divinity stat is not something that could be easily done. One would have to at least deal 10% of a divine being's health bar in total damage without getting killed upon the death of said divine being. The divine being should also be stronger than you by at least 50 levels to certainly unlock it.

"With this form of mine! I shall be able to turn all of you to ashes! Mega Nova!" The Goddess of Light Luminaria stated but it was all telepathically since her real form does not have a mouth.

As soon as the Goddess of Light Luminaria said her spell, ten large meteors covered in golden flames suddenly appeared above the army. Each of the large meteors was enough to destroy a tenth of the battlefield. This means that all beings in the battlefield will die if all ten meteors land in their designated spots.

"Warriors! Defend like your life depends on it and it is the last time you will see your loved ones! You must return back home to your people!" The Goddess of War Bellona shouted as she suddenly changed her spear into a huge mallet and charged towards one of the golden flaming meteors.

"With the power of water, create an ocean upon my plea!" All of the gods of water chanted as the entire battlefield is suddenly knee deep in water.

A powerful burst of salty sea water came flying up as the three gods of water combined their abilities to target two golden flaming meteors. The other two gods of war charged up to destroy one flaming meteor using their strength. The God of Rain Chaac made the skies above pour rain to try and lessen the intensity of the heat, but he also charged towards one of the golden flaming meteors.

"Valkyries with me!" The Goddess of Life Freyja shouted as she charged towards two golden flaming meteors along with the Valkyries.

Seven golden flaming meteors have gods handling them while there are now three remaining for the army to take on. All of the mages that have recovered their mana simultaneously cast powerful water spells in unison to at least try and destroy a golden flaming meteor. The archers that also formed a group targeted another one with the aid of the elemental mages.

One of the golden flaming meteors are left which all of the guild leaders and acting guild leaders looked at Adrian. He immediately knew why they were looking at him because he is the only one that could send them directly in front of a golden flaming meteor. He sighed and told them that it is basically suicide but they said that Levin Cloud is present so they can be revived.

"Fine but make sure to time all of your skills to hit at the time of teleporting. Kanlaon, aid us." Adrian stated as he summoned Kanlaon to cover all of them with elemental shields to at least lessen the brunt damage of the heat from the flaming golden meteors.

Adrian started to chant immediately as a magic circle suddenly started to get etched to the ground. The magic circle is a teleportation magic circle that he improvised using the runes on the Bifrost he deciphered. He placed the other magic circle on top of one of the flaming golden meteors although it was not completely etched.

"It might not be perfect but that should be enough. Are all of you ready?" Adrian asked as all the guild leaders and acting guild leaders answered that they are ready.

As soon as Adrian and the others vanished, the other gods have already made collision with the meteors that they chose. All of the gods managed to destroy the meteors they targeted but it did create a shower of smaller rocks that descend to the ground. The ones that have a bit of a problem are the meteors handled by the players because it was harder than they anticipated.

Chapter 1898 True Form of Luminaria II

The players tried their best to destroy the flaming golden meteors, but their best was just created cracks on it. Even Adrian's group had the same result which made him teleport them back forcefully. The cracked flaming golden meteors needed more force which prompted the gods to redirect some of their powers to destroy them.

As soon as the three meteors were hit by the force of the gods, all of them shattered into thousands of pieces that were sent flying downwards. The players had to use their defensive spells or skills in order to make sure that they do not get hurt by the flying debris. The Goddess of Light Luminaria looked down on all of the beings that dared to go against her and laughed like a psycho.

"Did you really think that stopping my attack will be able to stop me?" The Goddess of Light Luminaria shouted as she used the spell Mega Nova once more but this time there were twenty flaming golden meteors.

"This is the end." The players thought as they could not protect themselves against that.

Even the combined might of the gods and the players present could only destroy ten, but the Goddess of Light Luminaria doubled it. If one looked closely then the gods that descended could be seen panting. The gods that descended for them are now in an incredibly difficult spot. Adrian looked around to see if any player was still in high spirits, but he could see that they have accepted the outcome.

Just as Adrian was about to give up as well, a voice could be heard whispering in his ear. The voice was familiar to him, but he did not think that would be possible because it was the voice of a devil god. A devil god that is familiar to Adrian as he was the one that summoned this devil god. A voice so tempting yet stern at the same time.

Adrian looked at Ark as the chosen Nephilim was still unconscious, but he needed him. Adrian went towards Ark while the rest of his guild members were dumbfounded because their guild master suddenly looked at him. Null was busy treating Ark as the remnants of the energy of the goddess was still in his body, but Adrian knew that he needed something.

Adrian turned his hand into a spiritual entity and suddenly plunged it inside of Ark's heart where the remaining energy of the goddess resides. Ark woke up screaming in pain as Adrian pulled out a malevolent light energy that felt sinister beyond belief. It was incredibly difficult to believe that such sinister energy actually came from a goddess of light that preached goodness.

"You are going to kill him!" Null stated as she was not finished treating Ark but she learned what Adrian did.

Null looked at the sphere of red light energy that Adrian was holding and is in shock. Adrian succeeded in taking all the remaining energy of the goddess that Null was having a difficult time dispelling. Ark suddenly fainted and coughed up blood, but Levin Cloud started healing him once again. The healing spells were now effective to Ark as there was no more malicious energy clinging onto his body.

Adrian held the malicious energy of the Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria. He could feel the energy trying to seep into his soul, but he needed to act quick. The fresher the mana, the more potent it is to be able to summon a god. Adrian started muttering words that could not be understood by any other god, but the Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria had a hint.

The Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria could recognize the speech because it was the language of the angels but only pronounced backwards. Even the sentence structure was the same and just the tones being slightly lower. The Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria felt a creeping feeling and immediately felt that Adrian was a danger.

The Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria created a hundred thousand spears of light and aimed it all towards Adrian, but it was too late. Adrian has already started the ritual and with such a great sacrifice at that. Adrian sacrificed the malevolent energy of the Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria and half of his current life and mana in order to summon the god that was whispering in his ear.

Adrian's body started to bleed from all of his orifices, but he did not flinch. The blood that dripped created a red magic circle that glowed in a dark light. The Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria knew that something was coming but she knew that the summoner would die. All of the spears of light that she fired hit Adrian's location without anything missing.

Adrian's summoning area was full of spears of light that one might say it is an incredibly crowded pincushion. Still, the players did not despair because Adrian was not dead as there was no notification that he died. Instead, the ground where he was started to burn in dark flames as a large magic circle appeared.

"With the sacrifice that I have given. I summon thee, Lord of the Flies, The Devil God Beelzebub." Adrian's voice muttered as an incredibly large and powerful energy of darkness exploded from the magic circle which blew all of the light spears away.

A gentleman that wore a black tuxedo with a monocle and a top hat bowed to every being there. He looked entirely human with his black hair and fair skin, but his eyes were pitch black. The top hat that he wore had holes in it that perfectly fit the red slender horns that came out of his head. A pitchfork tail could also be seen from behind him, but he had the aura of an aristocrat.

"Well now, that flashy light show should be dealt with." The Devil God Beelzebub stated as he suddenly manifested a walking stick of pure dark energy.

With a tap of his walking stick, a large magic circle appeared beneath the ground. True to his name, the Devil God Beelzebub created billions of flies that swarmed towards the flaming golden meteors. All of the flies crashed towards the flaming golden meteors and immediately turning to ashes but one could see that they were putting out the flames. A few seconds later, all the flaming golden meteors no longer had any flames visible because they were now covered with flies.

A few seconds later, the meteors no longer held any mana as the Devil God Beelzebub made them absorb all of it. He was able to absorb the ferocious light elemental mana that the Goddess of Light Luminaria uses. The Goddess of Light Luminaria suddenly screamed with indignation as her sanity and insanity started to mix together even more.

"You dare, traitorous creation!" The Goddess of Light Luminaria shouted as she suddenly covered herself with all of her arms to create a protection against something.

"Oh my, it seems that we might have angered her too much. Although, my summoner does not look like he can summon me for too long so we must do this quickly. Do you not agree my fellow gods?" The Devil God Beelzebub stated which made the other gods look at one another as they were incredibly doubtful of the claims of the devil god.

"Doubting now, are we? I hope you choose quickly as my summoner will pass out from intense exhaustion. It is taking all of his sanity just to even hold on as his soul is going through the territories of Hell." The Devil God Beelzebub stated as he pointed at Adrian with his walking stick.

Just as the other gods were hesitating in holding hands with a devil god, the ten flaming rings behind the Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria started to shine. The Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria created ten suns that are now rapidly increasing in size. The sheer power of the magic that she was using is something that truly holds the name for a High Goddess, but they also have a summoned being here that is not bounded by the world.

"Even though we know that devil gods are selfish and untrustworthy, we must believe in the Champion of the Twin Gods. He was able to summon a High God into the mortal realm after all." The Goddess of Life Freyja stated as she knows that the Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria is now hell bent in destroying all of them.

"Fine but it does not mean that we like it." The other gods stated as the Devil God Beelzebub smiled.

"I shall destroy her spell but that would leave all of you to attack her. She will be weakened once I break through that spell so do your best. I expect a wonderful performance especially from the gods of war." The Devil God Beelzebub stated as he smiled that irritated the gods of war.

"If you pull any trick then I will hunt you down myself." The Goddess of War Bellona stated.

"Oh my, devils do not lie after all." The Devil God Beelzebub stated.

Chapter 1899 Temptations of a Devil God

Adrian did not just think of the devil summoning magic circle as he noticed a small fly that suddenly settled on his shoulder. The moment he was about to swat the fly was the moment his head was suddenly filled with a magic formula in the language of the devils. Adrian knew this language due to him collecting a tome in the secret vault of the Devil God Beelzebub.

If one were to ask if Adrian did sneakily take it, then yes, he did but he also knew that the Devil God Beelzebub noticed him. If the Devil God Beelzebub did not say anything about it, then he just took that as an approval. What Adrian did not know is that this also meant that the Devil God Beelzebub will have a sneak peek in his life but only in the mortal realm where the eyes of gods can see.

Adrian does not care on what gods peek at him as he is already used to it. The gods cannot see anything in the death realms anyways which means he can have privacy in them. The Devil God Beelzebub has eyes everywhere because he is the Sin associated with Gluttony. He wants everything that he can get no matter what it affects even if he himself is at a detriment.

Some say that gluttony is associated with just food but that is wrong because any excessive indulgence is part of it. One of the Devil God Beelzebub's indulgences is magic which is why he is the best spellcaster in the Seven Devil Gods. Which is why Adrian did not even dare look at the cost of summoning the devil god.

As soon as he got the spell and the necessary sacrifice which is the energy of the Goddess of Light Luminaria, Adrian immediately used the summoning spell without worry. The summoning spell that Adrian used is just like what the Goddess of Light Luminaria used on Ark, but the Devil God Beelzebub made some modifications.

Instead of the all the body being sent in place of the devil god, Adrian's soul is the only thing that was sent to the deepest parts of Hell. In the deepest parts of Hell, Adrian's soul could be seen transported to a round table where seven chairs are present. About two of the sins were there which were Lucifer and Satan were there.

"So, I am really in Hell." Adrian stated as his soul was not normal in any sense which even made the devil gods said to have the most combat power wary.

Adrian's soul is not in a solid state of appearance as it does not take the Netheros or Aetheros form. Adrian's soul is an everchanging mass of nether and aether energy which is incredibly potent. If the Devil God Beelzebub knew of this then he would have let other devil gods be summoned instead of him.

The devil gods were keeping close watch against their creator as they were wary that she would endanger everything. Heaven has already been refined and is no more which meant that half the seal on the Dragon of Revelation was already undone. The other devil gods are absent because they were checking up on the seals so that the Dragon of Revelation does not rise again.

"Nice place you have here." Adrian commented which made Lucifer laugh out loud as the other two devil gods started to ask him some questions.

The Devil God Beelzebub did not want to rely on the other gods, but the body of his summoner was losing too much blood. It was necessary to keep the summoning afloat but defeating the Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria should be quick.

"I am the Lord of the Flies!" The Devil God Beelzebub shouted as he slammed his walking stick on the ground.

As soon as the Devil God Beelzebub slammed his stick, powerful vibrations suddenly exploded in the air. These powerful vibrations were the magic that the Devil God Beelzebub cast as he was an expert on sound-based magic or pulses. With the powerful vibrations, the Devil God Beelzebub was able to destroy all of the suns that the Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria created.

Upon seeing that the Devil God Beelzebub was able to stop the powerful spell, the remaining gods went into action. The Goddess of War Bellona changed her weapon into a spear as she threw it with such power towards the Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria. The spear hit true but there were actually powerful barriers that surrounded the mad goddess.

The other two gods of war used this chance as well and used piercing attacks. A sword made of water and a large pike hit the barriers and all of them were destroyed. The gods of water combined with the God of Rain Chac used their spells in unison.

The gods of water hit the mad goddess with sea water as the God of Rain Chac called upon all the lightning that the world could offer. A powerful lightning bolt pierced through the heavens and jolted the Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria from her defensive stance. The Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria cried out as the pain she felt was intense because she was in her true form.

"Strike of the Northern Lights!" The Goddess of Life Freyja shouted as she and her Valkyries combined their strikes.

A powerful and colorful rainbow-colored light beam came out of the attacks of the Goddess of Life Freyja and the other Valkyries. One would think that this would not be effective to a goddess of light, but the strike does not contain actual light but pure magic and destructive life energy with a tinge of death energy. A beautiful attack is actually incredibly deadly which is why one should never judge a book by its cover.

"You heretics shall fall one way or another! All of my Solar Wings shall have Light Fall!" The Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria screamed.

All ten of the solar wings (the ten golden flaming rings) of the Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria suddenly started gathering light elemental energy. As soon as the solar wings finished collecting the energy, a powerful beam of light suddenly rained down. A powerful and blistering light beam that could disintegrate anyone misfortunate enough to be hit is now coming down on all of the mortals.

"As expected of a goddess with no finesse. Darkness Rising!" The Devil God Beelzebub stated as he tapped his walking stick on the ground once again.

Ten large magic circles of darkness suddenly appeared right below the solar wings of the Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria. Before the beams of light could hit the mortals, a heavy and dense cloud of darkness rose up to defend them. All of the light were absorbed by the clouds of darkness until they lost light energy.

"Impossible! You were created by me! You should not be more powerful than your own creator! You should not be able to withstand my energy!" The Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria shouted which almost made all the people faint as her shouts are all telepathically heard and not by hearing.

"I would have said that the student always surpasses the teacher, but you did not teach us former angels anything. I am the Devil that usurped Gluttony itself! Once my lovely summoner used your own energy to summon me, you will never be able to win against me. I have already analyzed everything about your own energy signature even when you are driven mad." The Devil God Beelzebub announced as he laughed in a gentlemanly manner before saying excuse me.

"I shall become LIGHT ITSELF and burn all of you! GIGA NOVA!" The Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria shouted as all her solar wings converged towards her.

"Such excitement that I have not gotten in such a long time! I shall become Darkness Incarnate! FIET EREBUS!" The Devil God Beelzebub shouted as he suddenly gave a glimpse of his true form, which was a large, winged devil creature but no one could see it clearly.

The Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria became a large bright sun that seared anyone that stared directly at her. The Devil God Beelzebub became a mass of pure darkness that clashed with the sun. The two opposite powers of light and darkness created a powerful pressure that made mortals cling for their life as they would die if they got between that.

The other gods did not even intervene between a clash of two high gods as they moved in to protect the mortals by shielding them. The large blazing sun that was the Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria slowly became bigger as the large clump of darkness that was the Devil God Beelzebub was getting pushed. If the Devil God Beelzebub loses this exchange, then the mortals will surely die a very painful death of getting disintegrated by light.

"I give half my life as exchange to empower the Devil God Beelzebub!" Cersei shouted as she knows how to deal with devils.

Chapter 1900 Hidden in the Light

As soon as Cersei shouted what she said in exchange, a lot of other players did so as well. About a third of the players suddenly lost half their health in exchange for the empowerment of the Devil

God Beelzebub. The darkness that was getting pressured by the light suddenly surged in such incredible power that the cloud of darkness itself looked like it had eyes and was alive.

In the end, the darkness overpowered the light and a powerful darkness swept in the area. All the light that the Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria created was swallowed up. A scream of pain could be heard as the Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria back into her true form as she could no longer maintain the form of light. As soon as the Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria returned back, the gods that were protecting the players struck.

Powerful spells and attacks hit the true body of the Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria which made her scream in even more pain than ever before. She could feel the pain as her actual divine body was being hit by powerful divine attacks. This was her real body which meant that any harm to it would result in something permanent if she could not recover it.

"Such a pitiful goddess. I have done what I can as part of the deal. I must return or my summoner might die." The Devil God Beelzebub stated as he looked down upon the Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria and vanished. Adrian clutched the ground as he woke up from his trance and immediately went to call for a healer for himself.

The Devil God Beelzebub could also not maintain the borrowed form that he used as there was an enormous mana usage. He was actually thankful that there were beings that sacrificed their life force to him in order to strengthen himself. The devil gods do not rely on faith because they do bargains with the mortals.

The term deal with the devil originated because that is what they do. They have an even exchange with any being that will have a deal with them. In this case, the players sacrificed half of their current life force or health in order to gain the protection of the Devil God Beelzebub. A deal with a devil is a solid contract which means that heavy repercussions are imposed should one break the other end of the deal.

In fact, it is a secret that a devil will be your lifelong servant if they were the ones that are unable to keep their end of the bargain. It is also the reason why lesser devils rarely make deals that they cannot accomplish. The explosive strength of the Devil God Beelzebub is due to the deal and if he actually failed to protect the players at that moment then he would be at their mercy.

"I am the chosen one. I will be the one that rules all." The Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria stated to herself as she has not only become mad, but she started to become insane as well.

The tattered appearance of the Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria looked incredibly pitiful, but no one was feeling any mercy for her. She was the goddess that orchestrated numerous bloodsheds in her name of cleansing. She also made sure to use demi humans like orcs, dwarves and even elves as sacrifices for dark gods. The Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria is not someone that needs mercy because she did not even give any to others.

The Goddess of War Bellona called upon her war sword that as her weapon changed into a large sword. The war sword of the Goddess of War Bellona is a weapon that could execute even gods if she struck them in their true form. She might be a greater god in strength right now, but the Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria no longer has energy to resist.

The Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria was just clutching her head as she lay on the ground like a fallen goddess. The prestige and grandeur that she emitted before can no longer be seen as she is now a goddess broken beyond belief. She no longer has any followers and the angels that followed her due to coercion are no longer alive. The remaining angels that did live either abandoned her or no longer prayed to her.

The Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria was now a goddess with no followers as the world has seen her savagery. The world saw what she called the humans and even her own creations that are the angels are nothing more than fodder to her. She might have the power of a high god, but she would wither and turn to dust in a few years since no one believes in her.

The foundation of the Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria's strength was faith. If she had the faith of all the humans, then she would have won this exchange, but she only thought of them as nothing more than small mindless beings that were born to praise her. The angels that she created were not the sympathetic and compassionate beings told in legends but mindless creations that carry the savage will of the Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria.

The world itself has abandoned the Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria. She could also feel it as she tried to muster more power to use against those around her, but she could not. She was bathed in pure darkness as one could see there were parts of the darkness that clung to her body and is slowly eating her up. She was no longer the proud and mighty goddess of light as she did not even produce a spark.

"You have relinquished your role in this world which created great chaos. On behalf of the gods of justice, I, the Goddess of War Bellona, shall sentence you to death." The Goddess of War Bellona stated as she raised her large sword and swung it towards the neck of the Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria.

"Stop! Do not behead her!" Ark suddenly woke up and shouted but he was too late.

The blade of the Goddess of War Bellona already severed the head of the Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria from her neck. All of the players and even the gods expected that they finally won as the Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria has finally been beheaded. Just as they thought that all of it was over, a sinister laugh that is of a female voice echoed.

[The Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria has been put to rest.]

"Finally! Free at last. I did not think that a goddess like her would be enough to house me to reincarnate in this world fully. Such madness and greed made it easy for me to incubate. I can finally break free!" A female voice stated as the beheaded golden body of the Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria suddenly stood up.

"Who are you!" The Goddess of War Bellona asked as the lifeless beheaded body of the Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria stood up.

"I am the Dark Goddess of Light! I am the Pure and Holy Womb of Light that hailed from the stars beyond. I am Zehirete!" The female voice stated as claws of pure porcelain suddenly came out of the neck of the Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria and proceeded to rip the body.

As soon as the former true body of the Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria was ripped to shreds, a new goddess emerged from it, but she was definitely not a goddess in the universe of Pandemonium. She emitted a powerful pressure that was indicative of foreign energy which makes any being from this universe sick.

[The Dark Goddess Zehirete, the Pure and Holy Womb of Light, has descended into the world.]

[The Gods of Pandemonium warn all the mortals and calls upon the gods to kill the Dark Goddess Zehirete.]

"So, this is what it feels to have a body once again! Such bliss!" The Dark Goddess Zehirete stated as she stretched what looked like her limbs.

All of the players were alarmed because this dark goddess had the power of a High Goddess just like the Mad Goddess of Light Luminaria. The players did not know how or why such a thing is happening now, but they know that the battle is not yet done. All of them were feeling the immense danger that the Dark Goddess Zehirete emits as if her very presence is danger itself.

"Impossible! You should have been dead!" The Goddess Tethys stated as she was one of the oldest gods in Pandemonium.

"You were killed by the mentor of the Goddess of Light Luminaria! He even sacrificed himself to destroy all of you at that time! All traces of you have been destroyed in this world!" The Goddess Amphitrite added as she was also present in that war back then.
