

O Summoner 2171

Chapter 2171 Asmodian Descendants Alliance

Seeing that the Faekin are arriving in an orderly process, Elder Danaya proposed that they talk in a place different from here. She made her clones deal with the miscellaneous task as she also came to Avalon for an important meeting with the Daemos elders. Adrian and Levin Cloud were asked to come as well since it would be a meeting that will determine the path forward for the Asmodian Descendants.

"I hope that you were not going to have a meeting without me." King Leonidas stated as he actually arrived at Avalon as well.

Kabrakan could be seen beside the Selvaggian King as he is the one that led him to where Adrian and the others were. Elder Danaya looked sharply at King Leonidas, and it seems that they had this conversation with just their eyes. Elder Ascalor could only sigh as he already knew why those two are here. Avalon has become too important after all as it is a gateway for numerous Asmodian descendant races.

"Both of you play nice. We should take this elsewhere." Elder Ascalor stated as he shifted space with a snap of his finger.

Adrian felt the space change immediately but did not intervene as he already knew where they were going to be sent. All of them arrived in a place where it is decorated with rare star minerals as if they were taken from outer space themselves. They were all sent to one of the pocket dimensions that Elder Ascalor maintains, and this is the place where only the most important talks happen. This place is so sealed off that escape is incredibly difficult which is why it is the perfect place for secret meetings.

"Oh my! I did not know you had such a room. This is new even for me." Elder Danaya stated as she has never been to this place before.

"Even I need to keep secrets from you as there are beings that could easily read minds. This place is a meeting room that is reserved only Daemos but the talks that we are going to do seem to be important. You are the first outsiders to be welcomed inside this room." Elder Ascalor stated.

"It is a privilege then." King Leonidas stated.

"Will you not gather the other representatives of the other descendants? You have a vampire and a werewolf in the territory after all." Elder Danaya stated.

"Well, your race is the first one to get a descendant after all. Ours is only awakened when your descendant helped. The same could also be said to the Selvaggian descendant. The prophecy did state that only descendants that are considered as blessed ones could regain what we lost." Elder Danaya stated.

"They have yet to properly join in union as their petty grudges for a millennium has yet to subside. The vampire might possess the qualities of a Blood Queen, but she has yet to gather all of the clans under her. The werewolf boy is the same as he has yet to fully gain the undying loyalty of the other werewolf packs as well. The Jotunn race has yet to fully awaken their descendant, or they might never as most of them are asleep still." Elder Ascalor stated.

"Well, your race is the first one to get a descendant after all. Ours is only awakened when your descendant helped. The same could also be said to the Selvaggian descendant. The prophecy did state that only descendants that are considered as blessed ones could regain what we lost." Elder Danaya stated.

"I guess we really do owe a lot to the Daemos descendant. Thank you." King Leonidas stated as he bowed to Adrian which is the highest courtesy and form of respect that a king could do.

"Now that we established that, you could also say that the Daemos descendant is also the one responsible for the changes in our races. Why not go through with it and let us come under you?!" Elder Danaya stated with a smile.

"No." Adrian reflexively answered as his inner voice could not be detained because he could foresee the huge responsibility.

"What was that, my cute child?" Elder Danaya stated with a smile, but she was exerting the pressure of a mother that wants to persuade her child with her own aura.

"The boy is correct, Danaya. The burden is too large for us to bear as we have yet to find our Creation Relic. Ours is the most difficult to find as it could be shifting between dimensions or worse. We are already stretched too thin as the world expanded while we actually lost some of our own. There are Daemos children, but it is far too cruel to have young children bear great responsibility." Elder Ascalor stated.

"What about me? I am practically young if you think about my life here." Adrian stated as he pointed at himself because he is only about ten years old in game years.

"You are a special case since you are already born mature. I should thank the gods for that. You have been a great help, brat." Elder Ascalor stated as he averted his eyes.

"I actually agree with Danaya to have the Daemos lead as you are the ones in the main world. Some of the Selvaggians might be roaming about but they always come here to return back to our world." King Leonidas stated.

"You did not come here because you sensed the arrival of the Faekin. You came here for something else entirely." Elder Ascalor suddenly stated.

"Your instincts are still sharp even though you were such a troublemaker when you were young. You are correct of my intention of coming here. I am just lucky that the Faekin representative is also here to talk after all." King Leonidas stated.

"Do not tell me that you are here because the world of The Wilde is also disintegrating because a primordial beast that awakened is eating it." Adrian guessed or rather threw a reason that is similar to what is happening to Alfheim.

"Oh! The mediator already knows. Perhaps, you have already told him Kabrakan." King Leonidas stated as he looked at Adrian in shock.

"I was actually just saying what popped inside of my mind. I did not think that I would actually get it right." Adrian stated.

"A primordial beast was also present in your world?! I thought that your world would at least be safe, but I guess a world is not complete unless there is a primordial beast in it." Elder Ascalor stated.

"I also thought that our world would be safe as we already got our Creation Relic. I did not expect that the expansion of the main world would also affect our world. It seems that the fragmented worlds are still heavily connected to the main world not just by portals. The awakening of the primordial beasts awakened the one sleeping in the Wilde as well." King Leonidas stated.

"Are you not able to defeat it? The Selvaggian race is a race of pure fighters after all." Levin Cloud asked as he raised his hands.

"Unfortunately, the primordial beast that is in our world is incredibly difficult to handle. It is classified as a world eater primordial beast as it can eat anything. It eats slowly but it is already eating the world of the Wilde as we speak." King Leonidas stated.

"What is the percentage of the land that you lost?" Elder Ascalor asked.

"We already lost 3% of the entire mass of the world. We could foresee that it will devour the entire world in just two decades." King Leonidas stated.

"That is if it does not mess up the ecosystem of the world. You could actually say that your world only has ten years left. Your primordial beast is more of a pain than ours." Elder Danaya stated.

"We already have our hands full with the main world. We can no longer spare any more manpower for both your worlds." Elder Ascalor stated.

"If we fuse the two worlds to the main world, what will happen to the primordial beasts that reside in them?" Adrian asked.

"They would naturally be sent to the main world as they will also be converted to pure mana, but they will return to their forms once they arrive." Elder Ascalor stated.

"If that is the case, we should form an alliance or rather we must revive the Council of the Five Descendants. I think we need to get the help of the other races since the world is already too big for us to handle alone." Adrian stated.

"I know what you mean, brat. But..." Elder Ascalor stated but Adrian cut him off.

"This is not a suggestion, Elder Ascalor. This is my decision as the purest blood among us." Adrian stated as he unleashed his Asmodian Prestige.

All of the beings that were in that room had their heads bow down to Adrian. The fact that even the most powerful of the two other races could not dare to look up to him is evident by the fact that he is no longer the same. Adrian always hid this aura as he never liked using it to make others bend to his will but he remembered something that the Seer in the north once told him.

Chapter 2172: Seen the Future

The Great Star Gazer once told Adrian something in passing. He thought that she just spouted something to him in the moment, but she acted like she did not say anything like that after. When the Great Star Gazer told him something akin to a prophecy, the aura that she had was older and wizened.

"A growing fragmented world split apart. Two beings that joins these fragments worlds in part. The five will join in one if they are smart. For peace will either grow or rot."

Adrian did not know if this was actually a prophecy or something as the Great Star Gazer always spoke in rhymes even if she did not want to. The only time she does not speak like a poet is when she loses her powers of foresight momentarily. Adrian is also very meticulous even back then as he made sure to record every interaction he had with the Great Star Gazer.

"It has already been foretold." Adrian stated as he already told them the entire prophecy that was told to him.

Adrian already stopped pressuring the others around him and he could see that all of them were a little bit afraid of him. It is a given that they are wary of him because he just overpowered three powerful elders of the three Asmodian descendant races. He made them feel powerless with his aura alone which put them in quite a scare.

"To think that you are already that close to our ancestors." Elder Ascalor stated in astonishment as Adrian never showed this side of him before.

"I never really like using it because it is incredibly draining." Adrian replied as his stamina actually almost depleted when he applied pressure on all three of the powerful elders.

"If what the prophecy tells holds true then the five could be our five races. The prophecy basically said that if we are smart then we should start gaining strength from one another." Levin Cloud stated.

"Prophecies are not always true. They are merely words spoken in rhyme trying to incite a group of people to do their bidding. It is a way to manipulate those that do not believe in themselves." King Leonidas stated as he is not one to believe a prophecy.

"It seems you do not believe in the Sacred Arts of Divination. You should know that the first ever one to predict the future is from your very own race. If I am not mistaken it was a condor beast kin that could even read the flow of the wind to predict the future." Elder Danaya stated as she managed to finally overcome her shock.

"Regardless, my world needs to be saved now. I heard that the two mediators are training to fuse the worlds together. I just hope that ours will be the first in line to do so." King Leonidas stated.

"If that is the case then what can you offer." Adrian stated.

"If you want riches then you can pick anything that you like from the treasury in our royal palace." King Leonidas stated.

"I want something else. I want The Wilde itself." Adrian stated in a calm manner.

"What!" King Leonidas said in shock as giving a Creation Relic to another being is like surrendering your entire race to the palm of a single being.

"I want the Creation Relic itself." Adrian stated firmly as he believed that a shortcut to reduce the cost of expanding his territory is to let it absorb creation relics. Also, the Land Deity whispered to him to find others just like it.

"That is a tall order even for you, mediator." King Leonidas spoke up as his aura started to build up by Kabrakan was telling the former to calm down.

"You should remember that if now for us then you would not even get it." Adrian replied with a confident attitude.

"How about the talk of that council now!?" Elder Danaya stated as she wanted to diffuse the situation.

"I know that you were chosen as a mediator, but you are still a demon. I thought that a demon that became a mediator will not be greedy, but it seems that I am mistaken. I apologize if I have taken up too much of your time, but I wish to return to my kingdom." King Leonidas stated.

"But your majesty!" Kabrakan tried to intervene, but he could not budge the hardheaded king.

"If you wish to leave then just open that door." Elder Ascalor stated as he gestured towards a wall that now has a door.

King Leonidas marched towards the door and opened it. He immediately saw Avalon when he peeked outside of the door. He stepped forward without ever looking back as he is very resolute in his decision. Kabrakan followed as he tried to appease the king. Kabrakan knew that Adrian will not demand anything if it did not have any use.

"You should not have demanded something like that, my child. The other elders are actually quite offended as well that you used our Creation Relic as you pleased but I appeased them." Elder Danaya stated.

"You mean to say that you pressured them to align with what you think." Elder Ascalor stated as he knew how fearsome Elder Danaya is.

"I would not have demanded it if I did not need it. I resonated with the Heart of the Forest when I gave it to the Land Deity. I felt closer to all of you... to the source of the Faekin that I felt that I could pull all of you here in this world if I was strong enough. I do not know why but something inside of me hungers for it as well." Adrian stated.

"I also felt the same way. I felt like I was connected to all of the Faekin when I touched the Heart of the Forest. I also gained enlightenment in my training for the World Fusion spell. I guess Equinox feels the same as well which is why he demanded to have the creation relic." Levin Cloud spoke up as well.

"If the World Fusion spell is in need of you having resonated with the creation relics, then it must be true. The blood of an Asmodian inside of you is basically shouting at you on what you need to do." Elder Ascalor stated.

"If you had led with that argument, then Leonidas might have agreed." Elder Danaya stated but Adrian and Levin Cloud smiled wryly.

"Do not tell me that he already came here knowing what you demanded?!" Elder Danaya added as she picked up on the facial expressions of the two.

"He must have come here to see if we will say it directly to his face after all. Kabrakan is not one explain the situation a lot, but he should have told why we need it." Adrian stated.

"We were told that he was a bit hot headed when he came here but he fizzled out when he saw Elder Danaya." Levin Cloud stated.

"Did he have a crush on you or something back then, elder? I could feel the longing in his gaze, but he also had the eyes of someone defeated." Adrian stated but it was actually Kenos that told him this as the latter perceives the surroundings differently including emotions. "It was a very long time ago." Elder Danaya stated with a smile that contained a hint of sadness.

"Does having the creation relic make it easier to cast the World Fusion spell? Or do you just want it because it can expand your territory?" Elder Ascalor stated with seriousness as he looked at Adrian straight in the eyes.

"Both." Adrian answered without averting his gaze or hiding anything from Elder Ascalor.

It is true that Adrian is also greedy for the creation relic because of its unexpected uses but it does in fact help in casting the World Fusion spell. If both Adrian and Levin Cloud resonate with the creation relic then they would have synchronized with the very energy that the specific world is made of. Elder Danaya must have pressured the entire Faekin elders because Adrian learned something incredible when he resonated with the Heart of the Forest. Adrian learned that Alfheim was actually a fragmented world created using the energy of the Heart of the Forest at its prime. The entirety of the world of Alfheim is made using that creation relic as a power source. It is also one of the reasons why the elder of each race wants to find theirs. The creation relic could basically restore their broken worlds. King Leonidas knows of this as well which is why he stormed out.

"The fact that The Wilde is being devoured by a world eater means that their Creation Relic has also weakened to a great extent. I might even say that he made it look like it was a small percentage devoured, but he would not have come here himself if that were the case." Adrian thought as he just needed to wait for King Leonidas to return.

Chapter 2173: Kholomodumo

"Your majesty! Are you sure that this is the correct decision?" Kabrakan stated as both him and King Leonidas have already returned back to the world of The Wilde.

"I know that he is your sword brother, but he cannot have the creation relic. It is the symbol of all the Selvaggians. The symbol of our race that has endured for far too long." King Leonidas stated.

"What good is a symbol if our world is already dying? If the entire world gets devoured, the Wilde Heart will no longer be able to sustain it. The creation relic is not that powerful now because of the years it has been sealed. It cannot produce anymore power to help our dying world. I know this because I am connected with it." Kabrakan stated.

The reason why King Leonidas is very respectful to Kabrakan is due to the fact that he is directly connected to the creation relic. The player that unlocks the race will have something like a mental link towards the creation relic that they have found. It basically gives them details on what the status of the creation relic is. They are like the avatars of the creation relic as they receive something akin to messages about them.

"If the creation relic were to resonate with Equinox, then it might agree to his demands willingly. Why are you making it more difficult than it already is?" Kabrakan stated which made King Leonidas stop in his tracks.

"That is what I am afraid of. Every fiber of my being wanted to bow down to him when he released his aura. I am afraid that all of us will be slaves to the demons if I give him the creation relic. Also, you know that I do not have the final say when it comes to the matters of the creation relic. The other elders will not budge even if I tell them that is the only way." King Leonidas stated.

"I cannot say that your worries are unfounded, but my friend is not like that. The Faekin did not even dare to raise their voices at him when they know that their creation relic has been used by Equinox. Why are we, the free people, the ones that are holding onto something that could also be sealed once again?" Kabrakan stated.

King Leonidas was about to say something to retort what Kabrakan said but the entire world suddenly shook. A powerful earthquake suddenly started happening and the loud screams of the other Selvaggians could be heard. Earthquakes were not uncommon to The Wilde before, but they started happening frequently ever since the primordial beast called the Kholomodumo awakened. The earthquake lasted for about five seconds before it stopped. "The shaking is stronger and longer now than before. It is the world itself crying for help." Kabrakan stated.

"We just need to destroy the primordial beast itself." King Leonidas stated.

"You wish to sacrifice the lives of the people fighting an opponent that we cannot handle ourselves. The easiest solution was already given to you, but you cling to old ideals that led to this disaster in the first place." Kabrakan stated as he finally raised his voice as he has grown closer to some NPCs in The Wilde.

"I asked for the help of the demons, but they did not want to give it. We can only rely on ourselves. You will help us deal with the Kholomodumo if you cherish our race." King Leonidas stated as he entered the castle and called upon all the nobles to discuss the plan of attack towards the Kholomodumo.

"That is the problem. That beast is the predator of all the Selvaggians." Kabrakan stated as he actually tried fighting it off one time when it first awakened.

Kabrakan actually tried fighting the Kholomodumo when it first awakened and tried devouring the world. He thought that he could at least gauge the strength of the monster before asking the army of the kingdom for help. He easily found the Kholomodumo at the very edge of the world as it actually sprung up from the crusts below.

Kabrakan was horrified upon seeing a small part of the world devoured. The primordial beast, Kholomodumo, is said to be weak in the records that he read but it is extremely resilient. The Kholomodumo did not have the firepower to kill Kabrakan as it just chewed on the very crusts of the world. Kabrakan even tried attacking it, but he did not get its attention.

Thinking that he could destroy the Kholomodumo alone, he proceeded to use powerful attacks and skills to try and defeat the primordial beast. Kabrakan did some damage, but the Kholomodumo restored more health than what he could damage. Seeing that he could not deal damage by himself, Kabrakan went to King Leonidas for assistance but that only made it worse.

King Leonidas sent one of his sons and five of his royal knights with their respective armies to deal with the Kholomodumo. The Kholomodumo did not care when they started attacking it as it was munching on the crusts of the world at its own leisure pace. Kabrakan thought that they would actually be able to defeat it as it was just a meat sack, but he finally noticed something was wrong.

The resilient army made out of the top fighters in the Selvaggian Race suddenly started to slow down and become tired after an hour of attacking. This should not have been the case as they could easily fight for two days straight without rest. Kabrakan then tried using his Ferocity more as it could increase his stats and damage, but it was already drained to the very bottom.

[The Kholomodumo has lost 10% of its health. It is now using its special skill called Creeping Swallower.]

[All kinds of energy in the surrounding will be absorbed by the Kholomodumo.]

[All stamina consumption is increased by 100 times when the Creeping Swallower skill is in effect.]

[The Kholomodumo is back to full health.]

Kabrakan did not want to believe it, but the proud Selvaggian fighters fainted by the time three hours was up. One of the normal soldiers even tried to aim for the Kholomodumo's eyes but he grew weaker and weaker as he got closer to the primordial beast. Kabrakan saw the soldier rapidly age until he looked like an old man. After taking a few more steps, the soldier died on the spot as all of his life energy was sucked inside.

Kabrakan had to use all of his most powerful skill to shift the lands and move all of the fainted Selvaggians away from the Kholomodumo. The proud army that they thought will bring victory had to retreat without anything fruitful. All of the soldiers that participated in that attack became weakened as a result. Some of them have yet to regain the energy that they lost, and this included the prince that accompanied Kabrakan.

The lively prince was bedridden for two months due to all of the energy sucked from his body. Thankfully, the prince was able to recover with the help of the alchemists in the kingdom. Kabrakan now knew why the Kholomodumo looked like a large hairy eel. Adrian did tell him once that the form of the primordial beast often describes what its powers and abilities are. Due to the effect of the Kholomodumo on the soldiers and the prince, King Leonidas commanded all of the soldiers to be mobilized to deal with the primordial beast. One would think that they would emerge victorious as the entire kingdom's army is basically attacking it, but they also came home severely tired after just a day. Since Kabrakan already warned them not to get close, there were no casualties, but they were not able to kill the Kholomodumo. King Leonidas himself led the assault against the Kholomodumo but even he could not withstand its abilities for a long time. Even long ranged attacks are severely weakened when it lands on its body as it reduces the damage by more than half. One cannot get near it because it will drain the life force of the closest beings, but long range is also not viable as it is sturdy. Even if the long-range attacks did succeed, the Kholomodumo continues on feeding on the world and regenerates its large health pool doing so. Selvaggians might have strong bodies and powerful attacks, but they cannot destroy something that could absorb every attack they can release. To make matters worse, the Kholomodumo can just restore all of its health in under a minute.

Kabrakan raised the concern that they should ask the aid of the demons. All the elders looked at him with judging eyes as if they did not believe what he just said. A small number of the elders did agree with him, but they were drowned out by the majority. This is the time he knew that the Selvaggians might be free people, but they were too conservative of the old rules that they hate the idea of receiving help from outside their race.

Chapter 2174: Far Off in the East

"What is the next move that we need to make?" Vixen asked Tai.

"The next step is none other than attacking the stronghold of the elemental dragons. They are at their weakest when they have just woken up from their hibernation." Kai replied.

"Still, we cannot attack that stronghold with just ourselves. Players might have become stronger, but we still cannot go against that old monster. We are going against a former creation goddess. You should give your opinion as well, Tama." Vixen stated.

"I am merely going with the flow as the dharma wills me." Tama stated as he sat down and prayed.

"You know that it is suicide even if we get some help from those former followers of the dark gods. Our guild might be powerful, but that former creation goddess can easily destroy us. Even the gods know that they should never go against gods that came to be just to create." Vixen stated as her tails six tails started to become agitated.

"We are not going there alone. The one that will accompany us will be coming now." Tai stated as the door suddenly slowly opened.

A figure appeared in front of them, and this being looked like man but is dressed in monk robes. The face of the man is being hidden by a mask that is called Okame. It is a mask that has a happy looking slit eyed person with red lips and dimples. Behind the mask is covered with a thick bush of hair that stretched all the way to his waist.

As soon as Tai, Vixen, and Tama felt the presence of the being before them, all of the hairs on their bodies stood up. They immediately knew from the presence of the being before them that he is very dangerous. A dangerous being that actually made their instincts go into full battle mode. Vixen and Tama even made sure to activate the mana in their bodies as they felt their lives threatened.

"Is that a way to treat your guest?" The masked man stated as the sound of his voice is high pitched that it sounded like he is exaggerating his words.

"It is great to finally meet you, Amatsu-Mikaboshi. I know that it is disrespectful that my friends are a bit on edge but the bloodlust that you are releasing is not subtle at all." Tai stated as his golden eyes looked at the being before him without blinking.

"Kukuku! As expected of the elite units that they have raised. To think that Izanami herself would call for my aid! I would never have thought of that. I even thought that the world is already at the brink of extinction because of her actions. To think that she just became crazy like what she really is." Amatsu-Mikaboshi stated as the porcelain mask' mouth actually moved as if that was indeed his face.

"Do not disrespect, Izanami-sama!" Vixen stated as her six tails suddenly turned razor sharp. "I would not do that if I were smart, little girl." Amatsu-Mikaboshi stated as the bloodlust that he released before became even more potent to the point that Vixen found it hard to breathe.

Tama then released a golden glow from his body which negated some of the effects of the bloodlust that Amatsu-Mikaboshi released. Tai was about to go for the attack, but Amatsu-Mikaboshi immediately reduced the bloodlust he was releasing. Amatsu-Mikaboshi even released a small chuckle as if he was impressed with what just transpired. The personality of treating everything as a plaything is deeply imbedded on the being that came before the three.

"Who are you?!" Vixen stated as she is now finally able to breathe.

"I am your beloved master's shadow." Amatsu-Mikaboshi stated as his entire aura suddenly looked like shadows were the very essence of his body.

"Do not antagonize him anymore, Vixen. He is still a god even if he looks like that." Tai stated as he could feel the divine energy from the being before them.

"That is impossible! Gods are no longer in the eastern continent as all their belief has shifted to the Four Divine Beasts. How can he even exist if he is a god?" Vixen stated.

"He was able to negate the effects of fate upon him. He was affected because he is a shadow." Tama stated as his eyes could see the truths of the world or at least his third eye.

"You should not sweat the small details about this entity. I merely answered the wishes of the twisted Izanami because she told me that I will get to have some entertainment. I would get to kill a creation goddess and that is all the reason that I need." Amatsu-Mikaboshi stated with a deadly and heavy tone.

"Former creation goddess. She was degraded to become an elemental dragon when the restriction in the eastern continent happened." Vixen stated but she still did not like that the god before them reeks of blood.

Vixen is sensitive to beings like Amatsu-Mikaboshi as she could feel that there are lots of resentment and bloodlust attached to him. Such a being could only be called mass murderers or tyrants that ruled in blood. Since the being before her is not a tyrant, she could immediately deduce that a mass murderer is what fits Amatsu-Mikaboshi.

"We have already found the mountain where the elemental dragons are hiding. The only problem is that the barrier of that mountain is extremely sturdy. Our troops will not be able to get inside unless that barrier is destroyed." Tai stated as he wanted the conversation to move ahead.

"If you wish to pierce the barrier of a creation goddess then you would need something that has the reverse energy of it." Amatsu-Mikaboshi stated in a tone that made it seem like what he said is common sense.

"Death energy then?" Tai exclaimed.

"Puwahahah! You think death energy is the reverse of creation energy!? Life and Death are two sides of the same coin. They have the same root of origin which is why life feeds on death and vice versa. There is a reason why they call life and death a cycle because both things benefit from each other." Amatsu-Mikaboshi stated.

"If death energy is not the opposite of creation energy, then what is?" Vixen stated as she seems puzzled as well.

"Simple. Null Energy." Amatsu-Mikaboshi stated as the mask on his face suddenly looked darker in shade.

"What?" Vixen exclaimed as she did not understand.

"Nothing." Amatsu-Mikaboshi stated.

"Nothing?!" Tai, Vixen, and Tama reacted simultaneously.

"Correct. Nothing. The opposite of creation is nothingness." Amatsu-Mikaboshi stated with a giggle.

"I think this god has already lost his mind." Vixen stated.

"Nothingness is a concept that we study." Tama stated.

"You cannot hold nothingness, Tama!" Vixen stated.

"The little fox is correct. You cannot hold it unless it gets a vessel. Let me tell you an interesting story. Did you know that his world or universe is created because of Chaos?"

Amatsu-Mikaboshi stated.

"Every universe is created in chaos. That is how all of creation starts." Vixen rebutted.

"I did not say created in chaos. I said created by Chaos. The capital C." Amatsu-Mikaboshi stated as his voice that was pitchy suddenly became deep and mysterious.

"Chaos? As in the God Chaos?" Tai asked.

"Chaos is not a god as it is an entity that far surpassed all of the gods. You could say that Chaos is the creator of all living things in this world and even the stars beyond it. Of course, this only applies to the beings that is created in Pandemonium. This does not apply to beings that came from beyond the confines of this universe like kekeke." Amatsu-Mikaboshi stated.

"Like who?! Like you?!" Vixen stated.

"Oh no! I am a creation of Chaos unlike some beings here. I am an unfortunate side-effect of multiversal hopping. Anywas, Chaos existed even when nothing was around. Chaos could create anything it wanted but just like everything has its counterpart... Chaos also has one." Amatsu-Mikaboshi stated.

"Who is the counterpart?" Tama asked as he became curious of the story.

"Order. The counterpart of Chaos is order. Creation is Chaos but Nothingness is Order." Amatsu-Mikaboshi stated as the face on the mask suddenly started to look menacing before it shifted back.

"So, we need to find nothingness energy?" Vixen asked.

"There is no such thing as that. It is called Null Energy. I already told it earlier, but it seems your doggy brain could not comprehend it. At least, I know that you are not the brains of this group." Amatsu-Mikaboshi stated which angered Vixen even more.

"What can hold null energy if nothingness is literally nothing?" Tai asked.

"You are the smart one, I see. To answer your question, what do you think can hold nothingness better than nothingness itself?" Amatsu-Mikaboshi stated.

"A piece of Order." Tai answered.

"Bingo! You really are the brains of this group. A piece of Order can negate Chaos." Amatsu-Mikaboshi stated as his mask changed to a more sinister appearance.

Chapter 2175: Far Off in the East II

"Where can we even get a piece of this powerful entity called Order?! If it is the opposite of creation, then there is nothing at all because you said that it is nothing." Vixen stated.

"It cannot be nothing, Vixen. If Order did have a form, then there might have been some things that it has given energy to. Even though he is not saying the entire story, I believe that he also has some way of finding this or else he would not have mentioned it." Tai stated. "The smart one is correct as always. A piece of Order is currently being held at a mountain that the monk boy is familiar with. It is a mountain that is shaped like the eyebrows of a lady. A mountain filled with sacred spiritual energy that it is almost akin to that of Null Energy. A piece of Order should be present in that location and the monk boy could probably lead you to it." Amatsu-Mikaboshi stated.

"You mean a piece of Order is currently being sealed in Mount Emei?" Tama asked.

"I do not know if sealed is the word because all of you are basically flaunting it by having it be decorating that large statue inside the temple." Amatsu-Mikaboshi stated as Tama immediately realized what the former is asking them to get.

"You are leading us into a death trap. The sacred statue in the main temple at the mountain is off limits. Even if you do get inside the main temple, hundreds of monks will kill you if you dare to covet the red bead that is present on the forehead of the statue." Tama stated.

"I did not say that I will take it. I only told you where to get it and I do not care how long we need to wait to attack the Ryujin. If you call them elemental dragons, then they might actually torture you for eternity as they are different from those lizards in the west." Amatsu-Mikaboshi stated.

"You are not going to help us get that piece of Order? I thought that Izanami-sama called upon you to help us." Vixen stated.

"I was only told to help deal with the Goddess of Creation. I am not ordered by your precious master as I move due to my whims. I do not really care how you take down that barrier covering that mountain, but I can care less if it takes long. I am here for my own entertainment and not to help you chicks go around causing mayhem because you believe everything that hag says. Call my name once you get the way to destroy that barrier." Amatsu-Mikaboshi stated as he suddenly vanished into a puff of smoke.

"That useless god!" Vixen shouted but she just looked like a madwoman shouting at the wall. "Will it be difficult?" Tai asked Tama.

"It will be as dealing with all those Arhats is not something that even you at full power can pull off. Each of the Arhats have formations where their strength could be increased exponentially. The only way to defeat them is to whittle them down bit by bit or else it is meaningless." Tama stated.

"I guess those former followers of the dark gods will have a use now. They are the best when it comes to using distractions. Our spy unit will infiltrate the statue with you and me. We should start planning accordingly and I am thankful that you already know the layout of the temple." Tai stated.

"What about me?! Am I not part of the infiltration team?" Vixen asked.

"You are not really the stealthy type as your tails catch a lot of attention." Tama stated as he pointed out the six large tails protruding behind her back.

"I need someone to lead those ragtag bunch from the followers of the dark gods. You are the only one that I can count on to make sure that they are in line. The twins might have great power and synergy, but they are not capable of leading a large unit." Tai stated.

"If it is a direct command from you then I have no problem doing so." Vixen replied immediately as she sent some flirtatious winks at Tai.

"I knew that I could count on you." Tai stated as he smiled a little which made Vixen's heart skip a beat.

"You only ever do things when Tai asks you." Tama stated.

"Keep quiet midget. The grownups are talking." Vixen retorted as she gazed upon Tai's figure.

"Why are we going there again?" Adrian asked as he is now in the process of making a complex magic circle with the help of Peridot.

"My master and the other Ryujin are about to end their hibernation cycles. There is always a celebration when that happens as told by the others that did not sleep. I am inviting all of you because it is one of the rare festivals in the eastern continent. The entire eastern continent will be in a festive mood as well because it coincides with the Moon Chasing Lotus Festival." Peridot stated.

"Fine then. I do want to see how Ryujins celebrate. Still, why am I creating this magic circle for you again?" Adrian asked as he was already drawing the magic circle for an hour already.

"Hurry up so we could look at the stalls of the villages around the mountain. No more snide remarks or else I will post that cute video of the date you had with Frey. Apparently, both of you have a fan club and a hate club. The latter has more members though as Frey is very famous among the male players." Peridot stated.

"Is this how you want to play? Do you want mutual assured destruction?" Adrian stated with a smile that is not a smile as he is already browsing the list of memory orbs that he has.

"What is this about the mutual assured destruction?" A familiar female voice could suddenly be heard from behind Adrian.

Chapter 2176: Far Off in the East III

"Frey! You came!" Peridot shouted as she ran towards Frey or rather glided towards her and proceeded to lock arms with her.

"The sisters told me to take a vacation since I have been working for far too long without rest. They said that the new recruits were not resting because of me which is why I came. I hope that I am not intruding on something important." Frey stated.

"Oh no! Not at all. I am actually glad that you came as Equinox will no longer be a third wheel." Peridot stated as she looked at Adrian with cunning eyes.

"I see. Thank you for the invitation but what is this about mutual assured destruction that I heard?" Frey stated.

"It is nothing as it is just a way that we tease each other since we grew up together. I did not know that you were invited but I am really glad that you came." Adrian stated as a small smile could be seen on his face.

"I was just chatting with Peridot earlier and she suddenly brought it up. I was not even able to give you a head up as I needed to arrange some things before coming here." Frey stated as her face could be seen to have a slight tinge of a blush.

"You know, both of you are really getting on my nerves because of your looks. It feels like God is playing favorites when they created both of you. Tell me, what is the value of your Charisma stat? It must be incredibly high since both of you are glowing like this." Peridot stated.

"You can put points into the Charisma stat?" Adrian answered.

"There is a Charisma stat?" Frey answered.

Peridot is a bit dumbfounded as Frey did not know that there is a Charisma state. It might be hidden at the very bottom of the status card but there is a stat like that. She suddenly looked at Frey and became speechless even more. If she truly did not know there is a stat like that then her entire face and look is what she looks like in the real world. She was a drop-dead gorgeous beauty that would make any person drool about her. Gender would not be a barrier for her because of the way she looks.

"I suddenly felt like a bit of my ego is shattered because of my question. To think that someone can match him in the real world as well." Peridot stated as she looked at Frey and Adrian.

Peridot actually became shy when he met Adrian for the first time when they were kids because he is indeed different than others. Levin Cloud was cute when he was a kid as well, but Adrian had a different aura. All the neighborhood aunties would fawn over him and give him treats. He was the favorite child on the block because he was respectful with a cute appearance to boot.

"What are you looking at me for?" Levin Cloud stated as he noticed that Peridot was staring right at him.

"Nothing. I just suddenly stared blankly... sorry." Peridot replied.

"Why do I feel like I was suddenly judged and compared to someone better than me?" Levin Cloud muttered.

"I finished the magic circle that you requested. Are you sure that this is going to work?" Adrian asked.

"Do you think it will fail? You are the expert when it comes to magic circles among all of us. Even the Old Man Emris would bow down to you when it comes to analyzing magic circle structure." Peridot stated.

"Wow! Even a Former Imperial Mage praises you about magic circles! You must be incredibly good at it." Frey stated which made Adrian blush a little because of the compliment.

"I just honestly like shapes and it is fun looking at magic circles." Adrian stated as he scratched his neck shyly.

"Look at this dude. I was the one that praised him originally, but he ended up being shy when Frey praised him. Anyways, is there a problem with the magic circle?" Peridot stated.

"The structure is stable, but the destination encrypted is a bit dubious." Adrian stated.

"Why is the destination encrypted dubious?" Peridot asked.

"It was from the former coordinates when the world was still small. It might have changed by now since the world expanded by a lot." Adrian stated.

"Can you adjust it to match the coordinates now?" Peridot asked.

"Let me think a little. I think this should be good enough." Adrian stated as he started to rewrite parts of the magic circle.

"Can you activate it now?" Peridot asked.

"Sure. All of you please enter the circle." Adrian gestured as the three of them finally entered it.

"I hope that the adjusted coordinates are correct. I am activating it now." Peridot stated as she gathered the six elements around her.

There are six circles at the outer part of the magic circle. Peridot placed each element in different circles and made the magic circle glow. The elements suddenly shot into pillars of energy and converged at the middle to create a dome. The dome is then filled with large amounts of energy and all four of them vanished in an instant as if an elemental explosion happened.

The four of them felt like all the elements caressed them gently as all six elements actually protected them while their bodies were sent to another location via the ley lines. Adrian is actually fascinated by the magic circle when he first saw it as it utilized the ley lines as a mode of transportation. Such a complex spell could actually only be used by the Ryujin as they could easily tap into the energy of these ley lines. A small elemental explosion of different elements happened as all of them arrived at their destination or at least close to it.

"I think you were wrong about the coordinates. I was told we would have appeared in pavilion entrance using that spell." Peridot stated as all of them were transported to the very peak of the mountain instead.

Chapter 2177: Moon Chasing Lotus Festival I

"I only adjusted the coordinates based on what was given to me. Maybe I am a bit wrong in the height department." Adrian stated as he could see the clouds from where they are now.

"You were wrong in all the departments. Still, you managed to get us in the actual mountain itself so that is a plus." Peridot stated.

"I think the eastern continent shifted differently than the central continent. Such a unique discovery! I need to make sure to record that while I am here. Maybe I can even find the correct conversion rate." Adrian stated.

"We are here to have fun though." Levin Cloud stated with a fake cough.

Adrian then looked at Frey and saw that she was also hoping to have fun at the festival that Peridot told them about. Adrian put away his journal as he wanted to experience the fun of a festival with the others. The only thing they need to do is get off the mountain peak and land on the pagoda area. The only difference is that the mountain also became bigger as a result of the world expanding which meant that they cannot view the pagoda from the peak.

"Will we get shot down if we descend the mountain?" Adrian asked as he knows how heavily defended the place of the Ryujins are.

"I will descend by myself for now. I will contact all of you once I informed them of our arrival." Peridot stated as she changed her form to her dragon form to descend the mountain. "So, how is the northern continent? Is it still as frosty?" Levin Cloud asked as he did not want to have an awkward atmosphere of Frey and Adrian just shyly looking at each other.

"It is still cold, but it became more bearable than the harsh winters before. The expansion of the world actually made the northern continent have different biomes where some could nurture life. Still, the people of the north are still tribalistic in some areas which is why there are often fights that suddenly show up. How about you? I learned that you unlocked the Faekin race. Congratulations!" Frey stated.

"Thanks even though I got help most of the way there. I just hope that new Faekin would mean more jobs for others in balancing the natural world." Levin Cloud stated.

[Peridot has added you to the Moon Chasing Lotus Festival Chat.]

[Peridot: All of you can go down now. They will not attack.]

"Will they really attack if we did not give a heads up?" Frey asked.

"Breaking through the barrier in this mountain is already tough. If you trespassed, then prepare to get bombarded with numerous elements until your body turns to dust." Levin Cloud stated.

"The worst thing that could happen is you becoming trapped in an endless cycle of elemental catastrophe. They use that as training for the young Ryujin so that they can master control over the elements." Adrian added.

"I thought the northern continent was barbaric, but the eastern continent is really different." Frey stated in shock.

"Oh! The northern continent is barbaric, but they are not shy about being upfront about it. The eastern continent is like a refined barbaric cousin of those in the north. They might seem noble and majestic with their flowy robes and martial arts, but they are barbaric to the core." Levin Cloud exclaimed.

"You need to be incredibly ruthless if you want to survive in the eastern continent. The fight for resources here is incredibly difficult. This is also the reason why most of the players consider the eastern continent as the Land of Warriors. You need to be careful here as a random beggar looking grandpa could be a grand master or a cute looking child might be a powerful immortal." Adrian added.

"This land becomes more and more interesting with the way you describe it." Frey stated with a dry laugh.

"Just be respectful or mind your own business. That is the two general rules of the eastern continent in order to stay alive longer." Levin Cloud stated.

"If you cannot do those then what happens?" Frey asked.

"You better know how to kill them or else it will be you." Adrian stated as he summoned Kanlaon for them to descend on.

The three of them descended towards the pavilion where Peridot, her master, and some other Ryujin are gathered. All of them bowed towards the three as they are considered guests of the next leader. Nu Wa looked surprised when she saw Adrian and Levin Cloud because she sensed such powerful authority etched into their souls. She could feel that both of them could overturn the rules of the world.

"Greetings, mediators and honored guest." Nu Wa stated as the other servants also did the same as they bowed.

Nu Wa referred to Adrian and Levin Cloud as mediators while Frey became the honored guest. They were then led to the decorated table where a pond could be seen stretched out before them. The entire pavilion was incredibly beautiful as it was landscaped to perfection. The servants were filling the table with numerous assortments of sweets and teas.

"I am glad that you have finally woke up, master. A lot has changed in the world while you and the others were asleep." Peridot stated.

"A lot has changed but it seems that you still call me master. I thought I told you the proper way to address me." Nu Wa stated.

"Apologies, mother. I was not able to get any practice because I could not call you such. I hope that your body has already internalized everything as the first few weeks is the period where the Ryujin need utmost concentration." Peridot stated as she knew about the effects on the body after hibernation.

"Well, I would like to be introduced to your new friend. She is someone that I have not met before." Nu Wa stated as she wanted to shift the topic of the conversation.

"Oh! She is Frey and she is the Avatar of the Goddess Freyja." Peridot stated as she proceeded to say more things about Frey that made the latter blush. Most of the things that Peridot told Nu Wa are praises and incredible feats that Frey has done.

"Enough about me, Peridot. It is nice to meet you, Lady Nu Wa. Peridot has also told me a lot about you and how much she respects you." Frey stated as she wanted to stop Peridot from saying more things about her.

"It is also nice to meet you, Frey. I hope that your stay here will be to your satisfaction. I also hope that you could enjoy the Moon Chasing Lotus Festival as it is a celebration that aims to honor us Ryujin after all." Nu Wa stated.

"Does the Moon Chasing Lotus Festival have ties with the Ryujin? I would have asked the Vermillion Bird, but it seems that she has gone quiet for the time being. It seems that the hostilities in her territory have yet to stop." Adrian stated.

"I have also learned that a lot of chaotic things happened when we were asleep. It seems that some of our brethren also fell while those that returned are heavily injured. At the very least, we have awoken at the perfect time. The Moon Chasing Lotus Festival is what the other people in the eastern continent call it, but it is different to the Ryujin." Nu Wa stated. "What is it called for our race then?" Peridot asked as even she did not know this lore.

"To the Ryujin, we call this time as the First Emergence. It was the time where the first moon hatched and gave birth to a hundred of us." Nu Wa stated.

"You mean to say that the Ryujin hatched from the moon?!" All of them stated in surprise as they sipped the tea to calm down.

"Refreshing!" Levin Cloud stated.

"Is it not cannibalism if you are drinking tea?" Adrian jested.

"I cannot believe that you liked me to dried leaves." Levin Cloud stated but then he noticed the dried leaves on his hair and muttered, "Touche."

"No more jokes! I want to hear the story!" Peridot stated as she wanted to stop the two from speaking.

"It was not really a moon but a piece of the Goddess Tiamat that broke off when she died. That piece of her floated to the skies above and attached itself to the moon. One more moon was added in the dark sky back then. It was at this same time when the 'moon' that people considered to be created by gods suddenly hatched.

The 'moon' hatched and released a hundred Ryujins that also fed on it as they were not cared for by the Goddess Tiamat since she died. Some myths actually were created like dragons eating the moon because of that situation. The First Emergence is also a special day for every Ryujin as it is the days where our powers peak." Nu Wa stated.

Chapter 2178: Moon Chasing Lotus Festival II

"I always heard that we came from the moon, but I never really thought that we actually did. I thought that it was just some stories that old people say." Peridot stated but Nu Wa looked at her sharply when she heard the word old.

"You mean those grannies we talked to when we were in an inn here in the eastern continent, right?" Levin Cloud suddenly interjected as he felt the cry for help that Peridot signaled with her awkward smile.

"Yes! Those grannies were such sweethearts. They even told us about other stories in the eastern continent." Peridot stated.

"Is that so? I guess the elderly here in the eastern continent are fond of cute little children." Nu Wa stated as she took a sip of her tea.

"This is good tea. Can you give me the tea leaves or the seeds for the trees here? We can plant it in my territory so that the other elders could enjoy them. Most of them are tea enthusiasts that would go crazy for them." Adrian stated as he really did enjoy the tea since he is already in his third cup.

"The sweets are also very good! All of them have delicate flavors that goes perfectly well with the tea." Frey stated as well since both her and Adrian were enjoying the tea and not listening to Peridot and Levin Cloud's reactions.

"I am glad that you two enjoy them. Most of the people in the eastern continent have forgotten the allure of refined tea. The young ones like the drink they call boba now, but it is just a cold version of tea sweetened to the point that you could get sickness from it." Nu Wa stated as it was actually a player that introduced it to the eastern continent.

"I already tasted it, and it is very good. It seems that they use some rare ingredients farmed in a sea dungeon to make the pearls. Very innovative if you ask me." Peridot stated as she had free reign in the eastern continent back when the Ryujin were still active.

"If that is the origin of the Moon Chasing Lotus Festival, then how did it get its name now when it should have been called the First Emergence?" Adrian asked as he at least now know the origin of how it started.

"It was called the Moon Chasing Lotus Festival after a couple of centuries. The immortals that witnessed that event finally burned their lifespan, but they all viewed our emergence as beautiful. When the 'moon' hatched, the people that saw that event described the destruction of the 'moon' with shape of a lotus. Stories of the event have been passed down from generation to generation but they always described it as a lotus.

Since a 'moon' exploded back then, the people always held festivals to ward off evil or calamity so that another moon would not explode. This became tradition to the people, and we always saw their smiles and enjoyment when they gathered. We could not take away their happiness which is why we reinforced that story.

A festival to gather in merry and ward off evil so that another moon explosion will not occur. We, Ryujin, do not just protect the ordinary people of the eastern continent physically but also mentally and spiritually. As long as the Ryujin know where we come from then that should be enough." Nu Wa stated as she smiled beautifully like a loving mother.

"That is so beautiful." Frey and Peridot stated simultaneously as they were touched.

"Anyways, are the four of you not going to prepare for the night stalls down the mountain? The people of the villages and towns prepared with all their might. All of you should go down and enjoy yourselves while we prepare everything for your stay here." Nu Wa stated.

"Could we even blend in? He has horns and I look nothing like any being here. We might even look like foreigners because of what we are wearing." Levin Cloud stated as he and the others do not have appropriate clothing.

"I already called for the people going to dress you. The teatime is merely for giving them enough time to get ready." Nu Wa stated as she clapped her hands.

As soon as Nu Wa finished clapping her hands, twenty attendants suddenly surrounded all of them. The attendants giggled as if they were suddenly excited about something. Without even the strength to refuse, each of them was dragged by five attendants towards their dressing rooms. They did not resist or rather they could not because Nu Wa herself made them powerless.

It took about two hours for all of them to get ready as the attendants made sure that they were proper. Each of them was almost bathe by the attendants but Adrian and Levin Cloud refused with all their might which is why they took a bath by themselves. Peridot and Frey are different though as they were extremely pampered by the attendants.

"I feel like we are in a spa. I suddenly feel bad for them doing everything for us." Frey stated.

"This is always what they do when I come home. I just got used to it after the third time. Also, they find enjoyment and satisfaction with helping us, so it is all good. Just be sure to thank them later." Peridot stated.

"Okay! What do you think is happening to the boys?" Frey asked.

"They are probably screaming for their lives while they get scrubbed down or massaged." Peridot stated.

"Ugh!" Levin Cloud stated.

"I think they cracked my spine." Adrian commented as both of them share a room and looked extremely fatigued.

"I never knew that there were different types of massages. I should not have told them to do everything on me. My body suddenly feels like it is made of jelly, and this is basically just an avatar made of wood." Levin Cloud stated.

"I think their massages reached my spirit." Adrian added.

Chapter 2179: Moon Chasing Lotus Festival III

After all the massages and other beauty regimens were done, all four of them were also dressed up with different and stylish kimonos. It seems that the seamstresses were inspired after seeing all of them and did custom kimonos for each of them. When they saw each other, they are shocked as they all looked vibrant and beautiful.

Peridot wore a peach kimono with a golden serpentine dragon embroidered on it. The serpentine dragon looks like it is coiling upwards as if it is going back to the heavens. She also has a golden hairpin that is made up of gems with dragon heads. She not only looked beautiful but also very fierce. Her aura is not hidden by the kimono but even exponentially increased it. Levin Cloud used Polymorph on himself to look more elf like as his hair made of leaves and vines is a dead giveaway of being a Leshy. He also wore a kimono that is of the blue color which made his greenish hair stand out more. The kimono that he wears has patterns of a willow tree which is beautifully embroidered with every detail. Even every leaf in that embroidery looked real.

Frey also tied up her blonde hair upwards with a pin that looks like refracted lights of the rainbow. The hairpin itself looked incredibly beautiful as it looked like it was made of transparent crystals. With each movement of her head, the crystal hairpin would emit different colored lights. The crystal hairpin basically refracted the light that passes through it to create the illusion.

The kimono that she wore is of the white color and is decorated with snowy mountains. Her sleeves are also a bit different as well as there are crystal pieces embedded in it which also refracts light. She might look foreign because of her features vastly different from the normal people of the eastern continent but no one could deny that she is jaw droppingly gorgeous. Adrian also used polymorph on himself to become human looking, but he only needed to hide his horns. His white hair with blue streaks is eye catching but it paired perfectly with the kimono that was given to him. The kimono that was given to Adrian was mostly black in color, but the designs were very intricate.

The kimono that Adrian wore looked like the starry sky was cut up and sewn directly on it. The bottom of the kimono starts off purely black until it reaches the top part where small stars could be seen. Each of these stars is actually small gems of varying colors of white to light blue. The top part of his kimono gave the illusion that the stars pooled up and created a galaxy for him to wear. It was incredibly fitting for him as they say that the face is what makes the clothes.

"It seems that the seamstresses have outdone themselves. All of you are now ready to go to the night festival below." Nu Wa stated.

"They look incredibly expensive. We will make sure to return it to you after the festival." Adrian stated as these clothes were incredible.

"Do not return them as they were all made with you in mind. You can wear them again in the next Moon Chasing Lotus Festival. Take them as a gift from me as you have taken care of my daughter in my absence." Nu Wa stated.

"Are you sure you are giving these to us?" Frey asked.

"I am sure, child. Now, all of you must go to the town below to enjoy the festival. Have fun and be careful out there.

"Thank you." All of them stated simultaneously as Adrian teleported them just outside of the town.

"Now that they are away, tell me the news that the informant has given." Nu Wa stated as she suddenly became incredibly serious.

"Yes, mistress. According to the reports, Mount Emei was attacked by a mysterious organization. Most of the monks were injured and a handful of casualties as well." The attendant next to Nu Wa stated.

"Did they kill the Abbot?" Nu Wa asked.

"No. They were unable to kill him, but they were able to steal the bead that was etched onto the large statue in the main hall. Once they gotten the bead, all of them escaped as it seems that thing is what they wanted. All of the monks in Mount Emei are enraged which is why they gave chase. They were able to deal with the slow ones but the ones who took the bead escaped." The attendant stated.

"What do they need the bead for? It is just a large precious stone that is white in color. I would have grown weary if the thing that was stolen are the forbidden martial manuals, but it was just a bead.

Do we know the details about that bead? They wanted to steal it even if some of them died." Nu Wa stated.

"Our scholars are now checking the records in our place right now. Some of the scholars also went to Mount Emei to check the records of the large statue to see details about the bead. They have yet to get a definitive answer, but they shall inform it with haste." The attendant stated.

Chapter 2180: Moon Chasing Lotus Festival IV

The four arrived at the nearby town to enjoy the night stalls that is present during the Moon Chasing Lotus Festival. It seems that even the eastern continent can have peaceful times when festivals like this are in season. There is an unspoken rule that mortals should not be affected by the activities of the immortals but not all of them abide by this rule. There are a lot of things that go unseen by the others, but it is left undisturbed as long as the majority abides by this rule.

"Wow! It feels like we are in another country. I remember that this is like the festivals that celebrate East Asia." Levin Cloud stated.

"Well, the eastern continent is like an amalgam of all the countries in East Asia. You can even see that most of them have this culture. The only difference is that they are now landlocked together instead of some having borders separated by water. This plays in why most of the culture are shared and integrated to become what the eastern continent is now." Adrian stated.

"Enough of the boring stuff! Let us go and try on the games! I wanted to try those games when I visit that country in real life. I can practice it here now. Make sure that all of us enjoy the night!" Peridot stated as she really wanted to play these stall games that are popular festival games she has only seen in dramas or in animations.

"There is a large crowd so make sure that we do not get separated." Adrian stated.

"Do not worry about that. You can basically sense all of us even if we are a hundred meters away. You are better than a bloodhound when it comes to things like that." Peridot stated as she made fun of Adrian's sharp perception.

"Frey and I will try everything this town has to offer!" Peridot stated as she clutched Frey's arms and walked with her to all the game stores.

"So, what are we going to do?" Levin Cloud stated as he watched the two girls immediately try a game that makes them scoop up small fishes using a paper paddle.

"I will check on the food stalls. I bet those two will drain their stamina by a lot. You can watch over them while I get the food as I am sharper than a bloodhound after all. Huh?!" Adrian stated but he suddenly blanked out for a split second.

"What? Is something wrong? Do not tell me that you are thinking what food you will buy first? I know that you cannot get fat in the game, but the taste is still there. Still, you need to control yourself or you might do it in the real world as well." Levin Cloud teased.

"Sorry about that. I just felt something eerie for a second, but it might have been me getting blasted with the cold air. I will get the food now." Adrian stated as he vanished into the crowds and started his food crawl.

"He really should have just been honest that he wanted to try the food." Levin Cloud stated as he joined Peridot and Frey in their game crawl.

"Such happy gazes! So envious. I want to prick all of their festive mood and gobble it all to myself." A woman that is dressed in a rather beautiful kimono decorated with a silver snake stated.

"Control yourself, Lady Envy. We are not here to destroy a town as that would alert all the immortals of our activities. We are here to rendezvous with the strike team to battle against the Ryujin." A man wearing a hood stated.

"You bore me because you are not even being open about being envious. You might bottle it up, but I can smell it on you like cheap perfume. You cannot hide anything from me, mortal." Lady Envy stated as her humanlike eyes turned snake like for a split second.

"What he says is true, Lady Envy. If you cause a scene to a large town like this then it would alert the Murim Alliance. We cannot have them on our tails as battling the Ryujin is already difficult. We cannot have another enemy force attacking us or we will lose." A hooded woman stated.

"Tch. This is why you are the boring one. You do not even have a shred of envy in you. All you have is duty like the brainwashed minion that you are. Fret not, I will hold my end of the bargain as I can finally move on my own once this task is done.

I can behave myself while we wait for the others to arrive. Still, it does not mean that I will not enjoy myself for the night. As long as they do not die then that is fine." Lady Envy stated as she moved towards a group of women that was glancing at her with jealousy.

"This is why I do not like being in baby sitting duty. These Primordial Beasts might be tame now, but we all know that they are just waiting to be released from the pact that we have with them." The hooded man stated.

"As long as they do not compromise the mission then we shall use them as the masters see fit. All we have to do is do our part and look after them while they are still on a leash." The hooded woman stated.

"I had a wonderful meal. Huh?!" Lady Envy stated as the group of jealous women could be seen sitting down as if they were drained of energy.

"Is there something wrong, Lady Envy?" The hooded woman asked.

"Nothing. It is odd but maybe I was just a bit euphoric because of what I previously did. I thought I sensed primordial energy in the area as if the quality is higher than that of a powerful primordial beast like me." Lady Envy stated.

"Alert the others and try probing the area is another primordial beast is nearby." The hooded woman stated as the hooded man vanished.
