Chapter 2201: Trapping a Greater God

The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi thought that it was the Goddess Nuwa doing the elemental spells from behind him but is shocked when he learned who it was. The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi pierced the back of his head and saw that it was another Ryujin that carried the same potential as the Goddess Nuwa. He mistakenly thought a Ryujin to be a goddess of creation because of the power that she covered herself with.

Earlier...

"Does your mother have a way of trapping the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi?" Adrian asked as there should be a way for the Goddess Nuwa to trap another god albeit temporarily.

"I will ask." Peridot stated as she quickly asked the Goddess Nuwa while she was deep in battle with the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi.

"She replied that there is a way but that would need to have the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi in a situation where he cannot move quickly for at least five seconds." Peridot replied.

"Perfect. We will create that opportunity. Just make sure that your mother prepares the thing that is needed." Adrian stated as he pushed himself to stop time briefly but all it did was slow down the fight between the Goddess Nuwa and the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi.

It seems that the two gods fighting each other did not notice that time has stopped for the entire world. Adrian learned that the minds of the gods are not affected by time stopping or slowing down due to that brief encounter. As soon as he managed to stop time for at least two seconds, Adrian captured all of his friends inside portals as he sent them to another dimension or more specifically, the mirror dimension. One could see that he is now in his mirror demon form once again as he also vanished.

All of them waited in the mirror dimension as Adrian told them that they need the perfect timing. He immediately sent out Peridot first when the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi pounced on the barrier of the Sanctuary of the Ryujin. The Goddess Nuwa, on the other hand, turned herself into mist and blended into the skies while she took out the important thing that could trap the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi.

When the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi broke the barrier, Adrian then sent out Frey directly towards the enemy. Her mission is to make sure that the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi will not move in his position for at least two seconds. Levin Cloud even enchanted her spear with the best buff that he could give. The plan worked as Frey managed to make the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi block her attack as she aimed for a weak spot that she learned when the Goddess Freyja resided on her body.

With Frey pinning the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi in position, Levin Cloud is the next to move as he used all the divine energy he could and transformed to his true form. He then proceeded to create roots and vines that grasped the body of the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi. The shock of physical things grasping his body might have affected the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi as he did not even look back when elemental spells rained down on his body.

"Is this your attempt, goddess?" The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi shouted as he could feel the elemental spells hitting his body directly while he was rooted down.

Seeing that the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi believed that Peridot was the Goddess Nuwa, Adrian created the portal that mattered the most as this carried the Goddess Nuwa in mist form. When the mist created physical form, the Goddess Nuwa could be seen carrying a painting of mountains and rivers. The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi shuddered when he saw this painting as he knew what it is.

"The Myriad Miles Rivers and Mountains painting!" The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi shouted in shock as this is one of the rarest treasures in the eastern continent as it was made using the most powerful materials from their fallen gods of time and space.

"Let us have you here for just a moment." The Goddess Nuwa stated as she activated the painting.

The body of the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi started to turn into ink as if he was getting drawn. The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi released a powerful blast of energy to try and destroy the things that bound him, but Adrian added more. Adrian fused with Charon and made the chains come out of the mirrors which held down the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi even more.

The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi had no choice but to accept the fate that he will be sealed inside the painting. It took exactly five seconds just as what the Goddess Nuwa told them she needed. The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi is transported inside the painting and one can even see a slight silhouette of his body in the painting itself.

"Did we get him?" Peridot asked as she could not believe that the Greater God Amatsu- Mikaboshi was trapped just like that.

"He is clearly inside of the painting, but I can still feel his energy even though he is inside." Adrian stated as he appeared in his fused form.

"We solved the initial problem but..." Levin Cloud stated as the Myriad Miles Rivers and Mountains painting suddenly shook.

"What is happening? I thought that we already won?" Frey asked as trapping a god is already considered a victory in her books.

"The Myriad Miles Rivers and Mountains painting might be a formidable sealing relic, but it cannot contain a god such as Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi. He is a being of chaos and beings like him cannot be contained easily. Even a pocket dimension would fall as long as he is given enough time. The Goddess Nuwa stated as she poured more of her energy into the painting to maintain the seal.

"If only it were really that easy. Does this mean what I think it means?" Levin Cloud stated as he sighed heavily.

"We need to go inside the painting and destroy him there. Luckily, we have the Goddess Nuwa by our side to fight and he is trapped in there. He cannot run away anymore." Adrian stated as he looked at the positive side, but the Goddess Nuwa could be seen frowning. "Unfortunately, I cannot go inside with all of you because I need to maintain the seal on the Myriad Miles Rivers and Mountains painting." The Goddess Nuwa stated.

"How can we defeat him then? We cannot go against a greater god with just the five of us!" Peridot stated as she knows their limits. They might be powerful, but their current strength will not be able to contend with a greater god especially a unique greater god like Amatsu- Mikaboshi.

"Yes, you might not be able to defeat him if you fight him here but the inside the Myriad Miles Rivers and Mountains painting is a different thing. I can control this pocket dimension as it is bonded to me. I can help you decrease his power to a degree where you could contend with him, but the fight will still be difficult." The Goddess Nuwa stated.

"Is there no other option? Like trapping him there forever?" Frey asked.

"I could do so but that also means being trapped in there with him. We will both fight until one of us falls and if I were the one to fall then..." The Goddess Nuwa stated but she could not finish her words because all of them knew what the next words would be.

"Then all we can do is fight. We have no choice because losing my mother is not an option." Peridot stated as she looked at the Goddess Nuwa with resolute eyes. The silence of the Goddess Nuwa upon hearing the words 'mother' made her teary eyed as the way Peridot said it with no hesitation made her heart full.

"Well, once she is fired up... we can no longer stop her. We can only agree that we will jump inside the painting and defeat the maniacal god made of chaos energy." Levin Cloud stated as he briefly returned to his humanoid form. He then looked at Adrian to see on what his opinion will be.

"I am silent because I already agree. Also, she is staring daggers at me. What about you, Frey?" Adrian stated as he looked at Peridot. It has some odd air that he is in his fused undead demon form but is afraid of a beautiful girl that has dragon eyes.

"Of course, I will help. My bestie needs support right now and I am all that she has in terms of female support." Frey stated the first sentence clearly but softly spoken the next sentence as if she was shy.

"I knew would be there for me, bestie." Peridot stated as she hugged Frey. She clearly heard everything as her draconic senses are much keener compared to human senses after all. "All of you have agreed. Make sure to prepare and heal up. I can hold him here for at least 30 minutes without problem, but it is a different thing if he goes berserk." The Goddess Nuwa stated.

Chapter 2202: Myriad Miles Rivers and Mountains

The time of preparation for all of them was not long as the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi started attacking the relic. The Goddess Nuwa had to concentrate in order to make sure that the sealing process was still in a spot where she could manipulate the world inside of the Myriad Miles Rivers and Mountains painting.

"We are ready." Adrian stated as he made sure to save all the spells that he could.

The others also prepared as well as Levin Cloud gathered as much divine energy he could as he used most of it just trying to trap the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi. Peridot was given free access to the gemstone vault of the Sanctuary of the Ryujins and took the things that she needed for that as well. Frey could no longer use the divine descent of her goddess which is why she prayed to the Goddess Freyja for the remaining minutes.

The prayer that Frey did have managed to temporarily bump up her stats to a bonus of 30% which she knew will come in handy for the fight. All avatars of gods could do this sacred ritual at least once a day where they receive a blessing directly from their gods. They did not use this in active battle though as they cannot pray in the middle of a fight.

They usually prayed before the fight happens as the blessing of their god will diminish overtime as it does not last for a whole day. Frey wanted to be at her peak power when she fights against the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi. All of them looked nervous but the determination in their eyes could clearly be seen. All of them did not want to lose as they could barely do anything to the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi earlier when they fought. "This is revenge!" Peridot stated as her eyes burned with passion.

"Calm down or you might make a mistake." Levin Cloud stated but even he is also pumped up. "Are you nervous as well?" Frey asked Adrian.

"A little bit. Battling gods is a whole different thing entirely as they are beings that cannot be easily defined by the level system.

Frey nodded to what Adrian told her as she knows this as well because she fought against Lesser Gods in the northern continent. She had the aid of the other Valkyries, but they were always cautious against them. The older Valkyries always warned them to never underestimate a god even if they are at their weakest tier. They became gods in the first place which meant that the struggle that they had was far longer and older than they did.

"We have battled against gods before even in the north and we always had heavy wounds. If the Lady of the Serene Lake was not a healer that has the status of a demigod, then we would have lost most of our sisters already." Frey stated as she knew how powerful a lesser god could be especially when cornered.

"We must not hold back in this fight even if we die in the process. Even if we all lose, we must make sure that the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi is weakened to the point that he can be sealed for at least a year without problems." Adrian stated which made the others nod as well.

All of them did not underestimate their opponent and made sure that all of them will be ready. They also thought of a failsafe just in case they really fall in battle. The failsafe is none other than weakening the enemy to the point that even he will not be able to recover quickly. This plan was also greenlit by the Goddess Nuwa herself as she could seal the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi for up to a year should he be weakened.

"I shall now send all of you inside of the Myriad Miles Rivers and Mountains painting. Inside the painting, I can give all of you some support but most of my strength will be focused on suppressing the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi. I wished I can support all of you more, but this is the weakness of the painting itself despite being a top tier sealing relic." The Goddess Nuwa stated as she was now losing her divine shine as she was using most of her divine energy trying to suppress the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi inside of the painting's pocket dimension.

"That is more than enough for us. We will make sure to defeat the enemy inside the Myriad Miles Rivers and Mountains painting." Adrian stated with conviction.

"We will make sure that your effort is not wasted, mother." Peridot stated.

"Just make sure to come back safe. Even if I have to seal him for a year, your safety is what matters." The Goddess Nuwa stated.

"We are now ready. Please send us inside." Adrian stated to which the Goddess Nuwa nodded. The Goddess Nuwa made some graceful motions from her hand as the painting that was closed up suddenly unfurled. A gentle breeze of energy attached itself to the bodies of the four players which is a big contrast to the oppressive force that the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi felt. The bodies of the four could be seen suddenly becoming like ink lines as if they were being turned into drawings.

"I will hide your initial arrival. Make good use of that time." The Goddess Nuwa stated as she hoped that all four of them will be able to defeat the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi.

All four of them are then sucked inside the Myriad Miles Rivers and Mountains painting. The Goddess Nuwa immediately sealed the painting in its scroll form again and let out a powerful battle cry. She used all of her elemental gems plus the creation gem to create a powerful barrier around her and the Sanctuary of the Ryujin. She then assumed the Lotus pose as she meditated as she completely linked herself with the relic that she has.

The Ryujins inside the sanctuary also aided their mistress by assuming the same meditative position she did. All of the elemental energies in the eastern continent started to whirl as the Ryujins were sending the strength to the Goddess Nuwa. The luster that her divine body lost started to slowly come back as she needed all the strength that she could muster in order to weaken a greater god.

Inside the Myriad Miles Rivers and Mountains Painting...

The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi could not believe that he was easily trapped by beings that did not even have proper divinity. By beings without proper divinity, he is thinking about Adrian and the others as they are not proper gods. The fact that mortals managed to seal him made his nonexistent blood boil. He just pacified his rage by the fact that it was the Goddess Nuwa that trapped her inside the Myriad Miles Rivers and Mountains painting.

"Still, to think that old snake had this powerful treasure within her grasp. I was too complacent in thinking that there would no longer be anything useful against that old snake. I just need to destroy part of this pocket dimension, and I will be able to escape." The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi muttered to himself, but he knew it is difficult.

The Myriad Miles Rivers and Mountains painting was incredibly powerful as the materials used to create it were from fragments of fallen gods of time and space. It was painted by an Immortal that has comprehended the Dao of Art to the highest degree that he achieved enlightenment. He even told him that the materials he used even cried out to him to be used. The unfortunate thing is that when he finished the Myriad Miles Rivers and Mountains painting is that he died.

The Enlightened Immortal used up his own life essence to finish the painting as if he was a crazed cultivator. The Myriad Miles Rivers and Mountains painting was the result, and it shook the entire eastern continent. It was a relic that combined the power of the gods of time and space as it was their fragments used in painting it. A painting with a pocket dimension where time is frozen and even the concepts of hunger and fatigue could be controlled by the owner.

The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi remembered how the Goddess Izanami craved this treasure to the point that she razed kingdoms to acquire it. In the end, the Goddess Izanami was not able to obtain the Myriad Miles Rivers and Mountains painting because it was said to have been lost. The fact that the Goddess Nuwa had it all along meant that she obtained it when the razing of the kingdoms happened.

"I knew that the Ryujin quelled the fire of war back then but to think that they obtained it when even they said that it was a treasure that was already lost. The Ryujin are just tyrants pretending to be defenders as they do not want to be kicked down the food chain." The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi stated as he tried to destroy the pocket dimension using his own energy.

Chapter 2203: Inside a Painting I

[You are inside the Myriad Miles Rivers and Mountains Painting.]

The notification that they received confirmed that they have indeed been transported inside of the powerful relic. Adrian knew that the pocket dimensions were unique but the one inside the Myriad Miles Rivers and Mountains Painting was by far the most different thing he has seen. The pocket dimension looked like it was a drawing made to life.

The mountains and rivers that were inside the painting looked real but closer inspection reveals another thing. The mountains and rivers were made using ink and paper but the feel of the things inside made it look authentic. In fact, Levin Cloud's hand became wet when he dipped his hand into one of the rivers next to them.

"We do not have much time. Let us go." Adrian stated as he switched to his mirror demon form again.

Adrian used his mirrors to hide his three companions and then summoned Sirius. With the aid of Sirius, Adrian traveled through the shadows. He did not expect that they can travel in the shadows inside of the paintings but there was an element called shadow inside of the pocket dimension. It seems that worlds created using colors will always get shadows when shading is applied to them.

Adrian really wanted to research on the Myriad Miles Rivers and Mountains Painting, but they were in an urgent mission. The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi was still trying to destroy or poke a hole in the pocket dimension. Any small shift in the dimension would change everything and that would also make him able to create a temporary exit.

The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi could be seen using his claws and tendrils to try and pierce the pocket dimension, but all his attacks bounced off. Each successive hit slightly weakened the pocket dimension though, but the Goddess Nuwa made sure that she created them sturdy. She was even gathering more magic to strengthen the pocket dimension of the Myriad Miles Rivers and Mountains painting.

"You wretched snake! I shall skin you alive when I get out of here!" The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi shouted as he tried piercing the dimension once more, but he noticed a great change with each hit.

An invisible pressure enveloped the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi as this was the restriction that the Goddess Nuwa applied on him. The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi no longer had the power of a peak greater god, but it was lessened to match a peak lesser god. He did not know why the Goddess Nuwa applied something like a curse to him, but he did not care.

"Weakening me will not stop me from escaping. I can escape within week even if you focus all your efforts on weakening me. You do not have full control of the relic as well! If you had full control over it, then you would have been able to permanently seal me in here! The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi stated but he did not know if the words he spoke will reach the ears of the Goddess Nuwa.

The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi, who was busy destroying the walls of the pocket dimension, suddenly felt a great chill. He stopped whatever he was doing and suddenly used his claws to engage with the enemy behind him. The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi knew the killing intent that is suddenly poured onto him. Sirius was now incredibly close towards the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi that the former opened his large jaws to tear the neck of the latter.

"Die, doggy!" The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi shouted as his claws was now meeting the jaws of Sirius.

Just as the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi was about to plunge his claws directly at Sirius' jaws, a mirror suddenly appeared in front of the latter. Sirius entered the mirror and vanished before his jaw was dislocated. The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi saw this happen before and he focused his sight to see the demon that came inside of the painting.

The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi would have rushed towards Adrian's location and killed him, but the Orb of Order was not in his presence. The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi will never mistake the smell of the energy of null in the Orb of Order. Killing the demon would not give him the ultimate treasure that he needs but it would give him the ultimate pleasure. "You entered your own graveyard, demon!" The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi shouted in an excited manner as he charged towards Adrian and forgot that he was trying to break the pocket dimension walls.

The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi was fast, but he was not as fast as before because the restriction of the Goddess Nuwa affected him. The god made up of chaos energy is now weakened to a lesser god which meant that all of them could more or less keep up with him because the Goddess Nuwa was supporting them. Adrian did not even falter as he created four different mirrors in different angles.

A spear came out of the first mirror as this mirror is located at the right side of the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi. The second mirror is located at the lower left side of the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi and vines with thorns came out of this mirror. The third mirror appeared slightly above the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi, and this one released different elemental attacks. The fourth mirror appeared from below and this one contained Sirius with his jaws about to pounce on the neck of the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi.

The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi is now surrounded by his enemies, and he could feel that they have been enhanced by the pocket dimension itself. The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi did not worry as he was still in a greater god's body. The strength that he could release might be reduced to that of a lesser god, but the toughness of his body is still that of a greater god. Any feeble attack will just feel like a scratch.

"I will kill off the demon first!" The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi stated but Adrian did not just create the mirrors that summoned his friends.

A golden dragon could be seen coiled around Adrian as his gapping mouth already absorbed the necessary energy for a more powerful dragon breath. The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi that thought that he could kill off Adrian suddenly turned defensive as he used his tendrils to create a barrier around him. The only problem for the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi is that he became slow in doing so because he got weakened.

The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi did not fathom that even his own energy circulation would be affected by his weakening. The tendrils slowly covered him, but the attacks of the others reached him earlier. The first to hit was none other than the golden beam of light that was the dragon breath used by Kanlaon. The enemy was bathed in this powerful and oppressive golden light that it cracked the barrier that the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi was supposed to cast on himself.

Since the barrier cracked, the elemental barrage from above that Peridot used damaged the personal barrier of the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi even further. By the time, Frey's spear hit the body of the enemy, the barrier got fully destroyed. A destroyed barrier made it easy for Levin Cloud to use his vines to grasp at the body of the enemy. Sirius did not waste this chance as well because he went in and bit the neck of the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi when he got the chance.

"ARRGGHH!" The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi exclaimed as he suddenly used a powerful energy to blow away all of those that tried to pin him down.

The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi actually made his own body explode using the energy that he has. This approach was highly effective in shaking off all of the beings that is pinning him down, but it also dealt considerable damage to his own body. He made parts of his own body explode and turn to nothing just so he could use the force to repel his enemies. Adrian manipulated everything perfectly to make sure that none of his friends and even Sirius are safe. With a gentle sway of his hand, the mirrors swallowed up the four of them again and they appeared next to him after the snap of the hand. Adrian's sensitivity to energy made him realize what the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi was trying to do.

"Copycat!" Adrian exclaimed as the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi did what he has done earlier but in a smaller and more controlled degree.

"I have no time for your mockery, demon!" The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi shouted as he once again pounced towards Adrian.

Adrian used the mirror to gain some distance from the enemy as he summoned mirrors around the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi again. Before the mirrors could be of use, the enemy destroyed all of them using his own strength. Numerous tendrils burst forth from the body of the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi and pierced the mirrors which destroyed them.

Chapter 2204: Inside a Painting II

Adrian wanted to at least use those mirrors as passageways for his friends and soulbounds, but they were all destroyed. He had no choice but to gain distance and escape from melee combat. Adrian summoned a mirror behind him which swallowed him right through while the claw of the Greater

God Amatsu-Mikaboshi destroyed the mirror that he used to vanish. The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi thought that he would also pass through, but he ended up breaking it.

"That demon can control the mirrors! This is the first that I have heard of a demon that possesses the ability to control mirrors. He also has the same energy as me inside his body, but he is not even using it." The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi thought as he released a powerful aura that showed the things invisible in the area.

When the aura swept through the area, the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi could suddenly see less than a hundred mirrors around the area. He did not even sense when or how the demon created these mirrors, but he must destroy them all. He thought that he could trap them in whatever place they were hiding at. If there are no mirrors, then they might get trapped inside that special dimension.

"He is destroying all of your mirrors." Levin Cloud stated

"Let him break them to ease his rage. I can easily create them anyways. I guess our sneak attack did not utterly fail but he was not weakened by it." Adrian stated.

"More like he is now filled with even more rage. At this rate, he might destroy the pocket dimension before we defeat him." Peridot stated as she saw everything that the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi is doing while destroying the mirrors.

"I am still trying to wrap my head around that there is a dimension like this. I guess it has yet to properly sink in because my mind is thinking of ways to defeat the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi." Frey stated as she curiously looked around her surroundings.

"Even I am actually quite shocked that even a special pocket dimension like this has a mirror dimension." Adrian stated.

"Enough flirting. We still need a way to defeat him. His attack power might have been reduced to that of a lesser god, but it seems his body is still that of a greater god." Peridot stated.

"I agree. Sirius also agrees as he explained that the body of the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi felt like biting through steel. His body might not look solid, but the defenses are definitely greater god level. We need to weaken his defenses so that our attacks could at least deal some form of damage." Adrian stated.

"If all of you can protect me then I might be able to place curses on him." Levin Cloud stated. "Oh! Now this is new." Adrian exclaimed as he suddenly saw Levin Cloud in a different form. Levin Cloud usually has a combined form of a Leshy filled with both life and death energy. He suddenly assumed a form where his death energy is more potent in his body and Adrian could only describe it as cool. The Death Energy form of Levin Cloud has him looking like a dark elf in terms of skin tone and physique. His hair that had leaves are now just numerous dried roots while his eyes that became pale gray.

"You suddenly looked like if a dark elf turned into a Leshy. The aura of death around you are also thick to the point that you could probably absorb the life force around you." Adrian stated.

"You are not the only one that needs to be able to control the two energies of life and death inside your body. I managed to train myself in this form as a form of amplification when I am using death spells. The caveat is that I cannot use my healing spells as potent as it was before." Levin Cloud stated.

"I see. So, your form basically amplifies the specific energy you are in. You are not restricted in using healing spells from the life spell category, but the effects are lessened. If you use death attribute spells, then it would be amplified. Interesting but difficult to use." Frey stated as she was also shocked with the new form that Levin Cloud had and is somewhat jealous. Frey looked around and could see that she was the only one that did not change forms on the regular. One could say that her goddess descent is her form change but it is different compared to what the others are doing. Adrian has two different forms and Levin Cloud has three forms while Peridot can shift from humanoid to dragon form easily.

"Should I ask the Goddess Freyja? Maybe she could grant it to me or something." Frey thought but if she could see the way her goddess was thinking that she was getting corrupted by forms then she would have become embarrassed.

"We have no choice but to support, Levin Cloud. Some of my soulbounds have debuffs as well but they are not that potent." Adrian stated.

"Let us do it. Are you game, Frey?" Peridot stated as she looked at Frey as the latter suddenly snapped out of her daze.

"Yes! I can be the shield while both of you could misdirect the Greater God Amatsu- Mikaboshi." Frey stated as she volunteered guarding Levin Cloud from attacks while he was busy using curses on the enemy.

"Ok! Let us go!" Adrian stated as he waved his hand, and a mirror swallowed all of them.

"Where are you!" The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi shouted as he kept destroying the mirrors that keep spawning out of nowhere.

As the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi was about to use quite a bit of his power to destroy the area around him, the four's presence was immediately detected by him. The first person that he detected is none other than Adrian as his claws almost reached the latter's face but a dragon's tail slapped it upwards which redirected it.

Chapter 2205: Inside a Painting III

"That was close!" Adrian stated but he actually managed to see that attack and even react to it because he used Time Stop.

Adrian knew that the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi will target him first when they come out which is why he teleported the others away from him. He also immediately used Time Stop when he got out and he clearly discovered that the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi is aiming for him. He immediately used Limit Break: Summoner as he reverted the cooldown of this skill earlier before they went inside the Myriad Miles Rivers and Mountains painting. Inside Time Stop, Adrian summoned all of his soulbounds without missing a beat. Kanlaon reacted faster as he slammed the claw of the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi upwards so that the latter will not hit his master. Adrian ended Time Stop when he saw this happen and the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi actually got caught off balance for a slight second.

The sliver of a second was all Adrian and his soulbounds needed though as they launched the full-scale attack. Sirius dove into the shadows and released numerous shadow spikes that aimed to main the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi. Kanlaon surrounded the enemy with his dragon balls and started to spam elemental spells around. Saena released her powerful divine winds to deal damage to the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi and pin him down from above. Charon opened up some of his cloak to release darker and harsher chains that bound the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi. Dodu released tentacles that aimed to turn the body of the enemy into acid. Kimat called upon the lightning as dark clouds rolled and launched lightning attacks that were amplified by Kanlaon. Wisteria released a powerful leaf storm made of crystals from her back that actually produce small cuts on the body of the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi.

Kenos did not attack as he lied in wait in order to aid his brothers and sisters should they need to be saved. Kenos does not have a strong attack power and is more suited for fleeing others when they are in battle because he can also control space. The power of all of Adrian's soulbounds made him contend with a lesser god. The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi had to immediately cover himself with a shell of his tendrils as he retreated.

The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi is greatly shocked that his tough body did not endure the attacks that hit him. He would have normally absorbed any of those attacks as he still had the body of a greater god. Only the power output he could release is restricted to that of a lesser god. He suddenly thought of the Goddess Nuwa burning her own life and divinity to weaken him even further.

"That damned snake goddess! She is doing this to me!" The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi thought as he retreated a few steps back but failed to notice the danger that suddenly appeared above him.

"I call for the Moon!" Peridot stated as she pointed her fingers towards the sky.

Peridot thought that the spell that she used would be ineffective as there is no moon in this pocket dimension but is shocked that her spell did not fail. Even without a moon, meteors made up of moon rocks appeared in the sky and aimed for the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi. The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi thought that he could endure the meteors that are about to hit him, but another appeared next to him.

Frey with a supercharged spear that glowed in a rather eerie light pierced the barrier of the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi. The pierced barrier made the shadow tendrils vanish in just a second as the moon rocks directly fell towards the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi. The reason why Frey's spear is able to do this is due to the fact that Levin Cloud enchanted it with an enhancement spell called Deadly Blow.

It is a powerful enhancement spell that could make your next attack a critical hit as long as it is against another living being. This spell also has a hefty cooldown which is why Levin Cloud cannot cast it as often. With the barrier gone, the moon rocks directly hit the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi. All five moon rocks pounded on the same location as if the galaxy itself was angered by the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi.

When the smoke and rubble lifted, the moon rocks could be seen destroyed into powder as they hit someone incredibly sturdy. The four did not lose their focus as they have yet to receive a notification telling them that they have killed the enemy. A black oil like mass suddenly burst out as the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi formed his body once again. Seeing that the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi has reformed, Adrian launched attacks against him along with his soulbounds. Peridot did not stop as well as she released easy to use elemental spells to make sure that the enemy is stopped in their tracks. Frey also did the same as she switched her weapon to long range form as she used her own aura and released energy waves.

The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi could only endure the onslaught as the enemies around him were making it difficult to land attacks. When he is going to use a chaotic dark tendril, a concentrated beam of light would suddenly destroy it. Saena just provided the attack while Adrian was the one in charge of aiming the holy light beams. If it was not the light beams, then it would be the chains that suddenly sprout out from the ground that destroys the tendrils.

To make matters even more difficult for the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi, energy beams from different beings are being aimed at him. The dragon breath of Kanlaon and the spirit beam of Wisteria are energy beams that he needed to be slightly on guard about. The lightning bursts of Kimat also helped in disabling the movements of the Greater God Amatsu- Mikaboshi.

"Still, that does not explain my own body weakening! If it was divine energy from that snake goddess, then I would have noticed it earlier. Unless!" The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi thought as he remembered that there was a fourth one.

Chapter 2206: Inside a Painting IV

The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi suddenly released his aura all around, but this was more akin to a sonar. A slightly powerful breeze swept across the area and the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi looked at the direction near his right. He saw Levin Cloud muttering some prayers while a frozen part of him is being casted with numerous curses.

The frozen part of the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi is just like a small droplet of his tarlike body that was cut off. It was frozen so that it would not react to the commands of the greater god. It is essentially a dead part of him, but it was enough for Levin Cloud to use as a medium for the curses.

The mana needed to cast the curses might be large because the medium is small, but they were incredibly effective. Out of the ten curses that Levin Cloud used on the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi, about seven of them affected the enemy. Some might have weakened but the curses that overlapped managed to create a synergistic effect that made them function better together.

"Leshy!" The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi shouted as he finally saw Levin Cloud, but he is still being pinned down by Adrian and the others.

"Since ice seem very effective, freeze everything in my sight! Niflheim!" Peridot stated as she shattered a mythological tier gemstone that contained the ice element.

A powerful freezing frost covered the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi. The liquid or plasma like body that he had suddenly started to freeze over. The Mythological spell Niflheim would have taken longer to cast but sacrificing a precious gemstone made Peridot negate the cast time. The mana needed might have been increased but that is a small price to pay to activate a powerful spell.

The body of the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi stopped in action under five seconds of being hit directly by the spell. This would not have easily happened under normal circumstances, but Levin Cloud made sure that the spells he used would weaken the body of the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi. He did not cast spells that weakened attack power because that would make the enemy notice much faster.

Levin Cloud learned from Creepysoo that curses or hexes must be discreet or else the target would notice immediately. If the target notices immediately then the curse or hex would be dispelled earlier. Curses and hexes are more effective when the target does not know that they have been afflicted with it. They are magic that grows powerful as time goes on but is weak at the first instance of it being applied.

The four of them saw the ice sculpture that was the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi, but they did not think that they have won. If they had won, then they would have received a notification that told them that they have killed the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi. All of Adrian's soulbounds started preparing for the attack as soon as the enemy gets released from his frozen state.

Peridot and Frey also did start charging for their next attacks as well. Levin Cloud continued with chanting the curses as he could still feel the vibrant life force of the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi. They have not won, and they will never be caught off guard again because the atmosphere inside was tense. They did not attack when the enemy became frozen as any external stimuli would break the status condition.

The frozen figure of the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi suddenly started to shake as the frozen status started to be cleansed. A dark like matter suddenly formed below the ice sculpture that was the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi. This dark like matter looked like oil but it was not liquid nor solid. It looked like the dark starless sky was suddenly summoned below the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi.

With a loud crack, the body of the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi is released from its frozen state. All of the soulbounds with Frey and Peridot launched their prepared attacks in the area. Numerous chaotic dark tendrils shot out of the frozen body as if they broke the ice itself to get released. Ten chaotic dark tendrils came for each of them as if they had a mind of their own. Some of them plunged onto the mysterious puddle of darkness below the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi.

The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi's attack did not reach any of them as they easily blew away the ten tendrils that attempted kill them. All of them thought that they have successfully countered the attack, but Levin Cloud shouted in shock. It is not that he was hit by an attack, but it was the frozen cut off part of the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi that was destroyed. The numerous tendrils to attack them were merely a way to do his real objective. "Applying a curse to me! A being made of chaos energy! I shall show you real terror!" The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi shouted, and he was now incredibly serious this time unlike before.

[The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi is releasing his true body.]

[Those with lower divinity must not look directly towards him or risk becoming mad.]

The remaining frozen parts of the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi suddenly burst into shards as he released himself from the torment of ice. He pulled something out of the puddle of darkness, and it was none other than a distorted mask. It looked like a bigger version of the mask he used when he used the body of a demigod.

A large eerie masked floated and a body made of shadows possessed it. The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi's true body was a floating mask with a body made up of eerie shadows. He did not have a torso as it was just an eerie head that has numerous chaotic dark claws floating around him. The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi could no longer resist destroying everything as he believed that the enemies around him will not let him go easily.

"I just need to destroy everything else with my entire power! Let us see if you could restrict me in this form, snake goddess!" The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi shouted, and the Goddess Nuwa is indeed having a difficult time.

The Goddess Nuwa started to burn more divine energy just trying to suppress the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi. She tried her best, but she was suddenly hit by a wave of divine energy from inside the painting. It seems that the divine sense of the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi released a powerful burst of mental energy which made the Goddess Nuwa faint for a few seconds.

One would say that a few seconds would not be enough, but it is for a greater god that assumed his true form. As soon as the Goddess Nuwa fainted, the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi released his wrath onto the four inside the painting. The first one that he attacked is none other than Levin Cloud as his curses were still affecting him despite being in his true form.

"I shall start with your head!" The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi stated as the inside of the painting is dyed in darkness.

The entire area is suddenly covered by the darkness of the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi. Adrian felt the chill and immediately shouted them to retreat but sound itself was silenced when the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi appeared in his true form. Adrian created mirrors to transport the others away as he felt the danger. All the mirrors that Adrian created were suddenly struck quickly by shadow tendrils that came out of the darkness.

The entire area is suddenly the extension of the body of the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi. It was not just Adrian's mirrors that were destroyed as some of his soulbounds screamed in pain as they were also hit. All of his soulbounds were attacked sneakily to the point that even they did not notice. The larger soulbounds were easily damaged due to their size with Kanlaon as an example.

The large golden body of Kanlaon became a hindrance to him as he was riddled with spikes made from the chaotic darkness around them. Adrian checked to see the health bar of his team members and is shocked to see them dipping directly to the red. Since their voice was silenced, Adrian did not know how all of them suddenly became incredibly close to dying. It seems that even the chat option was blocked due to the darkness around. Adrian looked behind him and saw Charon and Dodu behind him as they were actually blocking a large spike of chaotic darkness from piercing him from the back. Adrian suddenly felt his entire body become cold as he was so close to also getting pierced. Just like Adrian, the others were also attacked the same way that he was. The only problem is not all of them had soulbounds protecting them.

Peridot was directly hit but her heart was not pierced. Frey's pegasus suddenly summoned itself to push her away from the attack. Her mount died in the process of protecting her master, but this is a skill called Mount's Bond which could make the mount save their master from certain danger. Levin Cloud is the only one of them that was pierced directly but he did not have a human heart which is why he did not die.

Chapter 2207: Amatsu-Mikaboshi True Form

The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi managed to release his true form and attack all of them simultaneously. A domain is spread across inside of the pocket dimension which made anything touched by the darkness an extension of his true body. The chaotic dark spikes piercing the body of Levin Cloud is a testament to how far the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi could reach.

Adrian could move freely against the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi, but Peridot is having some difficulty. Out of the three of them, Peridot has the lowest divinity and the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi noticed that as well. The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi, in his true form, vanished from his current location and appeared behind Peridot.

Noticing the sudden presence behind her, Peridot released her dragon form and use some elemental spells to try and gain some distance. The only problem is that the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi was not affected by these minor spells as he created a large chaotic dark claw that grabbed Peridot. She was quick in her flight, but the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi claw was faster.

The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi then released numerous chaotic dark spikes to kill off Peridot, but she managed to use Draconic Tongue to create elemental barriers around her. Numerous elemental barriers shined to protect Peridot but that was not enough to defend herself against the chaotic dark spikes. The spikes still pierced her tough draconic scales and made her bleed. The fortunate thing is that she was able to live as Levin Cloud used a spell that boosted her defense by 300%.

Levin Cloud looked at Peridot with the eyes of a protector despite having his current body pierced right through. The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi noticed this and saw how valiant Levin Cloud was in saving Peridot, but the former loathe such actions. As if getting bored with dealing with Peridot, the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi tossed her away like a child no longer interested in their toy.

Peridot crashed into the ground, but she was still alive. She was having difficulty getting up as she was barely breathing due to the pain. The chaotic dark spikes that pierced her scales also made her see visions that afflicted her with terror. The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi now inflicts status ailments on his attacks compared to before when he was not in his true form.

"You saved her despite your situation not being much better than her." The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi stated as he floated near Levin Cloud and even manipulated the spike that pierced his chest.

The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi manipulated the spike to rise up higher which made Levin Cloud feel the pressure as he is still wounded. Levin Cloud's true body might be that of a lesly that is made of wood but even plants live. They can feel the pain, but they do not give a reaction because of their nature. The Forest Guardians are not like that because they can talk and react which means that the pain Levin Cloud is showing is real.

"So, what?! Just because you did not have anyone to protect you does not mean that everyone else is like that." Levin Cloud stated but one could see that he was struggling to say those words.

"How wonderful for you?! Despite feeling more pain, you would rather save others instead of yourself. In this world, one needs to only look after themselves or else you will not live. The fact that you are alive now is just due to the fact that I am entertained by your defiance." The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi stated with a laugh.

"Defiant or not... we will definitely kill you now." Levin Cloud stated as he suddenly used every bit of his strength to shift to his true form.

Levin Cloud then became larger and released numerous vines from his body that wrapped around the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi. The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi did not even think that this futile attempt would be able to restrain him as he is now in full power. The restricted power by the Goddess Nuwa was slowly being regained as he is now in his true form. Any outside force that could affect him will never be able to afflict him with anything.

"Forbidden Spell: Everdraining Roots." Levin Cloud stated as he suddenly lost three levels and 10 points per stat.

[The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi is afflicted with Everdraining Roots.]

[Draining health that is equivalent to the health that you have lost from the target.]

[Detected that you lost 80% of your health from the target.]

[80% of the maximum health of the target will be drained in a span of 10 minutes.]

[The target is a greater god. You are currently weaker than the greater god that you used the forbidden spell against.]

[Forbidden Spell: Everdraining Roots will have its effect halved instead. Forbidden Spell: Everdraining Roots will drain 40% of the total health of the target instead.]

"What is this?!" The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi shouted as Levin Cloud's body could be seen attaching itself to the body of the enemy.

The vines that was Levin Cloud's body started to permanently attach itself to the true body of the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi. The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi tried to shake it off, but he was not successful. Levin Cloud could be seen transforming to light as he did not only sacrifice levels but also his life force for this forbidden spell. Levin Cloud did not go out with just that as a powerful light covered the bodies of the remaining three.

[All health drained from the target of the Forbidden Spell: Everdraining Roots shall be transferred to Equinox, Frey, and Peridot in equal quantities.]

"Good luck guys! I cannot revive when I use this specific forbidden spell. Do your best for me instead. Levin Cloud stated as he fully vanished but the roots that were his body is still parasitically attached to the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi.

[Your party member, Levin Cloud, has died.]

"No!" Peridot shouted as she went full berserk.

All six of her gems surrounded her and she even took out six mythical tier gemstones. She was full on serious as the words of Adrian nor Frey could not reach her. All six gemstones broke simultaneously as the elements around them have gone berserk. Adrian knew this spell which is why he immediately created a mirror to swallow all of his soulbounds along with Frey. "What?! What are you doing?! We need to help her." Frey stated as the shock of losing her mount faded because of the berserk Peridot.

"I sent us here to be safe because we would just be a casualty when she activates that skill. She even sacrificed six elemental gemstones simultaneously which meant that she is ready to fight to the death. Recuperate while we are here so that her bravery would not be wasted should she fall in battle." Adrian stated as Frey saw the determination and seriousness on the former's eyes.

If Adrian himself told her that the safest place would be in another dimension, then he is not joking. Frey has talked with Adrian for a long time, and she knew when she was telling a lighthearted joke or being serious. The tone of his voice plus the look on his face all pointed to Adrian being serious that they would be a casualty if they are there.

"You will feel my wrath!" Peridot stated as her voice suddenly echoed in different octaves. "Just because I was afflicted by a forbidden spell does not mean that I cannot kill you as well. I will just heal everything that it is being drained from me." The Greater God Amatsu- Mikaboshi as he started to collect some energy in the area but suddenly found out that he could not do so. He looked upwards with his mask and muttered, "that snake goddess!". The Goddess Nuwa finally woke up when she felt the rage of her child from the relic that she controlled. The pain and rage that her child felt jolted the motherly instincts and woke her up from her fainting spell. She suddenly learned of what happened and that the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi assumed his true form.

"I cannot restrict his power output now, but I can reinforce that forbidden spell! I will make it so that he will not regenerate any health as long as he is affected by the forbidden spell." The Goddess Nuwa stated as she formulated another way to help Peridot. She knew that Peridot has unleashed her berserk state, but she did not warn her child as she was smart enough to know when to use it.

"Release all of that hate and anger, child. Release all of them so that it will not shackle you after this is all over." The Goddess Nuwa thought as she used up all the energy, she got from the other Ryujin to enhance the forbidden spell.

"You may be a god but know that you are still weakened. Berserk State: Elemental Cataclysm!" Peridot stated as her entire body burst out into different colored lights to represent the different elements.

Chapter 2208: Berserk State: Elemental Cataclysm

Peridot's entire body shifted to a half dragon and half humanoid hybrid. Her dragon horns are visible on top of her head while her tail also came out from her dress. Her draconic eyes became more pronounced and sharp observation would make others see that parts of her humanoid body are covered in dragon scales that shines in the moonlight.

[You have entered the Berserk State: Elemental Cataclysm.]

[All elemental spells released in this state will have a chain reaction depending on what sequence they are cast.]

[Fire Elemental Spell, Flaming Inferno, has been registered as the sole fire elemental spell.] [Water Elemental Spell, Hydro Crusher, has been registered as the sole water elemental spell.] [Wind Elemental Spell, Storm Blast, has been registered as the sole wind elemental spell.] [Earth Elemental Spell, Geo Geyser, has been registered as the sole earth elemental spell.] [Dark Elemental Spell, Grim Demise, has been registered as the sole darkness elemental spell.]

[Light Elemental Spell, Gleaming Shower, has been registered as the sole light elemental spell.]

[You can only cast the elemental spells that you have registered.]

[Successive cast of spells will decrease your health by a small percentage.]

[Mana cannot be restored while in this state as you are in a Mana Berserk state. Mana cannot be stolen from you as well.]

"Let us see how you deal with me!" Peridot stated as the gems around her that is her weapon took on a new form as if to respond to their master's emotions.

Peridot's weapon each became imbued with the element that they represent and no longer just stones. Each of them looked like elemental orbs that are made distinctly of their element, but the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi did not look scared. The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi knew that Peridot is not like the Goddess Nuwa and this berserk state is just her pitiful attempt of trying to get revenge for the one he just killed.

"Pathetic child of that snake goddess! I guess I should peel you first to set an example to your mother!" The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi stated as he created ten large chaotic dark hands from the domain that he has applied.

"Underestimating me will be your downfall." Peridot stated with eyes filled with rage as she waved her hand to activate the Gleaming Shower mythical tier spell.

The elemental orb that was around her suddenly exploded into a powerful light that created small stars that scattered in the area. The description of small stars did not befit it because each of them were a meter in diameter. One hit from these small stars will make anyone get massively hurt or die if they are weak.

The chaotic dark claws that came out of the domain were all destroyed in the process as the fierce light of the mythical tier spell was able to contend with the power of a god. Peridot then waved her other hand to activate the mythical tier spell of Grim Demise. A large dark energy suddenly gathered near the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi and exploded instantly. Some of the darkness even attached itself to the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi and reduced his resistances.

"I am from the Chaotic Darkness! You cannot harm me with a darkness so pitiful!" The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi stated as he laughed but Peridot did not think it was futile but merely the start of her combo.

A few seconds after the Grim Demise spell activated, the chain reaction of light and darkness started to happen. The small stars that crashed to the ground from the Gleaming Shower spell broke into small particles of light and shot towards the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi. To make it more precise, the small particles of light were attracted to the darkness that attached itself to the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi due to Grim Demise.

"Agh! You little!" The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi shouted as he did not expect that two mythical tier spells will react to one another.

Just as the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi is about to use a counterattack, Peridot already activated another spell which is Flaming Inferno. A powerful explosion of flame hit the body of the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi and actually left him with burns. Some of the flames could still be seen on his body as it snaked around.

The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi only felt some pain as his resistance to elemental spells were still high which meant that he still underestimated Peridot. She then activated the follow up spell which was Storm Blast. A powerful curtain of wind fell down on the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi and pinned him to the ground. Some of the winds still lingered on his body as created small cuts that did not do much damage to him.

As soon as the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi was pinned down to the ground, Peridot activated the next one which was Geo Geyser. The power of the earth exploded directly on the true body of the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi. The damage is not large as he merely brushed it off but the humiliation of getting pinned down by a lower being did not sit well with the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi.

Just as he is about to use his domain once more, two powerful tsunamis suddenly hit him from both sides. This was the mythical spell, Hydro Crusher, which created two powerful surge of water columns that slam against each other. The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi is suddenly wet due to this, but he was still fine overall and just angry due to the sensation of getting carried away by elements that cannot kill him.

"Just like I have said earlier, you may be able to hit me, but you cannot kill me with your elements. You are even dying from using those spells." The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi stated as Peridot did not look great at all. She also used health as a payment for using powerful spells.

"I never said anything about killing you with my elemental spells. You have been touched by all the elements which has satisfied the condition. If you had a brain that functioned, then you would have avoided even one of them, but you clearly do not have one. The preparation is complete for the ultimate spell." Peridot stated as she smiled

The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi did not know what Peridot was talking about and just sent numerous chaotic dark tendrils to kill her off. Peridot did not even dodge nor create barriers around her and let the spikes pierce her body. She spat out blood, but she did not despair but had this smile on her face. The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi released more chaotic dark spikes to kill her off, but her health was fixed at unity.

"Why are you not getting killed!?" The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi shouted as he used more and more spikes, but nothing killed Peridot.

"A dragon is invulnerable as long as their determination is intact." Peridot stated as she made some hand seals.

"Lies! Dragons die like any other race!" The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi shouted as he suddenly felt a chill on his body, and this is not due to the roots still absorbing his health.

"I have grafted my determination on your body when you let all those elements hit. Do you not still see the magic circles etched into your own body. I guess it is not noticeable because you often disregarded the elements when you fight against enemies like me that control them." Peridot stated as the magic circles that the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi ignored finally came to light.

The magic circles were faint, but they were indeed there. The first one was the darkness that attached itself to his body when Grim Demise hit. The second was the small particles of light that were attracted by the darkness that was attached. The third was the crawling flames on his body with the small breezes that came from Storm Blast as the fourth.

The fifth was the small rocks that attached to his body when Geo Geyser hit him perfectly. The last is his still wet body when slammed by two tsunamis. All spells etched a small magic circle on his body which he did not detect. The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi would have detected all of it if he was cautious of elemental spells, but he firmly believed that his high resistances would save him.

"The final aspect has been realized when the target notices all the magic circles. I was lying when I told you that I did not die because of determination. I did not die because of a life saving skill that I have. This would be my last present for you! Elemental Cataclysm!" Peridot shouted as she activated all magic circles etched on the body of the Greater God Amatsu- Mikaboshi.

All of the magic circles suddenly spun around and glowed in a powerful light which actually put fear on the heart of the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi. As if thinking that killing Peridot would stop it, the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi tore her to shreds which made her turn into particles of light, but it did not. The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi tried to take off the parts of his body that had the magic circle etched onto, but it did not stop.

[All of the elemental resistances of the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi have been reduced by

50% temporarily.]

Adrian and Frey read the notification and saw a sight that made them gulp. The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi panicked as all magic circles finally exploded. The look of a god in fear as he was swallowed by unknown masses of magical energy that is in pure chaos and his screams echoed in the area.

Chapter 2209: Light and Mirrors

[Your part member, Peridot, has perished at the hands of the Greater God Amatsu- Mikaboshi.]

As soon as Adrian and Frey received that notification, they were now sure that Peridot has died. They did not let rage control their emotion but rather used it as fuel for the next step in battle. A large cloud of smoke covered the entire area which made them unable to see the enemy but that did not stop them from planning what comes next.

Adrian did not even utter a single word but created as many mirrors as possible. Frey then hang onto Sirius as she could not use her mount. Both of them will now need to work together to destroy the enemy that is weakened by their friends that sacrificed themselves. The two of them knew that they must win in order to not embarrass the sacrifices made by Peridot and Levin Cloud.

Adrian commanded Kanlaon to come out of the mirror dimension and release a powerful gale that swept the dark cloud of smoke to reveal the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi. When the smoke was cleared, one could see the pitiful body of the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi riddled with wounds. His elemental resistance that he was so proud of were greatly diminished due to Peridot and it was the first that he truly felt the danger of the elements.

"Let us not let him recover." Frey told Adrian earlier as his focus sharpened to a terrifying degree.

Adrian could see everything in his mirror demon form, but he usually filters out the details that he does not need and lets Paradox handle them. This time, Adrian did not let Paradox handle the filtered-out information but worked with it to be more optimized. The ego weapon that usually handles low information and tosses them aside as garbage suddenly learned of usages of such data.

Adrian working with Paradox not only made the area volatile for the enemy, but it also became a learning experience for the latter. Adrian would later notice that Paradox becoming more refined than ever when executing tasks but that is a story at a later stage. Adrian did not miss any details even if it was small as these small details might be the deciding factor. Even a small movement of the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi became a chance for Adrian to direct Frey on her assault.

The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi felt the pain of the elemental explosion he just experienced, but he did not have time to dally and think about it deeply. Another being that had the same bloodlust as Peridot earlier has arrived and she carried a powerful weapon coated with the divine light of the Goddess Freyja. Frey managed to amass as much divine power she could for this final assault.

Adrian hid inside of the mirror dimension while also having full control of the area. The battle plan that they thought of is simple and that is using the mirror dimension as multiple entry and exit points of Frey's attack. Both Frey and Sirius became the perfect mount and rider as both of them fully trusted each other. Rather, the two of them fully trusted Adrian to lead them to victory which is why their mount synchronization rate became bigger.

As soon as the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi could be seen, mirrors started manifesting everywhere around the area. Adrian snapped his hand, and a mirror swallowed Frey and Sirius as they appeared behind the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi. Frey and Sirius blitzed through the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi as they delivered a clear hit with the former's divine light -coated spear.

The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi screamed in pain as he now had wounds that became deeper as they are hit. Before the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi could lay a hand on the two, Adrian already prepared a mirror to save them by bringing them to the mirror dimension. Frey and Sirius were not the only ones that benefitted from using the mirror dimension as all of Adrian's soulbounds did as well.

When Frey and Sirius' charge attack hits then Adrian would use another mirror for a diversion. He would direct a dragon breath attack towards the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi or use Kimat's lightning to create a diversion. This made it easier for them to create a hit and run tactic using the mirrors. The most devastating blow they did was when Saena released a fully charged up beam of light that pierced a hole on the body of the Greater God Amatsu- Mikaboshi.

"This cannot be! My divine body being eroded by mortals!" The Greater God Amatsu- Mikaboshi stated as he could not believe that he was getting seriously injured by imperfect beings that only has divine energy in them.

The reason for this is none other than the Goddess Nuwa that became furious upon the death of Peridot. She poured everything she could to twist the laws of the relic in their favor. She even used up all of her divine energy to make it a permanent rule. She reverted back to her Ryujin form as a result, but she now prayed that Adrian and Peridot will be enough to deal with the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi.

"Just a little more! We might be able to kill him as long as we keep this up!" Frey stated as she could actually see them succeeding but she did not notice that Adrian was also nearing his limits.

Adrian's stamina could be seen flickering in red as he was not just physically strained but also mentally. He was keeping track of all mirrors, and he was basically in overdrive mode to actively use them all. If one could touch Paradox, then they might actually feel that it is burning hot. Even Adrian's ego weapon is being driven by his desire and giving maximum output as well.

"Once the vines are no longer sapping my health, I will kill all of you." The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi stated as Frey continued with her assault with Adrian's support but both of them are already reaching their limits. It also means that they are now more prone to making mistakes.

Adrian and Frey did not look at the notification as they could only see that the enemy is almost defeated. Even if they struggle, they must defeat the enemy as fast as they can before he could recover his entire divine power. Still, tiredness and some added small events can add up to create the biggest blunder. Frey ignored all the warning signs as she found the weak spot of the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi.

Frey and Sirius dove into the shadows and arrived behind the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi while the other soulbounds were distracting the latter. With a powerful thrust, Frey directly hit the weak spot that she saw and the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi screamed in pain. Frey was incredibly glad because she saw the health of the enemy drop by a whopping 5% which is different from earlier.

The scream of pain from the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi indicated that the hit damaged something important. Frey was about to recover her spear when she realized that it was stuck inside the body of the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi. She tried pulling it out but the body of the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi sucked it further in. The scream of pain suddenly turned into hysteric laughing which made Adrian's heart drop.

"No! Sirius! Charon! Dodu! Kimat! Activate your domains!" Adrian commanded but an ominous notification popped up.

[The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi has focused all his power in making sure that no domain can encroach upon his own.]

[Sirius has failed to use his domain.]

[Kimat failed to use his domain.]

[Charon failed to use his domain.]

[Dodu failed to use its domain.]

Adrian could only scream in silence as he tried to use his mirrors to save all of them. The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi's laugh is the only thing that Adrian heard as all of his mirrors were suddenly pierced by numerous chaotic dark spikes. It was not just the mirrors as all of the beings outside were also pierced.

[Your soulbound, Sirius, has been damaged.]

[Your soulbound, Kanlaon, has been damaged.] [Your soulbound, Saena, has been damaged.]

[Your soulbound, Kimat, has been damaged.] [Your soulbound, Charon, has been damaged.] [Your soulbound, Dodu, has been damaged.]

[Your soulbound, Wisteria, has been damaged.] [Your soulbound, Kenos, has been damaged.]

All of his soulbounds were hit by the spikes as the entire domain suddenly sprouted them. Kenos tried to save the others by pulling them in his dimension, but the Greater God Amatsu- Mikaboshi seemed to have been careful of him. Kenos was directly pierced from his own dimension as the chaotic dark spikes encroached upon it. Still, Kenos was able to slightly tilt the devastating spikes for some of the soulbounds which is why they did not die.

[A powerful and dark energy is starting to encroach on the mirror dimension that holds you.] Adrian did not believe the notification as there was a god able to destroy the mirror dimension. In fact, the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi did not find this easy as he had to sacrifice destroying the dimension of the Myriad Miles Rivers and Mountains paintings to deal with the mirror dimension. All of the divine energy he recovered is for killing Adrian within the mirror dimension.

"It seems it was not enough to force the rat that is hiding but I at least captured the Valkyrie and others. I have no use for the others, but you are an avatar! Let us see how connected you are with your goddess." The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi stated as he released more spikes to kill off the remaining soulbounds.

[Your soulbound, Sirius, has died.]

[Your soulbound, Kanlaon, has died.]

[Your soulbound, Saena, has died.]

[Your soulbound, Kimat, has died.]

[Your soulbound, Charon, has died.]

[Your soulbound, Dodu, has died.]

[Your soulbound, Wisteria, has died.]

[Your soulbound, Kenos, has died.]

"How did you recover so much power!?" Frey exclaimed in shock as she got entangled by chaotic dark tendrils.

"Thank you for destroying that divine vessel. It might have hurt me, but it was the divine energy that I stored inside of my body. I wanted to use it earlier, but I was having trouble accessing it because of what the little snake girl did to me earlier. Did I not say that all this struggle is futile? I am a god unlike the lot of you that can only squirm when I get serious." The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi stated as he suddenly pierced Frey with chaotic dark tendrils to seek out the divine organ where the divine power of the Goddess Freyja is being held.

Frey knew that the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi might absorb her organ to acquire a stream of divine energy as all avatars have this. Frey's divine organ is her heart, and this is where she acquires the stream of divine energy she needs. Knowing that getting her heart devoured would mean losing, Frey called upon Adrian to come out of the mirror dimension. "Equinox! I will entrust it all to you!

Blessing of Valhalla!" Frey shouted as her body suddenly turned glowing in divine energy and exploded wildly in front of the Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi.

[Your party member, Frey, has died.]

"Tch! She chose to end her life. What a pathetic woman." The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi stated but he felt the sharp bloodlust from above him.

"She was a warrior even when she knew that she will die. You do not have the right to mock her when all you ever did was hide in the darkness." Adrian stated with a cold tone as his eyes would have looked dead if not for the blindfold that hid them.

"What can you do by yourself? You cannot defeat me! Die!" The Greater God Amatsu-Mikaboshi shouted as numerous chaotic dark spikes came rushing towards Adrian.

"I am not alone. I have all of them with me even in the end." Adrian stated as he looked at the notification.

[You have been given the Blessing of Valhalla.]

[All beings that died in this battlefield will have their power transferred to you for a single attack.]
